For several years the public press has been filled with articles relative to the deleterious effects of sewer gas. Sanitary engineers have racked their brains to devise means for preventing its entry into our houses, so as to avoid the many fatal diseases which are traced directly to its poisonous influences upon the human system. While we have been diligent and watchful in preventing sewer gas from entering our houses, we have been neglectful, and have allowed it formation within our own bodies. Sewer gas is as fatal in its effects upon the system whether formed inside our bodies or without. The food taken into the stomach, if not properly digested, ferments, decays, and becomes putrid. The effect of this putrefaction is the production of a gas precisely like sewer gas, and just as poisonous. This poisonous substance enters the circulation, and poisons the whole system, and often people wonder they feel tired and languid, with a swimming dizzy head—wonder why the appetite has failed, and why they do not relish their food—wonder why the breath has become offensive, and that they have pain and dregress. But when this matter is fully understood, and the cause to remove the sewer gas has poisoned the whole system. The food we eat should be digested or it does us injury. The familiar saying that "we are what we eat" is not only wrong but strong; but what we digest," is a truthful saying, and we cannot be too particular about the digestion of our food. More than one-half of the ills of life originate from imperfect digestion. When we know that imperfect digestion is followed by the production of this sewer gas in the body and that it is absorbed into the system as fast as it is formed, is it a wonder that we are ill? The wonder is that we are alive. How important it is, then, that the digestive organs should be made to perform their functions by the timely use of Seigel's Curative Syrup, which has proved a blessing to suffering remedy in such cases. Its reputation is based upon a trial that has extended over a period of many years. It seldom fails.

Price 1s. each; 1s. 1½d. by post.
CRITICISMS
Earl Cairns—"Admires it very much."
Earl of Shaftesbury—"Considers it very beautiful."
Bishop of Chester—"It is very striking, and ought to be a success."
OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.
A quaint old poem, and beautifully printed in colours.—Christian World.
It is a series of couplets, the second line of each bringing in a clause of the prayer, as the following extract will show:—
It any be distressed and fain would gather
Some comfort, let him haste unto
Our Father;
Ere we of hope and help are quite bereaven,
Except Thou succour us
Who art in Heaven.
and so on. The idea is effective in itself, and the tasteful display of ecclesiastical characters in black with red capitals, surrounded by gilt and five colour border, makes the whole a very handsome design, worth framing.—British and Colonial Printer and Stationer.

ROTHWELL FLOWER SHOW.

The nineteenth annual exhibition of floral, horticultural and agricultural produce was held by the Rothwell Society on Monday last, in the Whitehall Field. The weather was exceedingly fine and promising, and so far as that important element was concerned, there should have been a large attendance. Owing, however, principally to the fact, that only a fortnight previously, many people had taken a week's holiday (Bank holiday) and that this day was not a holiday in any sense, the entrance for the first two or three hours was most meagre, and very few persons were present at the opening. We were happy to observe, however, that after five, (expenny time) there was a crowd pressing through the gates so that at six o'clock, there would probably be nearly as many people present, as at the same hour in previous years. We understand that the list of subscribers is not so large as last year, and that consequently the amount of prizes is reduced, while two or three items are omitted in the present schedule, and the attractions diminished in consistence.

Owing to the large competition in the tent exhibits, it was half-past two before he show could actually be considered as open, but the formal opening took place about an hour previous. The president, (Rev F. Fawkes,) being away from home, the Committee asked Mr W. Hargreaves to accept that duty, which he did with his usual willingness. Standing near the entrance gate Mr. Hargreaves remarked on the pleasure every one must feel that the farmers were having such charming weather after so many bad harvests. In taking his present position he was sorry that their president could not be with them, owing to his absence from home, especially as he was so much better qualified to perform the ceremony than himself; he was always glad, however, to do what he could to help the Rothwell Flower Show. The list of prizes offered had had to be considerably curtailed, owing to the reduced income, but the articles in the tent were remarkably plentiful and well grown. Although they had not so extensive a show, he trusted they would all try to make it a success. He then declared the show open.

The judges, having found themselves unable to complete their task, the officials and friends adjourned to the luncheon tent, where the usual substantial fare was partaken of.

The ordinary round of healths was then proceeded with. Mr. Hargreaves, (chairman) proposed the health of the Rev. F. Fawkes, the president, expressing his regret that he was unable to be present, especially as the reason of his absence, was the illness of Mrs. Fawkes. Rev. S. Samwell replied on behalf of Mr. Fawkes, and said that their president had requested him to express his disappointment in not being able to be present, and also to state how considerable was his interest in the show. The Rev. J. R. Crawford proposed "the vice-presidents" and referred to the pleasure he had in knowing many of them; he hoped they would long be spared to see the prosperity of the Society. Mr. Turner replied, and was sorry to find, that the majority of the horses 'classes' had been cut out this year. He suggested to the Committee, whose labours he warmly commended, that prizes should be offered another year for window gardening. In calling for the toast of the "Committee" the chairman remarked on the extra care which had been devoted by the Committee against admitting exhibitors who had not themselves grown the various plants, &c. He spoke very highly of several men, who though working in a coal pit, occupied their leisure time in their gardens, and were able to produce flowers and plants which those in a higher walk of life were unable to excel. Mr. Wormald very cordially proposed "The Committee." He was quite sure the working men of Rothwell could produce as good a show as any people in Yorkshire. The Committee had had very up-hill work, but he trusted the financial result of their efforts this year would leave a balance on the right side of the ledger. Mr. Bumby responded on behalf of the Committee, and it was explained that there had been considerable difficulty in getting together a working committee; this and the Methley show being held on Bank-holiday being the reason for postponing the date a fortnight later than usual. Mr. Jas Hargreaves proposed "The Visitors" and referred with pleasure to his connection with previous shows; he trusted although there was not a very large attendance yet, that the numbers would increase as the day wore on, and that there would still remain a surplus to commence another show. Mr. Thorne, representing Councillor Alf Cooke, thanked the Committee and gentlemen for their kind reception, and had not Mr. Cooke been from home, he would have had great pleasure in being present. Mr. A. Batty proposed "The Press" especially remarking on the great benefits resulting from the local journal. Mr. Marshall, of the Rothwell Times, in responding, felt it an honour to belong to the "fourth estate of the realm" and hoped that success would still attend the Society in its exhibitions. The chairman next proposed "The Treasurer" who, he was glad to hear had £13 to start this year with, hoping he would also have a good balance to finish with. Mr. Baines replied, stating that he had been connected with the show for 16 years, and had seen its "ups and downs" and trusted that although the attendance was not so large, that they might still find themselves on the right side.

Mr. Lunn, of Hunslet, followed with a promise of half a guinea subscription, which he would continue yearly. (cheers). Rev. J. R. Crawford then proposed "The Secretary" whose career he had watched with considerable interest ever since he first knew him a number of years ago. He thought the Committee ought to encourage the gathering of wild flowers by children, his own little ones had sometimes brought in as many as 20 varieties; he also commended the exhibition of fowls. As the best way of making the show a success, everybody ought to resolve to exhibit something. Mr. Batty expressed his obligation to Mr. Crawford for his kind references. He was only sorry Mr. Wormald could not be prevailed upon to keep the secretaryship; he found that the post was a "stomacher"; that it meant long days and sleepless nights. He trusted the result would be successful. Rev. S. Samwell proposed "The Judges" to which Mr. Groom replied, and explained some of the difficulties under which judges are placed. The party then separated.

The scene presented on first entering the tent was most pleasing, a gradually rising bank of flowering plants occupying the space in front of the long stage used for the various plants exhibited. This carefully arranged bank of 'beauty and perfume' had been prepared by Mr. Clayton, nurseryman, Rothwell, and consisted of some hundreds of varieties. The centre staging was more than fully occupied by the foliage and flowering plants sent in for competition. When every exhibit was so excellent, it is hardly fair to mention any especially, but the show of fuchsias was particularly attractive, geraniums of various classes being also well contested. We were pleased to see our own townsmen, miners, taking the palm both in the amateurs and gentlemens' garden departments, and while we congratulate these humble gardeners on their success, we trust that a large number of the gentlemen and sale growers, who have hitherto so largely assisted the show, will send in their carefully tended and well matured productions. While plants and cut flowers were fully represented, fruits and vegetables were even more numerous than before, the tables for vegetables in all departments being remarkably well filled and splendid samples. The following is the prize list:—

GENTLEMEN'S GARDENERS & SALESMENS.
Mr. Jas. Wood, Rothwell.—2nd prize for greenhouse plants, verbenas, egg plant, gloxinias, zonale, bronze and variegated geraniums, and red celery.

Although the number of competitors for agricultural produce was not large, the specimens were fine and would take some beating.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE.—Grain—Wheat, red, 1st and 2nd, W. Oldroyd; white, 1st, Jas. Jackson, 2nd, Wm. Oldroyd. Oats, black, 1st, C. Grosvenor & Sons, 2nd, Jas. Bleasby; white, 1st and 2nd, Wm. Oldroyd. Barley, 1st and 2nd, Jas. Bleasby. Roots—turnips, swedes, 1st J. Charlesworth, Esq., 2nd, C. Grosvenor & Sons; white, 1st Wm. Hicks, Archley, 2nd, Jos. Bumby; red, 1st and 2nd, Wm. Oldroyd. Mangel wurzel, long red, 1st and 2nd, J. Charlesworth, Esq.; yellow globe, 1st and 2nd, Wm. Oldroyd. Potatoes, kidneys, 1st, J. Charlesworth, Esq., 2nd, A. Judson; round, 1st, J. Charlesworth, Esq., 2nd, Wm. Oldroyd.

There was a nice show of pigs. Which we were pleased to observe, were almost all the property of men in the neighbourhood. The following is the prize list:

Sow pig—1st, Wm. Oldroyd; 2nd, Jas. Jackson. Sow and litter—1st, J. Charlesworth Esq.; 2nd, Mrs. Calvert. Working-man's pig—1st, Jos. Newton; 2nd, Wm. Ely. Gilt—1st, Wm. Oldroyd; 2nd, Wm. Ely.

The ponies in harness numbered 11 entries, of which 9 turned up, several very tidy turnouts being among them. There was not much difficulty in deciding on the two best, however, and after about half an hour's trial, Mr. Arnold's 'Charlie' was adjudged first, and Mr. Bleasby's 'Beauty' second. There was some objection after the decision, as regards 'Charlie's' height, but so far as we know, the judgment is upheld.

The donkeys in harness, four, were the cause of some amusement, one of them taking a lazy fit, and lying down in the shafts, while another strove hard to kick down a post with the wheel of the conveyance. Mr. J. Allerton, of Leeds, won first prize, Mr. Jos. Ashton, Newton, Wakefield, second.

In the leapers' class there were only two entries, and unfortunately only one of these put in an appearance. The tests for leaping were however applied, and every one was splendidly "topped" without a "miss." The first prize was accordingly awarded to Mr. Gilbert's "Champion."

This concluded the judging, and the grand stand was soon emptied.

Other attractions, including Punch and Judy, gymnastic evolutions, swings, and minor games were provided in various parts of the field.

The judges were as follows:—for the floral and horticultural departments, Mr. Geo. Lintor, Gardener, West Riding Asylum, Wakefield; Mr. Fd. Thompson, Gardener, Ilkley; Mr. Hy. Groom, Gardener to E. Hinchcliffe, Esq., Chapeltown; Mr. Jas. Hopkinson, Gardener, Headingley, Leeds. Owing to the late arrival of the appointed judges, Mr. B. Clarke, of Beeston, and Mr. Wood, of the same place, kindly undertook to decide the prizes for agricultural produce. The pigs and horses were judged by Mr. J. Bickenshaw, Peckfield, South Milford; Mr. J. E. Scriven, Veterinary, Aberford.

As usual, the Rothwell Old Band enlivened the proceedings by playing a number of operatic music during the afternoon in a very excellent manner. The evening was given up to dance music, a large number of young people taking advantage of the beautiful weather for a "spin round."

The receipts at the gate reached about £61, to which should be added £2 15s. from the grand stand.

On Tuesday evening a gala was held, when dancing was indulged in to the strains of the band. Various athletic sports were also carried out, for which prizes were given. Tuesday's receipts were about £5 15s.

Being the first year of his new duties as secretary, we are sure Mr. A. Batty has shewn himself an able successor to Mr. Wormald, and we doubt not that another year he will feel more at home, and perform his work with greater ease and effect.

LECTURE ON CHILD INSTINCTS.

A very gratifying attendance of parents, teachers, and young people met last night in the Wesleyan Chapel, Rothwell, to hear a lecture on the above interesting subject, by Mr. W. Irving Smith, of Birmingham. Invitations had been given to the various Sunday schools of different denominations, and friends were present connected with these institutions from the sister villages. The Rev. C. A. Collingwood having taken the chair, and engaged in devotional exercises, introduced Mr. Smith, who, in a pleasing and easily-understood address remarked on the several characteristics of child nature as shewn in the desire for exercise ("Always on the move"); of freedom ("I hate to be kept in"); to know ("What is it?"); of doing ("Let me try it!"); to talk ("You're a little chatter-box"); of society ("wait for me"); to excel ("Who will do it best"); of approval ("Look, mother, look") of sympathy ("He is a nice man") of imitation ("Father does it so well"). A most interesting and profitable half-hour was then spent in observing Mr. Smith's manner of giving a scripture lesson to some sixty boys and girls, between ten and thirteen years of age, selected from various schools, who speedily became thoroughly absorbed in the attractive exercises in which they were engaged. Mr. Smith would ask the children to turn to certain chapter or chapters, and then repeat the words of some verse in such portion of the bible, and each child as he found it, would stand up, the desire to excel being thus aroused; he would then by various quest

METHLEY MEMORIAL CHURCH.

A bazaar, in aid of funds required for the building of a new church, was opened on Wednesday by the Rev. J. Palmes, Rector of Escrick, near York. The church of St. Oswald in this parish has been used for the purposes of public worship for about five centuries. Doubtless it was at one time centrally situated, but such can hardly be said to be now the case. The memorial-stone of the new building was laid by Mr. F. Sharpe Powell, on July 31st, 1883. The construction of the general foundations and lower walls is proceeding, and other portions will be taken up as funds are forthcoming. It is intended that the new edifice shall be in the same style of architecture as St. Oswald's, but that it shall have two instead of a single aisle. As soon as the nave and chancel are finished services will be held, the need for means of public worship being so pronounced. The aisles will next be added, and then a tower and spire to complete the whole

The Bazaar held on Wednesday and Thursday in the National Schools and Rectory grounds is the second in furtherance of the project. At two o'clock on Wednesday the Rector, the Hon. and Rev. P. V. Savile, introduced the Rev. Mr. Palmes, and said he was happy to tell them of the kindness and help which they had met at the hands of everybody. They would not need to go into debt, but to go on building as the funds were forthcoming, and he was thankful to tell them that they were not likely to cease building operations yet for want of funds. He hoped and believed that God would bless their undertaking, which was so very necessary to the spiritual welfare of the parishioners.

The Rev. James Palmes, M.A., then formally opened the bazaar, and urged all to work shoulder to shoulder with one aim in view, viz., the erection of the church which he knew was so much needed. He said Churchmen had carried on this work vigorously in all parts of the country for many years, and he trusted their efforts would still be in the same direction. What they were wanting to-day were deeds, not words, and he hoped they would buy liberally of the goods for sale. He did not know that it was a clergyman's place to encourage extravagance, but he thought to-day he might allow them to be rather more extravagant than usual, and in prospect of such, he would grant them plenary absolution from these deeds, and he had great pleasure in declaring the Bazaar "open."

A choice collection of saleable objects had been brought together, and arranged so prettily amid a setting of foliage plants, flowers, and drapery, that it was pleasurable to linger, even though the purse might suffer. One wing of the building contained the general stalls under the care of Miss Savile, Mrs. S. Charlesworth, Miss Baker and Miss Beatrice Savile, and Miss Neale (Girls' Friendly Society). The refreshment department, in charge of Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Clarkson, and Miss Lillie Klopp, was located in the adjoining wing. Over the arch which divides the two portions was hung a portrait in oil of the Rector, the Hon. and Rev. P. Yorke Savile, by Neumans, which is to be presented on Saturday in celebration of the gentleman's 70th birthday. The Rector was admitted to the living in 1841. The portrait which is an admirable likeness, has been provided by subscriptions from all classes. The reverend gentleman is depicted life-size and at full length, in his M.A. gown, cassock, and hood. In his left hand is the M.S. from which he preached the assize sermon when acting as chaplain to Viscount Pollington during his Barnsley's tenure of office as High Sheriff of the county. In the distance a view of St. Oswald's Church is presented. The artist is well known from having transferred to canvas the features of Lord Frederick Cavendish, and a large number of representatives of Yorkshire families.

First-class dramatic performances were held in a tent adjoining the School, and the Rothwell Old Band was in attendance. The bazaar was open again on Thursday, and sales were pretty numerous, and no doubt a very nice sum of money will have been netted towards the worthy object of the bazaar.

MR. NEWSOME'S WEDDING.

This event, which, by reason of the gentleman's prominent position, and by the remarks of our correspondents 'Gossip' and 'Snip,' has become a matter of public interest, came off on Monday morning. For reasons which need not be referred to here, it was found impossible to have the ceremony performed at church, as was desired, and it was therefore resolved to resort to the registrar's office at Hunslet. Mr. Newsome is well known in the locality as a tradesman of considerable importance, and as a member of the Rothwell Local Board. His bride, who is greatly his junior, is the youngest daughter of Mr. Major Sheldon, general carrier, also of this town. By eight o'clock, a large crowd had assembled near Mr. Sheldon's house, and it was with the greatest difficulty that a path was cleared for the half-past eight to allow the procession to pass to the carriage in waiting, which conveyed the party to Hunslet, where the civil contract was legally completed. The happy pair returned to Rothwell before ten o'clock, surrounded by a large company of well-wishers. After breakfast, Mr. and Mrs Newsome left Rothwell for the lakes, where they have been spending their honeymoon.

In celebration of the marriage, Mr. Newsome made arrangements for a substantial tea for all the widows in Rothwell, to be held on the Tuesday. Accordingly, on Tuesday afternoon, the Mechanics' Hall was crowded with a happy company, including about 70 widows, the tenants and customers bringing the total number to over 200. Several ladies and gentlemen assisted in making them comfortable, and afterwards took part in a hearty entertainment, during which the health and happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Newsome were cordially proposed and carried; and a piece of bridecake was presented to each person. After the entertainment, a number of the younger people joined in a dance. We understand that on Wednesday morning, a large number of gifts were made to the widows of the town. We are quite sure the knowledge of having rejoiced so many lonely hearts will be most gratifying to the benevolent giver.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

The usual monthly meeting of this Board was held on Friday evening, present:—Messrs W. Hargreaves, (chairman,) J. G. Turner, J. Batty, W. Lawton and the clerk, and attendance officer.

The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed

The chairman reported that a meeting of Management Committee, was held at Rothwell Haigh Schools, on the 22nd July, when a number of papers were laid before the Board. And arrangements were come to for the remittal or payment of the past and future fees of their children.

A decision was also arrived at for the division of the old Infants School-room, into two class-rooms for the Boys and Girls departments, and Mr Lockwood's tender for completing the work required was accepted at £16.

Cheques for the teachers' salaries were signed, Rothwell Haigh £42 11s. 8d., Rothwell £29 1s. 6d.; Public Works Loan Board £20 7s. 6d. for Waterloo, and £1 half-year's rent of Board-room.

The census returns by Mr. Denton, as published last month were considered, and general satisfaction with the information procured by the enumerator was expressed.

It was decided to join in the petition to the Department, complaining of the difficulty experienced in obtaining convictions against parents brought before the magistrates for neglect of not sending their children to school.

The fees received during July amount to Rothwell Haigh £16 8s. 6d.; Rothwell £10 9s. 7d.

This concluded the business.

MIDDLETON INFIRMARY SUNDAY.

On Sunday, the 17th August, the festival in support of the Leeds Infirmary was held at Middleton, under the presidency of the Vicar, of East Ardsley. Three brass bands had volunteered their services for the occasion, Morley, Leeds Model, and Rothwell Temperance, and each one performed some sacred music, which was rendered in a creditable manner. A platform had been erected at the far end of the field, officiated on the course:—Judges, W. T. Brownridge and J. Proctor; Leeds Athletic Club and W. H. Scholefield C.C. Referee and starter, Mr. Walter Platt. Starter, Mr. Walter Platt. and timekeeper, G. Bell. Starter, R. Chorley, Leeds Athletic Club. Clerk of the course, J. H. Rotherham. Handicapper, Mr. Walter Platt.

Tricycle Championship of Yorkshire (one mile).—1, J. J. Fowler, Hull; 2, J. H. Moorfoot, Harehills.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

AN OULTHWELL QUEEN LAD DROWNED.—We are sorry to have to record the fatal result of bathing in quarry pits. On Sunday morning Albert Robinson, residing at Oulthwell Queen, went with some other lads to be in an unused quarry belonging to Mr. Abbey at Lee Moor. The water is some yards deep, and deceased appears to have crossed the pond once, and after coming back again was trying to get out when the sides so crumbled that he was clinging, gave way, and he sank in the water never rising again. The body was shortly after got out, a large stone being found on his chest.

PICTURESQUE WALES.—Of all the charming romantic scenery in the kingdom, Wales takes the palm; and of all the attractive readable handbooks on Wales, Gordon Forsyth Turner's is the best; while the Cambrian Railways Company are to be congratulated on being able to issue so valuable a little work. 'The Handbook of Scenery' published by the Cambrian Railways now received is just the style of book for an excursionist to take in hand and follow its leadings. It is chatty and full of geology and history recording the various places arrived at, while information respecting the lines of railway and road are interspersed just in the right place. We are sure any one reading this remarkable 6d. guide will be led to see, and a start was not effected was clinging, two o' clock, and after visiting two or three places, the rain came down again, necessitating a hasty return to the Hall. No other start was made, and at 4 o' clock the scholars had tea in su orchard opposite the Hall, the other residents, relatives, and friends sitting down an hour later inside the Hall to an excellently provided tea. The anniversary services will be held on Sunday and Monday next.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.—Although there have been no outward signs of festivity, one of our oldest and best known townsmen last Wednesday commemorated the fiftieth anniversary of his marriage, in the midst of his own home along with his faithful spouse. We refer to Mr. Henry Kirkby, to whom Rothwell is so largely indebted for its high municipal character. Fifty years ago he was united in marriage with his present wife, and for a considerable part of that time, he has been actively engaged in the furtherance of musical science and practice. Now that he is unable to work, and is left almost alone in his old world, we think there must be those, many, who have received early instruction and help from him, will gladly shew their sympathy and esteem in some tangible shape in connection with this interesting event.

WHAT IS LIFE WITHOUT GOOD HEALTH ?

A GOLDEN RECEIPT.
All who are suffering from ill-health, Nervous Debility, Indigestion and weakness of the Blood, should at once send 12 stamps to J. Booth & Co. 145, Oxford St., Warneth., Oldham, who will at once forward the above receipt to any address; worth £100 to anyone who is suffering from ill-health.

CRICKET NOTES.

Glorious weather favoured the match at Bramall Lane, Sheffield, between Yorkshire and Middlesex, which ended in a conclusion on Wednesday last, the result being a draw. Hall, the Yorkshire captain, had the chance he seemed to want, to a share of honour, by scoring 96, and in the first innings, scoring 96, and in the second 135, when he was run out. Ulyett, Grimshaw and Peel, also seemed to be at home at bowling, performing wonderfully with the ball, their respective scores for both innings being 114, 53, and 55. The scores for both innings being 114, 53, and 55. The scores for both innings being 212, and 309. Middlesex had only one attempt with the willow, and in this they acquitted themselves very creditably, as their first innings, for which Hon. A. Lyttelton made 27, A. J. Webb 46, T. C. O'Brien 23, and L. D. Walker 22.

Hunslet when playing the benefit match for their professional, M. Burrows, were sorely beaten by Leeds Clarendon. The visitors took to defend first, with Burrows (c and b), Davison, (36), and Hartley, (2), making a very respectable score of 158, (24), and made a very respectable score of 158, (24), and made a very respectable score of 158, Hunslet, with H. Hill and A. G. Day of the Dewsbury Hunslet, with H. Hill and A. G. Day of the Dewsbury Hunslet, with H. Hill and A. G. Day of the Dewsbury

CRITICISMS
Earl Cairns—"Admirable."—Lord Shaftesbury—"Considers it very beautiful."—Bishop of Chester—"It is very striking, and ought to be a success."

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.
A quaint old poem, and beautifully printed in colours. —Christian World.
It is a series of couplets, the second line of each bringing in a clause of the prayer, as the following extract will show:—
If any be distressed and fain would gather
Some comfort, let him haste unto
Our Father;
For we of hope and help are quite bereaven,
Except Thou succour us
and so on. The idea is effective in itself, and the tasteful display of ecclesiastical characters in black with red capitals, surrounded by gilt and five colour border, makes the whole a very handsome design, well worth framing.—British and Colonial Printer and Stationer.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The usual meeting was held on Monday, present, Messrs. W. Hargreaves (chairman), Jas. Hargreaves, J. Holmes, J. Dobson, J. Turner, H. P. Newsome, and J. Nowell, and the clerk, collector and surveyor.
The minutes of last meeting were read.
In connection with the matters referred to in the minutes, further complaint was made respecting the disgraceful nuisance arising from the trench cut and used by the unsound fish deposited in Whiteley's quarry, the chairman specially reporting the abominable smell last week.
Highways.—The chairman of the Highway Committee reported the difficulty the Committee had experienced in securing sufficient quantity of suitable stone from Messrs. Elliott, and that they had had to get some from another contractor in order to keep the men at work. As the contract has not yet been signed by Mr. Elliott, a difference of opinion was expressed on the subject, and it was finally decided that if not signed within 24 hours' notice, other arrangements shall be made for obtaining road material. At a later stage of the meeting, authority was given to the clerk at once to advertise for 700 tons of best green stone, unless the contract was properly completed within the specified time.
Mr. Turner introduced the subject of purchasing a stone-breaking machine, which could be worked by a strap from the engine of the road-roller. The chairman replied that Mr. Dobson and he having had to visit Ardsley as regards dross required, had also inspected a stone-breaking machine in use there, and expressed an opinion that it was not to the advantage of the Board to purchase one, and that taking all into account, hand-breaking was the most satisfactory.
The clerk then read a tender from the Ardsley Company for certain descriptions of dross, broken and unbroken, and it was resolved, on the motion of Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Nowell, to order 50 tons of Rast Ardsley dross, machine broken, delivered at Stanley station at 4/11. On the motion of Mr. J. Hargreaves and Mr. Dobson, it was ordered that the clerk advertise for tenders for leading the above, in the Rothwell Times.
Water.—A complaint was made about the engine from the Co-op Stores obtaining water from a stand pipe at Stourton, without the Board's knowledge. It was, however, stated that the engineman evidently understood that the water belonged to the Leeds Corporation, with whom the Society has an agreement. In order to recoup the Board for the water used at one time or another, it was agreed to complain to the Society about the matter, and to charge them 5s. for the water.
Divided Parishes Act.—The clerk stated that an intimation had been received from the Local Government Board, stating that the Act settling the recent alterations in the boundaries of Rothwell and Oulton and Woodlesford, received the Royal Assent, August 7th.
Finance.—The accounts and salaries having been examined, it was resolved on the motion of Mr. Jas. Hargreaves and Mr. Newsome, to sign cheques for the same.
It was agreed to pay over £350 to Messrs. Green and Son, cost of steam-road roller; proposed by Mr. Newsome and Mr. Turner.
The collector reported having collected during the fortnight as follows:—

	£	s.	d.
Water Rents	29	18	4
Miscellaneous	3	0	5
	£161	1	8

Sanitary and Sewage.—Mr. J. Hargreaves reported that the Committee had inspected the drainage arrangements for Mr. John Holmes' property and found it very defective, some of the pipes being completely blocked, while in one case the drainage was conveyed under a house and some of the cellars were flooded with it. All the members agreed on the necessity for having this property properly drained, and especially now, when the dangers from infectious diseases are so great. The only question discussed was the speediest way of having the defectiveness remedied. It was finally decided, after giving the opportunity of doing it himself, that the Board shall undertake the sewering of Mr. Holmes' property and charge the cost of the work to the owner.
Street Lighting.—On the motion of Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Dobson, it was agreed to accept the offer of J. Haigh and A. Crummack, to light the lamps, &c., at 12s. a week. It was also resolved on the motion of the chairman and Mr. Dobson, to purchase their new pillars for use in Carlton Lane and elsewhere. The question as to any new lamps being fixed was left for the Lamps Committee on Thursday night, when the subject of testing the cost per lamp by meter, will also be gone into with the Gas Company.
The Cemetery Drain.—Mr. Turner enquired what was being done about the drain from Woodhouse cemetery entering the Board's main. Mr. Holmes replied that nothing whatever had been done since the Board's last letter some time ago, as the Town Clerk is from home. It was however stated, in reply to enquiries, that the main had been tapped some time, in fact as soon as required. The correspondence will be resumed shortly, it appears.

A CARD.—TO ALL WHO ARE SUFFERING FROM THE errors and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman. Station D, New York City, U.S.A.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The usual meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday evening, present, Mr. Jas. Hargreaves (chairman), Messrs. R. Pickersgill and J. Dixon, (vice-chairmen), the Rev. J. H. Evans, Messrs. J. Graveley, J. Hardcastle, J. Rollinson, B. Aaron, J. Smith, G. Jepson, J. Parker, C. Grosvenor, R. J. Smith, W. Lawton, and the clerk (Mr. Skilbeck), and assistant clerk (Mr. Keight).
The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.
Several special cases of persons owing payments were considered, and action taken accordingly.
Conduct of Business.—Mr. R. J. Smith's motion containing a series of resolutions for the greater expedition of business was then brought forward, each guardian having received a copy of the resolutions. Mr. Smith said that the first proposal to commence the relief cases at 1.30 instead of 2, would be a clear gain of half-an-hour; remitting all cases likely to be permanent to the "permanent relief list," would also diminish the fortnightly labours of the guardians; the other suggestions relating to the conduct of business were, he understood, already in the regulations, but he thought that if they were made standing orders, it might save considerable time. Mr. Jepson seconded. Mr. Aaron asked whether these rules were drawn up by a Committee or simply by the individual. The chairman explained that Mr. Smith had introduced the subject last meeting, and was asked to read the series of resolutions, when it was suggested that he give notice for this meeting, and each member be supplied with a copy. Mr. Aaron thought it was hardly the thing for one guardian to dictate to the whole Board what should be its rules, and felt it would have been the better plan, if Mr. Smith had simply called the attention of the chairman to any breach of order which might be occurring. Mr. Graveley rose to propose, without any unnecessary or disrespectful remarks, that the Board pass on to the next business;—seconded by Mr. Aaron. On being put, this was agreed to by eight votes, against four on the other side.
Visitations.—Some conversation ensued on the subject of only taking up permanent cases twice a year, but no resolution was arrived at. It was however, resolved, that no ordinary case remain unvisited longer than one month.
Workhouse Field.—The chairman reported that Mr. Schofield and he had met a deputation of Leeds Highway Committee in regard to the rent to be paid for the whole or a portion of the land belonging to the Union. The Leeds people thought £50 for the whole lot too much, besides which they did not require it all, and offered £12 for a certain part of the land. A proposal was made by Mr. Parker and Mr. Hardcastle to let this lot for £20. An amendment was moved by Mr. Evans, to hold to the original offer for the entire field; this was lost by a majority of two. Another amendment was made by Mr. Aaron and Mr. Pickersgill, asking £16 for the portion required by the Corporation, which was also lost by two. A third 'side' proposal was raised by Mr. Lawton, who wished to press the East and West Yorkshire Union Railway Company to purchase the land at once (it is already scheduled by a written undertaking on the part of the Company). Mr. Aaron seconded, but only four voted for it, five against, considerable merriment being by this time been provoked by the numerous amendments. A fourth amendment was however, carried unanimously, Mr. Aaron and Mr. Graveley leading the way, "That the Corporation pay £16 for the portion required by them; leaving the remaining piece of land for future consideration."
As regards some stone now laying in the Workhouse yard, the Corporation promised to remove it shortly, for the paving of some Hunslet streets. Mr. Schofield is also requested to send the chairman of the Highway Committee the length of wood pavement required for the portion of Glasshouse St. opposite the Union offices, for consideration by the Committee.
Officers' Beer.—In accordance with a notice last meeting. Mr. J. Smith brought forward his motion, based on a letter received from the nurse asking that instead of beer, which she did not take, she should be allowed the cost of it in money. He moved that any officers of the Workhouse not desiring to have the beer provided, be allowed £3 per annum in lieu thereof. He thought it unfair to compel people to have beer if they did not desire it; they should either take the beer or not. Mr. Graveley also spoke against it, pointing out that this would mean £18 more to be paid in salaries. Mr. Dixon said it was only a new way of advancing salary, and moved that the matter pass on to the next business; seconded by Mr. Jepson and carried, seven voting against the proposal, and six for.
The Talbot.—Some amusement was caused by the little personal knowledge members had, of the tailor and shoemaker and their duties, these artificers having hardly been seen by the Guardians at any time up to last meeting. The reason of this was now apparent, it turned out that the meetings of the Visiting Committee are held at half-past six, while the work-rooms are closed at six. Several gentlemen had, however, made it a special business to enquire into this matter, and the result of their enquiries was very satisfactory as regards the work and attention of these men. Of course, they are primarily amenable to the Master. Their usual holiday was agreed to.

Good Bargain.—Mr. Parker reported that the Committee had purchased 28 piles of sleepers last week at £2 15s. a pile, a price which is very much below what has ever been previously paid. This wood is for chopping up into fire chips.
The Local Government Board have signified their approval of Sergeant Tracy, the new porter.
The several returns and lists of wants were then considered and agreed to.

ROTHWELL
CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.

In common with nearly 200 kindred societies, a number of members connected with the Rothwell Conservative Association, left Rothwell on Saturday morning, to join in the great county demonstration at Nostell Priory. The party mustered at the Working Man's Club shortly after ten o'clock, whence they proceeded in a four-horse coach to their destination. The turn-out was very much admired both at Rothwell, Wakefield, and elsewhere on the route; in fact, it was often declared to be the best that had passed through Wakefield that day. The weather was beautiful all day, and the trip to Nostell and back was immensely enjoyed by all who availed themselves of the opportunity. The party left Nostell about half-past six, arriving at Rothwell at half-past eight.
On reaching the Priory, a deputation from the Association, consisting of Messrs. Turner, Richardson, and Harms, presented the following address to Sir Stafford Northcote, and the Earl of Carnarvon, who received it in the Riding School, in the grounds:—

To the Right Hon. Sir Stafford Northcote, the Earl of Carnarvon, Lord Randolph Churchill, and the leaders of the Opposition.
"We, on behalf of the Rothwell Conservative Association, beg to tender you our sincere thanks for the determined stand you have taken in the recent political affairs of this country.
We heartily endorse the censure you have from time to time passed on the action of Her Majesty's Government in respect to Egyptian affairs, and believe that what little action they have taken in the matter of General Gordon, and the Soudan Garrisons, is entirely due to the pressure you have so steadily brought to bear upon them.
We beg to express our admiration of, and sympathy with, the House of Peers in the courage they have displayed by the rejection of the Franchise Bill, and feel sure that in this we do but express the feelings of the great majority of the intelligent people of this great nation.
For this reason therefore we should be glad to see an appeal to the country on a Re-distribution Scheme, and hope Right Hon. Sir, and my Lords, you will not relax your endeavours to secure a dissolution of parliament, as we feel confident the verdict of the country will be in your favour."
After spending a couple of hours in the extensive and beautiful park, the members joined with the thousands composing the vast crowd, who stood for three long hours in the blazing sun, listening to the addresses of the various speakers.
A pretty full report is given in our sixth page, of the proceedings in the Riding School, and reference is also made to the early part of the large meeting.
The second resolution was moved by the Earl of Carnarvon, seconded by Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, M.P., and supported by Mr. C. B. Stuart Wortley, M.P., in the following effect—
That this meeting emphatically condemns the vacillating conduct in Egypt, whereby Her Majesty's Government have lowered in this country, in the councils of Europe; and it deplores the unworthy policy by which our colonies are being alienated and the unity of the British Empire is imperilled.
In place of Lord Randolph Churchill, who was ill, the third resolution was proposed by the Right Hon. H. Cecil Raikes, M.P., and seconded by Mr. Arthur Duncombe.—
That this great meeting of north countrymen, composed of all orders and classes of people, hereby expresses its disapproval of the general action of the Cabinet with reference to home affairs, and expresses its strong opinion that the time has arrived when an immediate dissolution should take place.
Thanks were then presented to the several speakers, and to Mr. Winn, the proceedings concluding with cheers for the Queen, and for Lord Salisbury.

CARLTON VEGETABLE SHOW.

A show of vegetables, with a few items in cut flowers, was held on Saturday last at the Unicorn Inn, Carlton. The exhibits, which were all grown by working men, were arranged on a number of tables in a large room on the second floor, and, so far as quality goes, some of them would have compared favorably with those at larger exhibitions. The judges were Messrs. Thos. Maddock (gardener to Mr. Ramskill, Lofthouse) and John Ward (Mr. J. Charlesworth's head gardener). The following is a list of prizetakers:—
Thomas Fox: 1st and 2nd vegetable marrow and cucumber, 1st red celery and carrots, 2nd white celery, spring onions, and tray of vegetables.

ROTHWELL TIMES—FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1884.

METHLEY MEMORIAL CHURCH.

A bazaar, in aid of funds required for the building of a new church, was opened on Wednesday week, by the Rev. J. Palmes, Rector of Escrick, near York. The church of St. Oswald in this parish, has been used for the purposes of public worship for about five centuries. Doubtless it was at one time centrally situated, but such can hardly be said to be now the case. The memorial-stone of the new building was laid by Mr. F. Sharpe Powell, on July 31st, 1883. The construction of the general foundations and lower walls is proceeding, and other portions will be taken up as funds are forthcoming. It is intended that the new edifice shall be in the same style of architecture as St. Oswald's, but that it shall have two aisles instead of a single one. As soon as the nave and chancel are finished services will be held, the need for means of public worship being so pronounced. The aisles will next be added, and then a tower and spire to complete the whole.

The Bazaar held on Wednesday and Thursday in the National School-room, and the Rectory grounds, is the second in furtherance of the project. At two o'clock on Wednesday, the Rector, the Hon. and Rev. P. Y. Saville, introduced the Rev. Mr. Palmes, and said he was happy to tell them of the kindness and help which they had met with at the hands of everybody. They had resolved not to incur any debt, but to go on building as the funds were forthcoming, and he was thankful to tell them that they were not likely to cease building operations yet for want of funds. He hoped and believed that God would bless their undertaking, which was so very necessary to the spiritual welfare of the parishioners.

The Rev. James Palmes, M.A., then formally opened the bazaar, and urged all to work shoulder to shoulder with one end in view, viz., the erection of the church which he knew was so much needed. He said Churchmen had carried on this work vigorously in all parts of the country for many years, and he trusted their efforts would still be in the same direction. What they were wanting to-day were deeds, not words, and he hoped they would buy liberally. He did not know that it was a clergyman's place to encourage extravagance, but he thought to-day he might allow them to be more extravagant than usual, and he would grant them plenary absolution for any such sin; he had now great pleasure in declaring the Bazaar "open."

A choice collection of saleable objects had been brought together, and arranged so prettily amid a setting of foliage plants, flowers, and drapery, that it was pleasurable to linger, even though the purse might suffer. One wing of the building containing the general stalls under the care of Miss Saville, Mrs. S. Charlesworth, Miss Baker and Miss Beatrice Savile, and Miss Wade (Girls' Friendly Society). The refreshment department, in charge of Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Clarkson, and Miss Lillie Klopp, was located in the adjoining wing. Over the arch which divides the two portions was hung an excellent portrait in oils of the Rector, which was presented last Saturday in celebration of his 70th birthday.

First-class dramatic performances were held in a tent adjoining the School, and the Rothwell Old Band was in attendance. The bazaar was open again on Thursday, and the total amount realized was over £160.

PRESENTATION TO THE RECTOR.

An interesting and memorable occurrence took place last Saturday afternoon, in the Rectory grounds at Methley, where a large number of parishioners and friends assembled about twelve o'clock. The object of the meeting was to take part in the proceedings connected with the presentation of a testimonial to the Rector of the village, the Hon. and Rev. Philip Yorke Savile, on attaining his seventieth birthday, and the forty-third year of his ministry. The testimonial took the form of a life-size portrait in oil, of the rev. gentleman himself, executed in the highest style of art, and by one of the most cultured painters of the age, suitably mounted in a handsome broad frame of rich English gold. Mr. H. P. Neilimme, of Scarbro, the artist, has already achieved considerable distinction by his success in transferring to canvas the portrait of the late lamented Lord Frederick Cavendish, and representatives of other distinguished families. The portrait is an admirable one, and reproduces with remarkable clearness and fidelity the well-known features of the genial and popular rector of Methley. Mr. Savile is depicted life-size and at full length, in his M.A. gown, cassock, and hood. In his left hand is the M.S. from which he preached the assize sermon when acting as chaplain to Viscount Pollington, during his lordship's course of office as High Sheriff of the county. In the distance a view of St. Oswald's Church is presented. The attitude, the perspective, the accessories, and the colouring, are all carefully and tastefully arranged, and the entire production must ever remain a credit to the artist, a lasting reminder of the kindly rector, a precious heirloom in the family, and a permanent and ever-pleasing proof of the esteem in which Mr. Savile is held by his parishioners. It is a gratifying fact that the picture has been subscribed for by all classes, the idea having originated with the working men of Methley, who have also generously furthered the progress and completion of the scheme. The following detailed report of the meeting will be read with interest.

Mr. Nixon, the Chairman of the Committee, opened the proceedings from a platform erected in a few well chosen words called upon Mr. Robinson to present the address, who, after a very warm reception, said: Mr. Chairman, Ladies, and Gentlemen,—I have great pleasure in being here this afternoon to do honour to our worthy Rector, Mr. Savile, (applause) whose portrait you see before you. But you must allow me to say that I feel in a rather peculiar position, called upon as I am to present him with this testimonial, and I am sure that there are gentlemen present who could more efficiently fulfil that office (no, no). Some may think it an easy matter to stand before an audience like this and make a speech; indeed, I have myself often thought, when listening to a gentleman talking away on the platform, that speech-making was an easy matter. But now I am placed in that position, I feel somewhat in the predicament of Paddy when he fell off the building. His comrade shouted to him to know how he was, and Paddy called out, 'Oh! Michael, I'm speechless!' (laughter). Nevertheless, being the Secretary and one of the promoters of this testimonial, and the committee suggesting that I should have the honour of presenting it, I will endeavour to collect my scattered thoughts and do the best I can. In the first place, if I should not be out of order, I might give you an outline how the testimonial first originated. It had been going on some time before our worthy rector was aware of our intentions. One evening, just about the time the Rev. W. H. Saville preached his first sermon in Methley Church (loud applause), I and a few of the old inhabitants of this parish were discussing the merits of his sermon. Some thought that with experience he would take his position amongst the ablest ministers of the day, and I thought so myself at the time, as to preach in this parish for as long a period as his father (applause), and that at some future day he may be favoured with the same honours from the parishioners of Methley, as his respected father is about to experience this day. I sincerely trust that one hearing the respected and reverend name of Savile may occupy the pulpit of this parish for generations to come (applause). Well, after discussing the merits of the young minister for a short time, I said, 'What about the old minister, Mr. Savile (applause)—our Rector for over forty years? I suggest that we try to raise funds for a testimonial to him in the form of an oil portrait as a mark of esteem for his valuable services during his long period of ministry among us' (loud applause). The rest coincided with my views, a committee was formed, and the affair got into working order. Our appeal has been nobly responded to, not only by the inhabitants and gentry of Methley, but by other friends in the neighbourhood, who, like ourselves, respect Mr. Savile (applause). You will, I am sure, agree that there is great credit due to the artist, Mr. H. P. Neilimme, of Scarborough, who is perfectly satisfied with the skill he has shown in so ably delineating the well-known features of our worthy minister (hear, hear). I have been a resident in this parish close upon fifty years, and have known Mr. Savile most of that time. I have always found him a kind, affable, and courteous gentleman, always ready and willing to assist his parishioners in every good work by every means in his power (applause). I can remember Mr. Savile the face of Mr. Savile in the school and among the children when I was a boy, and attended the Church Sunday School, which was then very inconveniently placed. No doubt our worthy Rector saw that better accommodation was required, and consequently he was instrumental in the building of the National School, which has been a great boon and of inestimable service to the children and inhabitants of this parish (hear hear). I was a scholar at the old school when Mr. Savile preached his first sermon in Methley Church, and I left the school in 1842, and I can assure you that it was a good one—(applause)—for they thought fit to have it printed, and I still retain a copy. The words of the text were, 'Brethren, pray for us,' a very appropriate text for a minister entering upon so important an office as shepherd over a flock of sovereign bondsmen, all looking to him, as he said, to be fed with the Bread of Life. I also noticed at the conclusion of his sermon how sincerely he requested the prayers and prayers of his flock. And, thank God, our Rector has been spared to perform his duties among us up to this his seventieth birthday—(applause)—and during the forty-two years of his ministry here his flock had become more and more devoted to him, and are grateful to day to testify their love and gratitude for him (loud applause). And now, ladies and gentlemen, I shall proceed to present this testimonial, and will read the address to Mr. Savile as received from his parishioners and friends as follows:—

HONOURABLE AND REVEREND SIR,

We, your parishioners and friends, this day, August 23rd, beg to present you with an oil portrait of yourself, in the likeness, of Scarborough. We think this a fitting opportunity, being your seventieth birthday, and hope you will accept it as a proof of the high regard and esteem we entertain for you during your long ministry amongst us as Rector of Methley, owing to the many years and zeal, our ministry has been partly restored, and the National Schools and house built, and most generously maintained by you, and also carried on in the best manner. You endeared yourself to the children of the parish. In every charitable work you have co-operated with us, and taken a kindly interest in the welfare of the flock committed to your charge. Under your able guidance we have commenced building a new Church in a populous part of the parish. By your faithful ministrations in the pulpit, and by the silent and persuasive teaching of a consistent life, you have won for yourself an enduring place in the hearts of a large circle of friends, and especially among your own people of Methley. We therefore subscribe for the portrait which now awaits your acceptance may have a place on your walls during your life, (which we trust may be prolonged to a happy old age) and that afterwards it may remain in your family as a memento of days gone by, and as a memorial of your connection with this Church and parish."

I beg, Mr. Saville, (continued the speaker) to hand over to you the address, and a book containing the names of the subscribers, and may God Almighty bless you (applause).

MR SAVILE, who on appearance was greeted with a hearty cheer of welcome, responded in felicitous terms He said: My kind friends and neighbours, let me extract you, and accept my personal favour to the honour you have so repeatedly granted me, and that is, not to weigh my gratitude by the words that now fall from my lips, but by the feelings I have brought to thank you as you deserve, and I wish the portrait you have so generously presented to me was now by my side, that I might hold it—I was going dumb recently, speak for me, for I am told up all sides that it is a 'speaking' likeness. (Laughter and applause.) Mr. Robinson, in handing to me your address, couched in such complimentary terms, and far, very far beyond my deserts —(no! no!)—has reminded me that this is my birthday. Yes, my dear friends, I have this day attained the allotted period of man—three score years and ten. I cannot, therefore, appropriate the address entirely to myself, but to the time you have given me. I feel you intend my portrait to be handed down as an heirloom to my children, and grandchildren, for whom we born in this parish of Methley, in which their father has spent, and spent happily, very happily, the morning, afternoon, and evening of his life. And I cannot (hear, hear.) When it was first intimated to me that the working men of Methley were getting up a testimonial in the shape of a portrait, I imagined it was to be a small photograph, and had it assumed that form it would have been greatly appreciated by me, for "Tis not the value of the gift but the love of the giver" to

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.
A quaint old poem, and beautifully printed in colours.—Christian World.
It is a series of couplets, the second line of each bringing in a clause of the prayer, as the following extract will show:—
If any be distressed and fain would gather
Some comfort, let him haste unto
Our Father;
For we of hope and help are quite bereaven,
Except Thou succour us
and so on. The idea is effective in itself, and the tasteful display of ecclesiastical characters in black with red capitals, surrounded by gilt and five colour borders, makes the whole a very handsome design, well worth framing.—British and Colonial Printer and Stationer.

Now that the "silly" season is getting over, it will not be amiss to cast about as to engagements for the long winter evenings, so that the renewed health and vigour gained in nature's garden, may be used for the instruction, advantage, and pleasure of the mind. Last winter's programme of entertainment was most rational and pleasurable as far as it went, especially as regards the provision made by the committee of the Mechanics' Institute. We would urge that another series of lectures, illustrated if possible, by experiments and diagrams, be arranged for; we believe we are right in anticipating several treats of this class. Would it not be possible also to secure the assistance of some gentlemen for a musical lecture or two, either illustrating the progress of psalmody, the popular songs of various epochs, national music, or some other phases of this attractive and pleasurable art. While acknowledging the able and successful dramatic performances of several friends in the neigbourhood, it might also be found agreeable and simple, to arrange for two or three well rendered historical incidents or plays, without the expensive adjuncts of dress and scenery, but rather as a test of elocutionary power. The prospect of having an art exhibition in Rothwell is graifying, and we earnestly trust the project will be eminently successful; an opportunity, here, for those who have pictures, sculpture, articles of vertu, &c., to allow the people to view them at their leisure, and so raise the tone and taste of those who are not so privileged as to be able to purchase such luxuries. We also hope the character which this district has gained for musical ability will not be permitted to wane, but that good concerts and entertainments will be provided by the various societies and choirs, at a reasonable rate.

In order to make all run smoothly, it is necessary that there should be some spare cash, and this is a commodity that has not been frequently seen for some time. But we do hope that the bountiful harvest which has mercifully been granted us, will make the wheels of commerce revolve more quickly, and that our workmen will this winter rejoice in having a little to spare, both of money, time, and interest. They will then, we know, be only too glad to cultivate their minds, and raise the standard of living, by earnest application to study, as afforded by book or lecture, and thus further the great cause of national education and advancement.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are excited by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes entirely healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—If any perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."
A CARD.—TO ALL WHO ARE SUFFERING FROM THE ERRORS and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. ROTHWELL WESLEYAN METHODISM.

The Rev. C. A. Collingwood, who for three years has resided in Rothwell as one of the Wesleyan ministers of the Wakefield circuit, concluded his term on Sunday evening last, when he preached his last sermon at Rothwell, a large congregation being present. The choir had been augmented for this occasion, and considerably improved the service of praise. The subject of discourse was "The unchangeableness of Christ," and reference was made to the continual onward movements of all things about us, persons, places, circumstances, everything changing; but pointing to Christ as the unchangeable friend, always present, always ready to hear. The special character of the service was naturally alluded to in a suitable manner, grateful reference being made to the general kindness of the people and regret in leaving friends, while an earnest appeal was put forth for sympathy and assistance on behalf of their future pastor. Mr. Collingwood, whose powers as a preacher and speaker are unanimously acknowledged and prized, spoke with unusual earnestness and effect, and the service will not soon be forgotten. During his residence here, a considerable number of young people have joined the church, and in many other ways, he, along with his kind and amiable wife, have endeared themselve to the hearts of the people who will long remember them with great pleasure. They carry with them numerous tokens of regard from friends in Rothwell and district. Mr. Collingwood with his wife and family, left Rothwell on Wednesday afternoon for Accrington, where he will occupy a position of influence which, we doubt not, will be to the benefit of those to whom he will minister.

The newly appointed minister, the Rev. Sidney Pitt, arrived yesterday, with his wife and family, and in welcoming them among us, we sincerely trust they will prove, not only profitable and advantageous to the Wesleyan Church, but also an acquisition to the general society and inhabitants of the district.

As will be observed by an advertisement in another column, Mr. Pitt commences his ministry on Sunday, and a recognition meeting will be held on Monday, for all the three new ministers to the circuit.

CHURCH CHOIR TRIP.

On Saturday last, the members of the Rothwell Church Choir had their annual trip. Scarbro was the place chosen for this year's visit, and shortly before 9 o'clock, the party assembled in the N. E. Station, Leeds. The choir proper consisted of 24 boys and 11 men, including the organist (Mr Sheldon) and the choir-master (Mr. Harms), but several friends having expressed a wish to join, the whole party numbered 40.

A special carriage was attached to the 9.5 express, and after a very pleasant journey, Scarbro' was reached shortly after 11 o'clock. Here the party was met by the Vicar, Mr. Fawkes, who, with Mrs. Fawkes is at present staying at Scarbro'. Mr. Turner, who was there on a short visit, also joined the Vicar in welcoming the choir on their arrival.

After the necessary arrangements for the day's programme, the party separated, to call for their own enjoyment for a few hours. The greater part of the boys were taken by the Vicar for an hour's sail in the bay, and as it was high water, with a light warm wind, the trip was very much enjoyed by the youngsters. The tempting state of the water also induced several of the oldsters to indulge in the luxury of a salt-water dip. The varied attractions of donkey, pony and tricycle riding, with visits to the Aquarium, Castle Hill, the North Sands, and the Spa Grounds, filled in the hours of the afternoon. While indulging in a tricycle ride, one of the choir boys, Arthur Schofield, met with an accident. His machine got upset, and in so boy falling on his arm, dislocated his right elbow. He was taken to the Dispensary, and soon had the arm rectified, with the cheering promise by the very kindly house surgeon that he would soon be all right again.

At 4 o'clock, the whole choir party assembled in a private room of the Restaurant attached to the Grand Hotel. Here an excellent tea was provided for them, to which ample justice was done.

After tea, each choir-boy received a substantial present from the Vicar to enable him to continue his enjoyment on the sands. Rain began to fall shortly before 6 o'clock, and some what marred the enjoyment for the rest of the evening.

The whole party got safely off by the 8.15 train, and arrived in Leeds about 11.30, (half-an-hour late).

Waggonettes were in waiting at the station to drive the somewhat tired pleasure-seekers home to Rothwell, which was reached soon after 12 o'clock. Everybody agreed that a most enjoyable day had been spent, and that the best thanks of the party were due to Mr. Samwells, who had the responsibility and labour of all the arrangements.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Notable Facts.—Intense heat augments the annoyances of skin diseases and encourages the development of febrile disorders; therefore they should, in time, be removed by these detergent and purifying preparations. In stomach complaints, liver affections, pains and spasms of the bowels, Holloway's unguent will rubbed over the affected part immediately give us the greatest ease, prevents congestion and inflammation, checks the threatening diarrhœa, and averts the incipient cholera. The poorer inhabitants of large cities will find these remedies to be their best friend when any pestilence rages, as they always counteract eruptive boils, sores, abscesses, or ulcerations point out the presence of taints or impurities within the system, and call for instant and effective curative medicines.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

ROTHWELL SALVATION ARMY.—Last night, a great meeting was announced to be held for the presentation of colours by Major Cadman, of Leeds. The meeting was announced to commence at 7.30, but before that time arrived, every seat in the Large Hall of the Mechanics' Institute was occupied. Some of the soldiers were arranged on the platform, while others took the body of the hall, and on the arrival of the Major with the flag, the usual volleys were fired. The meeting was commenced by singing and prayers, and then several testimonies were given by the soldiers, interspersed with songs from the War Cry, &c., after which the Major spoke, and in a rather lengthy, but nevertheless interesting address, put forth the several views of the Army, and explained the various ways which they adopted in obtaining such large congregations at their meetings, at the same time answering several objections in reference to the manner in which they carried on their work. They had training homes in London which held about 200 persons, who are prepared to be sent out to different parts of England to take charge of such places as the one at Rothwell, while others have to go out of this country altogether. He (the Major) stated that the soldiers did not enter these training homes to obtain a classical education, and he made into ministers of the gospel, but to get thoroughly converted to God. As fast as one was taken out another was sent in, and at the present moment there were some 2000 soldiers ready for admission into these buildings. A story was also related in reference to the Salvation Army in Geneva, eighty-three of the soldiers had to appear in court for marching about the streets &c., when the judge on observing that all the number seemed happy and full of joy, not forgetting the future, began to tremble on his seat, and at the conclusion of the evidence, would not return a verdict, and left the court without doing so, and resigned. In presenting the flag, which is about 5 feet square, Mr. Cadman gave the meaning of the colours, and the people in the centre, "Blood and Fire," the flag also bears the number of the Rothwell contingent. The branch at Rothwell is the 741st detachment 12 England, and since its foundation, over a hundred other places have been opened. After the captain and lieutenant had spoken, the flag was given in charge of the colour sergeant, Arthur Ward, a person who has only been in the ranks about three weeks. The meeting closed about half past nine o'clock.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—Last night an accident occurred at Woodlesford Station as the 7.15 train was departing. Miss Ingham, a young woman residing at Woodlesford, accompanied by her sister (who was going to Headingley) to the train, and when in the act of shaking hands as the train was in motion, she accidently slipped off the platform, and fell a distance of twenty yards between the train and the platform. Dr Nowell, of Rothwell, was soon in attendance, and rendered such professional assistance as was necessary.

ANNUAL SPEECH DAY.—The annual "Speech day" at the residence of Mr. Beasley, Beech House, Hall Green, near Birmingham, was in every sense a success. To the parents and friends of Mr. Beasley's pupils, and still more so to the public themselves, it must have been highly gratifying. When it is taken into consideration that the majority of the speakers had entered the establishment only a short time ago as painful and inveterate stammerers, it is marvellously surprising that such results in so short a time could be attained. Stammerers who had been afflicted for years were heard to speak with a fluency and an articulation quite up to, if not above the average of most people who have no impediment. The pupils were from all classes, the Church, the army, the navy, the middle class, and the clergyman, and all testified alike to the sound and perfectly natural system adopted by Mr. Beasley, who was himself for many years terribly afflicted with this most distressing drawback to success in life.

An elastic rubber tubing perfectly gas tight and free from smell has been urgently needed for many years, in fact the impossibility of making a satisfactory gas connection for gas apparatus which requires to be moveable, has rendered the use of such as a fact in many cases a most objectionable nuisance. The tubing recently patented is made of two layers of rubber, with pure soft tin foil vulcanized between. It is perfectly and permanently gas tight under any pressure, and free from the slightest trace of smell after long continued use, which proves its durability and elasticity of an ordinary rubber tube. The braided or cloth-covered tube which has been made with the intention of filling the above want, has come into general use, owing to the very small quantity of gas it passes, rendering it almost useless except for small lighting burners, but when the larger burners connections and screws have to be fitted to every burner and to both ends of every length of tube, these serious faults are entirely done away with. This tube is the result of many years experimenting, and fills a most important want, which every user of gas-heating apparatus must feel almost daily. Irrespective of the well known fact that extremely thin layers of rubber or beaten metal are impervious to gas, the tubing has been in practical use for some time and has been thoroughly tested for months under continuous and large pressures of gas. The tubing is made by Mr. Thos. Fletcher, of Warrington.

PRIMITIVE METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL, STOURTON.—On Saturday last, a public tea was held in the Day Board School, Pontefract Road. The tea was on the the tables at 5 o'clock, and a good number sat down to partake of it. After tea a public meeting was held, bearing on Sunday School work; the Rev. T. Pearson took the chair, and the meeting was ably addressed by Messrs. M. Barraclough, J. Tempest, and G. Hornby. At the close of the meeting a collection was made in aid of the Sunday School Fund. On Sunday, two sermons were preached by Mr. Geo. Conyers, in the afternoon and evening.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—On Sunday last, the Carlton Temperance Choir rendered the above hall for the purpose of giving two services of song. In the afternoon, the piece was entitled 'The pioneers of Primitive Methodism,' and in the evening 'The Dairyman's Daughter.' The latter was undoubtedly the best service, and was well rendered by the choir. Miss Scarlin gave the concerted pieces in a well-modulated voice. Mr. Jos. Firth conducted the singing, which was ably accompanied by Mr. J. Ward.

SHELLSHOTON CHURCH.—Owing to the church undergoing cleaning operations, it was found necessary to discontinue the services for a short time, and for the past few weeks they have been held in the Church School. On Sunday last, the re-opening services took place, when the Rev. Richard Wentworth Fawkes, the late esteemed Rector, preached in the morning and afternoon to crowded congregations, the sermons being most touching, and delivered in a most impressive manner. The special anthems were given on the occasion, and no doubt the Rev.

EAST ARDSLEY HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

On Sunday last the second annual demonstration in aid of the Clayton Hospital, was held in a field near the Board Schools, kindly lent by Mr. Wm. Naylor. A procession was formed about 1.30, and headed by the three bands who had kindly volunteered their services, made a circuit of the village. The proceedings in the field were opened by a few kind words from the president, Mr. Eli Simpson, of Ossett, followed by prayer and the singing of the first hymn 'Jesu, the very thought of Thee'; after which Dr. Young, of East Ardsley, addressed a few words to those present, pressing the claims of such noble institutions, and hoping that the people would give as God had given unto them. The Rothwell Temperance Band followed with "Hallelujah to the Father." Mr. F. M. Roper, Wakefield, (Chairman of the Hospital Saturday Fund Committee,) spoke in a few statistics respecting the Clayton Hospital. Morley Band next rendered "Weber's Last" and "Hours of Beauty.' Mr. Batty, of Rothwell, was next called on, and referred to the greater advantages we have over our forefathers, and hoped that no men and women of England would act up to their privileges; he also referred to the objections which some people raise to Sunday Demonstrations, and by quotations from Scripture sought to refute the statements of such people. East Ardsley Band rendered the "Hallelujah Chorus" and the "Victoria." Then a few Hundredth 'bringing up the rear. Votes of thanks were presented to the chairman and musicians at the close.

LEEDS POLICE COURT.

THIS DAY (FRIDAY.)

NEGLECT OF FAMILY.—This morning, before the Mayor, (E. Woodhouse, Esq.), Messrs. Tatham and Walker, a man named Thomas Thompson, moulder, was charged by Mr. B. Ramsden, relieving officer, (on behalf of the Rothwell Board of Guardians), with neglecting to support his wife and family, who had become chargeable to his Board. In reply to a question from the Bench, it was stated that the fellow had been no less than eleven times before the magistrates for a similar offence. The bench sentenced him to three months imprisonment with hard labour.

CRICKET NOTES.

The Yorkshire's been administered a severe rebuke by Derbyshire at Bradford to the extent of ten wickets. This was in a great measure due to the fact that a change in the weather on the last day of the game caused the bat to have an immense advantage over the leather. Then there was the usual ill-luck attending the visitors in the matter of tossing, which, curious to relate, has not once favoured them this year. This was a serious misfortune against such a team as that of Yorkshire, who would still further, as Shacklock, who really proved admirably throughout, none of the Peak county representatives showed anything like good form. The wicket-keeping was up to the best standard, Emmett exhibiting much of his old fire in capturing six wickets for slightly over four runs apiece. Ulyett, too, deserves a word of commendation, since the crack's average in the first innings read three for 19 runs. A remarkable feature on the home side was the fielding of Peate, who made no fewer than five catches in the slips.

Hunslet on Saturday last met with Kept Wakefield in the field all the afternoon. To make such a score of 244 against such bowlers as the Wakefield club possess, is an extraordinary performance, and Carr alone was responsible for 69, a splendid score, and considering that he has not played of late, makes it all the more remarkable. The next in order of merit is T. Marsh (56), W. Marsh (37), J. Yeadon (28), W. Gough (not out 10), Hollings (14), and Ward (12), while it is gratifying to learn that every four members of the team failed to reach double figures.

Rothwell had open dates for both elevens on Saturday, but a match was got up for the benefit of the groundsmen, designated as no eleven of Rothwell v. Twenty-two of the Temperance Society, which included several players of Rothwell Club, as well as some from Robin Hood. The eleven which did duty for Rothwell was not one of the strongest, having to deplore the absence of Wood, Wice, Pape, and Baines, the latter assisting the teetotalers. The eleven batted first, but did not bat as strongly as could be expected, being disposed of for 89, the professional heading the list with 21, followed by C. Tiffany (18), Dobson (12), and H. Waterhouse (11). W. Blackburn, a player who has only of late come into this district, proved himself best with the ball, capturing six wickets. On the Temperance side, none of the players got into double figures, though four of them only fell one short. They were all out for

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The fortnightly meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday afternoon, present:—Mr. Jas. Hargreaves (chairman), Messrs. R. Pickersgill and J. Dawson, (vice-chairmen), Messrs. J. Graveley, J. Parker, J. Hardcastle, H. Sheard, G. Jepson, R. J. Smith, J. Smith, W. Lawton, J. Rollinson, and the Rev. J. H. Evans, with Mr. Keight, assistant clerk.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

COUNTRY VISITATION.—Arrangements were made for paying the usual visitation to the country for the purpose of meeting the persons receiving relief from the Board, and it was agreed to come over to Rothwell on Friday next, and afterwards to Woodlesford and Oulton. It was also resolved that a small deputation go over to see the poor people in the Templenewsam district.

REMITTAL OF SCHOOL FEES.—Mr. Lawton on behalf of the Rothwell School Board, asked the Board to allow persons applying for relief from school fees to attend at the Hunslet Board, instead of having to come all the way to Rothwell. The chairman stated that the Guardians did not remit any fees for children attending Board schools, only denominational schools. All applications for fees to Board School children were referred to the School Board. In reply to a question by Mr. R. J. Smith, the chairman and Mr. Graveley said that in no sense is a person considered a pauper, who asks for the remission of his child's fees.

WORKHOUSE FIELD.—In reference to the decision come to at last meeting respecting the rent to be charged for the piece of land offered to the Corporation, a letter was read from the Highway Committee enquiring if £18 a-year (the amount agreed on) was the final resolution of the Board: if so, the Corporation would decline the offer, and simply retain the old piece already occupied, and will rebuild the wall. There was some difference of opinion as to whether the Board should hold to their offer or not, it being finally decided to do so, on the motion of Mr. Hardcastle and Mr. Parker, by a narrow majority.

EMIGRATION.—Some correspondence was read between Mr. Boyd, secretary to the Roman Catholic Emigration Society, the Local Government Board, and the Board of Guardians, the final result of which is that the Local Government Board will allow the payment of £10 each for the outfit and expenses of taking four boys from the Workhouse to Canada, there to be placed in their way of gaining an honest livelihood under the above Society. The boys left Leeds on Wednesday by the 2.15 train for Liverpool, where they would be met by Mr. Boyd, and taken to their new home over the sea. It is to be hoped that the expectations of the Guardians as to their prot.g.s will be fully realized.

CONTRACTS.—As the term for the present contracts will close at the end of the present month, the clerk asked for the necessary authority to advertise for tenders for the several goods and tradesmen, during the half-year ended March 25th, 1885. It was proposed by Mr. Graveley, seconded by Mr. Hardcastle, and carried—"That the clerk do advertise for tenders as usual, in the Leeds Mercury, Yorkshire Post, Rothwell Times, and Hunslet and Holbeck News.

RETURNS.—It is gratifying to observe that the number of inmates in the workhouse during the past ten weeks is considerably less than the returns of the corresponding weeks last year, the numbers are now 159 and 162, against 192 and 180 last year. There are also a smaller number of out-door reliefs, the numbers the last two weeks being 1175 and 1159, while last year they were 1223 and 1199.

MEDICAL CERTIFICATES.—Mr. J. Smith had observed that the medical certificates were usually sent open, and this had sometimes been caused by unpleasantness; he suggested that these certificates be either sent direct to the Board, or under cover to the patient. The chairman agreed, and it was finally decided that a number of envelopes printed, and stamped with the Board's seal, for use by the various medical officers in transmitting certificates.

TEST WORK.—Mr. Lawton directed attention to the fact that there is now no test work going on; seeing that there is little prospect of stone-breaking, he gave notice that at next meeting he should propose the purchase of four more corn mills. After some conversation, it was also resolved, on the motion of Mr. Parker and Mr Dixon, that the recommendation of the Visiting Committee be approved, fixing 100 p unds of corn as a day's work for test men.

LIGHT.—Mr. Graveley and the chairman wished to refer to the inconvenience experienced at night by members who have to use a m.y.nor, there being no lamp either in the yard, or at the entrance to it, and instances were given in which goods had been lost and dangers encountered on account of the darkness. It was resolved that the Committee be asked to put up a lamp in the yard, and also that the Leeds Corporation Lamps Committee be requisitioned to erect a lamp at the corner of the offices. Councillor Pickersgill promised to use his influence on the Committee to secure this benefit.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

SALVATION ARMY.—On Saturday last, a public tea was provided in the Salvation Army Barracks, in Church-street, but owing to the wretched state of the weather, only a moderate company were present. After tea, the soldiers adjourned to the Mechanics' Hall, where they held a meeting, called "a great indescribable Flare up," at which there was a very ... present. The meeting continued at the close, that owing to the tea being a failure, they had decided to have a supper, which was provided at 4d. each, and this item (the expectations of those concerned were more than fully realised, there being very little left at the finish to be sold afterwards—In the afternoon of the same day a large number of soldiers from Hunslet and Leeds, paid a visit to Rothwell for a breath of fresh air, where they contemplated having a romp on the green sward of a grass field, refreshed by tea and buns, but the rain spoiled their pleasure. These people made the journey from Leeds in boats belonging to the Aire and Calder Company, and disembarked at Bullock Bridge, from whence they marched to Rothwell, headed by the enlivening music of their brass band. Owing to the disagreeable state of the weather, the party did not partake of tea in a field, as was expected, but held a short meeting at the Cross, until the Barracks had been cleared of the public tea. When this had been done, the visi ors entered the place and partook of tea, and of the eatables they had each brought from home.

SALVATION ARMY FUNERAL.—On Monday last, a late member of the Salvation Army was interred at Rothwell. The procession was headed by the Army flag, the top of the staff being adorned by a bow of white silk ribbon, while several members of the Army also wore a wrap round the arm. The deceased before her death had selected several hymns which she wished should be sung at the funeral, the one given to the officiating "It is well with my soul," while "Shall we meet beyond the river" was feelingly rendered at the grave side.

We are pleased to announce that Mr. Walter Hargreaves, of Rothwell Haigh, has successfully passed his examinations, and has received a certificate of competency as manager of collieries. The examination was held at Darlington in July last, in the district of Thomas Bell, Esq., Her Majesty's Inspector of Mines, when 26 candidates presented themselves, of whom 15 received manager's certificates, Mr. Hargreaves being third in position on the pass list. The honour is still greater from the fact of Mr. Hargreaves being still so young.

A CHILD RUN OVER IN HUNSLET.—The Leeds Borough Coroner (M.r.A. C. Malcolm) held an inquiry yesterday at the Junction Hotel, Dewsbury-road, into the circumstances attending the death of George Wheeler, aged five years, who met with his parents at 48, J. seph-street, Hunslet. At noon on Wednesday the child was playing with another in Jack-lane, when two horses and two carts, driven by a lad named Robert Carr, aged 17 years, came up. The blinder cart knocked the boy down, ran over him, and killed him on the spot. The deceased and one or two of the jury expressed the opinion that Carr was too young to be entrusted with two carts. Mr. Brooks, the lad's employer, gave him an excellent character for steadiness and skill. The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death."

MAGIC LANTERN ENTERTAINMENT.—Mr. J. A. Iesoti, who has several times previously visited Rothwell, gave a magic lantern entertainment in the Primitive Methodist Chapel on Tuesday evening last, when a large number of persons were present, including a good many children, of course. The entertainment consisted of a pictorial history of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," illustrated by the "lantern." At the close, there were a few miscellaneous views and sentiments. The performance gave great satisfaction, and the proceeds are for chapel expenses.

THE LATE MR. JOSEPH LIVESEY.—At a special meeting of the Central Temperance Association, held at the Central Hall, Bishopsgate, under the presidency of Mr. William Saunders, it was decided to erect a memorial to the late Joseph Livesey, of Preston. This memorial is to take the form of a hall, to be erected in connection with the Central Temperance Association. It was further decided to form an association, and issue 20,000 shares of £1 each for the purpose, and a committee was appointed to carry out the arrangements. The following resolution has been passed by the Executive Committee of the Church of England Temperance Society (Manchester diocese):—"That this executive desires to place on record its appreciation of the great services rendered to the cause of temperance by the late Mr. Joseph Livesey during his long and useful life; and expresses to his surviving relatives its sorrow for the loss they have sustained by the removal of one so devoted and useful in his promotion of all social improvements."

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The fortnightly meeting of the Board was held on Monday; present, Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman), J. Holmes, J. Oliver, H. P. Newsome, J. Turner, J. Dobson, and the clerk, collector and surveyor.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY.—A short document was read and approved of, settling an arrangement between the Co-operative Society and the Board, for the sale to them of a small extra piece of land in Church St. for the sum of £5.

HIGHWAYS.—On the motion of Mr. Newsome and Mr. Holmes, it was agreed to accept Mr. Thos. Dobson's tender to lead dross as required from Stanley Station on to Wakefield and Aberford road, at 1s. per ton.

It was agreed that the seal of the Board be affixed to Mr. Elliott's contract to supply road material at 3/4 per ton as previously arranged.

From a letter received from the Local Government Board, it appears that the £300 expected from them towards the cost of maintaining the roads last year will not come to hand till after next March.

The Highway Committee recommended two or three small jobs of street repairs in Carlton Lane and Gilled Lane; Mr. Mills was agreed to accept an offer of Mr. W. Bulmer to do the work specified at a certain sum.

WATER.—Mr. Farrer wrote in reply to the clerk's enquiry regarding the closing of Colley Well, stating that in making the main sewer, the Board had tapped the spring, and there had been no water since. The chairman maintained however, that the road to the well ought to be kept open, as the time might come that they would run short of water, and have to find a temporary supply from the local wells; the Board agreed that the public right of access to the well ought to be retained.

STREET LIGHTING.—Mr. Dobson reported that the Lamps Committee, (Mr. Nowell and himself) having met the Gas Company's directors, an agreem nt had been come to that the charge per lamp be 27s. for the term, instead of 27/6, the Committee promising that special care should be taken that the gas was not wasted. On the chairman's proposal, seconded by Mr. Dobson, the terms were agreed to.

The Committee also recommended that 3 additional lamps be erected in Carlton Lane, which was also approved by the Board. Mr. Newsome's effort to have a lamp at the junction of the Crofts in Churchfield; as well as Mr. Dobson's proposal for one in the Wogan, were unsuccessful.

HEALTH REPORT.—Dr. Glaister, the medical officer, rendered his usual monthly report, from which it appears that during the four weeks ending Sept. 6th, 1884, there have been 17 births, (8 male and 9 female); 7 deaths, (3 male and 4 female). During the corresponding period of last year, there were 24 births and 6 deaths. The causes of death are as follows.—1 male, 72 years, Diarrhœa; 1 female, 31 years, Peritonitis; 1 male, 4 months, Diarrhœa; 1 male, 3½ weeks, Enteritis; 1 female, 7 months, Capillery Bronchitis; 1 female, 5 days, Convulsions; 1 female, 40 years, Fibrous Tumour.

STONE-BREAKING.—Mr. Turner again pressed his motion for the purchase of a stone-breaking machine, and after discussion, the clerk was instructed, through Mr. Turner and Mr. Oliver, to ascertain the rate for the loan of such a machine for a short time.

On the motion of Mr. Newsome and Mr. Holmes, it was also resolved, that Messrs. W. Hargreaves, J. Oliver, J. Dobson, and J. Turner be a committee to ascertain and report the cost and value of hand-broken versus machine broken material.

FINANCE.—The collector reported having received and paid into bank the following sums:—

General District Rate	...	82 6	6½
Water Rents	...	14 16	6
Miscellaneous	...	9 1	2
		£106 4	2½

Any outstanding amounts may now have to be recovered by legal process, as agreed by the Board.

ENTHRONEMENT OF THE BISHOP OF RIPON.

The Bishop of Ripon (the Right Rev. Wm. Boyd Carpenter, D.D.) was on Tuesday formally enthroned and installed in the city Cathedral, in the presence of a large body of clergy and laity. The Dean of Ripon delivered an address. The offertory was allocated to the Wakefield Bishopric Fund. Afterwards, on the invitation of the Dean and Chapter, the clergy took lunch in a large marquee in the Deanery grounds. The Bishop of Ripon delivered an address, in the course of which he said it would be a good thing if they could uproot political partizanship and feeling, and devote themselves entirely to the contest against vice and ignorance, and against the enfeeblement of the moral will and intellectual powers; but there were three matters which he desired to press on the attention of the clergy—they should not lose touch of the past, they must keep touch of the present, and be hopeful for the future.

Among the clergy present were the following gentlemen from this district:—Revs. N. Bergheim, Swillington; R. Burrell, M.A., Stanley; T. H. Dyson, M.A., Outwood; J. M. Crawford, Lofthouse; J. H. Evans, M.A., Hunslet; F. Fawkes, B.A., Rothwell; J. H. D. Hill, East Ardsley; H. G. Hird, M.A., Thornhill; J. C. Lees, B.A.; F. B. Manners, Hunslet; A. Miller, M.A., Middleton; T. Ripley, Methley; and the Hon. and Rev. P. Y. Savile, Methley.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are exsited by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s. 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

ROTHWELL WESLEYAN METHODISM

As intimated last week, Sunday morning inaugurated some 600 ministers in new spheres of labour, addressing congregations the members composing which, they had never before seen, but by the carefully guarded regulations of the Methodist system, preaching exactly the same doctrines as their predecessors Although the medium, the voice, was different, the message was the same.

At Lofthouse, the Rev. Henry Jefford, late of Chesterfield, preached in the morning, and the Rev. Thomas Rathmell, of Barton, in the evening, exchanging pulpits with Wesl. Parade, Wakefield, all the four services being eminently gratifying to the hearers.

At Rothwell, the Rev. Sidney Pitt, late of Morley, preached morning and evening, his services being well appreciated by the congregations, the morning subject was 'Joshua, the stainless soldier,' an incentive, or courage and strong faith. In the evening, there was a large audience, the text being the invitation of Moses to Hobab, to journey with the people of Israel, because of their splendid prospects, and present advantages, as well as from the benefit the people would derive from his experience and influence. These considerations were urged on those present to join the church, both for their own advantage and blessing, and because of their help and influence in furthering the cause of Christ. The choir was considerably augmented, and the service of praise was very pleasing, the beautiful anthem 'What are these arrayed in white robes' being very tastefully rendered during the evening.

At Carlton, Mr. Pitt also preached in the afternoon, in connection with their chapel anniversary.

On Monday, a tea meeting was prepared for the recognition of the new ministers, which was a marked success, notwithstanding the rain, but for which the number of friends who intended being present, would have been still larger. An excellent tea was provided at five o'clock in the school-room, perhaps 200 persons enjoying the good things prepared, including the three new ministers and the Rev. A. B. Gardiner, with their several wives, Mr. Alcock, (circuit steward) and Mrs. Mr. Crossland, and Mrs. Richardson, from Wakefield, and friends from other parts of the circuit.

A public meeting was afterwards held in the chapel, when very capital speeches were delivered by the following gentlemen. The Rev. A. B. Gardiner, (superintendent), opened the proceedings in the usual manner by singing and prayer, after which, in the most cordial manner, he introduced Mr. James Hargreaves, as the chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Hargreaves in a brief but pregnant address, expressed the pleasure and benefit experienced under the ministers who had lately left them, especially Mr. Collingwood. He was glad, however, that others of a similar stamp had taken their places, and was particularly pleased with the impression which appeared to have been made by Mr. Pitt's services the previous day. He trusted the president's watchword 'Salvation in every home' would be largely fulfilled in Rothwell. He asked them to remember that their ministers were but men, and if they had any faults or failings, not to judge too hastily or harshly. He was heartily glad to see their new ministers, and trusted they would be a great blessing to the circuit.

Mr. S. Seanor, in a pleasing manner, and in the name of the society, welcomed the three gentlemen into their midst, assuring them that they would find the Rothwell congregation a sympathetic people and ready to hear. He asked that they should not expect too much of their new resident minister, Mr. Pitt, but he believed that he was a man eminently qualified to do them good.

Mr. Morton, as the other society steward, followed in a similar happy strain, also extending his gratification in seeing Mr. Hargreaves occupy the chair. As regards Mr. Pitt, he had heard but one opinion, that of satisfaction, and he did not doubt that the other gentlem n would prove a great blessing to them.

The Rev. Henry Jefford next spoke, (after the 868th hymn had been sung) and in a pleasing manner intimated his feelings at being located for the first time in a Yorkshire circuit. After a most deserved eulogium of Mr. J. Hind, the speaker addressed an affectionate appeal to the audience to hold fast the old Methodistic doctrines, and hoped that as their late ministers had spoken with no uncertain sound, that they would be able to show forth the whole counsel of God. At the same time, he brought his hearers to attend to the private, social and public means of grace, especially beseeching G d's blessing on their preachers.

The Rev. Thom s Rathmell expressed his gratification with the heartiness with which they had been received. As an earnest man, he believed in saying plain things in a plain straightforward manner, and while he would not preach politics, he would say this 'Ily God's help I will do the best I can for this circuit' He asked that they should especially pray for their own minister; he pointed out the necessity for them making themselves known to Mr. Pitt, so that he might be more acquainted with some of them; he also remarked on their duty to inform their minister of any sick friend needing his visits and in every way to join hands in strengthening him.

The Rev. Sidney Pitt (after the 853th hymn) felt greatly obliged for the kind things spoken by his colleagues on his behalf. He was very glad that he had been appointed to Rothwell, which he believed to be healthy and pleasant. He thanked them very much for the kind and hearty manner in which he had been received, and felt quite satisfied in the place and the people, so far as he knew them, and trusted he would be made very profitable to them. He would especially emphasize what had already been mentioned by his colleagues, and which he would like to term as a 'three line whip,' 'Brethren, pray for us.' Mr. Pitt then enlarged on the need for unison in prayer, and union in work, assured that so joined together, the church in this place would be a great power for good.

A collection having been taken for circuit purposes, Mr. Gardiner, in a congratulatory address, asked the meeting to pass a resolution of thanks to the chairman and the ladies. This motion was very suitably made by Mr. Alcock, seconded by Mr. Crossland, and in a neat speech by Mr. Crossland, being carried by acclamation.

The doxology was then sung, and the benediction pronounced.

POLICE NEWS.

On Monday, at the West Riding Police Court, Wakefield, Mrs. Peckett, a widow, of Carlton, appeared to answer a charge of having fraudulently removed a silver watch, of the value of six guineas, the property of Thomas Green, a farm labourer, also of Carlton. It was stated that in July of last year the prosecutor, who was residing at the house of defendant, gave Mrs. Peckett his silver watch to take care of, so that he would not be compelled to take it into the fields day after day whilst at work. He was at that time in arrears for lodging, but had since paid the debt. Upon asking for his watch he learnt that it had been handed in defence on a non-in-law named Smith. It was pleaded in defence that a former case had arisen to come into that court. Smith was a sharer in the Peckett estate and defendant had a right to the watch, the arrears amounting to over £6. Ultimately the bench determined that the case was one which should not be tried in that court, and dismissed the case.

CRICKET NOTES.

When the Yorkshire v. Surrey match terminated in a draw on Saturday last the county practically concluded its season, the match which has been played during the present week against the M.C.C. being an extra fixture and not reckoned among the averages. Compared with last year the triumphs of the eleven show a slight falling off. In 1883 they won nine matches, lost two, and drew five, and were then deservedly and undoubtedly second for championship honours This year, however, in eleven matches they have only scored eight victories, as against four defeats and four drawn games. But, although they cannot show such a good record this year, they have reason to be satisfied with their achievements, considering certain adverse circumstances against which they have had to contend during the season which is so rapidly nearing its conclusion. Mr. E. Lumb, who by his safe and at times brilliant batting proved one of the mainstays of the eleven in 1883, was, owing to ill-health, unable to assist his county at any single encounter this year; and then the Hon. M. B. Hawke, in spite of the fine promise he showed in 1883, has fallen off most unaccountably, and failed to realise in any degree the high expectations formed of him. This may to some extent have been due to want of practice in the early part of the season, and it is to be hoped that next year he will be able to retrieve some of his past failures and develop the ability we believe him to possess. It should also be borne in mind that two of the best batsmen in the Yorkshire Eleven have seldom been seen at their best during the past summer. In county matches Ulyett has only made three big scores this year; and Lockwood's total in the same class have been 107 and 53. Under the circumstances, therefore, the Yorkshiremen may well congratulate themselves that they occupy the creditable position they do.

Hall, who had the top average last year, is again first, and his aggregate of 754 runs is one of which he has every reason to be proud. But his runs have been very unevenly divided, being obtained almost entirely at the beginning and close of the season. He commenced the season with a splendid innings in three successive county matches obtained 100 runs and upwards. From the match with Sussex at Dewsbury, however, up to the return match at Sheffield, a period of six weeks, Hall was clearly out of form, and in thirteen consecutive innings his best total was 28. The Yorkshire "stonewaller" has undoubtedly got his form, and to the end of the season batted in consistent and brilliant style. His has since contributed an innings of three figures, viz., 100 against Kent, 126 not out against Sussex, and 153 against Middlesex. In the same Middlesex match his son in the first innings scored 35, making his aggregate for the game 231, a fact which speaks for itself. Altogether he has the very satisfactory average of 42 for his eighteen innings. Ulyett, who was third last season, is now second not only in the averages but also in the aggregate number of runs scored. Still his 24·20 runs compare somewhat unfavourably with his 32·28 of last year. He has only twice scored over 50 runs, 53 against Surrey and a brilliantly hit 107 against Middlesex, which latter included two grand drives in the bowling-green at Bramall Lane. It has been noticeable of late that the Yorkshire crack has somewhat curbed that tendency to "have a go" at the first ball which wants hitting, and it is to be hoped that next season he will again display still more care, and by steady, scientific batting work himself to the head of the average, a position he would undoubtedly occupy were he only to keep under command his desire to make a "gallery" hit.

The third in the table is Fred Lee, who, although in previous years he has scored on many an occasion a cricketer of remarkable promise, and has improved wonderfully on past seasons. His average of 23·3 has been obtained by starting all round batting, and is not the result of any particularly heavy scores or a number of not out innings. He might have done even better but for the fact that in one or two matches he was unable to play owing to indisposition. No doubt he will next year take high rank to the season's matches. Bates is fourth with 22·28, his best inning having been the phenomenal one of 116 against Notts, 60 against Lancashire, and 97 against Kent. Then comes Mr. W. W. Bentley, the fine, free, hard-hitting amateur, who created a very favourable impression by an opening score of 60 against a weak Gloucestershire team, and scored 109 in the first innings. Grimshaw has made a decided advance, and his 10 compares favourably with his 11 of 1883, but he has scarcely done himself credit, his form having been decidedly superior to his average. Peate has made a distinct advance on his 10·10 of last season, and it may be observed that Peel, Emmett, and Harrison all average double figures. Perhaps the greatest surprise in connection with their averages is Peel's figures which appear opposite Lockwood's name. For many years E. Lockwood has appeared well in the front ranks of the Yorkshire batting list, but this year his average was 7 runs per innings. This year, however, he has shown a great falling off, and for the three matches in which he has played against Surrey, Notts, and M.C.C. the most successful of the younger players who have been tried are Harris and Rawlin. Harris is a very promising left-hand bat, and a fine field at point, while Rawlin, who is a good all-round man, very useful in a team.

The bowling averages are somewhat surprising as regards the leading men, Peel, Ulyett, and Emmett heading the list with the wonderfully good average of 11·20 for 61 wickets Compared with his last season's performance Peel has not fallen off much, and although the number of wickets (61), though at the slightly increased cost of 11·20 per wicket, is not as good as was done well, but Harrison, whose bowling seems to have lost much of its force, has been almost discarded, and Bates has not made forced little success. Much praise is due to Hunter, who has kept wicket in capital style throughout.

Local games will be abandoned last Saturday, on account of wet. Although the morning broke out grandly and up to nearly one o'clock there was every prospect of a fine afternoon, the rain after then commenced to come down, and continued all the latter part of the day, with the result that the several games done in the district had to be left unfinished. On Monday, Rothwell took a weak team to Churwell to play the return match under the auspices of that village, and again in this instance, the disagreeable weather was the cause of the encounter being brought to an unsatisfactory conclusion. The game, however, was very bad condition, and it was evidently a bowler's day, as will be observed from the runs obtained during the time the game was played. Rothwell batted first and were disposed off for 38, Walter Richardson being top scorer with 14, and the next in order of merit was C. Tiffany with 10, while the last six wickets fell for little over one run each. Churwell up to luncheon time had lost three wickets for as many runs, J. Lunn obtaining two of the 3 runs and C. Tiffany one for none. All hopes of proceeding with the game after dinner were relinquished, as there seemed little prospect of the rain abating—thus the game was declared drawn.

... ...

Is further reference to public seats on our road sides, it is suggested, that as the Old Lane has got the benefit of a few seats, Royds Lane is also entitled to one or more of the public kinds. But there is another method whereby these wayside rests may be increased. We have a number of charitable and liberal folk in our midst, who would, I believe, only be too glad to provide the cost of a seat, and when placed, hand it over to the Local Board to be dedicated to public use. There would be no harm in recording the name of the donor on the back of the seat, so that grateful rustics, when enjoying the benefit of it, might breathe a prayer for the tempora' welfare and eternal repose of the generous soul who provided it.

The election of a seat on the Board is a question at election time. Future aspirants for honours on the Local Board, School Board, Guardians, and Overseers, might have an opportunity put to them by the "spouting" season.—Will you provide a public seat? Answer: If elected, I will endeavour to the best of my ability faithfully to discharge the duties cast upon me. I shall study economy, combined with efficiency in all matters relating to the public welfare, and moreover, I will provide the public with a seat on the wayside where most needed, as I take the whole thing as a great boon—not as a joke."

With respect to the Gas Exhibition, I believe we shall find Mr. Wm. Fox occupying his place of honour as opener of the exhibition. The time, I am told, is now definitely fixed for the 30th September, and will be kept open for a week. Everybody is clearly out of form, and in thirteen consecutive innings his best total was 28. The Yorkshire "stonewaller" has undoubtedly got his form, and to the end of the season batted in consistent and brilliant style. SALVATION FLARE UP.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

Many are the wonders of the present day, and not the least of these is the fact that such "flare ups" as are continually being made by the "Army" are tolerated by the peaceably disposed part of the community. Now my purpose in writing this letter is not to speak evil of the Army as a body, although their conduct in the streets especially on Sabbath day, when I think we should seek to have perfect peace and rest if possible, is very objectionable to me, but I think it is right to the public, justice to the parties, and a deserved rebuke to the persons in question, to make known the following facts. I attended the meeting a week ago in the large hall of the Salvation Institute, and was very much shocked by some of the remarks made by a well-dressed lady in the concern. It was on the occasion of the presentation of colours by an officer with the title of 'Major' Cadman, and no doubt every effort was made to show respect to any somebody star ; g, and certainly the man in question managed to do it well, for I must confess, he completely staggered me by his outrageous statements. The fellow gave us to understand that previous to joining the Army he had been connected with that formal, collaborated set of religionists known as Wesleyans for a period of nine years, during the whole of which time he had never known what progress he had been a lake-warm, weakly christian at the best of times. A glorious change came at last, a new era began, he joined the Salvationists, and has be-come the very opposite of what he previously was; he is now on a "white heat" officer, he is a stout healthy, muscular christian, and is making gigantic strides in the direction of the 'pearly gates' of his 'happy home.' Now for a word or two as to what he did as a Wesleyan. I would like to point him to the time when he took an active part in various public and private meetings of the church, and I should remember standing on the top of those happy hills called 'Rothwell Haigh' with my stiffest hands and voice, calling on his more humble companions in the valley to come up to the hights of sanctification, which he had already attained; if not, he may do so now. If such was his state of mind then, and yet those happy seasons appear so dull and gloomy in comparison with the fuller ; he is now experiencing, there is no doubt in a state of grace to be coveted by everyone. Then as the divine scripture which says 'By their fruit ye shall know them,' I allow one would be justified in being happy to learn that the person in question and his wife, have made an attempt to do so, and just in all their dealings.' How very lamentable it is, when those who profess to love the Lord Jesus Christ are as the people say "over head and ears in debt" owing for goods bought, and allowing borrowed money to remain unreturned. One cannot have religion if you don't possess the principles of ordinary morality. I should also like to know if there is anything admirable in a woman who will leave her own little children to pull through a while day as best they can, for the purpose of being at the Salvation Barracks to receive a new officer? I am told that this is true and that when the mother returned in the late evening she had to borrow bread of her neighbours before she could provide her children a meal. Such women will do well to pay more attention to their homes, and those men who either can't or won't pay their honest debts had better make themselves as scarce as possible. As a means of spending their spare hours, I would recommend them to try and discover who it was that wrote 'this we commend you, that ye love one another,' and work, rather than 'talk' and I would strongly advise them to to refrain from making such exhibitions as that of a week since, which, I consider, tends to lower the reputation of any religious body, and is a dishonour to the name of Christ and to Christianity as a whole.

Yours respectfully,
ONE WHO KNOWS.

ROTHWELL AND THE BURIALS ACT.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

Events of the last week or two in connection with the interments of our friends, bring prominently forward the necessity for some alteration in the conduct of these solemn services. People must either take advantage of the Burials Act or we must face the question of a cemetery. I do not know how long it may be possible to keep open the present ground, but it seems to me to be rapidly filling up, and the subject must soon be considered by the Local Board, I presume.

On the one hand, we have the parsers of the Established Church, who has the right of ascent or dissent in regard to any matter collected with the obsequies of our relatives, and however distasteful may be the presence of a minister, unknown and possibly disliked by the friends, he alone may conduct the service, and prevent any additional hymns, addresses or prayer

On the other hand, we have the danger of opening the gate too widely, and admitting at the last moment of God's acre, the blasphemous address of the infidel (of whom I trust there are none in Rothwell), or the heterodox and thoughtless irreverence of others who call themselves Christians.

There is one way, perhaps there are two, whereby the happy medium might be secured. One is by the Vicar intimating his willingness to allow any properly certified minister of the gospel to undertake the service, (if so desired by the friends) at a less notice than 48 hours, as now required. Very often, it is not possible to give full two day's notice (at any rate without undue haste), in order to secure attendance of the Burials Act. This plan commends itself to my mind, as being most easy and agreeable, and likely to secure to the deceased a service of the kind. The other plan is by the officials of the other denominations taking means whereby intimation may be given that we shall at once be given to the vicar, of their intention to have the service performed by their own minister or such other person as they may select from the list of parsons. Being very wishful that all shall be done decently and in order, but at the same time, having a profound belief in the principle of religious liberty of conscience, I trust this question will be taken up by the proper authorities, and that the strong feelings evidenced by late occurrences may be allayed by such compromise as may be best for all parties.

Respectfully yours,
DISSENTER.

'World Known—World Tried!!'

For strengthening a debilitated constitution, these Pills are more efficacious than any other medicine. Persons of a nervous habit of body, on the first symptoms of indigestion, biliousness, or when food is taken with reluctance, or whose health has become deranged from whatever cause, should lose no time in giving these Pills a fair trial. Their operation is immediate, beneficial, and lasting; restoring order, health, and vigor in every case.

For Disorders of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Bowels.

These purifying Pills are confidently recommended as the most simple and effectual family aperient for regulating the Liver, Stomach, Constipation, and all Disorders resulting from disordered Stomach or Bowels. They act as a purifier, diffusing throughout the system all the elements of health.

They quickly expel all impurities from the system, and are mild in their operation and beneficial to the whole system.

Weakness and Debility—Nervous Irritability and Low Spirits.

The wholesome effect exercised by these admirable Pills over the blood and all Fluids generally, in the human frame, renders their Purifying, Constipation, and all Disorders resulting from disordered Stomach or Bowels. They act as a purifier, diffusing throughout the system all the elements of health.

They quickly expel all impurities from the system, and are mild in their operation and beneficial to the whole system.

Old Coughs, Colds and Asthmatic Affections.

These Pills, assisted in their action by rubbing Holloway's Ointment very effectually twice a day over the Throat and Chest, and keeping those parts covered with the preparation, will be found of the greatest service in relieving old standing Colds, Bronchitis and Influenza. They tranquilize the horrified breathing, soothe the irritated air-tubes, and lead to refreshing sleep, when all else stops us the air passages. This treatment has proved wonderfully efficient, in cases of old and inveterate coughs and colds, in even asthma of many years' standing.

Complaints of Women and Children.

Any mother, nurse, or young person guided by the directions which accompany each box of Holloway's Pills, has at once ready available means for checking disease, purifying the blood, and expelling from the system all gross humours.

The Pills and Ointment are sold at Professor HOLLOWAY'S Establishment, 533, Oxford Street, London; and by nearly every respectable Vendor of Medicines throughout the Civilized World, in Boxes and Pots, at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., 22s., and 33s. each.

Full printed directions are affixed to each Box and Pot, and can be had in any language.

N.B.—Advice can be obtained, free of charge, by applying at the above address, daily, between the hours of 11 and 4, or by letter.

LISTEN TO YOUR WIFE.

THE Manchester Guardian, June 9, 1883, says:—"Among the wives of the workers living on the weald land was, with change of rheadedendrons and great pleasure of Mr. Bleasdale, a great belief in Beecham's Pills. It included one who had been a cotton spinner, but who now so perplexed that he could only bear to be in a room by himself."

This refers to no case at the Home for Incurables, but was first attested twelve years ago with unanimous accuracy—a paralytic disease of nerve fibre nearly ever since—and a further period of twenty years before that, and for the last five years not able to attend to my business. Have taken Beecham's Pills constantly, and am free from all pain now, have not used one box of Pills for months, and have not used one bottle of Mixture for 12 months. I am now going to walk from Ashton-under-Lyne to Rochdale, a distance of 11 miles, by the time I get there I shall feel as fresh as a daisy. Two days after I walked back to Ashton, a distance of 22 miles, and felt no fatigue. I am now 70 years of age, and have taken Beecham's Pills for one, I am gaining strength each day, and I am sure it is owing to them. Before I took them I could not move about my own house, and now seem to be able to walk any distance. I have recommended them to many of my friends, who have also derived benefit from them. I have certainly derived more benefit from them than from any other medicine I have ever taken, and I have taken many. I am willing to answer any inquiries that may be made by letter, and am making strength each day, and I am sure it is owing to them. Before I took them I could not move about my own house, and now seem to be able to walk any distance. I have recommended them to many of my friends, who have also derived benefit from them. I have certainly derived more benefit from them than from any other medicine I have ever taken, and I have taken many. I am willing to answer any inquiries that may be made by letter, and am remaining yours truly, JOHN BLACKBURN.

SECOND APPLICATION.
NORTHERN COUNTIES HOSPITAL for INCURABLES.
May Electors.
Your votes and interest are respectfully solicited on behalf of
JOHN BLACKBURN,
aged forty-seven years, who for twenty years has been afflicted with locomotor ataxy, and for the last three years quite unable to attend to business. His case is recommended by Revd. Armitage Robinson, M.A.
The Rev. C. A. Stewart, Rector of St. James's, Higher Broughton.
John Lowden, Esq., J.P.
Mr. John Heywood, Publisher, &c., Manchester.
Mr. Thomas Heywood, F.S.A., Local Treasurer.
Mrs. Wilmer, Hindsarsh-street, Higher Broughton.
Henry Simon, Esq., Higher Broughton.

Hop Bitters cure dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness, want of appetite, and all diseases of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver, kidneys, and nerves. They have not only such genuine superlative excellence as to make them the best medicine ever known, but they are the purest and most perfect. No person can take them according to directions and not have good health, unless their case is beyond the reach of medicine, and even then they will relieve pain and prolong life. Their timely use has saved many thousands who have been rendered miserable by slow poisons, and who would have died had they not used Hop Bitters. Use no others. Druggists will not sell the vile, poisonous stuff with "Hop" or "Hops" in their name.

EPPS COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled, "JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also makers of Epps's Chocolate Essence.

Holloway's Pills —Unfeeble Existence.—This medicine embraces every attribute required in a general and domestic remedy; it overturns the foundation of disease when laid by defective food and impure air. All Bilious Complaints, Affections of the liver, Lungs, bowels, or any other organs, these Pills are especially serviceable and eminently successful. They should be kept in readiness in every family, as they are a medicine without a fault for young persons and those of feeble constitutions. They never cause pain, or irritate the most sensitive nerves, the most tender of the blood, and the best regulators of absorption and secretion, and remove all poisonous and noxious particles from both solids and fluids.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS!—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These troches "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are now sold by most respectable chemists in this country at 1s. 1½d. per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," or "Health" exhibitions in Wool Products, and for any cold or sudden attack of bronchitis, will find them to soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the box. Be sure to get the genuine article.

Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS, Boston, U.S. European depot removed to 53, Farringdon Road, London.

ONE BOX OF CLARKE'S B-41 PILLS is warranted to cure all discharges from the Urinary Organs, in either sex, speedily and effectually, no matter of how long standing. Guaranteed free from Mercury. Sold in Boxes, 2s. 9d., by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Vendors throughout the World' or sent to any address for sixty stamps by the Manager, LINCOLN & BANNISTER, 10, Bath Street, Birmingham. Single copies may be had (post free) by sending a stamped addressed envelope to the author.

EVEN since the earliest days of history, there has been a more or less pronounced feeling of intolerance and opposition towards those whose opinions and actions have not been in harmony with one's own, and the fiercest conflicts that ever raged, whether between individuals, communities, or nations, have arisen in connection with religion and religious ceremonies. There is no necessity to detail the many instances which have occurred in old Bible history, in the traditions of ancient heathen lands, or in the stories and incidents of the Christian dispensation. The fierce wars of extermination waged by the Jews, the bloody conflicts of the followers of Mahomet, the no less sanguinary engagements of the Crusaders, all arose from religious differences; and the persecutions which have been carried on especially in the Christian era by Roman Catholic and Protestant, by Churchman and Dissenter, have all sprung from the same erroneous idea which possessed Peter's mind, when he complained to the Saviour of those "who followed not us," or as Saul who in his furious onslaughts on the Christians of old, thought 'he was doing God service.' In a free country like ours, deluged with light and intelligence, open to all comers, with an unfettered press, an outspoken platform, and a never ceasing flood of information pouring in on all sides and on all questions, a man is generally allowed to hold his own opinions and act in his own way, so long as he does not outrage general propriety or individual character and comfort. A man may believe whatever he will, or nothing at all, so long as he keeps that opinion to himself or within such bounds as will not disturb others of an opposite belief. He may also speak to as many listeners as care to hear, if only his lectures or ceremonies are kept within such bounds as not to offend those who do not desire to see or hear him. Every now and then, however, the old feeling of intolerance, religious intolerance, exhibits itself, and the result is ever the same. Supposing the case mentioned by a contemporary a short time ago, had been correct in every particular, (as we understand it was not) such an instance of intolerance would have produced a result directly injurious to the church concerned. We are glad to know, however, that there is comparatively little of that bigotry and unwise show of superiority in our own Anglican community, and that a kindly feeling pervades the minds of most of our worthy vicar's congregation, towards those who "walk not with them." At the other extremity of our religious organisations here, we have the Salvation Army, from the very constitution of which, we find, as might be expected, a mixture of good and evil. Consisting of men and women gathered from the very dregs of society, together with a few, who, from one cause or another, have left other religious bodies, it is not surprising that with an amount of good accomplished, there is a modicum of evil. A correspondent last week has attracted general attention by his ungloved attack on certain members of this body. "We do not, we cannot approve of assaults on individual character and as a rule would decline to publish anything of the sort. But this matter was of such a public nature and everything was pone, by means of a highly coloured announcement, and outdoor demonstrations, to attract attention, that it was out of our power to ignore what was said to have transpired. A meeting was called and held, and in that public gathering several damaging charges were made against a body in which, we presume, our correspondent was interested, and in defending that body he feels bound to direct attention to the character of the person making the charge. As we have just said, we do not approve of individual attacks, but if a statement is made in public it becomes public property, and is liable to be used or refuted by those concerned. We would therefore urge all, especially members of religious organisations, to be careful of their utterances in public as regards others, but by quietly prosecuting their own objects in their own way, and in such a manner as not to damage others or offend against the laws of propriety, strive to bring about the general advantage and well-being of society. If the Salvation army contingent will be more considerate of the feelings of other religionists, and afte, pulling the sinner out of the mire, will also see, as far as is possible, that he is taught the whole gospel of godliness, they may still be a means of permanent good to those with whom they come in contact.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"BY a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. WOODLESFORD CHURCH HARVEST THANKSGIVING.

The annual thanksgiving services were held in this church on Wednesday last. There was a celebration of the Holy Communion in the morning, and full choral evensong and sermon at 7 p.m. The anthem "I will magnify Thee O Lord" by Goss was well rendered by the village choir. The rest of the service was of quite a plain character, but was heartily joined by the whole congregation. The usual harvest hymns were sung, the 'Old Hundredth' being used as a 'recessional' at the close of the service. The Rev. L. L. Barnett the indefatigable secretary, of the Society for the propagation of the Gospel, for the County of York, preached the sermon from Haggai, 2 8v. 'The silver is mine,' and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hosts'. The sermon was an earnest appeal to christian people to remember the truth contained in the text, and also insisted on the duty of all, to imitate the Jewish Church in giving back to God one tenth of what He had given to them. The handsome little church was elegantly and tastefully decorated with corn and flowers. Gifts of grapes and vegetables had also been received, which will be distributed amongst the sick people in the parish. The thank offering amounted to £2. 17s. 6d. which was given to the Society for the propagation of the Gospel.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Oulton.—Workmen's Treat.—On Saturday last, a supper was provided at the New Mason's Arms, Oulton, for the workmen employed by Messrs. Jackson, Corn Millers, Oulton, and Messrs. Joseph Ellison & Son, Millwrights, of Hunslet. The gathering was got together in acknowledgment of the completion of putting down a new roller plant at the Corn Mills, Oulton; about 50 persons sat down to an excellent supper, provided by Mr. Peel, the landlord. After everyone was well satisfied, and the tables cleared, the company proceeded to elect a chairman, and on the proposition of Messrs. H. Bywater and Garnett, Mr. J. H. Jackson was called upon to occupy that position. In taking the chair, Mr. Jackson said it gave him very great pleasure to announce on with that post, at the same time he felt sorry that his father was not able to attend, though he would like to have been present. He stated that it was only about four months since that they thought of having the old machinery taken out of the mill, and replaced by new ones, but "Time works wonders," and so it had done in their case. Mr. Jackson warmly complimented the firm of Messrs. Ellison's, the millwrights, for the manner in which they had done their work, and if success attended the new plant, it would be largely due to their efficient work. He pointed out that he had been acquainted with several eminent workmen, but thought that Messrs. Ellisons' could teach them all a lesson in making a good substantial job, of what they took under hand, because when they commenced to do a job, they did it right. He had very great pleasure in proposing the "Health of Messrs. Ellison & Son." Mr. Jos. Ellison, Jun. responded, and thanked the chairman most heartily for the high tribute he had paid to their firm. They had done their utmost to fit up the mill in the best possible manner, and remarked that when a job was well done, if properly looked after, it would need little repairing for a number of years. He concluded by hoping the success would attend the new roller plant which they had lately put down. Mr. T. D. Jackson gave the health of Mr. John Ellison' the foreman of the millwrights, and spoke in complimentary terms of the manner in which he had conducted the work throughout, while he also paid a high compliment to the workmen, who, he said had obeyed his (Mr. Ellison's) orders during the time they had been working at Fleet Mills, in a manner which did credit both to themselves and their foreman. Mr. Ellison replied in a suitable manner. Mr. Garnett proposed the health of "Mr. W. Smith," who has been the foreman at the Fleet Mills for upwards of 20 years, and who has given the greatest satisfaction to his masters during the period that he has been with them. A few other toasts were drunk, including 'The roller plant,' proposed by Mr. Jos. Ellison and Mr. Boland White, and 'Mr and Mrs. J. H. Jackson,' which was given by Mr. H. Bywater. The rest of the evening was devoted to songs, recitations, &c., in the performance of which, the company

FLEET NEW FLOUR MILLS.

We suppose there is no branch of industry which has so long retained the old style of production as the manufacture of flour. In the far away history of the Bible, we read of women grinding corn by means of two stones, working on each other, and this process has only been enlarged by artificial power, (wind or water, or steam,) up to the present day. Of course various additions and improvements have taken place in the cleansing and refinement of the flour, but generally speaking, the mode of making corn into meal has remained the same since the days before the flood, and since Samson was set to grind in his prison house, until the present decade. Only now, are our millers clearing out the mill-stones and other old fashioned appliances, and new and improved machinery is taking their place.

The new system, like many other inventions, had its birth place in the "land of the west," and has found acceptance in Hungary and other flour producing countries. Some three years ago, the first "roller" flour was made in England, and since that time, the entire "milling" community has been in a state of excitement and change, many owners clearing out their buildings of their entire apparatus, and filling them with the new machinery, while others have erected new mills specially adapted for the roller process, and devoted themselves to the sole object of perfecting and carrying it out in the most modern fashion.

In this re-modelling process, Mr. Jackson, the proprietor of the well-known Fleet Mills, Oulton, has not been far behind, and for the last three or four months, his spacious mill has been standing, while its interior has been denuded of old machinery, and new apparatus of the latest and most perfect description erected in its stead.

In commemoration of the re-opening of the mill, a festive gathering was held on Saturday evening, of all connected with the establishment, from the kind and enterprising proprietor and his energetic sons, down to the youngest lad (engaged in the works, a report of which is published elsewhere.

On Monday last, we had the pleasure of visiting the mill, under the guidance of Mr. J. H. Jackson, by whose more immediate superintendence the working of the mill is carried on, and were both astonished and pleased with the complete and frequently novel contrivances whereby the business is conducted. Without attempting to give a critical account of the various appliances and arrangements now used in the conversion of corn into flour, it may not be uninteresting to say a few words respecting our tour of the place.

Mr. Jackson has two great advantages over many of his competitors; he has easy access both to the river, the railway and the road, either for the reception of grain, or the forwarding of flour; he has also the immense benefit of possessing two large water wheels, as well as a powerful steam engine, so that working both together, he obtains great motive power at a comparatively small cost. By means of extensive and scientifically arranged shafting and cogs, the varied elevators, rollers, fans, purifiers, hoists, etc., are all worked by mechanical appliances, enabling the proprietor to secure efficiency and regularity of motion, with the smallest amount of manual labour. The first motion from the main shaft is obtained by a 20-inch double belt, from which the various driving belts and shafting receive their impetus. The corn being delivered (principally by boat) is first hoisted up into the highest story, where we find Californian, Indian and English wheat stored in large quantities in sacks. Here the various descriptions of wheat are mixed together in certain proportions, whereby the best properties of each may be obtained, huge bins being used for the purpose. In this room, too, there is a simple but effectual contrivance for separating the small grain from the large, while any pieces of wire, nails, needles, pins, etc., are picked out, and prevented from going into the grinding machinery. There is also here a machine for cleaning the foreign grain, before being used After being thus prepared by separation, by cleaning, and by mixing, the grain is carried by elevators, of which there are many sets, to the first pair of rollers. In the construction and arrangement of these rollers consists the fundamental change in the mode of producing flour. Instead of the old style of large French stones, one moving horizontally above the other, we find a number of small hoppers fed by continuous elevators fitted with small scoops which empty an even supply of grain into them; this is allowed to pass through a regulator into the box containing a pair of corrugated metal rollers of about 20 inches in length and of some 10 to 15 inches in diameter. Each set of rollers is specially adapted for the kind of work it is intended to perform; the first set being corrugated to about one-tenth of an inch, and simply breaks the grain in two; this falls into another elevator, which again conducts the broken grain into the scalping reel and dresser, whereby the impurities of the crease, and the germ, are removed. It then goes on through successive breaks (rollers) and scalpers to the fifth, after which it arrives at the bran duster,—the various rollers diminishing in the width of these flutings until there are twenty-four of these corrugations in an inch depth. The "chop" consisting of a small proportion of flour, with "semoline" (as it is called) is then conveyed to the silks, where the flour is separated, and the middlings conveyed to the proper purifiers. The purified product then passes to smooth rollers worked in a similar manner to the fluted ones, but specially adapted for the further reduction and refinement of the flour. There are nine of these machines, having fourteen sets of rollers of various classes, all manufactured of "chilled" iron, and fitted with automatic motion. On leaving the last of these rollers, the flour passes into centrifugal fans and purifying sieves or 'silks' by means of which any deleterious or 'chaffy' matter is removed, and it is finally delivered into the sacks by special apparatus, and is thus ready for the consumer or the merchant.

As will have been observed, the manufacture of flour has become an entirely different affair from what it used to be. By the 'roller' process, better and whiter flour can be made even from a worse quality of wheat than can be obtained from the stones. The Fleet Mills however, still hold to the old traditions, and the purchase of the best grain is held to be an important standing rule, especially as the grade of flour depends so largely on the care and attention bestowed on its reduction and purification. By the new process we understand the cause is removed of bread 'running' in the oven, and the bread is much sweeter as well as purer and whiter, and therefore more acceptable to the majority of persons." We trust, therefore, that the enterprise shewn by Mr. Jackson, will be richly rewarded by a continuance of the large and extending business which is necessary for the recoupment of the thousands of pounds expended on the reconstruction of his mills. It is right to mention that the entire manufacture and erection of the new plant, has been undertaken by Messrs. J. Ellison and Sons Brookfield Foundry, Hunslet, and for ingenuity of contrivance, strength of make, ease of motion, and general efficiency, is a triumph of skill and a credit to those concerned.

We had the opportunity this morning of tasting the bread made from the first Fleet roller flour delivered in Rothwell, and must acknowledge with pleasure, that improvement is achieved in its sweetness, purity and whiteness; we can very warmly recommend the new flour to all our readers.

CRICKET NOTES.

Our local clubs had a splendid day for cricket last Saturday, of which they took full advantage; but tomorrow will see the last match of several of them, as Hunslet and Rothwell will play their last match against each other, when a very interesting game will no doubt be in store for those, who follow this fine English pastime.

Hunslet, on their own ground, had only a week team to face Bramley with, when they came off as well as might have been expected, the result being a pretty even draw. For the home team Hobson was to the front with the top scoring 22, not out; while T Marsh also obtained a similar number, followed by Gough, (16) M Carr, (11) and Baines (10). The visitors only lost four wickets, for which they compiled 45 runs. Three of the wickets were due to Burrows, and one to Bairstow.

At Woodlesford, the Rothwell eleven kept their opponents leather-hunting all the afternoon, having only lost eight wickets when the stumps were drawn. The fielding of the home team was disgraceful, especially in the case of R J Smith, several catches been missed, while on more than one occasion, the wicket-keeper was a little too slow in stumping. The scoring (with the exception of Hirst, and the two not outs), was extremely slow, as may be judged from 125 runs obtained in three hours. W Richardson when he was out having scored ten singles, whilst out of Ward's 21, there were eleven singles. There was a little disturbance caused during the time the above pair of batsmen were together, in reference to a catch made very low down by Hankinson, which I am told by one who was an eye-witness of the game, was a clear catch. On appealing to the Rothwell umpire, he told them he could not see it, and instead of asking their own umpire, they called for a second answer from the Bramhall umpire, when he gave the man in, and nothing but right that he did, because when there is a "doubt" about the point, according to rule the batsman has the first claim. I will refer the Woodlesford players to the match between Notts and Yorkshire, when Walter Wright, was appealed to for a catch made by F Crossland, when, owing to neither of the umpires being able to see the catch, the batsmen had nothing more to do than continue his innings, which was a "thorn in the side" of our home county, as the Notts men had only two more men to go in to obtain the necessary runs, but however, Wright was not out at the conclusion of the match. W Hirst batted extremely well for his 37, but the best form of the day was shewn by A Tiffany and E Ellis, who took the score from 79 up to 125, and were both not out at the conclusion of the match, for 50 and 17 respectively. The best batting performance for Woodlesford, Smith was the best, obtaining three wickets, Hewitt being second, with two.

Eccleshill were beaten by United a 'Sliking' at Lee Moor last Saturday, to the tune of 44 as against 20 by the home team. The Rothwell Noble again heads the list of the time the Normanton band was playing, and on seeing what they evidently recognised as an enemy, they formed into line and struck up, marching right through the ranks of the visitors. This conduct was condemned by many who were present, and I can quite think it was not courteous. A friend of of mine suggested to me the idea that the Oulton band, conscious of their own inferiority when pitted against the crack brass bands, such as those in Rothwell and elsewhere, thought to make an impression and put the Fife Band out of hearing altogether, as has been the case more than with them when playing those who play the same class of instrument. Of course I at once repudiated such an idea, and tried to take the charitable view of the affair as possible, but he would have it that 'Empty vessels 'make the most noise.' I suppose we forgot that he had said about other bands playing more lustily than the one at Oulton.

It gave me great pleasure to learn that the Rothwell Temperance Band had taken the highest prize at Scarboro' on Monday evening. 'The Rothwell Temperance Prize Brass Band!' Don't it sound large, I say? It does indeed sound large, and I am sure the people of Rothwell are proud of it. For a band so young to take first place is very creditable indeed. Some people say that the contesting bands were not nearly of the same strength; that one or two of the bands are considered good players, and I say, 'all praise to Reddill Temperance.'

My readers will think I have been among the brass instruments all the week, but the question is the Rothwell Old Band's doings. Surely every one residing within hearing of its melodious strains, and all persons visiting the village, will hail the band men, one and all, for the open-air concert at the Cross last Saturday evening. Certainly the sweet music stirred my inmost feelings, and I half wished I could blow either a 'Fowler' with its clear, ringing note, or a 'Barger,' with its deep, solemn sound; but I am too old now for that sort of thing, and therefore have to content myself with listening to the performances of others. If the various bands only knew how their outdoor rehearsals delighted the ears, and attracted such lives as mine, they would treat us to a concert oftener than they do. Many thanks to you, my old friends.

There is quite an exciting time just now amongst the Rothwell butchers, over the frozen mutton from New Zealand. Huge placards are posted about the butchers' shops quoting price of joints of this 'tender and juicy meat' at 5d, 6d, per lb., and upwards. The public will be enraptured at the prospect of getting legs of winter mutton at 6d. per lb., and those who delight in soup will get it for next to nothing at the prices ends going at 4d. All this means enjoyment of the good old roast beef, or small meat. I saw a dray load of carcases come up Church St. this morning; they looked very pretty when divested of their clean cotton covering, and when I met them afterwards appeared just as fresh as if killed yesterday.

The Editor of the Rothwell Times is not responsible for the opinions expressed in the columns devoted to Town Talk, and his 'regret' at printing the paragraph appearing in the Hunslet newspaper, in respect of the burial of a deceased dissenter, appeared to me very flat. If the writer of that Hunslet newspaper was inaccurate, it needed correcting, and the best chance of its being corrected was by its publication in Town Talk. But the correction of that Hunslet newspaper is admitted. The mourners for poor Jesse had to sing his favourite hymn in the public roadway, not in a chapel.

The whole question of burial in the church yards, which are national property, is in course of being dealt with by the Imperial Parliament. The Reformers are at work, and will go on getting relief for dissenters bit by bit, by repealing bad old laws and passing new ones. Such relief as we already possess is secured by statute law; we get nothing by favour of the Anglican priesthood.

Mr. Samwell, at the tail end of his letter, last week, says he 'granted permission for a hymn to be sung by the Salvation Army,' as if the thing was an act of grace on his part. Such stuff is nonsense. He had no power to forbid it after the legal notice had been given. This is the point where the elasticity of the parson's conscience comes in, and the haughty spirit seeps out from under the cloak of clerical humility. Now it happens if persons give the requisite fortyeight hours notice that they intend to conduct a funeral after a certain fashion within the meaning of the statute, vicar or curate have no power in the matter.

We had a funeral in the Rothwell churchyard one day this week, the service of which was conducted by a Roman Catholic priest. The vicar announced to preside at the opening of the Gas Exhibition, supported by Mr. J. G. Turner and Mr. W. Hargreaves among other gentlemen. The other day I was talking to a friend who resides outside Rothwell, and he said they had had a gas stove in use at home nearly a year, and they were simply delighted with it. From his description the stove was a small one, but it did the baking, cooking and boiling for them admirably. What relished them at first was the ease and quickness of preparing breakfast. When that convenience had been fairly realised, they were again congratulating themselves on its cleanliness—no dust, no soot, no dirt of any sort. Afterwards they found out that it did the facility they could cook meat, boil and bake puddings and vegetables, bake bread and cakes, and prepare tea without the aid of a coal fire. The question of gas versus coal for these purposes is a woman's question. Men as a rule have no idea of the drudgery entailed on women in a cooking establishment, from having to clean up for cooking and boiling and baking. Where there are half a dozen persons to cook for, a good gas oven will save much trouble. The cost of gas, is trifling, if care be used to turn it off when not required, and the meat cooked is much more juicy and nutritious, besides being subject to less loss. In addition to the advantage already enumerated, there is the gain to be secured by the use of the steam washer heated by gas. It is not an exaggeration to say that one person can do the work of two on washing day, by the use of these simple machines. A variety of stoves are to be at the exhibition on the 30th of this month.

TOWN TALK.

I CHANCED to be in Oulton last Saturday afternoon, and being a lover of brass band, I was attracted to a place in the streets opposite the 'Three Horse Shoes,' where a capital Drum and Fife Band from Normanton was discoursing a selection of music. Now it so happened that the Oulton Brass Band had been paying a visit to Normanton, and was also returning at the time the Normanton band was playing, and on seeing what they evidently recognised as an enemy, they formed into line and struck up, marching right through the ranks of the visitors. This conduct was condemned by many who were present, and I can quite think it was not courteous. A friend of of mine suggested to me the idea that the Oulton band, conscious of their own inferiority when pitted against ordinary brass bands, such as those in Rothwell and elsewhere, thought to make an impression and put the Fife Band out of hearing altogether, as has been the case more than with them when playing those who play the same class of instrument. Of course I at once repudiated such an idea, and tried to take the charitable view of the affair as possible, but he would have it that 'Empty vessels 'make the most noise.' I suppose we forgot that he had said about other bands playing more lustily than the one at Oulton.

It gave me great pleasure to learn that the Rothwell Temperance Band had taken the highest prize at Scarboro' on Monday evening. 'The Rothwell Temperance Prize Brass Band!' Don't it sound large, I say? It does indeed sound large, and I am sure the people of Rothwell are proud of it. For a band so young to take first place is very creditable indeed. Some people say that the contesting bands were not nearly of the same strength; that one or two of the bands are considered good players, and I say, 'all praise to Reddill Temperance.'

...

My readers will think I have been among the brass instruments all the week, but the question is the Rothwell Old Band's doings. Surely every one residing within hearing of its melodious strains, and all persons visiting the village, will hail the band men, one and all, for the open-air concert at the Cross last Saturday evening. Certainly the sweet music stirred my inmost feelings, and I half wished I could blow either a 'Fowler' with its clear, ringing note, or a 'Barger,' with its deep, solemn sound; but I am too old now for that sort of thing, and therefore have to content myself with listening to the performances of others. If the various bands only knew how their outdoor rehearsals delighted the ears, and attracted such lives as mine, they would treat us to a concert oftener than they do. Many thanks to you, my old friends.

There is quite an exciting time just now amongst the Rothwell butchers, over the frozen mutton from New Zealand. Huge placards are posted about the butchers' shops quoting price of joints of this 'tender and juicy meat' at 5d, 6d, per lb., and upwards. The public will be enraptured at the prospect of getting legs of winter mutton at 6d. per lb., and those who delight in soup will get it for next to nothing at the prices ends going at 4d. All this means enjoyment of the good old roast beef, or small meat. I saw a dray load of carcases come up Church St. this morning; they looked very pretty when divested of their clean cotton covering, and when I met them afterwards appeared just as fresh as if killed yesterday.

The Editor of the Rothwell Times is not responsible for the opinions expressed in the columns devoted to Town Talk, and his 'regret' at printing the paragraph appearing in the Hunslet newspaper, in respect of the burial of a deceased dissenter, appeared to me very flat. If the writer of that Hunslet newspaper was inaccurate, it needed correcting, and the best chance of its being corrected was by its publication in Town Talk. But the correction of that Hunslet newspaper is admitted. The mourners for poor Jesse had to sing his favourite hymn in the public roadway, not in a chapel.

The whole question of burial in the church yards, which are national property, is in course of being dealt with by the Imperial Parliament. The Reformers are at work, and will go on getting relief for dissenters bit by bit, by repealing bad old laws and passing new ones. Such relief as we already possess is secured by statute law; we get nothing by favour of the Anglican priesthood.

Mr. Samwell, at the tail end of his letter, last week, says he 'granted permission for a hymn to be sung by the Salvation Army,' as if the thing was an act of grace on his part. Such stuff is nonsense. He had no power to forbid it after the legal notice had been given. This is the point where the elasticity of the parson's conscience comes in, and the haughty spirit seeps out from under the cloak of clerical humility. Now it happens if persons give the requisite forty-eight hours notice that they intend to conduct a funeral after a certain fashion within the meaning of the statute, vicar or curate have no power in the matter.

We had a funeral in the Rothwell churchyard one day this week, the service of which was conducted by a Roman Catholic priest. The vicar announced to preside at the opening of the Gas Exhibition, supported by Mr. J. G. Turner and Mr. W. Hargreaves among other gentlemen. The other day I was talking to a friend who resides outside Rothwell, and he said they had had a gas stove in use at home nearly a year, and they were simply delighted with it. From his description the stove was a small one, but it did the baking, cooking and boiling for them admirably. What relished them at first was the ease and quickness of preparing breakfast. When that convenience had been fairly realised, they were again congratulating themselves on its cleanliness—no dust, no soot, no dirt of any sort. Afterwards they found out that it did the facility they could cook meat, boil and bake puddings and vegetables, bake bread and cakes, and prepare tea without the aid of a coal fire. The question of gas versus coal for these purposes is a woman's question. Men as a rule have no idea of the drudgery entailed on women in a cooking establishment, from having to clean up for cooking and boiling and baking. Where there are half a dozen persons to cook for, a good gas oven will save much trouble. The cost of gas, is trifling, if care be used to turn it off when not required, and the meat cooked is much more juicy and nutritious, besides being subject to less loss. In addition to the advantage already enumerated, there is the gain to be secured by the use of the steam washer heated by gas. It is not an exaggeration to say that one person can do the work of two on washing day, by the use of these simple machines. A variety of stoves are to be at the exhibition on the 30th of this month.

GOSSIP.

CLIPPINGS.

My friend 'Gossip' seems to be greatly enamoured of the 'Dobson Seats,' that is if we may judge by his remarks in 'Town Talk.' From that I gather he would have others placed in the streets, and also would impose a fine, or at least an acknowledgment of their benefits, from those who are in the 'sitting and seeing' way of existence. Well, all right, as far as is goes, but who would collect the dues? Rather let those who indulge in the luxury of the same, derive as much pleasure as possible, whilst they're young. Whether my brother 'borrespondent has his information from hearsay or actual experience I am unable to decide. Probably the latter. I object, however, to the seats being stuffed 'Dobson Seats.' Had they been presented by the gentleman as hard, and good, but seeing they are paid for with ratepayers' money, they might just as well be called 'Gossip Seats' (certainly a more appropriate title). Besides if each brilliant idea which is carried out by our Town Councillors, we could tack on an Ellison honours to each, for instance—The 'Turner' roller; the 'Newsome' Inspector (rise of salary); the 'Hargreaves' causeway (Church Side); the 'Holmes' lamps, etc., etc. And then there is the 'Bad Smell Evaporator' in Wood Lane. What gentleman claims the honour of that improvement?

We are living in stirring times at present! The latest cause is the New Zealand meat, which was introduced into the village lately, but few (44, to 8d.) compared with regular charges, and as the quality is the same from superiority, the difference between one and the other is so small, that when I tasted the frozen mutton, had I not known, I would have been responsible to myself with 't'other from which.' If its introduction has the effect of lowering the price of meat, it will do some good, but people will have to only live once, and then they're sure to shuffle off to the 'good and prime home fed' at the old prices.

I must congratulate the Gas Company on the venture they are about to make, that is to give an exhibition of cooking apparatus, etc., next week. I do not hope the attendance will be large every day, and so make it a complete success. The lectures to be given at stated times should prove advantageous to every housewife in the township to be initiated into the mysteries of culinary achievements. I should not recommend the ladies (and must we include bachelors?) to attend and get a 'wrinkle or two.'

I find that a charge of 3d. is to be made for admission, but those who take dough to bake, clothes to wash, or anything to cook will be admitted free. The amount of the latter accommodation I cannot say is not stated. How about taking a collar or a shirt or a pair of unmentionables to wash? or dough to make a raspberry tart, or penny bun, or even loaf to bake of 'tommy' to toast? Will such quantities give the required entrance? But better still, how would it be for the directors to give a few days' free gas supply and give (or charge a small sum for) meals; by that means we should be able to test the quality of the meat, and the baker's prowess in cooking by gas. Take the hint, gentlemen, probably the butchers will help you, and it would certainly be an attraction from a publicity point of view.

The amount of Salvation news contained in the last issue of the Rothwell Times nearly led me to suppose it was an 'extra special' edition of the War Cry. We certainly had that body 'booming' commission, what with presentations, tea fights, etc., etc., it would appear they are on the improve. But the letter printed 'One who knows' was a 'clincher,' and must have been 'hot pobs' for somebody. I have been informed it was not very wide of the mark, and true in many, if not every respect. The saying, "If the cap fits, put it on," was verified, in that lately, a local 'St. Crispian' was heard to say one day, and accordingly issued a placard, (I quote from memory, but give the substance)—If any one could prove that he owed threepence, he would give them a sovereign! I am glad to find he is so straight up, in more ways than one, but it was a piece of weak-mindedness on his part, for I can assure him it was not intended for him, but it should effect good in another quarter.

What a difference there is between victory and defeat! The thought came into my mind on hearing the Temperance Band return, full blown, after the contest at Scarboro', making so much music, and contrasted with the home coming after attending the band contest at Castleford. This time they had been 'beat,' but were fortunate enough to come off victorious, owing, it is whispered, to an accident happening to one of the other competing bands. I am not certain of the other accident, and at the same time the rest lost their heads, for they could get on further. That would not have been the case if the Temperance Band, lost all their music, as I am told by those who live near the Hall, that the number of times they have practised the second selection is legion. My informant also says the piece is called Noah's Ark, and I believe it, though that may be wrong, but if the words are in keeping with the piece, and the style of the performers in playing and following each other in both time and tune, are specimens to correspond with the number of animals throughout the piece, I think the selection is not badly named, and to those who are under the necessity of undergoing the infliction of having to listen both Sunday and week-day to the band practices, are already heartily sick of the same. By all means let us have something fresh to 'charm and soothe the ear' throughout the winter months, and if victory, eh dear, no! only take my suggestion. The Old Brass Band must look to their laurels; wake up now.

SNIP.

SALVATION MEETING.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

I would remind your correspondent calling himself 'One who knows,' of one of the immortal bards saying to this end, 'He who steals my purse steals trash,' &c.; so whatever feelings he may have had against the offending ones, the tone of his letter shows a very bad spirit, and a poor weakly empty soul, to so publicly expose either man or woman, I care not whether they be rich or poor. Now with the pore man's remarks as to his change of views and feelings, I think it a grand thing when a person finds a post in life where that they can throw all their energy and spirit in the cause, especially if that cause be a good one; we are all changeable beings, and as we go through life we see things and men in many different lights, and if the man speaks his honest feelings, which is best known to himself and his God, for to Him alone will he be held responsible, not unto man, but unto God. 'Judge not lest ye be judged, condemn not lest ye be condemned.' Then again, I do not think the intelligent portion of Rothwell and district will care to retort the kindness one thanks for his trouble of enlightening them on poor man's fashion of life, for now-a-day a man is a 'very rich man who pays his way through life without getting into debt.' I fancy Rothwell and district upwards very few who are to day clear of debt, and many who are in better circumstances than the poor fellow, whoever he is, that the letter is meant for, and as for paying what he owes, and borrowed money &c., I wonder if the 'Knowing' ones ever thought of his life. Blameless, I doubt not, for I know I cannot say so by a very long way, I have to say with one of old 'The good I would I do not, but the evil I would not that I do.' Truly the spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak,' and I for one don't cast the beam out of our own eye, upon a trial that has extended over a period of many years. It seldom fails.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now used by most respectable chemists in this country at 1s. 1½d. per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box. Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS, Boston, U.S. European depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore to every hair Grey or White hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Hair-tonics." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not destroyed. Ask your Chemist for the "Mexican Hair Renewer," sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere at 3s. 6d. per Bottle. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Florline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly whiteness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes at once the unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco smoke. "The Fragrant Florline" being composed in part of Honey and Borax, the mouth is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. Sold by Chemists everywhere. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

HOW THE COMPLEXION IS RUINED.—It is well known to the medical faculty that the cause of the most disagreeable complexion is more pollution or impure and irritating blood. The Albion Milk and Sulphur Soap is the quickest in purifying from any cause, and leaves in the purest, the most delicate and transparent skin. The many toilet soaps now before the public. Recommended by the entire medical profession. Sold by Chemists, Perfumers, &c., everywhere. It is a boon to sensitive skins, and as a shaving soap it is unequalled. Sold in tablets by all Chemists.

ONE BOX OF CLARKE'S B41 PILLS

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The ordinary meeting of this Board was held in the Board-room, on Monday evening. There were present Messrs. Wm. Hargreaves (chairman), Dobson, Holmes, Oliver, Turner, and Nowell, with the clerk and surveyor.

The minutes of the last meeting, and of one or two committee meetings were read, and after some little discussion, passed with one exception.

HIGHWAYS.—Complaints were made with reference to the unsatisfactory condition of certain roads included in Nickols' contract, and the Highway Committee recommended that his instalment be with-holden, until the roads in question are improved; this was agreed to.

The agreement between Messrs. Whitaker and the Board, for the supply of 300 tons of dross at 6s., was read by the clerk, and agreed to on the motion of Messrs. Holmes and Dobson. The seal of the Board was put to the document.

The clerk read two returns which he had been desired to make by the Local Government Board, the first being a list of members of the Board, with their several addresses, etc., and the other a list of import duties on coal, coke, etc., which does not much affect this district. Both these returns were ordered to be made.

SEWAGE.—A letter had been received from the Local Government Board asking if the Rothwell Sewage Scheme had been completed, and if so, requesting that a statement of the finances connected therewith, should be sent, in order that any surplus left out of the loan granted for that purpose, might be repaid to the Public Works Loan Commissioners. The clerk stated that one or two compensations had not yet been agreed upon, and that therefore the work is not completed, so that the amount due by the Board to the Commissioners will not be paid until these amounts have been settled.

It will be remembered that at the meeting on August 25th, the Board decided to undertake the sewering of Mr. John Holmes' property in Rothwell, and charge the cost of the work to the owner. It having been found that considerable time would be wasted in serving the owner with the necessary notices, it was decided to rescind that resolution. A resolution was then carried unanimously, that Mr. John Holmes, of Roundhay, be summoned before the magistrates for creating a nuisance in Holmes' Square, by reason of deficient and defective drainage; and a subsequent period in the meeting it was resolved on the motion of Messrs. Turner & Oliver, that Mr. Wm. Wright, solicitor, of Rothwell, be instructed to conduct the prosecution on behalf of the Board.

Complaint having been received of the treatment of the offal, &c., from slaughter-houses, it was decided that the Slaughter-house Committee should visit the places used for this purpose in the village, and see to what extent the bye-law on this point is carried out. Mr. Turner said that he had seen a capital thing at the Health Exhibition, in the shape of a closed receptacle for the blood, &c., and he thought if these were used it would meet the Board's wishes, and as chairman of the Committee, he should recommend the butchers to purchase them, when he visited their killing establishments.

CROSSING.—The document conveying a piece of land (24 yards) previously owned by the Board, to the Leeds Co-operative Society, was marked with the Board's seal.

BOARD'S LAND.—Several members of the Board remarked on the neglected condition of the Board's Field in Gillet Lane. It was stated that the place was open to all the youngsters of the town, and that these children have rolled sewage and water pipes into the beck, and knocked a portion of the stone wall on the bank into the water, which, with an accumulation of sticks, straw and dirt, is damming the water back to a considerable extent. On the motion of Messrs. Turner and Holmes, the chairman, with Messrs. Nowell, Dobson and Oliver, were elected a committee to inspect the place, and report to the Board what is the best means of putting the 'beck' right, fencing the field, and any other alterations which they may think fit to suggest.

PLANS.—Several plans were passed for Stourton.

WATER.—In consequence of two new houses being erected in Queen Street, Stourton; it will be necessary to extend the water main a short distance, and it was resolved to have this work done, on the motion of Mr. Holmes, seconded by the chairman.

HEALTH.—Mr. Holmes reported one fatal case of diphtheria at Stourton, and said the house had been stoved, and Mr. Turner also drew attention to the house in Rothwell in which this disease exists, reporting that one child had died, and that another had the complaint. Mr. Nowell thought that the 'stoving' process was not very effectually carried out, and it was decided to purchase a 'three-leg' contrivance, so that the vessel containing the sulphur might be hung as near the ceiling as possible.

FINANCE.—There being still one or two rates out-standing, a resolution was passed that the collector be empowered to summon those persons whose rates are still unpaid.

The rates received by the collector and paid into the Bank during the past fortnight are

LIBERAL MEETING.

Under the auspices of the Rothwell Liberal Association, a public meeting was held last night, in the Mechanics' Hall, which was nearly filled with an attentive and appreciative audience. Mr. R. M. Sykes, the president of the Association occupied the chair, and in a few appropriate words introduced the subject of the Franchise Bill, also touching on the collateral question of the House of Lords. He then called on Mr. S. Batty to move the first resolution, which runs thus:—

"That this meeting heartily approves of the Franchise Bill, as a measure not only of national expediency but also of political justice."

Mr. R. Clark seconded the motion, warmly approving of the sentiments expressed.

Mr. James Gosney, in supporting the resolution, remarked on the action of the Conservatives, who, while declaring their approval of a County Franchise Bill, wish to have the power of using a Redistribution Act, as a sort of antidote to the effects of the increased electorate, by so manipulating its provisions, that the number of voters will still remain paramount, and that instead of voting equally man and man, those who have wealth in land, in property, or other ways, shall have voting power accordingly. He asserted, however, that the Lords could no more prevent the Franchise Bill becoming law, than they could prevent the Nile from overflowing. A voice from Midlothian had given the word, and the bill must pass. He held that the recent action of the Lords, had brought another question within the range of practical politics, and the House must either be ended or mended. They were met to-night to shew their desire for the Franchise Bill, and he wanted to know what they would do with their votes, when they got them; he hoped one result would be the abolition of the House that had tried to prevent them having the vote.

Councillor Atha also supported the resolution, and after complimenting his audience on the hall, and also on their evident information on the subject, he trusted they would also gain some heat as well as light, some enthusiasm. He held that as they did their part in the maintenance of the country, so they should have a share in its government, by being able to send such representatives to the councils of the nation as they desired. They had as much right to have a vote at Rothwell, as their fellow-workmen had at Hunslet, and he urged all to attend the mass meeting on Woodhouse Moor.

The resolution was then put, and carried, with one dissentient.

Mr. Ramsbotham proposed the next resolution:—

"That we rejection of the Franchise Bill by the House of Lords is an abuse of the power of their body, and their action is a declaration of their intention to fight for the supremacy of the aristocracy against the rights and the welfare of the people."

He had no objection to the Lords asking the Commons to dissolve, if they will also allow the Commons to dissolve the House of Lords. The Redistribution Bill, which Mr. Gladstone has promised to bring in as soon as the Franchise Bill gets through, must give effect to the new electorate, and enable them to vote on the question as to who shall represent them in Parliament.

Mr. B. Batty, in seconding the motion, expressed his regret that Councillor Gilson was not present, in order to take this duty. He gave it as his opinion, however, that a democratic House of Commons could not exist by the side of a hereditary House of Lords. He was going on to show that the historians, the political economists, even the poets, were all Liberals, and that we might look in vain for such men of intelligence among Conservatives, when considerable confusion and hubbub was caused by the persistent objections of one of the audience, and Mr. Batty abruptly closed his speech.

Rev. Wm. Heaton supported the motion in a strongly worded, well-delivered speech. He considered they might take the passing of the Franchise Bill for granted; the Tories surpassed even the Liberals in their enthusiasm over the righteousness and justice of giving the county franchise. But now, after four months of hard work in preparing and shaping the Bill, the Lords sat a couple of evenings, and in that short time completely upset all the work which has been so laboriously got through by the Commons. After thus rejecting this Bill, he felt (though he would say it in a whisper) that he would not be sorry if the House of Lords persisted in their obstruction of the Bill, so that the still larger and more serious question of their existence might be settled. He remarked that this was not the first time the Lords had acted against their representative house, and drew a picture of the times fifty years ago, when the first Reform Bill was passed in 1832, and the Lords were against it. The Tory Lords, however, were wiser then than they are now, and the Duke of Wellington, who knew nothing about retreat on the field of battle, advised his fellow peers to pass the Bill, and retrace their steps. Taking an illustration from Rip Van Winkle's fifty years' sleep, he shewed that everything was altered and improved, except the House of Lords, which still stood in the way of the people's will, as it did fifty years ago, and always has done. He pointed to Mr. Gladstone's speeches, in which he had tried to hold back the impatient desire of the people from taking up this question, and if he only withdrew his strong hand, and they raised another cry of defiance, the House of Lords would be pulled down with one loud shout. Referring to the Duke of Portland's speech as to the "divine rights" of the aristocracy, the speaker ridiculed the idea, and remarked on other 'divine rights' which had been so named, as 'slavery' which had been utterly destroyed, and he prophesied the ending or mending speedily (he hoped 'ending') of the House of Lords and its divine rights.

Mr. Councillor Pickersgill also spoke briefly, pointing out that as they, who had the vote, had come out to assist the people who wanted it, he trusted to see a large number of them joining the great demonstration on Saturday week. They had no open house, no attractive park, no grand luncheon, to invite them to; they must come on a principle and with self denial, and shew they were determined to have their rights. On being put, there were only two dissentients to the resolution.

The third resolution was moved by Mr. Parker, of Stourton, the object of which he earnestly urged them to carry out, by joining the procession at Stourton:—

"That the meeting pledges itself to use every effort to make the Leeds Demonstration a magnificent success."

Mr. Jos. Harrison seconded the proposition, which he heartily approved, and referred with pleasure to Mr. Gladstone's visit to Leeds in 1881, when he had the honour, with others, of presenting an address to him. Carried unanimously.

The following resolution was then moved by Messrs. Jas. Taylor and Thos. Whitehead, and carried unanimously:—

"That the Liberals of Rothwell assembled here, desire to present their most cordial thanks to the Rev. Mr. Heaton, Mr. Gosney, and the other strangers who have kindly come here to-night to address us."

A vote of thanks was presented to the chairman, by Mr. Gosney, Rev. W. Heaton, and Mr. Ramsbotham.

The meeting closed at nine o'clock.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of the above Board was held on Friday last, present—Messrs. J. G. Turner, (chairman) J. R. Seanor, J. G. Turner, (chairman) J. R. Seanor, J. G. Turner, (chairman) J. R. Seanor, J. G. Batty, and the clerk and attendance officer.

The minutes of last meeting having been read, were confirmed.

After examining the amount of work done, the Board agreed to pay Mr. Denton £4 for taking the census of school children.

Mr. Herbert Lockwood having intimated his wish to commence an art class at Stourton, the Board agreed to let him have a class-room at the school at the nominal rent of 9d. a night of two hours.

The question of a night school at Stourton having been broached, it was agreed to open one, if an agreement could be arranged with the master.

The attendance of a number of children was considered, and a resolution passed to summon several parents.

Two or three applications for remission of fees were heard, and decided.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In constant use in the Courts of Law. The Glycerine they are combined with by the act of sucking, the Glycerine then exerts its healing influence. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., and in tins, 1s. 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter free reads: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended (perhaps intense) use of your Glycerine Jujubes of essential, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

ROTHWELL TIMES--FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1884.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday, present:—Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, (chairman); Messrs. R. Pickersgill and J. Dixon, (vice-chairmen); Messrs. J. Parker, J Graveley, W. Lawton, B. Aaron, C. Grosvenor, H. Lishead, G. Greaves, J. Hardcastle, J. Smith, J. Nichols, R. J. Smith, J. Rollinson, and G Jepson, with Mr. Schofield (clerk to the Board), and Mr. Knight (assistant clerk).

The applications for relief having been got through in good time, the Board considered the reading of last meeting's proceedings, which were confirmed

The relieving officers made their usual report of special cases, of which there were but few.

WORKHOUSE MEDD.—The Corporation having decided not to accept the offer made by the Board for the land on Hillidge Road, but only to take the smaller piece already rented by them; it was now agreed that Mr. Parker and Mr. Jepson ascertain what arrangements can be made with other parties who are wishful to have the land in question; these gentlemen to report at next meeting.

BOARDING OUT.—In order to consider cases not within the province of the present Boarding-out Committee, Mr. Parker gave notice that at next meeting, he should move a resolution relating to the treatment of such cases, as might be placed in homes outside the Union boundaries.

TEST WORK.—As it appears the corn mills just purchased for test work, are not yet in proper working order, Mr. Lawton postponed a resolution on the subject, of which he had given notice. For the same reason, Mr. Pickersgill suggested that the fixing of the weight of corn to be ground per day, should also be left over.

TENDERS.—In commencing the consideration of the tenders sent in for the several goods required by the Workhouse, a question was asked by Mr. Lawton as to the manner in which such goods are weighed or counted. The clerk said that the master was bound to enter in his book the weight, etc., of every article received into the house, and to see that it corresponded with the invoice; he also had to account for the consumption of everything so received, showing how it had been used. Mr. Parker stated that everything was weighed by the master. Mr. Lawton and Mr. Grosvenor thought still that it would be better to ask the master about the mode of procedure, and Mr. Outram was accordingly sent for. In reply to questions, he stated that either the matron or he, received everything and checked them with the invoice, and that as regarded the meat, it averaged correctly, sometimes a little under, as often a little over. The Board accepted the statement, and the subject dropped. During the conversation on the tenders, Mr. Aaron enquired whether they were bound to accept, if there was only one tender, to which the clerk replied in the negative. A question also arose, as regards the wording of some of the application forms, which might possibly be misconstrued in one or two instances, and for this reason the tender for butter was left over. The following is the result of the various tenders:—

Butcher's Meat—Mr. R. Wood.
Flour—Mr. Sam Smith.
Groceries—Mr. B. Reynolds.
Tea—Messrs. Horsman and Lambert.
Milk—Mr. Thos. Dixon, Manor Farm, Middleton.
Coal—Messrs. J. & J. Charlesworth
Drapery—Mr. W. Pate.
Leather—Mr. T. Lee.
Coffins—Messrs. Lee & Walker.
Wines and Spirits—Mr. T. P. Malloris.
Tobacco—Mrs. Newsome.
Printing—Messrs. Harrison and Wailes.
Ironmongery—Mr. G. Thackrah.
Plumber—Mr. J. Pogson.
Joiners' Work—Messrs. Lee and Walker.
Bricklayer—Mr. John Sharp.
Hearses and Cabs—Mr. T. H. Robinson.
Drugs—Messrs. Hirst, Brook and Hirst

A strong opinion was expressed that potatoes ought to have been tendered for also, and a motion to advertise for a supply was put to the vote, but an amendment was carried, to purchase as required, by the Visiting Committee.

SESSIONS.—The clerk intimated that the next Quarter Sessions would be held on the 20th October.

THE BOY EMIGRANTS.—The Local Government Board have signified their agreement to allow the Board £10 each for the four boys lately sent to Canada. A slight hitch had occurred, it seems, previous to their getting away; arriving by train as arranged at Liverpool, they strayed from the platform before Mr. Ward got to them, and lad-like, had a free stroll in the great port, only being recovered near midnight. They were then safely lodged on board the 'Circassian,' and well, to doubt, have reached their destination ere this.

LOAN.—By a letter from the Local Government Board, permission is given to borrow money not exceeding £1000, for the payment of land lately purchased from the Corporation, in Hillidge Road.

ASSISTANT OVERSEER FOR ROTHWELL.—A letter was read from Mr. Fred Parker, the assistant overseer for Rothwell, asking six months' leave of absence, in order to recruit his health in the south of France, by direction of his physician, Dr. Deville. On the proposal of Mr. Aaron and Mr. Greaves, the necessary leave was granted. The chairman then informed the Board, that the overseers having had the subject before them, had agreed to nominate Mr. A. Marshall, of Rothwell, to perform Mr. Parker's duties and receive his salary during the absence, and the appointment was unanimously agreed to.

ADVANCE OF SALARY.—Dr. Noake, the medical officer for Temple Newsam, &c., applied for an improvement in his remuneration, pointing out at the increase of duty; he also intimated that whereas other medical officers have the vaccination office attached, that duty is performed by another gentleman in his district. The subject was adjourned till next meeting, when it will be brought up by Mr. Graveley.

AMALGAMATION INQUIRY.—The decision of the Department on the report of Mr. Davy, one of H. M. Inspectors, on an inquiry held in March last has long been looked for, and had been received that morning. The clerk then read the letter which was as follows:—

"I am directed by the Local Government Board to state that they have received from their Inspector (Mr. Davy) a report of the inquiry held by him on the 6th, 7th, 6th, and 7th of March last, with regard to the proposal that the Bramley, Holbeck, and Hunslet Unions should be dissolved, and that the townships comprising those unions should be amalgamated with the Leeds Union. The Board have given this report their careful consideration, and I am directed to state that, while they are of opinion that a readjustment of the area of the above-mentioned unions is desirable, they are not prepared to give effect to the proposal of the Guardians of the Leeds Union, to form a union which will comprise not only the whole of the municipal borough of Leeds, but a considerable area beyond it. The Board are, however, willing to consider whether it would not be advisable that the several townships, or parts of townships, included in the municipal borough of Leeds should form one union, and that the extra municipal townships should be added to the adjoining unions in the following manner, namely:—The townships of Roundhay, Seacroft, Templenewsam, and Thorpe Stapleton to be added to the Tadcaster Union; the townships of Rothwell, Middleton, and Oulton-with-Woodlesford to be added to the Wakefield Union; the whole of Churwell to be added to the Dewsbury Union; and the township of Gildersome to be added to the North Bierley Union. In the event of the above suggested arrangements being carried out, the Board would take steps under the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Acts of 1876, and the Poor Law Act of 1879, to detach so much of the townships of Temple-newsam and Seacroft as are situated within the municipal borough, with a view to add such parts to some adjoining township in the Leeds Union, so as to make the boundaries of the union conterminous with the municipal boundary. I am directed to request that the foregoing suggestions may receive the consideration of the Guardians, and that the Board may be informed of their views upon it."—I am, &c.,

HUGH OWEN, Assistant Secretary.

In reply to Mr. Parker, the Clerk said it was very clear, that if this suggestion was carried out, the Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley Unions would be dissolved, and the townships outside the municipal boundary attached to other existing Unions. The Board appeared to think the change would make the rates heavier in the town, and lighter for the country, which certainly seems to be the probable result. On the motion of Mr. J. Smith and Mr. Grosvenor, it was agreed to call a special meeting for Wednesday next, to discuss this important question. It was also resolved, on the motion of Mr. J. Smith, that 50 copies of the letter be printed, for the use of the Guardians and overseers.

HARVEST THANKSGIVINGS.

ROTHWELL WESLEYAN.—In accordance with the desire of the President of the Conference, the harvest festival was celebrated at Rothwell Wesleyan Chapel on Sunday last, and passed off most satisfactorily. A large number of choice mosses, ferns, and flowering plants, etc., were very kindly lent by Mr. Thos. Fieldhouse, and greatly increased the beauty and attractiveness of the decorations sheaves of corn filling up the background. These were tastefully arranged in and about the communion, on the table of which were placed a plentiful supply of material having been willingly offered for use. To Mr. James Wood, special thanks are due for his loan of plants and his aid in other ways. The only way the Communion filled with plants, fruits, flowers, vegetables, corn, etc., but the rostrum and the orchestra, as well as the pulpit, the gallery, the window sills and other convenient places were used to display the abundant gifts, the chandeliers, pillars, and pew-heads being also greatly decorated in suitable manner. The Rev. F. Smith preached appropriate sermons morning and evening, there being very good congregations, especially in the evening. In the afternoon, a service of praise was given by the choir, assisted by a few elder scholars, when special music was rendered, and pieces recited by some of the children. Collections were made at each of the services in aid of the trust fund.

Holloway's Pills—No Mystery.—Whenever the blood is impure or the general health is impaired, the human body is predisposed to attack of any prevailing epidemic. The first indications of faulty action, the first sensations of deranged or diminished power, should be rectified by these purifying Pills, which will cleanse all corrupt and reduce all erring functions to order. There Pills counteract the subtle poisons in decaying animal or vegetable matter, and remove all tendency to bowel complaints, biliousness, and a host of annoying symptoms arising from foul stomachs. Their purity is appealing proof to the popular irritation of the bowels and disorders of the digestive organs; both of which dangerous conditions can be completely remedied by Holloway's medicines.

A CARD.—TO ALL WHO ARE SUFFERING FROM THE errors and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City, U.S.A.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

CELERY AND VEGETABLE SHOW.—On Saturday last, the above show was held at the house of Mr. John Judson, the White Swan Inn, Rothwell, and considering that there were only some three or four days between the announcement of the affair, and its having taken place, the entries numbered as many as anyone really could expect, but had there been much larger, more notice, the show would have been much larger. Mr. T. Maddock, gardener to J. T. Barnskill, Esq., Lofthouse, & Mr. P. Howarth, Rothwell, were the judges and awarded the prizes as follows:—Mr. Maddock, 1st for collection of vegetables, vegetable marrow, winter onions, round potatoes, scarlet runners; 2nd for kidney potatoes, white cabbage, and cauliflower. Mr. Howarth, Rothwell, 1st for savoy; 2nd for vegetable marrow, cucumbers, winter onions, dwarf kidney beans, and scarlet runners. Mr. H. Ward, Carlton, 1st for cauliflowers, carrots, dwarf kidney beans, red cabbage for weight (13 lbs.), red and white celery; 2nd for tray of vegetables, round potatoes and red cabbage. Mr. Thos. Fox, Carlton, 1st for spring onions, kidney potatoes, red and white cabbages and cauliflowers; 2nd for scarlet and white celery. Mr. Jas. Westmoreland, Rothwell, 2nd spring onions. Mr. A. Nichols, Rothwell, 2nd for savoy. During the evening a very fair number of persons visited the show in the Lodge Room, which was very attractive and proved a success throughout.

PENNY READING.—On Monday evening, a public tea was provided in the Primitive School-room, to which a goodly number sat down. After tea, a sale was held of the flowers, which had been used for decorating the chapel, and we hear that very good prices were given.

SUICIDE AT ROTHWELL.—Yesterday a very distressing suicide took place just inside the Rothwell district. At 7.45 a.m., John Robert Armitage, of Organ Yard, Hunslet, noticed the deceased old man attempting to drown himself, in Old Mill Lane, and followed him to Woodhouse Hill Cemetery, where he left him and went down to Stourton to inform P. C. Wilson of the circumstance. The policeman accompanied Armitage to the place where he had left the man, and on looking round they found him laid in the footpath leading from the cemetery to the Old Engine, his throat was badly cut, and in his hand he gripped the knife with which he had done the awful deed. A medical gentleman was at once summoned, but the man was dead before he arrived, the doctor arrived life was extinct. The body was removed to the Queen Hotel, Stourton, to await the inquest. The deceased, residence, &c., are not known; he appears to be about 60 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, of slight build, grey hair and whiskers, and was dressed in dark clothes. The only property found upon the poor fellow was an ordinary tin tobacco box.

DEATH OF MR. HOULDSWORTH.—It is with extreme regret, we announce the death of a gentleman, well known and highly respected in this neighbourhood; we refer to Mr. Wm. Houldsworth, of Oulton, stone merchant. The deceased gentleman has only had a short illness, and died last night at his residence, Claremont House, and is sixty years of age. He was formerly a Guardian of the Poor for this township, and at the last election obtained a seat on the School Board. Mr. Houldsworth's business habits, sound judgment and genial disposition, greatly esteemed by all who knew him. He was deeply interested in the Wesleyan Society, whose chapel he regularly attended, cordially supporting the various matters connected with that church, and will be greatly missed by the little community worshipping at Oulton. We understand that he was attended by Dr. Jessop, of Leeds, and Dr. Sewell, of Rothwell. Another shadow falls on the family, as Mr. Houldsworth's aged mother is also very ill, and not expected to recover.

STOURTON WESLEYAN SOCIETY.—In connection with this Society a Penny Improvement Class has been formed. Their first meeting was held on Friday evening last, which was opened with the inaugural address of the president, Mr. A. Webber. The society is likely to do very well; as essays, readings and lectures are promised during the term.

CHURCH CHOIR TRIP.

On Saturday last the adult members of the Rothwell Church Choir had a very enjoyable picnic at Chevet Park, the seat of Sir Lionel Pilkington. In response to invitations the choir left the Parish Church at the Vicarage about 10.30 on Saturday morning, and a waggonette being in readiness, the party, which with Mr. Fawkes and his family, just made up the baker's dozen, was speedily on its way to Newmillerdam, the village adjoining the Chevet estate. Owing to a delay at Oulton, the 'Dove' was not reached until nearly one o'clock, after a delightful drive six Stanley, Wakefield and Sandal. Here the company was joined by Mr. Fawkes, who had come by rail to Sandal and Walton Station, and walked over to Newmillerdam. After putting up the horses at the 'Inn,' the whole party made for the boat-house on the lake or dam, from which the village takes its name, and which is one of the most picturesque features of the Chevet estate. The boat-house is a pretty two-storied building in the castellated style, and in one of its rooms, a most substantial dinner was laid out from the hamper of provisions which the vicar had—with his customary generous forethought—provided. The inner room having been also placed at the party's disposal for the purpose, they soon betook themselves as they thought fit. Boating, fishing, 'plegging,' strolling through the woods, were all resorted to in amusements, but as may be expected, the boating had the call. The day was charming, the sun bright, a pleasant wind and sparkling ripple, made the boating on the water pass most pleasantly in a boat which combined all the qualities of roomy, safety, and speed. The weather which so favoured the boating section, was, however, dead against the fishing, and the catch was decidedly small.

During the afternoon several of the men walked on as far as Woolley, and looked through the Church. Woolley, it will be remembered, was the scene of Mr. Fawkes' labours before he came to Rothwell.

At 5.30 the party assembled at the 'Inn,' and after a short interval, which was heartily spent, a very acceptable and refreshing, after the varied exertions of the afternoon. Soon after six o'clock the horses were yoked, and the return journey to Rothwell was safely reached a little before eight. When getting off at Stanley, Mr. Sheldon, the guard, proposed a vote of thanks to the vicar for his kindness and generosity in giving such an enjoyable picnic. The vote was supported by the gentlemen present, and carried unanimously by the choir, every member of which expressed his most thorough enjoyment of the day's outing. Mr. Harms also on behalf of the choir expressed the pleasure they felt at Mr. Jewison's presence among them. Both Mr. Jewison and the vicar replied in suitable terms, and expressed a hope that he should be able to similarly entertain his choir at future periods. To Mr. Fawkes' intention we believe, we take the choir boys for a day's picnic at an early date.

BUSINESS CHANCES.—Old England is full of business chances—the best and cheapest competition for these coveted prizes gives the race only to the swift, the battle to the strong. A dose of the World's Family Pills will make the feel sound as a nut, ready and able to grasp any business chance that offers. Thousands of sufferers have proved that impurities which lower the spirit and paralyse energy. Aged lady writes:—'They have made me feel like a girl again.' Clergyman writes:—'After a life of dyspepsia, loss of sleep, nervousness, noises in head, rheumatism, nausea, and low vitality generally; believe I must soon have died had I not taken your remedies.' Another writes:—'Your Pills have quite restored my health.' Mr. Thos. Cornelius, 12, Bankes Street, Aberdare, writes:—'From the depth of my heart I thank God and ever your pills were introduced to me. I used to suffer dreadful pains, and could get no sleep, but now, thank God, the pains have all left me, and I can sleep sweet and sound.' Hundreds of people write:—'The pills are the best pills in Old England to-day.' Infallible in cases of torpid liver, mal-assimilated food, and the ever prevalent dyspepsia, with its nervousness and many distressing variations. The World's Family Pills are a result of the increased knowledge of the age, and their efficacy in disease compared to some older prescription, is as the electric to candle light. These are strong words, but we mean them. Any sufferer who knows the distress and danger resulting from badly digested food should at once make a trial of the World's Family Pills. Simple but sure, etc. Sold generally everywhere, or sent post free for 1s. 1½d. by Cole and Co., 21, Cock Lane, Snowhill, E.C.

POLICE NEWS.

NIGHT POACHING AT SWILLINGTON.—AFFRAY WITH POACHERS.—Richard White, labourer, of no fixed abode, was brought up in custody at the Leeds Police Court on Tuesday last, for having trespassed in pursuit of game in Swillington Park, and assaulting Police-constable Wilson. On the night of the 19th inst., police-constable Wilson, Mr. Sowry, a gamekeeper, and two watchers, were in the park at Swillington when they came across the prisoner and five other men who were busily engaged in fixing nets which covered an area of three hundred yards. When the policemen and the men appeared, the poachers fled a volley of stones, and they followed this up by rushing forward wielding sticks, and a desperate fight ensued. Wilson 'tackled' the prisoner, who succeeded in getting hold of his gun and throwing it away, but the officer produced his handcuffs and quickly fastened them to his wrists. The officer then obtained him to an iron rail, and went to the assistance of Mr. Sowry and the two watchers, but all except the prisoner escaped. On the two charges the Bench committed him to prison for nine months, and at the expiration of that period to find sureties for his good behaviour, himself in £10 and two sureties of £5 each or to be further imprisoned for six months.

FOWL-STEALING AT SWILLINGTON.—Mary Dalton, a young woman, who says she comes from Limerick, pleaded guilty to stealing four fowls from the farm of Mr. John Nichols, of Swillington, on the 21st inst., and was committed to prison for one month.

DRUNK.—At the West Riding Court on Monday last, two men named respectively Richard Ely and George Whitehead, both of Carlton, were charged by P. C. Slimmon with being drunk and fighting in Carlton on the 19th inst. When requested to go home by the policeman, they refused, and were subsequently locked up. Ely was fined 20s, and 7s. 6d costs, and Whitehead 5s, and 7s 6d costs.

CRICKET NOTES.

Rothwell made a sore thing of it with Hunslet last Saturday in the Cricket field, though at the same time it must be borne in mind that it was only a weak team which did duty for Rothwell, having to deplore the absence of their professional, who was prevented from playing, and C. Tiffany, who, from some cause or another, best known to himself, was also an absentee, and the upshot of it was, that Rothwell was without a single fast bowler. Moreover than that, the team was practically reduced to one, not one of the best Rothwell can turn out, in more than one instance. I do not give these reason to "blind" the fact of the severe defeat which Rothwell sustained, by suggesting that if the best team had been chosen to play, that the result would have been the other way; oh no, but truth I should have entitled a closer finish. The home team defended first, and the scoring by Ward and Walter Richardson was very slow, the first ten open only producing 8 runs. Richardson was missed when he had scored 6, while Ward was also let off in the very same over when he had scored a like number of runs, but the latter's let off cost Hunslet little, as he was bowled before adding any more to his score. Richardson and Ellis batted very nicely while together, the former by steadily play taking his score up to 20, when he was out b w, a fault which I am sorry to say is somewhat common with this player, being the second time in two successive matches that he has been out in the above manner. Ellis made his score into 12, when he (with the exception of Wise 7) such a collapse attended Rothwell as will not be forgiten for some time, the remaining wickets falling for less than one run apiece, the total at the finish being only 49, there being no fewer than six players out of the eleven with a "duck" against their names. Hawden for Hunslet trundled remarkably well, taking 6 wickets at a cost of only five runs. The first wicket cost him the exact number of runs scored from his bowling, and thus he captured the last five wickets for no runs. With Hunslet, the scoring was nice verus so that of Rothwell, being extraordinary quick, Hawden was again at the top with 44, which included seven 4's, T. Marsh being second with 37, closely followed by Carr 32, Yeadon 27, Scollins 14, and (no out); when the stumps were drawn the score was 143 for 5 wickets. This is what I term, a crushing defeat, and will I hope give the Rothwell team cause to understand that it will take the very best team they can choose to play anything like a good game with such a club as Hunslet, and not such a one as did duty for Rothwell on Saturday. However, I will not point out who the eleven should be composed of, but will leave my readers to judge for themselves from the averages I shall publish in the next week's issue. I intended to have done this week, but the Editor informs me that he had not sufficient space, so am obliged to wait until next week.

A different result was witnessed at Morley with Rothwell 2nd and Morley St. Peter's, Rothwell winning by 19 runs. The visitors batted first and compiled 51, to which J W Chadwick scored 19, being the only player on his side who got into double figures. Morley had lost 7 wickets when the total stood at 13, but the other three men raised the total to 32. J. Tiffany was best for Rothwell with the ball, taking 5 wickets for 19 runs.

Woodlesford fared badly last Saturday at home against Methley Victoria, being defeated by 37 runs. The home team batted first, and E. Collis was responsible for 13, being the only player on his side who reached double figures. When Methley commenced to bat they did not make a "splice" of it, the first three wickets falling without a run, but, however, by steady play they managed to put on 49 runs, when the last wicket fell. The following is the score:—

FOOTBALL.

TO SECRETARIES OF FOOTBALL CLUBS.—We shall be glad to receive Match Cards for the coming season as early as possible, and also reports of matches played, which must arrive not later than Wednesday morning's post.

STOURTON HARRIERS.—The above club had their first run of the season on Monday evening. Members starting from the head-quarters, Queen's Hotel, Rothwell Road. The weather being rather hot, a short run was decided upon. The hares, W. Pullan and W. Atkinson, were despatched with the bags at 3.32., the pack ten minutes later. The trail led down the Wakefield Road, along Pontefract Road to Haigh Park, across the park to the river, along the river side to Bullock Lane, and across country to Pontefract Road. Then taking the country again to Wakefield Road, where the finish was found. On account of the heat it was decided not to race in. Pullan, 1st; led by R. Hill as second, was in the road home at a good speed, arriving at 4.25, the hares having arrived at 4.15, distance run 5 miles. Hi. Atkinson acted as whip, and W. M. Coggill as timekeeper. The run next Saturday is from head-quarters at 3 o'clock prompt.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We would particularly urge our friends to send in their letters and news, as early as possible, as we cannot accept contributions later than Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, except in the case of matters occurring on Wednesday or Thursday, which should be forwarded within a short period after. Advertisements may be sent as late as Friday morning.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents. ED.

TOWN TALK.

I am happy to hear of something being done by Mechanics Institute committee. If my information is correct we are to have what they call a conversazione. Great preparations are being made and I believe a very good programme will be provided, beside all this the large hall is to be decorated with as artistic taste as possible, and I am told the decorations it is said are to be there. The 2nd Thursday in October the time fixed and I heartily wish the affair success.

.. ..

It has struck me during the last day or two that the Co-operative folks in Church St are taking up very much of the pubic road way and I am surprised that the Surveyor should allow them to come so far out with their boarding. Would it not have been better if the posts had been sunk close to the causeway, it might have answered their purpose quite as well and it would have kept that splendid piece of macadam, so recently laid down, unbroken.

.. ..

Has the Town Clerk of Leeds come home yet? If so, will some member of the Local Board bring the matter before the Board again. Mr. Morrison's absence from Leeds was adduced as the reason of the ceasing of operations, and our people must be on the look out, so that a like yearly allowance may not be missed simply because we did not sak enough for it. Will Mr. Turner move in the subject again, if he can get the money to the ratepayers, it will be a better election cry than 'Full and correct reports' and such like.

THERE will be a splendid opportunity for the 'ladies of high standing' in our neighbourhood next week to be of service to their poorer fellows. Many attempts, I believe, have been made to introduce cookery lectures generally to its poisonous influences upon the human system. While we have been diligent and watchful in preventing sewer gas from entering our houses, we have been neglectful, and have allowed its breathes within our own bodies. Sewer gas is as fatal in its effects upon the system whether taken into the stomach, or when inhaled. The food taken into the stomach, if not properly digested, ferments, decays, and becomes putrid. The effect of this putrefaction is the production of a gas precisely like sewer gas, and just as poisonous. This poisonous substance enters the circulation, and pervades the whole system. Hence people wonder they feel tired and languid, with a swimming dizzy head—wonder why the appetite has left them, and feel weak and feeble—they wonder why the breath has become offensive, and that they have pain and distress. But when this matter is fully understood there is no cause to wonder, for this foul gas has poisoned the whole system. The food we eat should be digested or it does us injury. The Editor says that "it is not what we eat that makes us strong, but what we digest," is a truthful saying, and we cannot be too particular about the digestion of our food. More than nine-tenths of all our diseases arise from imperfect digestion. When we know that imperfect digestion is followed by the production of this foul gas within the body and that it is absorbed into the system as fast as it is formed, is it a wonder that we are ill? The wonder is that we are alive. How important it is, then, that the digestive organs should be made to perform their functions by the timely use of Bodenham's Kalydor, which has proved an unfailing remedy in such cases. Its reputation is based upon a trial that has extended over a period of many years. It seldom fails.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.
THE AMALGAMATION QUESTION.

A special meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday afternoon, present:—Messrs. Graveley, Dixon, Parker, Lawton, Sheard, Aaron, Hardcastle, Jepson, Rollinson, Eady, J. Smith, R. J. Smith, and Mr. Schofield (clerk to the Board).

The clerk stated that he had just received a telegram from Mr. Hargreaves, the chairman, stating that he would not be able to be present; as neither of the vice-chairmen were present at the commencement of the evening either, he asked the Board to elect a chairman for this meeting.

Mr. Graveley was unanimously agreed on, and on taking the chair, that gentleman expressed his regret that neither their chairman nor vice-chairmen were present, but trusted he should be able to fulfil the duty entrusted to him satisfactorily. He then asked the clerk to state the object for which they were met.

The clerk said that the object of the meeting was to consider the proposal of the Local Government Board to amalgamate the four Unions of Leeds, as detailed in the letter, copies of which had been sent to each Guardian. In order to carry this suggestion into effect, it would be necessary to dissolve the existing Unions of Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley; to add such portions of those Unions as were within the borough to the Leeds Union, making the Leeds Union coterminate with the boundaries of the borough; the out-townships would then be distributed to the Unions of Tadcaster, Wakefield, Dewsbury, and North Bierley.

The portions to be taken away were—From Leeds, Roundhay, with a population of 802, and a rateable value of £7,297; and Seacroft, where the population was 1,967, and a rateable value of £7,370. From Hunslet there would be taken Middleton, with a population of 1,134, and a rateable value of £11,281; Oulton-with-Woodlesford, population 2,344, and rateable value £13,304; and Rothwell, population 5,103, and rateable value £31,496. These three it was proposed should go to the Wakefield Union. It was also proposed to take Templenewsam, with a population of 2,180, and a rateable value of £14,383—that was excepting Osmondthorpe, which it was proposed should be detached from Templenewsam and added to some township in the Leeds Union; and Thorpe Stapleton, population 29, rateable value £389. Altogether there would be taken from Hunslet Union a population of 10,760, and a rateable value of £73,040. From Holbeck it was proposed to take Churwell, with a population of 1,973 and a rateable value of £6,797, and to add it to Dewsbury Union; and from Bramley, Gildersome, with a population of 2,479, and a rateable value of £8,133, which was to be added to the North Bierley Union. The effect of these alterations would be to prevent upwards of £100,000 of rateable property from bearing a fair share of the relief of the poverty which it helped to create. The mining industry had a greater tendency than almost any other to wear out men's lives and bring on premature old age, thus increasing the applications for relief from the rates, and the townships to be removed from Hunslet, excepting Thorpe Stapleton and Oulton-with-Woodlesford, were chiefly mining districts. The result would be that the colliers would live within the borough of Leeds, and the rates would all be paid at Wakefield. Thus the poor-rate in Leeds borough would be increased at least 2d. in the pound. Besides inconvenience to the poor and the Guardians, many officials would lose their situations, and would be entitled to claim compensation. The only reason for making the change seemed to be to secure uniformity of area, which was not a very great advantage, and might be upset again in a short time. They had heard lately suggestions that Hunslet should be formed into a borough. That might be regarded as Utopian; but if the Unions of Hunslet and Holbeck and the South Ward of Leeds were combined, they would make a very respectable borough; and, although not likely to take place yet, would doubtless become a fact in future years. The real advantages of the proposal of the Local Government Board were nil. He thought that if the Boards were to tell the Local Government Board that they would resist the alteration, it would not be attempted.

In reply to questions, the clerk stated that all the out-townships in the Hunslet Union were under Gilbert's Act, except Oulton-with-Woodlesford. Some years ago, this Act was superseded by the Local Law Act of 1868, and the Hunslet Union was formed. It was stated at the time that in many cases, the people who worked in these country districts lived in the town, and that thus uniformity of area was not a very great reason why the country should help in maintaining the poor. It was also said that Temple Newsam derives one fourth of its rates from mines, while not more than a tenth of the men reside there, but in Leeds; and that the same rule applies more or less to Rothwell and Middleton. These facts were questioned by several members concerned, Messrs. Graveley, Lawton and Rollinson particularly. Mr. Schofield further mentioned the relative figures respecting Hunslet, Wakefield, and Tadcaster, as follows:—

	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
Rate per £	7	6 3-10ths.	4 3-10ths.
Rate per head 2/1-10ths.	3/6 1-10th.	2/3 7-10ths.	2/3 7-10ths.

At Tadcaster the rate in the £ is less, but per head it is more than Hunslet.

The chairman thanked Mr. Schofield for his very clear statement of the case; he remarked in regard to Gilbert's Act, that as an out-township man, it had worked very well for them; a few gentlemen used to meet together, and after hearing the applications of poor people, were able to relieve them by their own officer at a very small cost indeed, and he was only sorry that ever it was done away with. Mr. Lawton joined very heartily in the regret that the country districts were ever added to the town, and warmly declared his intention as a country Guardian to get away from Hunslet, if possible; he held that Rothwell would be better either at Tadcaster or Wakefield than at Hunslet, as they had not a fair valuation to work on. He thought this was a grand opportunity of getting clear of Hunslet, and he should do his best to do so. Mr. Parker held that Rothwell would be a deal worse off at Leeds or at Wakefield than at Hunslet, while Tadcaster was quite out of the way. Mr. Hardcastle spoke on behalf of Hunslet, pointing to the £131,345 rateable value, and that many of the poor working at Rothwell and Middleton lived at Hunslet, and were afterwards supported by Hunslet Union. He also shewed that Rothwell would have more to pay at Wakefield than they have now. Mr. Aaron could not see that any benefit would come either to the out-townships or to Hunslet by agreeing to the alteration suggested. The Guardians knew most of the people applying for relief, and were therefore better able to deal with them. In any change, the poor would have to travel further, there would be more difficulty in securing Guardians, and they would be at greater inconvenience. They knew what time was occupied in conducting the work of this Union; how much worse would it be in a huge, unmanageable, unwieldy Union, such as Leeds would then be? The chairman roundly declared that if this Union were dissolved, Templenewsam would gladly go to Tadcaster. Mr. Lawton also returned to the assault, and warmly supported any plan for enabling the out-townships to get released from Hunslet. Mr. Rollinson also said they were tired of paying Hunslet rates, and his township (Temple Newsam) would like to get to Tadcaster. Mr. R. J. Smith (Oulton-with-Woodlesford) doubted whether they would be better at Wakefield or not. They now had difficulty in obtaining gentlemen to stand, and if there was the additional difficulty of getting to Wakefield for their meetings, he feared they would have no representatives at all. Unless a separate Union could be formed for Rothwell and adjoining places, he thought they were best with Hunslet, both as regards the convenience of the Guardians and the poor, while there was probably little real difference in the cost. It was eventually proposed by Mr. Parker that the other three Unions be invited to join this Board in opposing the proposition of the Local Government Board. In seconding the motion, Mr. Aaron thought they ought to use their strongest powers in opposing the suggestion. Mr. Lawton moved an amendment, accepting the proposal to separate the out-townships—not seconded. The motion on being put was supported by Messrs. Dixon, Parker, Aaron, Sheard, Hardcastle, J. Smith, G. Jepson, and R. J. Smith; against, Messrs. Graveley, Lawton, Rollisson and Eady. After considerable discussion, it was agreed to select six gentlemen to represent the Board at the proposed meeting with the other Boards, and it was finally decided, on the motion of Mr. Dixon and Mr. J. Smith, to appoint Messrs. Hargreaves, Pickersgill, Parker, Dixon, Aaron and R. J. Smith,—the division on the appointment was as before, four against. This concluded the business.

WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of this Board was held on Friday evening last. The Rev. A. J. Irvin, (chairman), Mr. Flockton, Mr. Hoyle, and the clerk were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Referring to the recent death of Mr. Holdsworth, the chairman said: "Before proceeding with the business of the meeting, I wish to make allusion to the sad death of Mr. Holdsworth, which as you are aware, has just taken place. For my own part I can only say, that I was shocked and grieved to hear of his death, as I was unaware of his illness. Though he was an entire stranger to me until the last School Board election, yet I am happy to say that I always found him a most genial and pleasant man, and I deeply regret the occurrence which has removed him from our midst. I beg to move the following resolution:—

"That this Board desires to express its deep regret at the death of Mr. William Holdsworth, a member of the Board; and also to record the loss it has sustained in being deprived of his valuable services."

In seconding the resolution, Mr. Flockton said, "I am glad, Mr. Chairman, that you have taken the early opportunity which our meeting of to-night affords of alluding in such feeling and appropriate terms to the unexpected—I may say almost sudden—death of our late colleague, Mr. Holdsworth. I have known him many years, and for some time past very intimately, and have always admired his straight-forward, genial character and good business capacity. To me, therefore, it is a melancholy satisfaction to second the resolution which you have proposed, a satisfaction of course only in the sense of being permitted, now that he is gone, to join in this tribute of respect to his memory. I am sure we shall all miss his presence at our meetings and the assistance which he gave us, and the least we can do is to record our great regret and our sympathy in the terms of the resolution before us.

Mr. Hoyle cordially concurred in what had been said by the chairman and Mr. Flockton, and the resolution was unanimously carried.

The clerk was instructed to forward a copy of the resolution to the relatives of Mr. Holdsworth.

The clerk's financial statement shewed that there would be a balance in the hands of the treasurer on the 29th September next, the year's accounts would be closed, of about £55. An estimate of expenditure and income for the ensuing half-year was read, shewing that £220 would be necessary to meet the expenses of the Board to March 25th, 1885. A precept for that amount was accordingly issued, which is equivalent to a rate of 4½d in the £ for the half-year.

Cheques amounting to £28 1s 8d were drawn for salaries and accounts.

The chairman introduced the subject of evening classes, and expressed his desire that although these classes had not been successful in the past, the Board ought to give those wishful of improving themselves, the opportunity of doing so. Mr. Parkin who was present, stated that he was willing to take an evening class on two evenings per week. It was decided to commence the classes on Monday, October 6th, and to continue them every Monday and Wednesday if the attendance justified such a course, the clerk was instructed to ask Miss Abbey to take the class of girls on the same evenings.

Tenders were read for the supply of coal to the schools, and it was resolved to order 12 tons of Messrs. J. & J. Charlesworth for the winter months.

It was resolved to hold a special meeting on Thursday evening, the 9th October, for the purpose of passing the accounts for the year ending 29th September, 1884; also to take steps for the filling up the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Holdsworth.

Epps Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled, "James Epps & Co. Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

ROTHWELL TIMES—FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1884.

GAS EXHIBITION.

For some time we have been looking forward with anticipation to an exhibition of various contrivances for cooking, heating, boiling, washing, &c., by means of gas, and during this week the people of this district have had the opportunity of seeing the many applications to which gas may be adapted besides that of illumination.

The Gas Exhibition is held in the Mechanics' Hall, Rothwell, and in every respect must be considered a success. While we do not wish to imagine that the Rothwell Gas Light Company has been induced to open this exhibition on philanthropic motives, any more than the gentlemen who display their various goods; yet the presentation of this interesting assemblage of articles and apparatus is attractive and pleasurable, and we have to congratulate the directors on carrying out the idea. While the ultimate result must be to increase the consumption of gas, and thus keep their valuable plant in full work, we hope it may also be beneficial in reducing wo-manful labour.

The appearance of the Large Hall was exceedingly pleasing and bright, especially in the evenings, and as is more fully described below, several well-known firms had extensive exhibits in the various manufactures necessary for gas making, registering, cooking, heating, lighting, boiling, washing, &c., besides a stall of pretty knick-nacks made from the residuals. In a smaller room down stairs, an attractive series of cookery lectures is being delivered by Miss Louisa M. Peacock, of the Yorkshire School of Cookery, a complete report of which we purpose giving in a separate form next week. (See Advertisement.)

The Exhibition was opened on Tuesday afternoon at half-past two by the Rev. F. Fawkes, B.A., Vicar of Rothwell, there being a good number of persons present.

The Vicar, referring to the request of the Directors that he should open the Exhibition, thought that whatever other reason they might have had, that they would know he would look at the subject in an impartial manner, as he was not personally interested in the Company, and he had not yet learned that any shares had been allotted to him. (Laughter). He was, however, always glad to assist in any movement which might benefit the people, and for this reason he was pleased to be present. Speaking of the doubtful position of gas companies not long ago, when it was thought that gas would be quite "snuffed out" by the electric light, people began to find out that gas was useful for other purposes besides lighting, and now a new lease of life seemed to be taken by gas companies in the various appliances for which gas is used. Without seeking to disestablish Messrs. Charlesworth, nor to reduce the importance of coal, there were many ways in which gas could be used advantageously instead of coal, and secure greater comfort, cleanliness and economy. This was especially the case in summer where there are small rooms and large families. In directing attention to the cooking stoves and the lectures by Miss Peacock, the Vicar remarked on a pun perpetrated a fortnight ago by "Snip" on gas-tronomy being a considerable attraction. He urged on all wives and daughters the importance of knowing well the mysteries of the culinary art, and advised young men to ascertain the ability of their lady friends in this direction before finally deciding any matrimonial question. After cordially recommending the cooking stoves and steam washers, Mr. Fawkes declared the Exhibition open, hoping it would prove an advantage to the people of Rothwell.

Mr. J. G. Turner coincided with the previous remarks, and directed special attention to the cookery lectures to be given by Miss Peacock. He also referred to the crowded display of goods from the various firms.

Mr. Tennant, after relating the several advantages of gas in cleanliness, comfort and economy, also pointed out the safety of gas stoves where there are children.

Most of the ladies then retired to the club-room, to attend Miss Peacock's first lecture, the several recipes for which will be published next week. This lady is fully equipped in her knowledge of kitchen mysteries, and the directors have prepared for her a slightly raised platform, where the audience can see the varied means by which her toothsome dishes are prepared; the constituents of the several dishes are distinctly stated and the manner of their combination, so that any one can perfectly carry out the instructions given. Miss Peacock uses an 'Eclipse' stove for the cooking of all her preparations, and has an able assistant in Mrs. Lunn. The attendance at the lectures have been remarkably good, both in the afternoon for high-class cookery, and in the evening for household dishes, and great interest has been manifested in the lessons.

In the large hall, Messrs. Charles Wilson and Sons, Carlton Works, Leeds, who have undertaken this exhibition with the assent of the Gas Company, showed a most comprehensive assortment of appliances for the consumption of gas in connection with domestic purposes. There are cooking stoves of various sizes, from the 'Breakfast,' which will prepare breakfast of bacon, toast, and boil the water, at a cost of one farthing's worth of gas, to the 'Carlton,' capable of dining twenty persons, and the 'Birmingham gas range,' twenty-four of which are used for teaching cookery under the Leeds School Board. The 'Eclipse' seems most suitable for family purposes, and consists of an oven capable of baking 12 loaves at once, and will roast as much as 15 lbs. of meat, and bake pastry, puddings, etc., at the same time. This, the largest but one of the series of cooking stoves, is offered at £7, with 25 per cent off, although that of the Gas Company, or can be hired at 10s. a year.

The series of heating stoves exhibited are all works of art in cast iron, black and nickel-plated, glazed terra cotta, with raised and coloured ornamentation, the heat is radiated from a cast iron network, interlaced with platinum wire, which gives it a brilliant glow as soon as it is lighted; the 'Carlton' gas fire works in the same way, but is constructed to hang on the bars of an ordinary grate for heating bedrooms, sick rooms, offices, or studies. At the lower end of the hall is a bath heated by gas, and this has been much admired for its simplicity and convenience. Messrs. Wilson say that a hot bath of twenty gallons of water can be had in twenty minutes, at a consumption of twenty feet of gas only, which in this district would cost 1d. The bath is fitted with a flue pipe, so that the atmosphere of the room is kept free from the burnt air.

Another exhibit is a valuable adjunct in any family, the "Steam Washer," several of which are already in use in Rothwell, and which secures a great saving of time and money on the wash-day. The arrangements for shewing up the advantages of this machine were not so good as they deserved, as these washers would be of benefit to cottagers as well as others. The same firm also exhibited water boilers for hotels, cocoa houses, etc., plate warmers, hot closets, grills for hotels and private houses; in fact all that is necessary for comfort and convenience, and the workmanship and finish of every article exhibited by Messrs. Wilson seem to reach the height of perfection Messrs. G. Bray and Co., of Leeds, have a grand display of their noted gas burners and globes. On the platform is a splendid ornamental chandelier and brackets, backed up with Magnificent and Nuno Plain globes, which is a very striking. The same firm also exhibit gas lamps of high illuminating power, suitable for railway stations, streets, etc.

Messrs. Dixon and Son occupy one side of the room with a large and varied assortment of chandeliers, pendants, brackets, globes, etc., some of which are most beautiful and valuable, and add largely to the attractive room of the exhibition. In the centre of the room is a long table for the display of articles made from the refuse of blast furnaces mixed with the waste products of gas tar, and styled Cincinnati Ware, beautifully mantled; the Messrs. Dixon and Sidebotham, of London, who received a silver medal at Middlesbro'. There is also a two-man gas engine, capable of working small machines. The Gas Co. also have their apparatus in full working illuminating power of gas, and also several meters and their mode of working.

Taken altogether, the exhibition is most complete of its kind, and the interest shown by the numerous visitors proves that the enterprise of the directors of the Gas Company, in bringing the exhibition together, has met with the success it deserves.

Some further notes on the Exhibition will appear next week in regard to a few matters of minor interest.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

A special meeting of the above Board was held on Monday evening, all the members being present, for the purpose of enquiring into certain rumours respecting a teacher under the Board. A very searching enquiry was instituted, and every means taken to bottom the reports, and they were ultimately found to be utterly baseless and false in fact, having arisen from the imaginings of one of the scholars, who is ordered to be severely punished. It was unanimously resolved, that after a very close and complete examination of the facts, and from the separate evidence adduced by all the adult persons directly concerned in the transaction, the Board entirely exonerate Mr. Whitaker from the slightest imputation of impropriety, and believes him to be perfectly innocent of all the charges made against him. The Board specially directed that this resolution should be published in these columns.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

LOFTHOUSE.—The Harvest Thanksgiving Services for the Parish of Lofthouse with Carlton and Thorpe, were held at the Parish Church, Lofthouse, on Monday, Sept. 29th, the festival of St. Michael and all Angels. The Holy Communion was administered at the morning service at 10.30. a.m., and the evening service was at 7.30 p.m. The church was very neatly decorated by willing helpers, the communion table, the font, pulpit, and window sills, each having its due share of attention, as flowers, fruit and corn were profusely spread in various neat and artistic designs. At the evening service, the Rev. A. M. Samwell, (curate of Rothwell), read the prayers; the lessons, Genesis, c. 11, 1-8, St. Luke, 17. 11, 19, being read by the Rev. J. H. Crawford. The Vicar also preached an eloquent and forcible sermon from Ephesians 5. 29, giving a strong expansion of this text pointing out the duties—duty to—for all things—to God.' The service was full choral, Magnificat and Nunc Dim. being to Tours in F, and the anthem 'Fear not oh, O land.' by Sir John Goss, being very ably rendered by the choir. The organist, Mr. B. Marshall, gave an extempore voluntary at the opening, and played 'Fixed in His everlasting seat' at the conclusion of the service. The church was crowded, many being obliged to go away for want of room.

THE Rev. R. S. BOULTER, the son of Mr. Boulter, of Rothwell, left the paternal roof on Wednesday, along with his wife, en route for London, where they will embark on Friday on the 26th inst. Mr. and Mrs. Boulter have been living two or three years in England, after a sojourn of eight years in the Madras presidency. Mr. Boulter, who is an excellent Tamil scholar, has received an appointment under the Wesleyan Conference, to preside over a Training College for native teachers at Trichinopoly, in connection with missionary work out there. Mr. and Mrs. Boulter carry with them the best wishes of all who know them, the only drawback to their happiness being the thought of leaving their parents, who are already far advanced in years.

CLINTON OR SAFETY LAMPS.—In connection with Stourton Wesleyan Improvement Class, a very able lecture was delivered by Mr. Walter Hargreaves, on "The safety lamp." Mr. Lowther, of the chairman, introduced the lecturer in a few suitable words. Mr. Hargreaves then gave the class a brief outline of the discovery of lighting the underground passages, illustrated by diagrams. He afterwards exhibited the Davy lamp, Stephenson's, Clanny's, Mueseler's, and the Davies and Williamson's; and after a very excellent exposition of the principle and construction of each lamp, the lecturer came to the conclusion that the Museler was the superior lamp in point of safety, while Stephenson's is a very good safeguard in an inflammable atmosphere. The address occupied about an hour in its delivery and was well appreciated.

THE SUNDAY HOSPITAL CONCERT AT WAKEFIELD.—The proceeds of the quarter concert held in the Trinity Football Club's field at Belle Vue, Wakefield, on Sunday afternoon, amounted to £108. Last year the amount realised was £131, and in the previous year (when the first concert was given) £112. Considering the depressed state of trade, and also the fact that similar concerts in aid of the hospital are now held in several of the neighbouring villages, the amount realised on Sunday from the 20,000 spectators is considered satisfactory.

SACRED OPEN-AIR CONCERT IN HUNSLET.—On Sunday afternoon an open-air concert of sacred music in aid of the funds of the Leeds General Infirmary was held in the Black Bull Field, Hunslet-road. In spite of the dull weather, the novelty proved a great attraction, there were at least twenty thousand people present. No charge was made for admission, but collection sheets were placed at the entrance to the field, and we are informed that the proceeds amount to £95. The principals—Mrs. Kennedy, soprano; Mr. F. Barrass, (Leeds Parish Church Choir), tenor; and Mr. Wm. Beatley (Headingley Church Choir), bass; and the chorus, numbering over four hundred voices, were accommodated with a platform, which had been erected free of cost by Messrs. J. Fowler and Co. Mr. J. W Haywood was the conductor, and Mr. C. Dyson the leader of the orchestra. Mr. E. Lancaster was the accompanist. The 1st West York Artillery Band, under the conductorship of Mr. C. Ingledew, performed selections from the Messiah and Judas Maccabeus. The other items on the programme were as follows:—Chorus from earth, Dr. Greene; nine numbers from Haydn's Creation, and four choruses from the Messiah. The solos and choruses were sung in a very satisfactory manner, and the accompaniment was all that could be desired.

ROTHWELL PARISH CHURCH.—The Harvest Festival Services will include the following hymns and anthems. Morning:—Processional Hymn, 382; Responses, Tallis' Festal; Special Psalms, 145, 65; Anthem, "Thou crownest the year," Dr. Greene; Hymn, 318; Kyrie, Dr. Garrett. Evening:—Processional Hymn, 383; Special Psalms, 147, 100; Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, "Nares in F;" Anthem, "Praise ye the Lord for His Goodness," Dr. Garrett; Hymn, 381, 365, 360.

ORIGINAL COMPOSITION OF SONG.—On Monday evening last, the choir of the Oulton and Woodlesford Gospel Temperance Society gave their first service of song for the season entitled "Harry Lee," to a large and respectable audience. The service was well rendered under the conductorship of Mr. G. Wilkinson. Solos were given by Mrs. A. Connell, and Messrs. Siggs and Mirfin; the connective readings being given by Mr. C. E. Myers. Mr. W. H. Newsome presided at the harmonium.

COLLIERY ACCIDENT.—At the Spencer Pit, Newmarket, on Wednesday, an accident occurred to Wm. Sidebottom, of Rothwell, by which he has sustained injury to his foot, thigh and back. A portion of the roof which had fallen had just been cleared away, and Sidebottom was looking over the place, when a very large stone—measuring four yards one way—fell, and knocking him over, his left foot was crushed under the stone. A number of men were at once on the spot, and succeeded in extricating the sufferer, who was conveyed home in a cart. The accident might have proved fatal; as two men had only just come from under it, and at the very moment the stone fell, Sidebottom was beckoning of a lad to come along with his corve.

ACCIDENT AT ROTHWELL HAIGH.—At the Beeston Pit on Wednesday, Eli Taylor, (21), miner, living at Rothwell Haigh, was injured by a fall of the roof. He was at once conveyed to the Leeds General Infirmary, and it was found that he was suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg.

FOOTBALL.

TO SECRETARIES OF FOOTBALL CLUBS.—We shall be glad to receive Match Cards for the coming season as early as possible, and also reports of matches played, which must arrive not later than Wednesday morning's post.

CRICKET NOTES.

When the match with Hunslet terminated, the Rothwell elite could look back on their fixtures, which had been one of the most successful ones they have had. Compared with last season's performances, the club has improved wonderfully in almost every respect. Out of 22 matches played, 12 have been won, and the victory gained by them over the District team, makes the total number of wins into 13, while on the other hand, they have only lost 3, and 6 drawn games, the other matches not coming off, owing to the wet weather. Their batting is much better form than that which they have displayed during the past season, though one or two of the old players show a slight falling off. The addition of Wice in the eleven has considerably strengthened the team, as he is what is called a good second man—free bat, a safe field, and reliable fielder. Taken altogether, the players and supporters have every reason to be proud of the performances achieved by the Rothwell team in 1884, though for my own part, I should have been much more pleased if they had distinguished themselves in such a manner that they have done when playing one or two of their best engagements, for instant, Hunslet and Castleford.

Albert Ward, who took top average last year, is again to the front, and his aggregate of 439 runs, is one of which he has every reason to be proud. At the commencement of the season he did not come up to expectations, his first five innings only yielding some 39 runs, but towards the latter part of the season he rounded into old form, and has scored somewhat heavily. He has thrice contributed an innings of over 50, yet he has failed to reach three figures on any one instance, and the highest score made by him was in the great annual tussle with Lofthouse, when he carried out 67 not out, while he has also run out against Methley, 36 not out against the District team, and 32 not out against Bramley. Altogether he has the very satisfactory average of 29.4 for his completed innings. In the annual trial match between 22 colts of Yorkshire and the County eleven, the Rothwell representative was injured by a fall, and I should have been much more pleased if they had distinguished themselves on that occasion, than

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The ordinary meeting was held on Monday evening, present—Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman), J. Oliver, J. Dobson, H. J. Newsome, and the clerk, collector, medical officer, and surveyor.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

WATER.—An application was made for the supply of water by meter, which was finally referred to the Waterworks Committee. In the course of a conversation on the subject, the clerk referred to the probability of water being more expensive in the future, and stated that in reply to an application from Methley to the Leeds Corporation, the Town clerk offered a supply at 9d. a thousand gallons, which is considerably more than what is paid by the Board. He also intimated that at Kilnhurst, the Board pay 1/3 a thousand; it is a similar place to Rothwell, for size and rateable value. By instructions from the Committee, he had made enquiries of other Corporations and Authorities as to meters, and he found that the rule is to hire them out, as is done by the Local Board.

The clerk also read Mr. Farrer's reply to his letter as regards Colley Well, in which Mr. Calverley intimates his willingness to reopen the road to the well, should the supply of water return to it, and in the event of our ordinary supply being at any time reduced, so as to necessitate the opening of wells. The chairman felt that "now's the time to protect our rights as representatives of the public" and he would wish to preserve these public wells, so that they might be used, in any emergency as a supplementary water supply. On Mr. Newsome's suggestion, seconded by Mr. Dobson, it was agreed, that some permanent record be placed near the well, declaring that Colley Well is a "public well."

HEALTH REPORT.—Dr. Glaister, the Medical Officer, read his monthly report, that during four weeks ending October 4th, there have been 14 births, 6 male and 8 female; 8 deaths, 3 male and 5 female. During the corresponding period last year, there were 22 births and 5 deaths. The causes of deaths during the past four weeks are as follows:—Female, 6 years, scarletina; female, 71 years, bronchitis; female, 11 years, diptheria; male, 1 year pleura pneumonia; male, 50 years, unsound mind—cut his throat with a penknife in a field—instant death; female, 20 years, abscesses; 1 male, 17 months, tabes mesenterica; 1 female, 3 weeks, aphthæ. The death from scarletina occurred at Stourton, and appears to have been the only case of that disease. Every care had been taken by the doctor, who ordered such disinfection and cleansing as was necessary, and no other case has been reported. The diphtheria referred to in last report had been confined to the two houses affected, one death having occurred; the cases are now convalescent.

Mr. Glaister also reported having visited the houses in Holmes Square and detailed the result of his investigations which report was handed over to the Board, who approved the pains taken

A letter was read from the clerk to the Wakefield Sanitary Authority relating to the complaint of the Board against a nuisance caused by the stench arising from a quantity of fish left on Mr. Whiteley's premises. The letter stated that the Wakefield Medical Officer had inspected the place, and found that there was neither a nuisance, nor anything injurious to health. The Board listened to the statement with surprise, and from every member of the Board as well as from other gentlemen living near, reports were made of the unbearable stench arising from this deposit and urging its immediate removal or abatement. Sometimes, as Mr. Dobson said, the smell reached Wood Lane, and the chairman declared that only the day before, they had been compelled to close all the windows and doors on account of the smell. It was finally decided on the motion of Mr. Newsome and Mr. Dobson, that the clerk write to the Local Government Board, enclosing a report of the nuisance caused by the stench arising from this discarded fish.

FINANCE.—The collector presented his statement of allowances made for various reasons on the rate just closed, and the several amounts as stated were allowed by the Board, and signed by the chairman. At the request of the Board, the clerk read out the names and amounts of persons who had not paid their rates by the end of the half year, and very strong remarks were passed on the injustice of some ratepayers not meeting the demands of the Board, and urging the collector to take legal measures for obtaining the amounts due.

General District Rate	...	533	3 4
Water Rent	... ...	10	10 4
Miscellaneous	... ...	12	8 10
		£556	2 6

CEMETERY. SEWAGE.—The clerk read a letter from Mr. Simpson, solicitor, who is representing the Board in this matter, for definite instructions as to the Board's requirements in regard to the admission of the sewage coming from Woodhouse Hill Cemetery, as a meeting was to be held with the Leeds Committee on Thursday. The clerk was instructed to inform Mr. Simpson that the Board insisted on an inch flow of water being inserted at the inlet for continuous cleansing; to have the drain disinfected near the cemetery wall; and that the manhole grates be filled with charcoal to be changed monthly; directions were also agreed on as regards the amount of compensation to be asked.

WESLEYAN FOREIGN MISSION.
In connection with the Rothwell branch of the Wesleyan Missionary Society, the Rev. A. B. Gardiner preached twice on Sunday last, the afternoon being occupied by Mr. W. Irving Smith, who delivered an address to the scholars and friends.

On Tuesday evening, the annual public meeting was held in the chapel, a good congregation listening with interest and pleasure to the gentlemen who spoke with power and profit. The Rev. Sidney Pitt opened the proceedings with praise, Mr. Morton leading the congregation in prayer. Mr. Pitt then introduced Mr. John Swales, of Stourton, who had kindly consented to preside.

Mr. Pitt read the general report, which was very satisfactory, and among the statistics are the following items of interest, that there are in the Mission field 365 missionaries, ministering in 1,650 chapels, to 71,825 full members, and congregations numbering four or five times that figure. These statistics do not, however, include the South African missions, which have now a Conference of their own. The total income from all sources for these missions is £150,106 16s. 5d.

Mr. S. Seanor read the local missionary report, from which it appears that Rothwell last year contributed £16 15s. 3d.

The chairman then addressed the meeting in thoughtful and appropriate words, urging his audience to endeavour to spread all the good possible, as they would thereby increase their own best interests and happiness. He specially commended the advantage of regular small subscriptions.

After a hymn had been sung, the Rev Sidney Pitt gave an excellent address on the first century of Christian labour, and the last century of Mission Work. In picturing the marvellous advance of Christianity during the lifetime of St. John, he remarked on the fact that the Gospel had been preached throughout the then known world, extending as far as Britain and Ireland. He then spoke of the numberless openings now offering themselves for mission work, and of the remarkable progress of missionaries in various lands during the present century, including India, China, Japan, and other hitherto closed countries. All the discoveries of steam, of the telegraph, the telephone, etc., he hailed as means for spreading the news of the gospel.

Another hymn having been sung, the meeting was addressed by the deputation, the Rev. J. Nicholson, from Colombo, Ceylon, who made touching reference to the consecration of himself (while a child) by his mother, and of the hallowed memories of the past. He also struck a chord of warm sympathy in the hearts of his congregation, when he prayed God's best blessing on the heads of the father and mother of his dear friend, the Rev. Richard S. Boulter, who has just left Rothwell for his second sojourn in India. He spoke in the highest terms of Mr. Boulter, who went out to India with his brother, (Mr. F. Nicholson) and between whom there existed the closest ties of brotherhood; he told also of visits paid to the two young men at their homes in India, and of the happy remembrances he retained of those days. Referring to his own experiences, Mr. Nicholson gave an address which will not soon be forgotten, of his first arrival in Ceylon in 1861, of the trials afflicting the church, and of the remarkable showers of blessing afterwards vouchsafed, the results of which are still being felt. An interesting description was then given respecting the worship of Buddha, a household god and a temple idol being exhibited.

All the speeches were warmly applauded and thoroughly good.

On the motion of Mr. Pitt, seconded by Mr. Denton, a local missionary Committee was appointed; votes of thanks were heartily presented to the chairman and to Mr. Nicholson for their assistance, moved by Mr. Batty and seconded by Mr. Jas. Hargreaves —and responded to by those gentlemen.

The doxology and benediction concluded the meeting.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The fortnightly meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday evening, present—Mr. J. Hargreaves (chairman), Messrs. R. Pickersgill and J. Dixon (vice-chairmen), Messrs. J. Graveley, G. Greaves J. Smith, J. Rollinson, J. Parker, G. Jepson, R. J. Smith, C. Grosvenor, H. Sheard, J. Hardcastle, B. Aaron, and W. Lawton, with Mr. Schofield, clerk to the Board, and Mr. Knight, assistant clerk.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

The collectors reported on several special cases, in which there are arrears of payment, and suitable measures were ordered in regard to the persons concerned.

WORKHOUSE FIELD.—Mr. Parker and Mr. Jepson not having succeeded in obtaining a reasonable amount of rent for this land, it was agreed, on the motion of Mr. Aaron and Mr. Dixon, that the land be advertised.

BOARDING OUT.—Mr. Parker having given notice of his intention, introduced the subject of boarding out children outside the Union boundary.

Mr. Graveley enquired if there was not considerable difficulty in arranging for boarding outside the Union. The clerk replied that the boarding out of children outside the Union is accompanied by considerable difficulty, risk and expense, and also that the consent of the Local Government Board is necessary; they would also have to form a Committee outside the Guardians, to look after the children. The matter was then dropped.

DR. NOAKE'S APPLICATION.—After Mr. Graveley had fulfilled his notice to draw attention to Dr. Noake's application for an advance of salary, or for the office of Public Vaccinator to be added to his present appointment as Medical Officer, a short discussion ensued, but the Board eventually decided to pass on to the next business.

CORN GRINDING.—In conformity with a notice given by him, Mr. Lawton moved that two more corn mills be purchased. The Board had no stone breaking for test men to do, and these corn mills, though not a paying job, yet provided something for these men to do, and which would act as a deterrent. Mr. Jepson seconded the motion, which was also supported by Mr. Dixon, who stated that the maize mill acted very well, but the flour mill did not produce good results. Mr. Graveley disapproved very strongly of these corn mills as a test, as they were a considerable expense, and resulted in no profit to the Board; he thought them a useless and vexatious provision. Mr. Aaron said they were not intended for profit, the object was more to prevent fellows from staying in the house who were able to work for their living. Mr. Hardcastle and Mr. R. J. Smith both agreed with the proposal as a deterrent, as they had nothing for the tramps to do at present. Mr. Lawton, replying to Mr. Graveley, expressed his surprise that he should take the view he had. The mills only cost about £4 10s. 0d. each, they provided something for these men to do instead of keeping them for nothing, and the Board realised about 8d. a sack for grinding. This was the best substitute for stone breaking they had at present, and he had no doubt would result in a reduction of the Board's expenditure. The motion was passed, only Mr. GREAVES and Mr. Graveley voting against.

On the motion of Mr. Dixon and Mr. Pickersgill, it was agreed to ask the approval of the Local Government Board to a test of 120 lbs. corn grinding per day.

BUTTER.—There having been some uncertainty last meeting as regards the quality of butter intended to be supplied by the contracting parties, the question was left over to this meeting when samples were submitted. Two qualities were voted on; a Danish butter at 1/1½ received 5 votes, but 7 guardians voted against it, ensuring its loss; other gentlemen moved for the supply of Kiel butter at 1/3, when also was only supported by 5 votes, with seven against, this proposal being also lost. In this state of things, as the Clerk intimated, the inmates would have to go without butter, and it was only after some further discussion, that the 1/1½ brand was decided on, by an almost unanimous vote.

AMALGAMATION OF UNIONS.—In reply to the clerk's enquiry, the Clerk to the Bramley Union will be glad to summon his Committee whenever it may be convenient, to meet the Hunslet Committee; from Leeds no reply has yet been received; the Holbeck Guardians have resolved to adjourn the subject for a month. The question cannot therefore be taken up for some time yet.

FINANCE.—The clerk, by direction of the committee had applied to several companies, in reference to the proposed loan of £1000 to pay for the lately purchased land in Hillidge Road, and having read the replies, the subject was adjourned for further enquiry.

Letters were also read from the Local Government Board as regards the proposal to realise certain property now in Consols for the benefit of the township concerned, Rothwell and Oulton-with-Woodlesford. The opinion of the Board does not appear to favour the proposals, especially as the amount is so small. The Rothwell Guardians had a little conversation about the present Board Room at Rothwell, which it is probable will have to be sold before long.

ASSISTANT OVERSEER.—A letter was read from Mr. Fred Parker, thanking the Board for the leave of absence granted, and respectfully requesting the Board to re-consider whether they could not place him under the same conditions as regards payment of salary as had been done on a previous occasion in Hunslet. The chairman said he had been asked as an overseer to mention the matter. In reply to an enquiry, the Clerk said that Mr. Nicholson had received three months' leave of absence with salary, some years ago when ill. In order to bring the subject up in proper form, Mr. J. Smith gave notice that next meeting he should move to rescind the resolution on this question, so that it might be discussed.

ENTERTAINMENT.—A letter was read from Mr. Heaps, offering a miscellaneous entertainment for the pleasure of the inmates, and the offer was cordially accepted.

BEER QUESTION.—The nurse, Miss Miller, asked the Board to decide on her application for a money payment in lieu of beer, and it was now decided that the application be not entertained.

LIBERAL DEMONSTRATION IN LEEDS.

By far the most important demonstration yet held to condemn the action of the House of Lords in reference to the Franchise Bill was made by the Liberals of the Eastern Division of the West Riding on Saturday afternoon last. The weather was very fine, and everything favoured the imposing gathering of which Woodhouse Moor was the scene. Both the Rothwell Bands took part in the processionl leaving Rothwell about half-past twelve with some fifty members of the Club, who joined another company at Stourton, whence they marched to Penny Hill, and amalgamated with the Hunslet contingent. The detachments from the different districts who intended to take part in the procession assembled by the side of the Leeds Town Hall, and were there marshalled and marched off to the Moor, with bands playing and banners flying. The route was up Cookridge Street and Woodhouse Lane. The line of the procession was brilliant, the numerous banners and flags making a streak of bright colour, which the brilliant weather helped to make very striking. There were 10,000 persons in the procession, and its progress through crowded streets was watched with great interest. Upon the Moor three large platforms accommodated the speakers and their supporters, and in front of these the demonstrationists were drawn up as they reached the spot. The other spectators pressed around them, extending up the slope in front and far back upon the level ground beyond. When the speaking commenced it was estimated that not fewer than eighty thousand persons were present. The chairmen of the platforms were Mr. Jas. Kitson, Jun., Mr. John Dent Dent, and Mr. Thos. F. Firth; and the principal speakers were Mr. W. E. Forster, M.P., Mr. John Morley, M.P., Sir J. Lubbock, M.P., Sir A. Pace, baron, M.P., Mr. J. Barran, M.P., Mr. Herbert Gladstone, M.P., the Hon. Robert Milnes, and Mr. Frank Lockwood, Q.C. Only one resolution was submitted, and the signal for the taking of the show of hands was given by sound of bugle. It expressed a resolute determination to support the Government in their attempt to pass the Franchise Bill in the coming Autumn Session, and called upon the Liberal Members of the House of Commons to resist to their utmost the arrogant pretension of a section of the House of Lords to dictate the time at which Parliament shall be dissolved. This was carried almost unanimously, only some half-dozen hands being held up against it. The immense gathering shortly afterwards dispersed.

CONSERVATIVE MEETING IN LEEDS.

Lord Randolph Churchill, M.P., last Friday evening addressed a large Conservative meeting held in the Volunteer Artillery Drill Hall, Leeds. His Lordship, referring to the question of Reform, said that as he understood the question, the Conservatives objected to the Franchise Bill because it was incomplete, and that the redistribution of seats excluded from it. The noble Lord argued that Mr. Gladstone had been unsuccessful in dealing with the question of Parliamentary Reform, while the Conservatives had been successful; and he asserted his hearers that if the Conservatives had been in power now they would have dealt satisfactorily with the whole question. Lord Randolph Churchill criticised the speech delivered in Leeds three years ago by the Premier, especially in regard to Irish policy, and alleged that so long as the present policy of the Government was continued in Ireland, that country would continue to be a source of the utmost anxiety and danger. The noble Lord criticised the South African and Egyptian policy of the Government at great length, and desired his hearers to believe that it had not conduced to the honour and prestige of this country. Sir F. Milner, Bart., M.P., Mr. W. L. Jackson, M.P., and Mr. C. B. Denison were among the speakers. It was estimated that about 7000 persons were present at the meeting, there being a much larger demand for tickets than could be supplied.

LOFTHOUSE SCHOOL BOARD.

A special meeting of this Board was held at Robin Hood School, on Wednesday night, all the members being present, viz.:—Messrs. T. Oliver, chairman; Jas. Armitage, J. Hammill, H. Hall, and T. Hargreaves, with the clerk, Mr. J. H. Lee.

The following resolution, moved by the chairman, and seconded by Mr. Hargreaves, was unanimously passed: "That this Board expresses its regret at the loss sustained by the death of Mr. Moorhouse, the late head master at Robin Hood School, and its appreciation of his services for a period of nearly ten years."

It was also resolved on the motion of Mr. Armitage, seconded by Mr. Hammill, "That the clerk be instructed to draw up on behalf of the Board a letter of condolence to Mrs. Moorhouse on the death of her husband, such letter to be signed by the chairman."

As a temporary arrangement the Board appointed Mr. Jas. Slimming, head master at Robin Hood Board School, and Miss Edith Moorhouse was also appointed monitor.

HARVEST FESTIVALS.

ROTHWELL CHURCH.

If ever there was reason for Englishmen to join very heartily in the grateful praises of a harvest festival, it has been this year. Everywhere the yield of corn and other products has been abundant in quantity and excellent in quality, and never were bread stuffs so cheap and good as at present. The seasons have been so remarkably suitable and so little interfered with by those climatic causes to which we get so accustomed in England, the summer has been so delightfully warm and bright, interspersed with just the requisite drops of rain, that nature has laughed with gladness, the hills have rejoiced together in their refreshing greenness, while the "fields have smiled with waving corn." It is not therefore matter of surprise, that harvest festivals are more popular and general than ever this year.

One of the first places of worship to seize this beautiful and appropriate form of service was Rothwell Parish Church, and every year the festival is looked forward to with great interest, especially as the collections are devoted to the relief of those who, by reason of ill-health, have little opportunity of joining in public pleasure or service.

The annual harvest thanksgiving was celebrated at Rothwell Church on Sunday last, and was, in some respects, more successful than any of its predecessors. As usual, a number of ladies, with a little masculine assistance, mustered on Saturday afternoon and devoted themselves with ardour to the completing and fixing of a number of designs previously prepared of corn, fruit, flowers, etc. Owing probably to the early harvest, there were no sheaves of corn exhibited, but the single stalks were used in considerable quantities for decorations, etc., as seen in the chancel and elsewhere, tastefully interwoven with flowers and berries. Considerable injury having been done to the hands some large gas standards in the communion by reason of the decorations being placed about them, it was decided that this class of adornment should not be attempted, and this tended to diminish the special attraction usually afforded at this end of the church. There were, however, a pair of magnificent bouquets on the table with a choice display of delicious fruit, and on either side were some beautiful flowering plants.

The reading desk was very pretty indeed, covered as it was with tasteful varieties of fruit, flowers, and corn, while at its foot was an ornamental text, most effectively executed on green moss, in white cotton wool, giving the appearance of snow on grass, "Render to the Lord thanksgiving." The pulpit was also beautifully adorned in a similar manner.

The pulpit had had a considerable share of attention bestowed on it; at its base was spread quite a tempting pile of fruit and vegetables, while the desk itself was almost hidden with choice produce; on the wall immediately behind was suspended a very beautiful floral cross, composed of dahlias of various hues.

At the font, however, there seemed to have been the greatest labour bestowed, covered with various products of the garden and the greenhouse, a 'corn' cross rising from the centre. Perhaps the stall heads had also been more elaborately attended to, the designs being more largely attended to, the several designs being an improvement on past years. An addition had also been made, in filling the window sills with suitable adornment of plant, fruit and vegetable. There were no mottoes beyond the one over the communion table, "The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof."

The morning service was moderately attended, when the Rev. F. Fawkes, vicar, preached from Psalm 107, 31 v., "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men;" a most pregnant text, and one from which it was natural to refer to the great and abundant blessings with which the year had been crowned, calling for the heart-felt praise and thanksgiving of all the people. The glorious processional "Come thankful people, come," was very refreshing, and with the other hymns was well sung. The anthem, Dr. Greene's "Thou visitest the earth" was very effective, Master Hugh Harms singing the opening solo with great taste. The other musical appointments were Tallis' Festal responses, and Dr. Garrett's Kyrie.

In the evening, the church began to fill early, and as usual, was crowded in every part. The Rev. A. J. Irvin, Vicar of Woodlesford, preached the sermon, taken from the text in 4th chapter of Genesis, setting forth the acceptance of Abel's sacrifice in preference to Cain's, because of the manner and motive of his gift; the preacher deducing from this, the necessity of presenting our gifts with the proper feelings of thankfulness and service. Before concluding, Mr. Irvin addressed an urgent appeal for a liberal offering on behalf of the objects stated below. The twin hymn "We plough the fields" was used as the evening processional, and with the other musical portions of the service, was taken up with heartiness and excellence by the immense congregation, producing an imposing effect. The Magnificat and Nunc Dimitis were sung to Nares in F. Dr. Garrett's anthem "Praise ye the Lord for His goodness" was rendered by the choir with energy and precision. The dolce movement in the middle of the composition, "The eyes of all wait upon Thee, O Lord," was given with great feeling, and formed an effective contrast to the spirited chorus with which the anthem began and ended.

We are glad to find that the amount of the collection, £18 13s., is so far in advance of last year, and in distributing this amount between the Leeds Infirmary and the Scarborough and Bridlington Convalescent Homes, the very best use is made of the money, as the two latter institutions present tickets of admission in proportion to the amount contributed, thereby ensuring to the poor of this locality certain recommendations to these valuable health resorts.

STOURTON CHURCH.

A service connected with the Harvest Festival at Stourton, was held yesterday evening at St. Andrew's Church, which was beautifully decorated in the usual manner, with plants, fruit, flowers, and vegetables. The Rev. J. R. Crawford, Vicar of Lofthouse, preached an appropriate sermon to a good congregation. A more extended notice will be given of the service and decorations in our next issue, together with full particulars. A short while ago, but only having received the averages of the Rothwell club up to the time I intended to close these notes, it was fully expected that I should in the football season with reviews of the various clubs in our district this week, and such was my intention; but having received the averages of the Woodlesford Club, I thought (seeing that they had played matches rather late on in the summer) that the football notes should be left over till next week, so as to allow of the averages of the above club being published. During the past year the players of the Woodlesford club, have acquitted themselves in such a manner as does credit both to themselves and the village in which they reside. In 1883 no one seemed to know of any club at all at Woodlesford, while this year it has been spoken of on all sides, along with other clubs of interest, as doing extraordinarily well this summer. They have played 22 matches, out of which 9 have been won, 3 lost (the same number of defeats as sustained by the Rothwell club), and 10 drawn, 6 of the latter being in favour of the Woodlesford club, while on three occasions they have batted nearly all the afternoon. W. Hirst, who has taken part in 6 innings, has the best average with the bat, having scored 149, which gives him an average of 24.8. He has no not-out innings, while his largest total made in one innings is 64.

The next man on the list is J. Hirst, who has undoubtedly done the best (with the exception of his brother) his runs being obtained—as may be judged from the subjoined bowling averages—in the 19 matches in which he took part. He has taken part in 19 matches, and only once been not out, while his highest score is 42. The aggregate number of runs obtained by him is 184, giving him an average of 10.4, which I feel quite confident, will be regarded with satisfaction by the player in question, and by the committee as a very clever performance, and is well worthy of the first prize, which he has gained. W. Hirst, as above mentioned, is first, but he has not played anything like the requisite number of matches to enable him to take the prize offered by the club. The other leading name of note is the Rev. A. J. Irvin, the famous wicket-keeper and slow bowler, who up former years took a prominent part in the eleven which did duty for the honour of the Rothwell C. C. He has not been what we can call a regular player, though he has engaged in nine matches during the season, in which he has done almost as well as we could well expect, wh-n it is considered that for several years he has taken little part in the noble summer pa-time. The total number of runs scored by Mr. Irvin is 91; the largest score made in one innings is 34, while he has failed to bring out his bat on one single occasion. Altogether he has the very satisfactory average of 10.1. Owing to want of space and time, I am obliged to curtail the report, so will discontinue my remarks as to the merits of the other batsmen, and leave my readers to make out for themselves the rest, from the tables given below:—

In the troubling department there are some extraordinarily low figures, the highest being 6.2 per innings, and the name of Rothwell, which I thought when I saw them would be hard to beat, but however, they have been beaten, and I must congratulate the Woodlesford players on the success which has attended their efforts in this respect. Collins heads the list with 41 overs, 9 maidens, 79 runs, 15 wickets, or an average of 5.4 In this case, as in the batting department, the first man has failed to bowl the necessary overs, so as to enable him to take the prize. The first prize is taken by R J Smith, who has done wonderfully well, and must feel proud of the performance he has achieved. 144 overs, 42 maidens, 260 runs for 45 wickets, must be considered an excellent feat, giving him an average of 5.35.

The secretary (Mr. H. Hodson) writes me to state that as W. Hirst is about to remove from Woodlesford, it has been decided to present him with a testimonial, and any donations forwarded to him (the secretary) will be most thankfully received. Until this information reached me from the hands of the Editor, I had not the single word about Mr. Hirst leaving us, and I am very sorry indeed to have to publish this statement in the paper, as I am sure the loss of the above gentleman in this district will be very much felt. It is very gratifying to know that a movement is on foot to make him a testimonial for his valuable services rendered to these village clubs, and I sincerely hope that the friends of Hirst (who I believe are many) will contribute as much as they can spare, towards one who is so deserving of a present.

POINT.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Notable Facts.—Intense heat augments the autoxaemes of skin disease, and encourages the development of febrile disorders; therefore they should, as they can be, removed by these detergent and purifying remedies. Eruptions, stomach complaints, liver affections, pains and spasms of the bowels, Holloway's unguent will rub down the affected part immediately gives the greatest ease, prevents congestion and inflammation, checks the threatening diarrhœa, and averts the incipient cholera. The poorer inhabitants of large cities will find these remedies to be their best friend when any pestilence rages, or when from unknown causes eruptions, boils, abscesses, or ulcerations point out the presence of taints or impurities within the system, and call for instant and effective curative medicines.

Holloway's Pills.—No Mystery.—Whenever the blood is impure and the general health is impaired, the human body is predisposed to attack of any prevailing epidemic. The first indications of laxity action, the first sensations of deranged or diminished power, should be rectified by these purifying Pills, which will cleanse all corrupt and vitiate all obstructions in the order. These Pills counteract the subtle poisons in decaying animal or vegetable matter, and remove all tendency to bowel complaints, blindness, and a host of annoying symptoms arising from foul stomachs. The fruit season is especially prone to produce irritation of the bowels and disorder of the digestive organs; both of which dangerous conditions can be completely removed by Holloway's medicine.

OULTON v. KNOTTINGLEY.

The Oulton Club opened the season last Saturday by a visit to Knottingley. Only a poor team was ready to meet them, Knottingley at first having the best of the counter attraction. The home team won the toss and decided to play with the sun to their backs. Oulton commenced operations, and began a severe attack on the Knottingley fortress—an attack which, however proved fruitless. A free kick relieved the home team, and for a short time matters were pretty equal. A neat bit of passing on the part of the visitors ended in the ball being sent to the home goal, but the referee's captain objected and the point was waived. Half-time was now brought about; the home team began to flag, and a pleasing game ended in a win for Oulton by two goals to love.

OULTON (A TEAM) v. ROBIN HOOD.—Played a Outtonby Saturday afternoon, resulting in a decisive victory for the home team by four goals to nil.

HARRIERS.

The Stourton and Headingley Harriers had an interesting run on Saturday last, when about 30 members of the Stourton pack, and 12 of the Headingley pack taking the field. The run was a very pleasant one, and was kept well by all. The hares F. Fatkin, Stourton, and J. M. Goldie, Headingley, were sent off with the bags at 2.20., the pack 10 minutes after, from the Old Inn, Stourton to the Pontefract Road, across Haigh Park, (where several good chances were afforded to the Cinder Owens), over the railway side to Bullock Lane, across Mr. Craven's farm to Woodlesford, through Oulton, along the Wakefield and Rothwell Road, to Rudd's Green, where the pace, (Mr. Atkinson), fell and hurt his ankle. His place was taken by W. Fatkin, and led home with great credit to Rothwell, through Rothwell at a nice speed, through the gardens and Churchfield to Rothwell Lane, along the lane for about half a mile, then across country to Bell Hill, to Wakefield Road where the finish was found, half a mile from home. The whip giving the signal to race in, a good start was made by Headingley men, but they were passed half-way by the Stourton men, W. Fatkin (Stourton,) coming in first; the rest in order were J. Weatherhead and B. Boss, (Stourton), Allenson, (Headingley), J. Clark, (Stourton), and Buss, (Headingley). The hares arrived at 5.5, the pack at 5.15, after a splendid run of twelve miles. Mr. G. TOWN TALK.

GREAT was the consternation and loud the indignation of the tenants of certain property at Stourton the other day, when Mr. Starkie, the water inspector to the Local Board, cut off the supply of water by disconnecting the houses (eight in number) from the water main. I can picture Mr. Starkie (whose skin, I should think, is a match to that of an alligator) calmly submitting to the infliction of the bitterest wishes of the saintly housewives residing in that locality, and I can imagine the language uttered on the face of the owner, agent, mortgagee, or whoever is responsible for the due payment of the water rents, when he read the brown envelope with the letter from one or another of the tenants. Well, let us all take warning, and

"Pay our rates and taxes as soon as A. M. takes,"

and then if they cut our water supply off, we'll sue them for damages

STIRRING events are taking place at the Salvation Barracks in Church Street; and I'm not sure many weeks since I heard of the 'Captain' doffing the bonnet and hosting a hasty retreat to don the garb of matrimony, and a grand send off from the barracks was sent down from head-quarters. If the tailors are correct in their assertions the same thing has occurred again, and this time the stern-reproved has captured the heart of the Lieutenant. Some say from a sense of duty, and others from a feeling of jealousy, the Captain informed her superiors of the behaviour of her 'sister in arms,' and the result was packing parcels of note is the fact, A. With respect to the proposed amalgamation of the Unions of Leeds, Hunslet, Holbeck and Bramley, we seem to be on the verge of an important alteration. Our representatives have gained pay to fight out the question as affects them to the best of their willing; but as to Rothwell, we are more nearly concerned. From the circular published last week, I see the Local Government Board propose to tack on Rothwell, Wortley, and Armley with Woodlesford to the Wakefield Union. If Mr. Davy's recommendation be adopted, Rothwell guardians and Rothwell poor will have to go to Wakefield instead of to Hunslet. Hunslet is sufficiently inconvenient, Wakefield will be more so. Can we by combination in this district avert so unpleasant an arrangement?

GOSSIP.

THE GAS EXHIBITION.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

My purpose in writing this letter is to notice those remarks made by the gentleman who opened the Gas Exhibition. The Vicar commenced by stating that he was unbiased and unprejudiced, and was on that account he supposed, considered qualified to undertake the important office of opening a Gas Exhibition. During the course of his speech the rev. gentleman offered some very good and wise advice, especially to young folks, but—and is there not always a but,—he completely upset and nullified all his endeavours, by stooping low enough to dabble in party politics, and went a good deal out of his way to offer insulting remarks to Mr. Gladstone. I need only say that great grief and anger and indignation of many loyal Gladstonians (who were there in numbers), was only excelled by Mr. Gladstone himself, in his characteristic way of having 'done a pun' at 'the grand old man's' expense. Here let me say that I think the remark was exceedingly out of place in the Exhibition, whenever or wherever it is held. I should have said nothing, and I hold that the man who has no self-control over his expressions of party feeling, scattering their missiles of wit and humour, regardless of scandal on all sides, should take place in some enclosed area, where none but those who will willingly kiss the missiles and pass them on are compelled. I expected seeing a notice of the remark in the report last week, but I was surprised and disappointed; I looked in 'Town Talk' with the same result. I can understand a reporter holding back a remark altogether foreign to the affair, which the speaker had not the power to record, but I most certainly think that 'Town' is at fault. He should have taken the matter up, and thereby saved the trouble to

I remain, Sir, Yours respectfully,
AN ANCIENT RODDILLITE.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

Will you kindly allow me a small space in your columns of this week, as I wish to say a few words in connection with the remarks that were made by the Vicar in his opening speech at the Gas Exhibition, which was held during last week in the Mechanics' Institute. I was sorry to hear him speaking about the Vicar that is not true, but I wish to call his attention to what I heard him say, namely, that he had no interest in the Gas Company, nor even in the gas stoves which are exhibited here to-day," but further on in his address he made a political prejudice by saying 'that he had seen in various publications that public demonstrations had been held nearly all over the country to a large extent, and mostly political ones, but he was happy to say that this was not a political demonstration, but a demonstration; and by saying so an advertisement in the Yorkshire Post, he saw there was a great meeting to be held in Leeds on Friday night, (October 3rd), when his Lordship R. Churchill would be there to address the people of Leeds, and although he wouldn't have a gas stove there, no doubt he would cook Mr. Gladstone and hash up his Parliament. But if the Vicar will just take a glance at that meeting which was held on Woodhouse Moor the day after Lord Churchill was at Leeds, he will see working men there in their ions of thousands standing up for their electoral rights, and instead of the Conservative 'bosh' being there, there were three sensible Liberal members of Parliament. And in all fairness I think that if he had kept off the trembling political affairs his remarks would have been looked upon in a far better way than what they were, but however, it seems to strike me very forcibly that the present state of affairs lays very heavily on the breasts of the Conservative party, and whenever they have the slightest chance to get in the thin end of the political wedge they mean to drive it, but in many cases it rebounds and cannot be driven, because it is to withhold and keep away that which is the right and privilege of working class. In conclusion let me say that if the Vicar wishes to make himself more popular with the working class in this district, he will have to confine his language to a more suitable object.

Yours truly,
A WORKING MAN.

THE TEMPERANCE BAND.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Sir,

I shall feel obliged if you will kindly allow me a short space in the next issue of your valuable paper, in order to make a few remarks pro bono publico re the letter which appeared in your last edition signed by Mr. W. Harrison, concerning our Temperance Band. In the first place, he accuses us with being audacious, because we competed in the Castleford contest against bands of longer standing than ours, May 1 inform Mr. H. (if he is ignorant of the fact), that no regard is paid as to the seniority in matters of this kind, nor did we know who had entered the contest or otherwise, if that was the case. If it was check on our part in entering the contest, check nowadays is mostly regarded as perseverance, and as regards the crying which he alleges we did; well, I leave common sense people to judge for themselves. Further, if he did overhear our conversation and individual opinions, re the contest and result, we still maintain the same ideas now as then, Mr. H. says that he has no hesitation in saying that we received all we deserved! I wonder whether he is trying to give the people to understand that he is an authority on the composition of composers of music; if so, I would only point out to him the latter part of his epistle, in which he states that 'Joan of Arc' is an amateur composition;' may I state for his benefit that the piece was composed by Gounod, one of the greatest masters of the age, the composer of 'Faust' and the oratorio 'Redemption' and who also has been entrusted with compositions for Royalty, and that it was simply arranged by Round for the brass band. He further states that the composition is in parts only and only pleases a passing fancy. Well, I fail to see his contention, for music to a lover of it, does not lack interest the more it is heard the better it is liked, and it does not appear to me a mere passing fancy, for after hearing it played for six months (by Old Band to take up and practice the same piece. In conclusion, I may say with Mr. H's invitation, along with many others I stood and listened to the Old Band rehearse the aforesaid composition on Monday night, and confirm the words of an independent friend of mine that the attempt was a success, and the delight of the people in the vicinity of the practice rooms of the Rothwell Brass Bands are tired of hearing the strains of 'Joan of Arc,' I am of opinion they will still have to continue for some time under the suffering. Thanking you for the space allowed.

Believe me, dear sir,
Yours respectfully,
A. CRIPPS.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

If you will insert these few lines in this week's issue, in reply to Mr. Harrison, I shall feel obliged. Mr. Harrison says 'I am trying to cause a rupture between the two bands, but that is not true.' I simply said what I did because they were a much older band, and had practised the selection longer than the Temperance Band had practised 'Joan of Arc,' which 'Spin' and his informer were tired of hearing. I simply remind Mr. Harrison in the first place that 'Snip' did not mention any names of the Old Band, only telling them to wake up. Secondly, Mr. Harrison has a good deal to say of our temperance friends' musical affillits. I have no hesitation in saying that 'Joan of Arc' will bear equally the same rehearsing as the 'Reminiscences of Rothwell,' 'Spin' and Black Dyke are playing it (not because it is by an amateur composer or a professional, but because it is a good selection) if Mr. Harrison's statement is correct, is no better than to make such a contract between 'Joan of Arc' and the 'Reminiscences of Rothwell' as Mr. Hunslet better without it, because there are as good works to-day as there were in Verdi's & Beethoven's time. Mr. Harrison says that 'Snip' was giving us a word of advice when he compared us to a lot of animals, and has some sympathy with those who live near the hall, and have of necessity to endure the infliction of listening to us. If that advice suits Mr. Harrison with all his bigoted musical abilities, it will suit us well. Mr. Harrison says he witnessed the defeat of the Temperance Band at Castleford, and has no hesitation in saying we got all we deserved. Now if he can find a little chat with Mr. Harrison alone, the selection that got the fourth prize there, and how it was played, when he says we were not the disgrace at Castleford, I think he will apologise and put 'Joan of Arc' in fourth prize. NOW I ask Mr. Harrison how his 'temperance friend,' also Snip, could be at the first rehearsal on Wednesday night to hear 'Joan of Arc' played first sight, when it was rehearsed on Sunday and Monday. Now that Mr. Harrison tells us he only got the secret how different movements should be played in 'Joan of Arc' at the rehearsals, I think he has made pretty much out with his theory. In conclusion, I would remind Mr. Harrison that the composer put on each movement the secret how it should be played.

I remain,
Yours truly,
A MEMBER of the ROTHWELL
TEMPERANCE PRIZE BRASS BAND.

TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT.

It is at all times hard to lose one whom we hold dear, but it is terribly so when we have the unconsciousness that but for mistaken treatment the loved one might have been with us still. In some cases the fact that the sufferer is treated for the wrong complaint is known in sufficient time to admit of the patient being saved, and the following is a case in point:—

A little more than two years ago a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption. Her friends took her to Europe, but she died. Her parents took her home again, and after spending a little time with the Physicians there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreadful disease. In this their hopes were blighted, but fortunately away in that distant foreign city they met with a description of a new method of treating Dyspepsia which was emanated from the Mount Lebanon Shakers of the State of New York. The thought struck the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Indigestion or Dyspepsia and not consumption; and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was obtained and administered to the patient, and the result was marvellous. To-day their daughter lives in the full enjoyment of good health. The fact was, the patient had been treated for the wrong complaint, and when she was treated for Dyspepsia, her real trouble, which was the initial symptoms of consumption vanished. This is not an isolated case. The country is full of suffering thousands that are being treated for Liver Complaint, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Lung Disorders, &c., &c., when the fact is they are afflicted with Dyspepsia in some of its varied forms, and all of such sufferers would obtain relief if they were properly treated for Dyspepsia. Seigel's Curative Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or patent medicine vendor, or from the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, No. 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C.

HARVEST FESTIVALS.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, STOURTON.

The services in connection with the harvest thanksgiving at St. Andrew's Church, Stourton, were brought to a close on Sunday last, and have been an undoubted success. As is the case with other churches and chapels in the district, the ladies had been busily engaged during the early part of the week in decorating the little church with corn, fruit, flowers and vegetables, etc., and judging from the large congregation which attended the evening service, they would no doubt feel amply repaid for their trouble. The reading desk was almost hidden with dahlias, and other flowers, while fruit and corn ears were freely used. The pulpit was even more thoroughly adorned than the reading desk, it being a difficult task to detect a bare place about it; at the base a large number of plants had been placed, while oats, wheat, fruits and flowers filled up the other portions. Very near to the pulpit, on the side entrance to the church, was a tab e, filled with some score loaves of bread along with a plentiful supply of vegetables, a large quantity of the latter being also arranged at the foot of the table on the floor. All about the altar table was also suitably decorated, while on each side was a pretty text, that on the right hand side being "Do this in memory of me," and on the left "I am the bread of life." Perhaps the most interesting was the font, which was exceedingly well arranged, and which was adorned with moss, mixed with a large variety of dahlias, ferns, and smaller flowers, fruit, and vegetables, while from the basin rose a cross composed of oats, and round the foot was the text "The earth is full of Thy riches" in rice letters, mounted on moss. Besides the designs above, the oat fringes were specially noticeable, while the stall beads had also had their share of attention; in addition to these, shelves had been specially fixed for the occasion filled with all kinds of vegetables and flowers, geranium leaves hanging round off the edges so as to make the shelves look more beautiful. A number of mottoes hung on the sides of the church and on the organ, the one near the entrance to the church reading "Feed my flock." In the evening, every available seat was filled, and the lessons were read by Mr. A. J. Whitworth, and the sermon preached by the Rev. F. B. Manners, Vicar of St. Silas', Hunslet, from the text Jeremiah, 5 c. 24 v. "Neither say they in their heart, Let us now fear the Lord our God, that giveth rain, both the former and the latter, in his season: he reserveth unto us the appointed weeks of the harvest" from which the preacher drew some beautiful illustrations, and the congregation listened most attentively throughout. The choir was augmented for the occasion, and besides the ordinary members, there were a number of singers from the church of St. Silas', Hunslet, who in the evening gave the anthem "Stand up and bless the Lord, your God" (Goss) in a very pleasing manner. Altogether the church presented a very pleasing appearance, and the services both on Thursday and Sunday were most gratifying and profitable. Collections were taken at the services, amounting to £5 0s. 8½d for church expenses.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, OULTON.

Along with her sister villages, Oulton has for the past few years endeavoured to render her beautiful church even more beautiful, by adorning the sacred edifice with some of the choice flowers and fruits which God in his great mercy has given for the use and pleasure of man. Great credit is due to the several ladies who had so assiduously and earnestly laboured to bring their several undertakings to a successful issue, the work throughout being highly gratifying. Several beautiful flowering plants were artistically arranged about the altar. Great taste had been displayed in the effort to give a natural appearance to the ivy clinging to the altar rails, the general effect being very satisfactory while reposing on the ledge beneath, was a beautiful carpet pattern done in moss and flowers. Considerable labour and attention had been bestowed in arranging the different garden products at the foot of the columns in the chancel, while a miniature stack surrounded by a variety of flowers stood in the centre. The reading desk and pulpit presented a striking appearance, a beautiful variety of the ides proved; the background was of some red material, the corn being ingeniously pinned in such positions as to give the desired effect. The outer edge of both the pulpit and reading desk being finished off by a fringe of oats. The font was very tastefully adorned, as were also the several lamp stands and window sills. The services morning and evening were conducted by the Rev. E. H Hamilton, vicar, the morning text being Jeremiah 36 c., 22 and 23 v. In the evening a full choral service was given; Ebdon's Magnificat and Nunc Dimitis, being rendered with great taste, as was also the anthem "Fear not O land" by Sir John Goss, the several parts being well sustained. The preacher took for his text Matthew, 13 c. 29 v. "The harvest is the end of the world." The first portion of his sermon was devoted to the things of the earth; the fruits of the earth, the wheat and the tares growing together until the harvest-home, and then the joyous ingathering. He then used the material harvest as a type of that great harvest at the end of the world, earnestly exhorting his hearers to flee from the wrath to come, by devoting their lives and energies to the service of Christ. The church was nicely filled, and no doubt the collections both morning and evening were considerable, and will be devoted to the choir and church expenses.

CARLTON WESLEYAN.

The first harvest festival at the Carlton Wesleyan Chapel, was celebrated on Sunday last. The services, which were held in the afternoon and evening, were conducted by Mr. Wm. Denton, of Rothwell, who in stirring and hearty strains preached two sermons on suitable harvest subjects, which were calculated to awaken feelings of thankfulness and praise to Almighty God in every heart, and must have tended to edify and improve the lives of all who heard them. The usual harvest hymns, such as "We plough the fields," "Harvest Home," etc., were well sung by the large congregations. The choir had been considerably augmented, and sang two anthems very creditably. The decorations, which are always so important a part of a harvest festival, were large in quantity and fine in quality, while much taste and skill had been exercised in the arrangement and carrying out of the work. Within the communion a large table was burdened with a rich and imposing pile of fruit, flowers, plants, and a small model corn stack; while on the steps round, a large quantity of vegetables of all sorts were arranged, and the uprights were clothed in green laurels, firs, etc. Two suitable mottoes were placed on the wall over the pulpit, and several smaller ones were hung in suitable places, with a border of wheat or barley; besides these, wreaths, crosses, hoops, etc., composed of grain or flowers, were suspended in large numbers. The pew heads had bunches of flowers attached, and from each gas pendant hung rich clusters of grapes, with a suitable accompaniment of flowers and grain, while the window sills were well filled with fine specimens of celery. Collections were taken on behalf of chapel expenses. Altogether the attempt had been crowned with success, and as a first endeavour, warrants its continuation in future years. A tea and service of song were given on Monday, (reported in another column) and the financial result of the whole was eminently satisfactory, some £9 being cleared for the Trust Fund.

WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

A special meeting of the Board was held on Thursday evening last. The Rev. J. Irvin (chairman), Mr. Flockton, Mr. Hoyle, and the clerk were present.

The clerk produced his accounts for the year ending 29th September, 1884, which were examined and found to be correct. It was resolved that the accounts be passed and the financial statement was accordingly signed by the chairman. The financial statement was as follows:—Receipts amount to £834 10s. 2d. and expenditure to £748 14s. 1d.; the rate for the year amounting to 10½d. in the £.

The question of electing a member of the Board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Wm. Holdsworth was discussed, (the meeting having been convened for this purpose) and a letter was read from Mr. Nowell which had been received during the meeting, in which he stated that he was then confined to his house by illness and could not possibly attend the meeting. The chairman regretted the absence of Mr. Nowell and the cause of it, and it was eventually resolved on the motion of Mr. Flockton, seconded by Mr. Hoyle, that a special meeting should be held for the purpose of electing a new member at the conclusion of the business of the next meeting, namely, on Friday the 31st instant, at 7 o'clock p.m.

EPPS COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled, "JAMES EPPS & Co, Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Notable Facts.—Intense heat augments the acute action of skin disease; and encourages the development of febrile disorders; therefore they should, as they can be, removed by these detergent and purifying preparations. In stomach complaints, liver affections, pains and spasms of the bowels, Holloway's ungent will rubbed over the affected part immediately gives the greatest ease, prevents congestion and inflammation, checks the threatening diarrhœa, and averts the intolerable pain. The poorer inhabitants of large cities will find these remedies to be their best friend when any gentleness rages, or when from unknown causes eruptions, boils, abscesses, or ulcerations point out the presence of taints or impurities within the system, and call for instant and effective curative medicines.

BUSINESS CHANCES.—Old England is full of good business chances yet, but eager competition for these coveted prizes gives the race only to the swift, the battle to the strong. A dose of the World's Family Pills makes a man feel sound as a nut, ready and able to grasp any business chance that offers. The World's Family Pills eradicate impurities which lower the spirit and paralyse energy. Aged lady writes:—"They have made me feel like a girl again." Clergyman writes:—"Afflicted with headache, loss of sleep, nervousness, noises in head, rheumatism, nausea, and low vitality generally; believe that soon have died had I not taken your marvellously efficacious pills, which have quite restored my health." Mr. Thos. Cornelius, 13, Rankin-terrace, Aberdeen, writes, —"From the depth of my heart I thank God that ever your pills were introduced to me. I used to suffer dreadful pains, and could get no relief; now, thank God, the pains have all left me, and I can sleep sweet and sound." Hundreds of people write:—"They are the best pills in England." Sold by all. Infallible in cases of torpid liver, mal-assimilated food, and the over prevalent dyspepsia, with its thousand distressing and disgraceful variations. The World's Family Pills are a result of the increased knowledge of the age, and their efficacy in disease compared to some older prescription, is as the electric to candle light. These are strong words, but we mean them. Any sufferer who knows the distress and danger resulting from badly digested food should at once make a trial of the World's Family Pills. Simple sure, safe. Sold generally everywhere, or sent post free for 1s. 1½d. by Cole and Co., 21, Cock Lane, Snowhill, E.C.

UNION AMALGAMATION.

MEETING AT OULTON.

A meeting of ratepayers for Oulton and Woodlesford was held on Friday evening in the Oulton school-room, there being only a moderate attendance. On the motion of Mr. Hoyle and Mr. Inman, the Rev. R. H. Hamilton was voted to the chair.

The chairman having accepted the post, called on Mr. R. J. Smith, one of the overseers and Guardians, who explained the object of the meeting. Mr. Smith narrated the history of the present project, from its origin in Holbeck two years ago, when that Union had Littletown (a portion of Hunslet Union) added to it, leading to the desire on the part of Hunslet to have a corresponding advantageous addition made to that Union. This resulted in other proposals by Leeds, eventually culminating in an enquiry held last March, on the requisition of Leeds, to dissolve the present four Unions, and form one large Union of the whole. The result of the enquiry has lately been made known; that the local Government Board decline to accede to the Leeds proposal, but suggest that a new Union be formed to be coterminous with the borough, thus including Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley, with other portions of these Unions, while the outtownships are proposed to be added to Wakefield, Tadcaster, Dewsbury, and North Bierley Unions respectively. It was suggested that Rothwell, Oulton and Woodlesford, and Middleton, be added to Wakefield Union, and the present meeting was to decide whether the ratepayers of Oulton and Woodlesford were agreeable to that change. Mr Smith argued from certain statistics that it is better to remain as we are at Hunslet, for three reasons: that it is more advantageous as regards rates, as regards the comfort of the poor, and as affecting the Guardians, overseers and collectors.

The rateable value of Hunslet is £441,403, which at a rate of 8d. for relief of the poor realizes £15,626, while Hunslet with a rateable value of £211,599, realizes £6231, or a poor rate of 7d., showing a balance in favour of Hunslet of 1½d. in the £. The population of Wakefield in 1881 was 89,100 with 2907 paupers, a per centage of 3·6; Hunslet numbered 58,211, with 1453 paupers, 2·5 per cent., numbers largely in favour of Hunslet. In Wakefield the rate per head of population is 3/6 1-10th, in Hunslet it is 2/1 7-10ths, nearly 1/4 in favour of Hunslet.

In reply to the question whether the addition of the three proposed townships would reduce the rates in Wakefield, the following figures were given:—

	Rateable value	Cost of poor.
Oulton-with-Woodlesford	£13,304	£250
Rothwell	31,496	490
Middleton	11,281	70
	£56,081	£810

These figures added to Wakefield, give a total rateable value to Wakefield of £497,484, the cost of the poor would be £16,437, requiring a rate of 7d. 9-10ths., an increase of nearly 1d. in the £ on the present poor rate for Hunslet.

As regards the common charges, the principal item of which is the county call, the Unions are about equal, Wakefield paying £20,500 or 1d. 3-10ths, and Hunslet £10,000 also 1d. 3-10ths on the rateable value. Adding the three to Wakefield would realise a slight reduction in this item of about ¼d. in the £ (£22,250, requiring a rate of 1d. 8-10ths). Considering the facts contained in these figures, Mr. Smith urged that there was nothing to attract them to Wakefield as regards the rates.

The inconvenience and hardships entailed on the poor by having to walk three miles further, than they now have was also commented on.

As regards those who have business at the Union offices, Mr. Smith made some strong objections to Wakefield. The inconvenience of getting to that town is well known, necessitating very much longer time, and considerably more expense. Seeing that at Hunslet there are so many meetings, the ordinary fortnightly ones sometimes lasting eight hours, this subject should be considered. There would be 42 members of the Wakefield Board, this side sending 6, while at Hunslet there are but 18 with six from this district; thus enabling those side to have much more influence than they could possibly have at Wakefield.

Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, chairman of the Board, being called on by Mr. Hamilton, was warmly received. He referred further to the cause of the proposed alterations, which are only an instance of the resolve of the Local Government Board to centralize as much as possible. He thought if by going to Wakefield, they could gain 2d. and 3d. in the £. it might be worth while trying to leave Hunslet, but this had not been shown yet. He pointed out that the Guardians had to come out twice a year to visit the poor people who are unable to come to the Board, which he doubted if Wakefield would do. He wished to remark that the rules of the Poor Law Union required that a person applying for relief must attend a meeting on his first application, or be represented by a member of the family, but that the guardian for his township might answer for him afterwards if unable to be present. In reply to Mr. Stead, Mr. Hargreaves believed that all the works in Hunslet are to be revalued. He also gave a considerable amounts of information respecting the working of the Union. Mr. Smith wished to add to his previous statements, that in the event of the Local Government Board's proposal being carried out, the various officials connected with the Union would be entitled to pensions.

In reply to Mr. Hoyle, Mr. Hargreaves referred to certain works which would have to be done, supposing that the Local Government Board allowed (which they would not) a small Union to be formed; a workhouse, offices, etc., would have to be built, special officers to be appointed and payments made, all according to a certain scale issued by the Board, and entailing a most serious expense. He was quite sure there was no probability of such a thing being entertained at all. Mr. Stead thought from what he had heard, that it was "better to bear the ills we have, than fly to those we know not of." Mr. Wigglesworth was for going to Wakefield, basing his reasons on statistics of payments made in 1862. On the motion of Mr. Hoyle and Mr. Inman, it was agreed that it is the opinion of this meeting that it is for the benefit of the Union, to remain as at present constituted, urging the Hunslet Board of Guardians to oppose the proposal of the Local Government Board by all means possible.

Mr. Farrer moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Smith for his clear statement of the subject; and to Mr. Hargreaves for kindly affording so much information; Mr. Farrer also expressed his high esteem for Mr. Hargreaves, whose services as chairman of the Board seemed to be greatly appreciated by all the members of that body. Mr. Hoyle cordially seconded the motion, regretting that while they gloried in living in a free country, he found they were so entirely under the bar of the Local Government Board. The resolution was heartily carried, and responded to by the gentlemen named. A vote of thanks was also accorded to the Reverend chairman, on the motion of Mr. Hargreaves and Mr. Farrer, who in responding, acknowledged his conversion since he came into the room, not that he had been to the penitent bench, but that although previously in favour of Wakefield, he was now fully converted to the opinion that they should remain in Hunslet.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—On Saturday last, the first of the winter series of Saturday evening entertainments provided by the committee of the above hall, was given before a crowded audience. The entertainment opened with a pianoforte solo, by Mr. A. Ward, of Carlton, followed by Miss L. Scullion with a nicely given recitation. Mr. J. Higgins then rendered a song, and Mr. A. Blackburn a cornet solo, 'The Mayball,' the different variations being well expressed. The first appearance in Rothwell of Mr. J. Mallinson, the 'comic,' was looked forward to with no little interest by the audience, and he opened a slight hoarseness he quite came up to expectation in his song, 'He's always at home when he's wanted,' and being re-called, substituted 'I say, twig him.' Songs were then given by Messrs. R. Blackburn, J Wright, and W. Smith, followed by a piccolo duet by Messrs. Lewis and Varley, which being encored, was responded to. Mr. Mallinson again came on, and rendered in a laughable manner 'Tommy you're a father,' and having to reply with another song, gave 'The last me father was a Dandy,' in Irish character, which was a capital success. The first part of the programme finished up with a song by Mr. J. W. Blackburn, which the ineffectual attempts to commence his song was a source of merriment to the company. After ten minutes interval, a singing contest which had been announced took place. Mr. R. Blackburn was first, and gave 'Sweet Chiming Bells;' the next was Mr. J. Wright (Oulton) whose song was loudly applauded. Mr. J. W. Blackburn (Carlton), next came forward with a song, followed by Mr. J. Higgins with 'Don't neglect your mother,' which was encored with well sung, and called forth the continued plaudits of the audience. The last on the list was Mr. W. Smith, whose song was also applauded. The judge, Mr. J. Mallinson, soon afterwards came forward and gave his decision, which was in favour of Messrs. Higgins and Smith, who in his opinion had sung pretty near together, these two singers therefore agreed to divide the prize. Mr. Smith having obliged the company with another song, the entertainment broke up, having been protracted to a late hour by those present to have been a 'real good do.' It must be mentioned that Mr. Jonathan Ward accompanied the singing on the pianoforte, in a masterly manner, and Mr. Wm. Blackburn, senr., discharged the office of chairman. A capital programme is promised for to-morrow (Saturday) night, and we feel very sure success will crown their efforts to provide really good entertainments at a low price, only taking care that they are good.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—The anniversary of this society was celebrated on Sunday and Monday, but we were sorry to find so small an attendance present at the services on Sunday afternoon. On Sunday, two sermons were preached, afternoon and evening, by Mr. Henry Poulter, of Methley. On Monday, there was a public meeting held in the large room in the hall, several excellent speakers being announced for the occasion. The Rev. Sidney Pitt occupied the chair, and proved himself thoroughly in sympathy with the temperance movement. Mr. H. Passmore, of Leeds, and Mr. Lister, of Churwell, also spoke very well, and addressed a considered a stirring and well considered speech, based partly on his own experience, which found a responsive echo in the hearts of those who listened. He also spoke plainly on the foolish and expensive habit of smoking, urging the young men of Rothwell to devote their time, energy and money, to the acquirement of useful knowledge. Mr. Sharp moved, and Mr. Hampson seconded a vote of thanks to the above gentlemen and speakers for their kindness in addressing the meeting, which was duly responded to in the usual manner, and the meeting proceeded to a close. Collections were made at the close of the sermons and meeting, on behalf of the society.

ROTHWELL BAND OF HOPE.—From some cause or another, the audience that gathered to hear Mr. Troughton on Tuesday was a little better, if any, than that of Monday, although the meeting was likely to be most interesting. Mr. Troughton, who is an excellent speaker, dwelt on the signs of the times which was full of capital matter and interesting incidents.

LEEDS INDUSTRIAL COOPERATIVE SOCIETY.—The nearly tea in connection with the above Society was held in the Mechanics' Hall, on Saturday last, and as usual, the tea, which was provided by the large numbers who make it a practice to attend this tea as a means of getting a good 'feed' for the small fee of sixpence. There were probably between 250 and 260 persons present. After tea the usual meeting was held, when Mr. J. Handforth Richardson presided, and addresses on the Co-operative movement were delivered by Messrs. R. Webster, G. Townend, J. Claughton, (directors), and Messrs. Ingleson and J. Tweddill. The Rothwell Prize Brass Band were in attendance, and played at intervals in first-class style, the last selection, "I Puritani," being especially well played.

CARLTON WESLEYAN CHAPEL.—On Monday evening, a public tea was provided in the Carlton Wesleyan school-room. Owing chiefly to the low price of the tickets, and the quality of the provisions supplied, a large number of friends attended the tea, some 180 or 200 persons being present. The tea was announced to be one of the most successful ever held in connection with the chapel. At seven o'clock the room was cleared, and a platform erected on which the choir was stationed, having been augmented by the kind assistance of other members, a service of song entitled "Ruth." The chapel was well filled, and great interest was manifested in the service. The beautiful story of "Ruth," as read by Mr. J. R. Seaman in his clear, well modulated tones, combined with the careful singing of most of the pieces, rendered the whole a very pleasing congregation to the close. A collection was taken during the service. After singing of the last hymn, the benediction was pronounced by Mr. J. Hamnill who rose to propose a vote of thanks to the reader, Mr. Seaner, which was seconded by Mr. J. Keighley and carried; and replied to by Mr. Seanor. A vote of thanks was next proposed by Mr. D. Bell, to those who had helped in the decorations for the harvest festival, and to the singers, and all who had in any way assisted in making the affair such a success; this was seconded by Mr. Beaker, and heartily carried. The pecuniary results were left, along with the fruit used, in decorating, were now sold, and realized fair prices.

STOURTON PRIMITIVE METHODIST SOCIETY.—The above society have just commenced erecting a Sunday School of their own, and on Saturday last the important and pleasing ceremony of laying the foundation stone and memorial stones was gone through. The society formed a procession and were witnesses of the ceremony. The stones were laid by Mrs. Webster, of Shadwell, Mr. T. Winterburn, of Methley, Mr. Hornby, and the Rev. J. Smith. At the conclusion of the ceremony, a very suitable address was given by the Rev. T. Wilshaw. The society, friends, and visitors to the number of about 150, then adjourned to the Board School, where a meat tea was provided to which all did ample justice. Upon the tables being cleared a public meeting was held in the same room, addressed by the Revs. H. Parrish, F.R.H.S., Thos. Wilshaw, F. Smith and others. Great praise was thankfully given to the gentlemen at the favourable ending of the day's programme, everything turning out a great success. At the bottom of the street leading to the chapel was erected a banner upon which was the following inscription 'God bless our Sabbath School.' The string suspending the banner on either side was covered with very pretty flowers.

STOURTON MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.—The above Society held their usual meeting last Friday evening. An essay was given by Mr. G. Pearson, of Pottery Fields, entitled the "Formation of man." As might be supposed, from such a subject as this, a question arose freely, which however, were ably answered by the essayist, and all present were highly satisfied with what they had heard.

APPEARANCE TO MRS. Langley's visit to Leeds, it may be interesting to our readers to learn that the 'Jersey Lily' is an enthusiastic admirer of antique furniture, china, silver, etc. During her visit to Leeds she visited Mr. E. Miller's furniture warehouse, 42, North Street, and there purchased a set of twelve very elaborate chairs, inlaid with bone and tortoiseshell, upholstered in Utrecht velvet. It will also be interesting to note that the chairs were formerly used in Lewis Phillipe's Palace, in Cloud. In addition to this, Mr. Miller had the pleasure of supplying four magnificent chairs, which are exact copy of those used in the Duke of Rutland's drawing-room, at Belbour.

FOOTBALL.

TO SECRETARIES OF FOOTBALL CLUBS.—We shall be glad to receive Match Cards for the coming season as early as possible, and also reports of matches played, which must arrive not later than Wednesday morning's post.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

OULTON CLUB.

As was intimated last week, it was my intention to open the football career in the present issue, I now confirm the statement. Everyone will no doubt be aware that the season is now in full "swing," and it would perhaps have been a more suitable thing that three reviews should have been published earlier on in the season, and so it would, but we must bear in mind that no small amount of trouble in this district have no small amount of trouble in arranging their match cards for association games, because after reckoning the three or four clubs playing those rules in this neighbourhood, they have to turn their attention to Doncaster, Barnsley, Sheffield, and other such associations, and then the Rugby fixtures, and then the various clubs in these towns are not particularly fond of going to a large expense in competing against such organisations as we have about here, when they can fill their cards with clubs nearer home, better teams perhaps than ours in Sheffield. With this explanation my readers will, I hope, agree with me when I say that the delay could hardly have been avoided.

The Oulton club, being the premier organisation in this district at the present time, must of course be taken first. During the season of 1883-84, the first team of the club was a good all-round one, and was in excellent form, making an impression at nearly every place they visited, and in the manner in which they defeated the well-known players of the Rothersham club at Oulton was surprising, their "passing" on that occasion being really a treat to witness, and the ides passed through my mind on that day that if the players could keep themselves together and improve in the way they had done, that we should possess one of the finest clubs in this district. When this game was first introduced into Rothwell, it was a common thing to see the "dribbling" game which was considered the art of football, and in this respect the above gentlemen were perfect masters, but to beat an opponent with the ball. Now when our village teams began to launch out into the Sheffield district, they soon found out that if anything like an interesting game was to be played against such men as those of the "blades," that "passing" would have to be adopted in place of the dribbling style then practised. Perhaps the wearers of the scarlet and black jersey belonging to the Rothwell Harriers were the first to adopt this system, the Oulton club according to last year's performances, played it the nearest to perfection by a very long way.

The first thing that I have to publish the loss the club has sustained in Wilmot, who has left the neighbourhood, and is residing at Scarborough, for the winters and Wm. Hirst, who has also removed, was considered a pretty good half back, while Abbey (captain) and Tom Hirst, had the honour of forming a back line the old last season, would have undoubtedness been the cause of the Oulton club from other half back brought out by the Rothwell Harriers, or Mr. Hutchinson. The other member of the team (T. West) who has thought fit to retire, was as dangerous a man in front of the goal as any forward could wish for, and the "passing" business he could do almost to perfection, for screw kicking being also very much admired. With the exception of the Oulton Victoria (who have thrown in their lot with the senior club) to select from, it's a question with me whether the committee can fill up the places vacated by the above player's to make it as good as before, though in such men as T. Coope the club will find some good material. The team which will do duty for Oulton this season consists of E. Boothroyd (capt.) H. Jowitt (vice capt.), G. M. Abbey, T. Coope, J. Bramley, T. L. Abbey, W. Connell, J. Crawford, H. Ellis, J. Hirst. T. Mirfin and N. Lee. The first four in this list were in the team when first it started, and have been for years ago. From the above it will be observed that a strong eleven will be put into the field, in which five of the Victoria men are included. There is only one weak place which I can detect in the team, that is the centre forward, a position which I fail to see encouraging among the list of players qualified to fill, but the captain perhaps intends to have only two half-backs, the only plan to my mind that will remedy the fault. If the Victoria men could be prevailed on to again "don the jersey," the team would suffer little from last year; as it is, the captain will therefore be put to it to find men to fill the position I am speaking about, will be rather weak. Then if this plan was acted upon, he will require a couple of men from half-backs to do the work of three. However, I will not dictate to Mr. Boothroyd, as to how he shall place his men, because he has done so no other club has done in this district, and will no doubt have a plan to lead his men on to victory in the future.

Their list of matches, in my eye, are hardly up to last season's standard, nor have they as many clubs to contest, but September 4th they played Knottingley, whom they easily defeated, while last Saturday they met with Rothwell from Rawmarsh, but as I understand he had to succumb by 5 to 3, but it must be mentioned that a strong wind was blowing all the time during the match which was very much in Oulton's favour, and as everyone well knows that Oulton plays best on a nice still day. Measwood is the next encounter, and on the Saturday following Hull Town come to Oulton, when an interesting game will no doubt be witnessed. On November 1st, the annual struggle for the premiership with Rothwell Town Swifts, but as I have not been or heard anything beyond that there is only to be one club in Rothwell this year, I cannot say much; but to predict as say with Oulton again, is not too much to prophesy. The 8th November they play Stourton St. Andrews at Oulton, a club that has only been started this year, and one which is not near strong enough to give Oulton a good game. The 15th is open, after which they play the return with Knottingley at home, and on the 29th Rawmarsh is to be encountered for the second time. December 6th and 13th are open, while on the 20th they go to Stourton to play the return match with the St. Andrew's, and then on the 26th and 27th, two of the best clubs with whom they have arranged are to pay a visit to Oulton, notably, Sheffield Walkley and Redcar, when the "gate" should be a really good one, and I hope our village men will be in form and not disgrace themselves. There is no match in the month of January, and the first two weeks in February are also blank, after which the returns will be played against Measwood and the Walkley, at Oulton and Sheffield. March 7th sees Rothwell men the antagonists of the Oulton players on the ground on Methley Lane, and no doubt a very interesting game will be taken for the second fixtuie with that organisation, concluding the season's fixtures on April 4th by taking a trip to Hull to take part in the match with the players of that place.

In addition to the first team, matches have been arranged with Rothwell, Stourton St. Andrews, Ecclesholes, Robin Hood and Knottingley for a second team, which is a very good idea, because when a club can manage to turn out two teams, there is not very much danger of having to play with a weak team for the first team, and also of having to play men short, as Rothwell club had last year.

The committee arranging the affairs of the club this season consists of Messrs. R. J. Smith, G. M. Abbey, R. Jowitt, J Hutchinson, Wm. Poole, H. Forrest, and Wm. Bradley, with the hon. sec. Mr. F. Boothroyd. The captain for the second year is a chosen weekly. The ground is that formerly used by the cricket club, and in concluding the review of the Oulton Football Club, I wish them every success, and hope to hear of the young players who have been drafted into the first team, making as good a show as those who have removed from the village, especially on their new and splendid ground.

OULTON v. RAWMARSH.

This match was played at Oulton on Saturday last before a fair sprinkling of spectators. The weather was fine, but a strong wind prevailed. The home team kicked off with the wind and sun to their faces, and for a time the ball was kept in neutral territory. Superior play, aided by the wind, on the part of the visitors began to tell, and a neat bit of passing among their forwards succeeded in capturing the Oulton fortress, a performance which they quickly repeated. Stung by these reverses, the home team whipped up, and transferred play to their opponent's domain, when a good chance of scoring was lost. The visitors, however, came away again with a rush, and again relieved the pressure on the home citadel. By changing ends the odds were in favour of the home team, for they quickly captured the visitors' strong point, but from some cause or other they soon afterwards fell to pieces and Rawmarsh taking advantage of the collapse scored twice. Oulton, again changing ends, put their efforts were too late to retrieve their fortunes, and the game, which had been most pleasantly contested, ended in favour of Rawmarsh by five goals to two.

STOURTON ST. ANDREWS v. ROBIN HOOD.—Played on the ground of the latter and resulted in a tie, each side scoring 2 goals.

HARRIERS.

The Stourton Harriers had their run on Saturday from the Black Bull Hotel, Rothwell. The hares, F. Simpson and J. Weatherhead were despatched with the bags at 3.30., the pack 10 minutes later. The hounds laid up Carlton Lane to the 5th finger, and then past the cricket field, after which there was a nice double through Oulton Park, then through Royds Green, and by Royds Hall to Newsholme, and contrary to the Wakefield and Aberford Road, along to Stanley, then by Bottomboat, Scholey Hill, and Aaterpark to Oulton, and along the lane to Oulton. The finish was found at the end of Rothwell and Oulton Lane, one mile from home. The signal being given to race in, Walker was first in first, R. Hill second, B. Rose, third. The hares arrived at 4.35., the pack at 5.7., after a fast run of 1¼ miles. Mr. Tomlin acted as pack, Clark whip, and W. Atkinson time keeper. The run next Saturday is from the Queen Hotel, Stourton, at 3 o'clock prompt, when it is requested that all be glad to see any young gentlemen of Rothwell and district, who would like to give cross country running a trial.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence in thousands of cases, because it contains more nourishment and less stimulating elements than any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa generally sold. When you ask for Cadbury's Essence be careful you are not put off by shopkeepers often pushing imitations for the sake of extra profits. Makers to the Queen. Paris depôt, 90 Faubourg St. Honore.

It is at all times hard to lose one whom we hold dear, but it is terribly so when we have the conscious-ness that but for mistaken treatment the loved one might have been with us still. In some cases the fact that the sufferer is treated for the wrong complaint is known in sufficient time to admit of the patient being saved, and the following is a case in point:—

A little more than two years ago, a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption. Her fond parents took her to Paris, as a last resort. Hoping to find some skilful physician there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreadful disease. In this their hopes were blighted, but fortunately away in that distant foreign city they met with a description of a new method of treating Dyspepsia, which emanated from the Mount Lebanon Shakers of the State of New York. The parents struck the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Indigestion or Dyspepsia in one of its many forms, and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was obtained and administered to the patient, and the result was marvellous. To-day their daughter lives in the enjoyment of good health. The fact was, the patient had been treated for the wrong complaint, and when she was treated for Dyspepsia (her real trouble), all the alarming symptoms of consumption vanished. This is not an isolated case. The country is full of suffering thousands that are being treated for Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, Lung Disorders, &c., &c., when the fact is they are afflicted with Indigestion, in some of its varied forms, and all of such sufferers would obtain relief if they were properly treated for Dyspepsia. Seigel's Curative Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or patent medicine vendor, or from the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, No. 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C.

TOWN TALK.

I HAVE to notice the remarks made in the Rothwell Times last week by two persons signing themselves respectively "A working man," and "An ancient Roddilite," and one of whom especially thinks 'Gossip' is at fault. Now in the first place I may say that exception to the way in which 'Gossip' has hitherto given rise to so much comment was very good, and much appreciated by all. With reference to the omitted matter, I may say that it was not done as smooth as possible; I expected it would be recorded in the report, I thought that would be enough. I don't think the "working man," and "ancient Roddilite," as a friend either to himself or his church, for they, along with its fellows have a great deal to learn. I will say this of myself, that if other people would let a thing of this sort pass unnoticed, I would not be the one to stir up strife, by saying one word about it. Over and above all this, I suppose the public will allow me to write my own thoughts, and not bind me to notice everything that they think fit to send in for me to read and scrutinised. So far as I am capable, my action will be to do justice to all, without personal or party feeling. And as I have always learnt well with my readers over a small matter like this.

...

THOSE rumours. I whispered last week about the Salvation Army are being verified, I believe; in fact, I hear that a new lieutenant has been sent to take the place of the one who is to change her state of single blessedness for that of married bliss. A startling intimation that a social entertainment is about to take the staff, which has taken the shape of an increased congregation, especially on the part of young fellows, I wonder if the novelty of a natural phenomena Perhaps General Booth might tell us if we could only see him by a card. He has hit upon a plan for keeping up the interest of the male population by appointing these female leaders to the various depôts.

MAY I call the attention of anybody who is interested in the matter, to the condition of the house lately occupied by Cowpe, in Commercial Street, both inside and out; it is disgraceful to our street, and should be well cleansed by somebody. Will the owner do it? If he does, he may tell it; if he does not, he won't.

...

THE question of Colley Well has evidently come to a head, and Mr. Calverley intimates his willingness to re-open the well, should the supply of water return to it, etc. It appears to me that this is an acknowledgment that he has no right to close the well, and I should certainly say that the public will not let the matter drop. If the place is Mr. Calverley's, why should he offer to open it if it is required? And if it is not his property, what right has he to so confine it? What would the squire do if I had to turn my nag into his field, and send him word that I would take it out if ever I wished to put his horse in? What would he do? I don't know what he would do under those circumstances, but most folks will say 'Dun I know what I should do.' Let the Local Board say so, and settle the matter to the best interests of the ratepayers.

I AM glad to observe how promptly the Board are to work with their future spec's in the Bath Row, Bath well Haigh, for it is a great nuisance, and must be injurious to health. What say Messrs. Hargreaves and Smith, how about it? They are all within the area covered by the effluvia, and will no doubt get the benefit accruing from it. One question will remain after future spec's have been solved; a question which will tax the minds of the local geniuses of the coming decade, and that is 'Ajaxes' Knips,' and 'Gossips' who shall write to the Rothwell Times during future years will spoil their ink in a vain attempt to describe a point of consistency? In what locality was that medical gentleman's meat organ situated, who had the honour of inspecting the place, on behalf of the Wakefield Sanitary Authority?

...

I SAW a bill a day or two ago, which I consider a marvellous instance of cheapness, for some people to swallow anything, so long as it brings grist to the mill. It commences with two sermons, goes on with a musical entertainment, finishes with a lot of rubbish with clog dancing. As this miscellaneous affair is to take place shortly as the commencement of the Christmas entertainment and finish with—I leave those best acquainted with Music Hall programmes,—to fill in the blank according to imagination. I only drop my high position as the handmaid of religion, if the Rothwell Society is a sample of it. Rouse ye, men of temperance and sobriety, these things be stopped, and return to your first deeds.

...

Mr. Editor tells me that he has received an advertisement anent a subject mentioned by me a few weeks ago. I refer to the illustrated exhibition to be held under the auspices of the Mechanics' Institute Committee on the 30th and 31st of October and 1st of November, and which will, no doubt, prove to be a great novelty, and is likely to create, at least, a stir among the natives, however it may affect the outside world. I'll be present on the Saturday of a visit from the Mayor of Leeds every day. I admire the pluck of the committee for such an undertaking, enjoyable as it must certainly be, it is a heavy responsibility, and a lot of trouble and responsibility to the management. The committee are certainly working very hard, and as a result everybody else is to find something, to please his or her fancy, however curious it may be. The ladies in particular are to find something interesting, a collection of quaint needlework of great age and value being in the list. Farnley Hall is giving up some of its treasures, and I am known in the antiquarian and art-loving world will be quite sufficient guarantee of the rarity and value of some of the exhibits. Such pictures should be a great attraction, for we in Rothwell do not often get the chance of seeing good pictures in our own home. Good music by an orchestral band is to be provided, and other forms of entertainment are likely to be found. As I have said, it is a heavy experiment, and I for one wish that, we as a public, ever thankful to those who seek to break the monotony of country existence, will be found willing to help, so that success it deserves to be; aiding at the same time the praiseworthy efforts to raise funds for a struggling and over-taxed Institute. The Mayor of Leeds in the midst of a busy busy life can spare time to help us by his presence, can or less than that, of representation of his worthiness by giving our patronage and support.

The worshipful Mayor is coming this way,
But for goodness sake, don't say I told you;
And its splendidly certain, he'll just want to stay,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.
They'll be making a 'fuss' and creating a shine,
For a glimpse of the Art I'm beginning to pine,
And I feel pretty certain great joy will be mine;
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.
A long list of items, I hear they've got down,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you:
Of pictures and china from every town,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.
They've artistic needlework, and plans of Art,
Some new, and some made o're the world had its start;
With a programme of music to ravish the heart,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.

A. Baty's to sing us a topical song.

But for goodness sake don't say I told you;
I hope it will be kitty and witty and lively,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.
At all Rothwell concerts, 'Miss Rose' is the boy
To introduce mirth without any alloy;
I'm sure I would be long o're the audience said 'whoy,'
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.

THE TEMPERANCE BAND.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

In your issue of Friday last, I find two letters supposed to be contradictions to my epistle of the 3rd inst. Now Sir, in answer to the one signed A. Cripps, I intend to say little, for the simple reason that I think his statements are not correct, when he tells us they did not know what bands had entered the Castleford contest; and to say that Gomnod composed the selection 'Joan of Arc' goes to show that he never heard a bar of Gounod's music in his life, or he would have known better. I will tell him once more that his pet selection 'Joan of Arc' is both composed and arranged by Rotpd. To the letter signed by a member of the Temperance Prize Band I will say nothing, but ask the public who read it to read it and if he can make head or tail of it, he does.

This being my last on the subject, Mr Editor, allow me to thank you for the space allowed.

Yours respectfully,
W. HARRISON.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White hair to its original colour, leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not destroyed. Sold by Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere at 3s. 6d. per Bottle. Wholesale depôt 33, Farringdon Road, London.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Florilene" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents decay, and removal scurvy of the mouth. It leaves a peculiar pearly whiteness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobaccosmoke. "The Fragrant Florilene" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

TOMLINSON & CO.'S BUTTER POWDER
Brings the Butter quickly, removing all unpleasant flavours of Turnips, Lilac, Onions, Weeds, Wild Garlic, Medicines, Drugs, Dead Leaves, &c. Increases the quantity and improves the quality of Butter. By its use farmers and dairymen may insure good, fresh, and sweet Butter all the year round.
Butter made with this Powder invariably gained the FIRST PRIZES at the Agricultural Shows throughout the Kingdom. Sold everywhere by Chemists and Grocers, in Boxes, 6d., is., 2s. 6d., and 5s. 6d. each, or the three large Boxes for Parcels Post, free on the Rail, on receipt of 13 stamps. TOMLINSON & HAYWARD, LINCOLN, on receipt of stamps.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS!—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain; relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for Diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. MRS. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be surprised at the almost instantaneous relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now sold by most respectable chemists in the country at 1s. 1½d. per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affection, should try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious illness and incurable affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box. Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS. New and European depôt removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

will cure any person of all disturbances from Malaria in either sex (acquired or constitutional), Gravel, and Pains in the Back. Guaranteed free from Mercury. Sold in boxes, 2s. 6d. each, by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Vendors throughout the World; or sent to any address on receipt of stamps by the Makers, THE LINCOLN AND BENNETT COMPANY DRUG CORPORATION, Wholesale Agents, BARCLAY & SONS, London, and all the Wholesale Houses.

NOW THE COMPLEXION IS RUINED.—It is well known to the public generally that pimples and similar diseases are caused, and the complexion ruined by the use of impure and irritant soaps. Sulphur Soap is one of the quicker its ruin. The Albion Milk and Sulphur Soap is the purest, the most emollient, and above all the many toilet soaps before the public. Recommended by the entire medical profession. Beautifies and improves the complexion. It is a boon to sensitive skins, and as a shaving soap it is unrivalled. Sold in 1s. tablets by all Chemists.

Friday, October 24, 1884.

THE elder sister has spoken, and all the younger members of the family, as well as the children of these younger, sisters must accept the inevitable. Until Wednesday evening, the great Amalgamation question, which has clouded the horizon for months past, was all uncertainty, and everybody waited to see what Leeds would say to the Local Government Board, as regards the new proposal of the great grandfather of all local authorities—to dissolve the present four Unions of Leeds; to form one large Union to be co-terminous with the borough; and to tack on the out-townships to such other Unions as seemed most suited to their geographical position and their natural proclivities. Leeds says, 'we agree; and Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley Unions must dissolve, and their in-townships come to us.' Whatever Hunslet has been to us on this side, it now seems pretty certain we shall have to change homes, either for better or for worse. Mr. Lawton says for the better; Mr. Smith says for worse. What we want to know now as ratepayers is, which is the best place where we may make our future home: is it Wakefield, is it Tadcaster, is it Pontefract? The wild idea of forming a small Union of the various towns and villages lying between those places and Leeds is very pleasant indeed, looked at by the dear old friends who lived twenty years ago, when there were no Local Boards, or Rural Sanitary Authorities, and so far as the country was concerned, no Boards of Guardians, but when each parish kept its own poor, and mended its own roads, without much interference from anybody. But those halcyon days are gone, never to return, we fancy. Town and country must pull together and bear each other's burdens, whether they share each other's benefits or not. Amalgamation, centralization, nationalization. These are the texts of our lawgivers now, and we suppose they must be right; at any rate, we have to accept what they give us. Now then, here's the fact. We are going to be cut off from Hunslet; some will say, "very glad;" others will want to compare notes before they express an opinion. Hunslet sacrificed much to win us as outtownships; she is very loth to give us up; so we must be worth something to her. If so, let us estimate ourselves at our proper value; if we are so valuable, let us try and make the best bargain we can. Who will give most for us, and where shall we find the most comfortable and least expensive resting place? These are matters of the utmost importance to every ratepayer, and so long as we can make out a good case and urge our plea for one place or the other usefully, we question whether the Local Government Board will quarrel very seriously with us. The Leeds central Union is their great point. It seems to us that our overseers and large ratepayers should beat themselves at once and ascertain by figures and reports, the various interesting particulars that are included in this matter, and by careful calculation and investigation ascertain what will conduce most to the general good, financially and otherwise. Whichever of the three places is finally decided on, we strongly urge the establishment of some branch relieving office and relief section to sit at this end, and trust that whatever else is considered, this important philanthropic side of the question will be unflinchingly pressed. We do not see the advisability or necessity of waiting any longer now; Temple Newsam is quite satisfied with her appointment to Tadcaster; what says Rothwell, Oulton and Woodlesford, and Middleton? Where are we going.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The ordinary meeting was held on Monday evening, present, Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman), J. Holmes, J. Oliver, H. P. Newsome, J. Dobson, J. Turner and J. Nowell, and the clerk, collector and surveyor.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

CEMETERY SEWAGE.—The clerk stated that he had seen Mr. Simpson, solicitor for the Board, on this subject, and had received instructions from him what the Board desired; Mr. Simpson had had an interview with the Burials Ground Committee since then, but he had not yet heard anything further from them.

THE "FISH" NUISANCE.—Mr. Turner was anxious that this subject should be brought forward at an early hour, so that something might be done that night, to bring about the abatement of the nuisance caused by the smell of the "unsound fish;" it had been quite unbearable all day, as well as Saturday and Sunday. The chairman said that the matter had already been taken up, and he now repeated what had been done. Some time ago he mentioned the unpleasant stench which had been caused by certain unsound fish which was brought to a field near Mr. Whiteley's quarry; the Board directed a letter to be written, drawing the attention of the Wakefield Sanitary Authority to the nuisance, it being situate outside the Rothwell boundary; that Authority had sent an inspector, who reported that there was no stench, and tha tthere was nothing to cause a nuisance; he had seen the inspector since and complained of the unsatisfactory report; instructions were then given at last meeting that the medical officer should report on the nuisance, and the clerk to write the Local Government Board forwarding the report, and urging their immediate orders in the matter. On Saturday morning this fish, which had been stored for some time, was removed and spread on the land for manure, and this had caused the disgusting smell which had been felt by all Rothwell the last three days. He (the chairman) had seen Mr. Whiteley, and that gentleman had faithfully promised that the manure would be ploughed in the next day, and that no more fish should be brought. Dr. Nowell complained strongly of the smell, which, he said, reached down to Oulton Bridge. Mr. Turner expressed his dissatisfaction with anything short of a written promise from Mr. Whiteley, and moved that a letter be written. The chairman felt sure Mr. Whiteley would keep his word, and advised the Board not to go any further just now; if he had any doubt about the matter he would willingly second the motion, but he was quite sure that no more would be brought. The matter then dropped.

NEW RATE.—The clerk stated that the Finance Committee had gone carefully into the estimates for next half-year, and had decided to recommend a rate of 1/10 in the £. He pointed out that the payments from the County would not be received until after this half-year, so that the Board could not calculate on any relief from that source in the present rate. The rate for next half-year would probibly be still further reduced. The items are as follows:—

Nuisance removal		65	0 0
Main roads maintenance		866	0 0
Repayment, & interest on loan		311	0 0
Legal charges	..	20	0 0
Election expenses		10	0 0
Establishment charges	..	20	0 0

The chairman enquired whether the ashpit contents were being removed within the stipulated time, to which the surveyor replied that they generally were, though sometimes it was late. The chairman also expressed a hope that a 1/9 rate might be sufficient, and asked the Finance Committee to re-consider this matter. The chairman of the Finance Committee (Mr. Newsome) then went more fully into the subject, stating that the present rateable value is £31690 5s. 5d., which produces about £83 for every 1d. of rate, or £1,870 14s. 2½d. at 1/10. Several sums had been mentioned at the Finance Committee meeting, even as low as 1/8 having been mooted, but taking into account the possibilities of empties and other allowances, the committee were unanimous in recommending 1/10 as being as low a rate as could safely be laid this half-year. The chairman expressed his satisfaction with the report, and it was then moved by Mr. Newsome, that a general district rate of 1/10 be laid; seconded by Mr. Turner and carried.

Mr. Dobson said he would like to have the different rates specified on the demand notes, so that each ratepayer might know how much was wanted for highway, for sewerage, for street lighting, etc. The clerk said that the form adopted was the one approved by the Local Government Board, and could not be altered. Mr. Oliver said every one could see by the estimate how much was paid to each account. Mr. Turner also referred to a resolution passed last year, whereby the summary of the Board's accounts are published in the Rothwell Times at the close of each financial year.

Mr. Nowell asked how the Gas Company's charges are regulated for any new lamps which are put up some weeks after the old ones. Mr. Newsome (a director) expressed his opinion that they should be charged a little more than the old ones; as Mr. Nowell demurred to this laconic answer, Mr. Newsome suggested that the Gas Company put extra pressure on those lamps. It was, of course, explained afterwards that suitable allowance is made.

WATER.—A lengthy conversation followed on the ever "fresh (?) water" question. Mr. Newsome, as the spokesman of the Waterworks Committee (he being the only one present at the Committee) stated that they had considered the question of water meters, and recommended that the rent of water meters be 3/6 per quarter for under one inch, and 4/6 under two inches. Any person using a meter to be charged at a minimum yearly rate of 12s., and a 1s per thousand gallons for all above 12,000. Mr. Nowell seconded this proposal. Discussion continued on the subject of water charges generally, Mr. Newsome and Mr. Turner urging the claim of shopkeepers to some relief, to which Mr. Holmes replied that a resolution is already agreed to, allowing a certain proportion off the gross rent to shops with houses, rented together at £20 or over; he held that large householders are the most heavily dealt with, as very often such persons used very little water. Mr. Turner referred to the Wakefield scale, and endeavoured to carry an amendment to that effect, which allows of smaller meters than are at present used. Mr. Oliver wished to see what was the balance of the water account; he however moved another amendment that the lowest meter rent be 3s. a quarter. Neither of these amendments being seconded, Mr. Dobson put the result of having a large number of meters very plainly, by declaring that he might apply for a meter and supply his tenants at so much a thousand, a plan which he considered as reasonable and just, as supplying meters to shopkeepers of large householders. The chairman pointed out that this would be the natural consequence of offering meters to anyone who applied, and that thus a large increase of work and expense would be incurred. He thought they ought certainly to wait till the water account for the year was before them, and then they could judge what balance there was to allow any alterations. Mr. Holmes spoke on the same lines, urging his own house and other houses at Stourton, as houses claiming a reduction very justly. He moved that the water charges remain as at present until the accounts are before the Board after March next. Mr. Dobson seconded this amendment. On the amendment being put, Mr. Holmes, Mr. Dobson and the chairman voted for it; Messrs. Newsome, Nowell and Turner supporting the original resolution, Mr. Oliver remaining neutral: the votes being equal, the chairman gave the casting vote in favour of waiting till the water account for the year is completed.

BUILDINGS.—The plans of a new house to be built by Mr. Richardson, at Royds Lane, were submitted for final approval, and passed by the Board.

Mr. Holmes drew attention to the great inconvenience caused to Mr. Gill in Mayflower St., by the owner of the property on the opposite side laying his causeway and his portion of the street some two feet higher than Mr. Gill's. The Board at once admitted the justice of the complaint, and instructions were given to have the level lowered to the surveyor's satisfaction.

FINANCE.—The collector reported having received and paid into the bank during the last fortnight as follows:—

Water Rents	...	21	11 6
Miscellaneous	...	2	9 3
		£74	0 6

ROTHWELL TIMES--FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1884.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The usual meeting of this Board was held on Wednesday evening; present,—Mr. J. Hargreaves, (chairman), Mr. Dixon (vice-chairman), and Messrs. A. Graveley, W. Lawton, J. Parker, G. Greaves, J. Hardcastle, G. Jepson, J. Smith, B. Aaron, R. J. Smith, C. Grosvenor, J. Sady, and Mr. Schofield, (clerk to the Board).

The minutes of last meetings were read and signed.

THE RELIEVING OFFICERS reported on several cases calling for special attention. The children boarded out with various families are reported as being all right, and that both they and the foster parents are perfectly satisfied with each other.

WORKHOUSE FIELD.—Only three tenders were submitted for the erection of this field, but as £10 was the highest offer, a resolution was carried declining to let the land for so low a rate.

On the motion of Mr. Aaron and Mr. Parker, it was decided that a letter be written to the Leeds Corporation intimating that the Board hold the Corporation responsible for the rent of the field up to the time that the boundary is replaced in its former position.

CORN MILL.—The chairman of the Visiting Committee (Mr. Dixon) reported that the master of the Workhouse and a mechanic accompanied him to the corn mill, and discovered the defect. This defect has now been remedied, and he submitted samples of the present meal, which was all that could be desired.

LOAN.—The Yorkshire Penny Bank having offered to lend £1,000 to the Board at 4 per cent, and on reasonable charges, it was proposed by Mr. Graveley and seconded by Mr. Aaron,—that the offer be accepted. Carried.

ASSISTANT OVERSEER.—Mr. J. Parker, in accordance with a notice given last fortnight, moved the rescinding of the resolution, declining to allow Mr. Parker's salary; he did so, he said, because he thought what had been done on a previous occasion for a collector, ought not to be refused in this case. He would like to ask, however, whether the overseers of Rothwell would be prepared to allow the payment of a sum to Mr. Parker. The chairman, as the chairman of the overseers, said that as the overseers had had no hand in paying their assistant's salary, they could not undertake to do or say anything in this matter. Having made some other remarks, Mr. Smith moved the rescinding of the resolution, but as no one seconded it, the proposal fell to the ground.

WATER LEAKAGE.—The clerk drew attention to the unusually heavy charge for water consumed at the workhouse during the quarter, amounting to £20, whereas the average rate for the past terms has only been about £9. The Board at once saw that there must be some leakage, and five of the Hunslet Guardians, Messrs. Aaron, Dixon, Hardcastle, Greaves, and J. Smith, formed themselves into a Committee for the immediate inspection of the matter, and arrangements were made at once. Some time ago, there was a similar discrepancy, and it was found to be a serious leakage in the pipes.

AMALGAMATION.—Mr. R. J. Smith presented the resolution passed last week at a meeting of ratepayers for Oulton and Woodlesford, disapproving of the proposed dissolution of the Hunslet Union, as suggested by the Local Government Board, and urging the Hunslet Board to use every means to oppose the scheme. The chairman stated that he was at the meeting, by invitation, and must acknowledge that he had never seen so large a representation of the rateable value of the township as was shewn by the attendance of large ratepayers at the meeting in question, and that the proposition to oppose the dissolution scheme was carried with but one dissentient. He observed that at their meeting last week, the Wakefield Board was not at all decided as to their action, and that they left the matter in the hands of the people on this side. The clerk suggested that the same figures used by Mr. Smith at Oulton, could be presented at meetings which might be held at Rothwell and Middleton. Mr. Lawton did not believe in these meetings. He held that if the Local Government Board insisted these out-townships should go to Wakefield, they would have to go. Mr. Aaron thought the out-townships ought to have meetings, called either by the overseers or somebody else. The chairman asked if it was not rather early yet. The clerk did not think it was, as the decisions of the other Unions would soon be known. Mr. Graveley said they had a meeting at Beeston Town-end, and were unanimous to go to Tadcaster. Mr. Dixon enquired if a sum could be allowed to some association for obtaining the opinion of Hunslet ratepayers by a canvas, but such a payment was thought to be doubtful.

THANKS.—Votes of thanks were passed through Mr. Dixon, Mr. Greaves, Mr. Aaron and Mr. Lawton, to Mr. Heaps and party, for their very enjoyable entertainment in the "house" last Friday; also to the Rev. J. H. Evans, for his kindly gift of flowers.

CORN GRINDING.—Mr. Lawton proposed that any farmer or other person bringing corn to be ground at the workhouse, be charged at the rate of 8d. a sack, seconded by Mr. Aaron and carried.

RELIEF-CHECK.—Mr. Lawton gave notice that he would ask what check the Board had in giving relief, particularly in cases in a duly relieved died during the month, or in some other way, failed to receive the amount voted.

The various returns and lists of wants were then gone into and approved.

* THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are excited by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease." They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

WHEN in Leeds, you should visit the Golden Cup Cocoa House 157, Briggate, or the Borough Arms Cocoa House, Kirkgate.—Private Rooms for ladies at both houses.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of the Board took place on Friday, present,—Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman), J. G. Turner, J. R. Sanner, J. Batty, and the clerk, attendance officer, and teachers.

The minutes of last meeting and of a special meeting were read and confirmed.

WATERLOO.—After a repeated but unavailing efforts to obtain some compensation, or at least an explanation, from Messrs. Dibb and Co., the Hon. Mrs. Meynell Ingram's solicitors, as regards the school-room at Waterloo, now converted into a private house, the clerk was instructed to lay the whole case before the Local Government Board.

ROTHWELL HAIGH.—Complaints were made about the manner in which these schools are cleaned, and steps were ordered to secure a better performance of the work.

The proposal to hold a singing class in one of the rooms, was considered, and it was agreed that the room could not be let for that purpose on the nights already occupied with evening classes.

Mr. Nicholson, Miss Greaves, and Mrs. Dobson each had interviews with the Board, but there was nothing of general interest.

ROTHWELL.—Mr. Harms and Miss Russell also attended, but there was no special matter to report.

ROTHWELL HEATH.—A conversation ensued on the subject of certificates for good attendance, and it was agreed on the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. Turner, that certificates be given to every boy and girl making 350 attendances at school.

FINANCE.—The tradesmen's quarterly accounts, teachers' salaries, and an amount for loans, were ordered to be paid. The clerk laid upon the table for inspection, the books and financial statement for the past year, which having been examined by the Finance Committee were signed by the chairman.

EXPENDITURE.
Salaries of Officers ..	25	0	0
Expenses of Administration ..	12	0	0
Salaries of Teachers ..	385	0	0
Books, Stationery and Apparatus..	45	0	0
Cleaning, Fire, Light and Repairs	110	0	0
Rates, Taxes, and Insurance ..	8	0	0
Repayment of Loan	22	10	0
Interest on Loan	230	0	0
Grants repaid to Teachers	12	0	0
	£919	10	0

INCOME.
School fees & work sold 150	0	0
Rent 11 10	0	0

Owing to the fact that the grants are received this term, it is always necessary to allow a considerable margin for cash in hand to be carried to the next half-year's credit, when these payments are received from the Department. It was finally decided, on the motion of Mr. Turner and Mr. Batty, That precepts be served on Rothwell overseers for £400, and on Tingley Templemewsm overseers for £6: these sums representing a rate of about 3½d. in the £, the same as last year.

COOKERY.—Mr. Turner gave notice that at next meeting he would bring forward the subject of cookery lectures being given under the Board.

The attendance officer reported a number of neglectful children, and summonses will probably be issued for some of the most troublesome parents.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

OULTON WESLEYAN MISSIONS.—The annual sermons on behalf of the Wesleyan Missionary Society were preached at Oulton on Sunday last, by the Rev. R. Pitt, who also addressed the scholars and friends in the afternoon. On Monday evening, the public meeting was held. Mr. W. Flockton occupied the chair, and in a very neat and appropriate speech commenced the proceedings. Mr. Walker read the local report shewing the subscriptions and other receipts on behalf of the Fund during the year. Addresses were also delivered by the Revs. T. Rathmell and S. Pitt, on mission subjects, which were listened to with marked attention by those present. The usual votes of thanks were then given, and the meeting closed. Collections were taken on each occasion for the Missionary Society.

SOUTHERN WESLEYAN METHODISTS.—The above Society held their anniversary tea and meeting on Monday last. A good tea was provided, but it was not patronised by so many people as was expected, nevertheless it passed off pretty well. After tea, a meeting was held, presided over by Mr. Ward, of Headingley. The Rev. W. G. Dicken opened the proceedings with singing and prayer, after which he introduced the chairman (Mr. Ward), who was heartily welcomed by the audience. After some very appropriate remarks, he called upon the secretary, Mr. T. W. Fatkin, to read the annual report, which gave great satisfaction, as it shewed the chapel to be in a very prosperous condition, as far as finances are concerned. The chairman then called upon Mr. Thomas Lee to address the meeting. Mr. Lee reminded the audience as to how some years back they had not such a handsome place of worship in, but that they used to conduct their worship in a little cottage in Carr Lane. Having narrated how the Society had gradually increased, he now hoped soon to see the new Chapel built upon the ground which is purchased for it. The next to be called upon was Mr. T. Featherstone, who very ably showed how by hard work the congregation could make progress. Mr. J. Swales and Rev. G. W. Dicken also addressed the meeting on similar subjects and in able speeches. A collection was made which was a highly satisfactory one, Mr. Ward generously contributing the sum of £3 to it. The meeting was brought to a conclusion after the usual votes of thanks to the speakers, chairman, &c., Ward singing a concluding hymn, which was a lively one, and was enjoyed very much by all.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—On Monday last, an address was given in the National Schools, by the Rev. F. B. Newton, M.A., Vicar of St. Silas', Hunslet, on 'Sunday closing and the Approved licenses.' The address was much appreciated by the company present, which we are sorry to say, was only small. The Vicar occupied the chair, and in a few suitable remarks introduced the speaker. Mr. Manners dwelt upon the great good already done in other countries by the action of this bill, and trusted it would soon be extended to every county in our own country. As to the Grocers' Licence, nothing short of an entire abolition would satisfy him, for he believed it to be a very great evil, and one that had ruined the fair flower of many a home. He urged upon all the necessity of working, in some way or other, in this noble cause, and hoped the branch at Rothwell would prosper. A vote of thanks was proposed to the speaker by Mr. Lunn, seconded by Mr. Mantle, and carried. A collection was taken at the close.

STOURTON WESLEYAN MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.—This Society held their usual weekly meeting last Friday evening. Mr. John Nash very ably gave an essay entitled "The blessings of life greater than its evils." The question was taken up and well debated before the time came for the members to separate. The essay gave general satisfaction to those present.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL ENTERTAINMENT.—On Saturday last, one of the best and most successful concerts ever held, in the above hall, was given before a 'crowded house.' Just before seven o'clock, the strains of the drum and fife band connected with the Temperance Society, announced the concert to the public by parading the streets. Before seven, the hall was partly filled, and at the time for commencing, the room was almost completely crowded. To commence the entertainment, Mr. J. Ward rendered a pianoforte solo; Miss Limley next appeared, and sang 'For he's a jolly good fellow;' Mr. Nicholson's appearance was locked for with great interest by the audience, and his first song 'Taking out the baby,' was re-demanded, when he substituted 'The blighted husband' in his usual comic style, most of his character songs being given up to the mark. A pianoforte solo was rendered by a recitarom in the Yorkshire dialect, by Miss Rider (Hunslet), who was deservedly recalled. Miss Hawkes, (Hunslet), then rendered 'Come birdie come;' followed by the song and chorus, 'When you and I were young, Maggie' by the Misses Horton, Lofthouse, the song being taken by one of the ladies, and the chorus sung as a duet; this was so nicely rendered that a recall was demanded, and 'Call me Pet' substituted. Mr. Lunn in a pleasing manner. Another of Mr. Nicholson's comics (which was encored) finished up the first part of the programme. Another pianoforte interval, Mr. J Higgins rendered (by special request) 'Don't neglect your mother;' which was encored, and he responded with another song, which unfortunately, was most certainly not of the class suitable for a respectable concert. Miss Livsey then rendered another song, followed by Mr. Nicholson in 'The school at the end of the street,' which, as usual, being encored, was replied by 'Go to bed Tom.' 'Tenderly's the morning' was then sung by Miss Hawkes; and another Yorkshire recitation by Miss Rider was redemanded, and rendered. 'Rule Britannia' and chorus was then rendered by the Misses Horton, and a recall was answered by one of the ladies only, who sang 'Sweet chiming bells,' in excellent style. Mr. Nicholson then came forward with 'Come to your Martha,' and as an encore gave 'The hen convention,' the cackling of the hens and crowing of the cock being remarkably good. This finished a most enjoyable concert, most deserving of praise. Mr. Jeffrian Ward again accompanied the songs in his usual style, and Mr. F. Rider, of Hunslet, filled the post of chairman.

STOURTON TEMPERANCE CHOIR.—The Rothwell Temperance Choir journeyed to Stourton, where they gave two services of song entitled "A peep behind the scenes," and "Lovely Lilies," in good style, and were very well liked. The connective readings were given by Mr. R. Watkin, while Mr. T. Blackburn presided at the organ, and most accompanied on the harmonium. At the close of the services, collections were made in behalf of the Building Fund, which will need all the help possible in consequence of the erection of the new school.

ROTHWELL PRIMITIVE CHAPEL.—On Tuesday last, a magic lantern entertainment was given in the above chapel, by Mr. A. Steel. This gentleman has given the story of 'Jane Conquest' two or three times before at different places, but on Tuesday, the entertainment began by singing 'Jesu, lover of my soul,' followed by the well-known story, several incidents being represented on the slides' some miscellaneous views and moving figures were afterwards displayed. The entertainment lasted about an hour, and closed by singing the Doxology. There was a very good attendance, and half the proceeds go towards the Primitive Methodist Society.

LIFE BOAT SERVICE.—Some time ago, Mr. Grosvenor, when a large farmer at Oulton, encouraged an idea that his sons had, of going to settle in New Zealand. Mr. Grosvenor has now set sail for that country, and were accompanied by two young men named Williamson. The four, before leaving Leeds, purchased all the stock and goodwill of Leeds's celebrated five guinea English levers, which according to their construction, are suitable to any climate; a proof of which a correspondent the following letter will show:—"The Old Club, Eden Crescent, Auckland, N.Z., July 22nd, 1884. Dear sir, I write with great pleasure I bear testimony to your £5 5s. silver English lever watch. The four watches you recommended to my three friends and myself on our sailing from England for New Zealand, have proved themselves capital time keepers under the most trying circumstances, and I simply state the truth when I say "They are a genuine article." I remain, yours sincerely, Charles Grosvenor." It gives us great pleasure to inform our readers that these enterprising men are meeting with the success they anticipated, mainly due to the farming experience of the elder Grosvenor.

DESTRUCTIVE LIGHTNING.—On Sunday night, just when respectable people were returning from places of worship, two fellows turned into the streets drunk and very disorderly, greatly annoying those with whom they came in contact. Sergeant Turton and Constable Clark were soon on the alert, however, and after vain attempts to get them home quietly, gave them a drive over to Wakefield, and a night's lodging in the gaol. On being brought before the magistrates on Monday, the policemen stated their case, and Thomas Wightman, of Stanley, was fined 10s., and 2s. 6d. costs, but his companion, Wm. Smith, Bottomboat, being released with a caution.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Autumnal Remedies.—Towards the fall of the year countless causes are at work to lower the tone of the nervous system, which will be followed by ill health unless proper means be employed to avert that evil. Holloway's fortified preparations supply a faultless remedy for both external and internal complaints connected with changes of season. All affections of the skin, roughness, blotches, pimples, superficial and deep-seated inflammations, erysipelas, rheumatic pains, and gouty pangs, all yield success to the exalted virtues of Holloway's Ointment and Pills. When you call effect a happy revolution in the patient's condition, though the sceptic often puts imitations for the sake of private remarks, he called upon the secretary, Mr. T. W. Fatkin, to read the annual report, which gave great satisfaction, as it shewed the chapel to be in a very prosperous condition, as far as finances are concerned. The chairman then called upon Mr. Thomas Lee to address the meeting. Mr. Lee reminded the audience as to how some years back they had not such a handsome place of worship in, but that they used to conduct their worship in a little cottage in Carr Lane. Having narrated how the Society had gradually increased, he now hoped soon to see the new Chapel built upon the ground which is purchased for it. The next to be called upon was Mr. T. Featherstone, who very ably showed how by hard work the congregation could make progress. Mr. J. Swales and Rev. G. W. Dicken also addressed the meeting on similar subjects and in able speeches. A collection was made which was a highly satisfactory one, Mr. Ward generously contributing the sum of £3 to it. The meeting was brought to a conclusion after the usual votes of thanks to the speakers, chairman, &c., Ward singing a concluding hymn, which was a lively one, and was enjoyed very much by all.

STOURTON ST. ANDREWS' CLUB.

Some time ago a paragraph was placed under the notes on cricket, relating to the strength of certain football clubs during this season, and in which it was stated that Stourton Rovers and Hunslet Wesleyans were about to amalgamate, which would make their club one of the strongest in the district. This was the rumour reaching me, and it had certainly been discussed by the committee of the two clubs, but owing to several of the members leaving the neighbourhood and others retiring, the idea was not brought to a successful issue. After this decision, a few of the old players agreed to start another club in connection with the St. Andrews' Church, Stourton, and their efforts have been favourably rewarded, as I shall shew later on in the report.

When I stated last week that the St. Andrews' team would not be near strong enough to play Osbaldwick a good game, I was partly mistaken, for to judge from the following players, a good eleven can be selected. My reason for making such a remark was gathered from the "muster" they had with Meanwood and Robin Hood, and I guessed that Oulton would give them a "crushing defeat" when they met them; but, however, their strongest team has not been known, so we will wait for the day, and then we shall be better able to judge. The eleven will be chosen from the following:—J. Gouldthorpe, (capt.) A. Willis, J. Green, H. Steel, J. Exley (late of Hunslet Wesleyans); W. Gouldthorpe, T. Warwick, J. Rathmell, F. Waterhouse (late of Stourton Rovers); R. Johnson (Gainsborough Grammar School), and F. E. Crossley, J. Smart, P. Day, and the Rev. A. J. Miller.

The secretary has arranged an excellent list of matches for his club; from the first week in October to the first Saturday in April there are only two open dates. They have already played three matches, two of which have been lost and the other drawn, but, as I have stated, they have not yet had their best eleven in the field, we must hope to hear better news of them shortly. Knottingley pays a visit to Stourton this week, and although there they meet their equals in a closely contested game, and if the home team play eleven of the men received for publication in this paper, they should come off victorious. A team composed of the old players of the Hunslet Wesleyans will be taken next, after which the team will go down to Oulton for the return match with that club, and will have to be satisfied with being defeated, because the Oulton players have proved their superiority over the home teams in this district of late, and intend, I believe, to retain the honour. Doncaster Rovers come to Stourton on November 15th, and the Saturday following Doncaster Temperance is encountered at Doncaster, while on the 29th, Hull Town pay a visit to Stourton. The first week in December receives Garber Rangers at Stourton, after which they play a second team of Oulton, and on December 20th, Oulton 1st play the return match with them at Stourton, and the day after Christmas they journey to Hull, while on the 27th, Sheffield Hallam are down to play on their (Stourton) ground. Rothwell meets them the first Saturday in the new year, when a very even game will be played. The return with Meanwood and Knottingley are to be played at Stourton on January 10th and 17th, and then the team go to Robin Hood, Leeds, on the 24th, to return with Meanwood on Saturday following. On February 7th, Doncaster Temperance come as far as Stourton to engage in the return match, while on the 14th, they go to Leeds, after which the St. Andrews' players have two off matches to Doncaster and Gawber for the return with the latter on the following Saturday. On March 7th comes White Star make their first appearance at Stourton, a club only formed this season, and one which is likely to give a good account of itself, as I hear that the players are a strong lot, and if we take their victory over Knottingley last week to go by, the St. Andrews team will have their work set to beat them. After an open Saturday, the return is played against the organisation just described, and the 28th being also open, the club bring its long list of fixtures to a close by travelling to Sheffield to engage in the return match with Sheffield Hallam.

The committee selected to take charge of the club are Messrs. Gill, Boyes, Warwick, Rathmell, Laverack and Smart, with the treasurer, Mr. Day, and Mr. Johnson, Mr. Jas. Gouldthorpe. The ground is that formerly used by Stourton Rovers at Mr. Gouldthorpe's Haigh Park Farm.

CAPTAIN.

OULTON v. MEANWOOD.

This match was played on Saturday last in Meanwood Park. Oulton won the toss and decided to play with the wind, which blew quite strongly. Meanwood commenced hostilities and almost immediately compelled the Oulton custodian to use his hands, Quickly the ball travelled to the home quarters and a neat bit of passing effected the downfall of their fortress. Play was again pretty even, but it was only for a short time, and the Oulton forwards again won pleased the opposing backs and secured goal number two, immediately followed by another, which after a little discussion between the umpires, was disallowed, on the ground that the goal) put on his coat and left the field, thus the game came to an unsatisfactory termination. The score being Foulnes 2 goals to Knottingley nil.

OULTON v. ROTHWELL (A TEAMS).—This match was played at Oulton on Saturday last, resulting in a win for neither side being able to score. The Rothwell captain winning the toss, chose to play with the wind at his back, and on the ball being started, play was for a short ment of ' home citadel was kept up for about twenty minutes, so as it was the first time that most of the Rothwell men had played this season, it was evident that they were in bad form, the consequence being that shots were made which went both over and outside the bar and goal-posts, and several very easy chances were thrown away by the forwards. The ball only travelled to the visitor's end once during the first half of the game, but during the second portion of the encounter, matters were pretty even, and the game ended as above stated.

HARRIERS.

THE STOURTON HARRIERS first their run on Saturday last from headquarters, the Queen Hotel. The hares, R. Hill (captain), and B. Rose, were despatched at 2.20, and ten minutes later the pack followed by J. Weatherhead and Jas. Clark, started to the trail which led down Wakefield Road to Thwaite Gate, along the Pontefract Road to Haigh Park, then by the side of Mr. Fatkin's farm, over which the hares got into the report I am at a loss to know, as I did not mention the county rail as aiding, that being one of the separate charges ' and not a common one, and in fact I particularly avoided any reference to separate charges, as they do not affect the question, and would be the same whether we were included in the Rothwell Union or not.

If you will kindly give me space for this letter in your next issue, I shall be greatly obliged.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

ROBERT J. SMITH.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

This question at present stands very prominently before us, and it is quite evident there is to be a change somewhere before long. Mr. Smith, at Oulton last week, gave a very good reason why we should stay at Hunslet, stating that Wakefield was too far off, and none of the Guardians would like to go so far; this reason only affects a few gentlemen, we want something to affect every ratepayer. Mr. Smith also made the figures look very nice and low for Hunslet, compared with those of Wakefield, saying that while Wakefield cost 8d in the £ for relief, Hunslet only cost 7d. But some of the ratepayers in Rothwell would like to know how much in the £ this relief would be, without the help of the three out-townships? Perhaps 10d would be about the mark. The rateable value of Hunslet is £130,710, while that of the three out-townships is £56,962, which is equal to more than one third of Hunslet. Mr. Smith also states that Hunslet has 14·5 paupers, from other information we learn that Rothwell has about 60, Oulton-with-Woodlesford about 30, and Middleton 30, making a total of about 120 paupers for these three out-townships, or one twelfth part of those of Hunslet; but on face of this, these out-townships have according to the rateable value to pay for one third, thus handing over to Hunslet a tremendous profit, as is seen by the last call of £1300 made upon the Rothwell overseers for the half year, and paid by them for the relief of our poor, which would cost about £200, and the county rate about £600, the other £600 going to help the working expenses in Hunslet.

I am glad to see from the report of the meeting of the Leeds Board of Guardians held on Wednesday last, that they have all but unanimously resolved to accept the suggestion of the Local Government Board to amalgamate the three unions, Hunslet, Holbeck and Bramley, with Leeds, making a borough boundary, and leaving the out-townships Oulton, Rothwell and Middleton to accept the suggestion of joining Wakefield, or form a union of their own. This no doubt will be a great relief to the ratepayers of Rothwell, who have been for so many years unfairly oppressed by Hunslet. The action taken by the Leeds Guardians will no doubt decide the Local Government Board to carry out their arrangements.

RATEPAYER.

ST ANDREW'S CHURCH, STOURTON.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

In reference to the report given in your paper last week, there was a mis-statement made as regards the number of singers from St. Silas Church, Hunslet, who gave the anthem. The singers in connection with the above church, entirely depended upon its own choir, and not upon St. Silas'. The choir was augmented with members selected from the various church choirs in Leeds, so that the number of singers were not from St. Silas' Church. There was great credit due to the organist, Mr. George Braithwaite, of St. Andrew's church, for the stylish manner in getting up those difficult services. The anthem, 'Stand up and bless the Lord your God,' and 'Lord of Tours' services in F, were given in a creditable and pleasing manner. Hoping you will give honour unto whom honour is due.

Yours

A PUPPLAY.

TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT.

It is at all times hard to lose one whom we hold dear, but it is terribly so when we feel that the consumption that but for mistaken treatment the loved one might have been with us still. In some cases the fact that the sufferer is treated for the wrong complaint is known in sufficient time to admit of the patient being saved, and the following is a case in point:—

A little more than two years ago a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption. Her fond parents took her to Paris, and there, after hoping to find some skilful physician there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreadful disease. In this their hopes were doomed to be disappointed, and not consumption; and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was obtained and administered to the patient, with what beneficial results. To-day their daughter lives in the enjoyment of good health. The fact was, the patient had been treated for the wrong complaint, and when she was treated for Dyspepsia (her real trouble), all the alarming symptoms of consumption vanished. This is not an isolated case. The country is full of suffering fellow-creatures that are being treated for Liver Complaint, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Lung Blockages, &c., &c., when the fact is they are afflicted with Indigestion in some of its varied forms, and all of such sufferers would obtain relief if they were introduced to Mr. Seigel's Curative Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or patent medicine vendor, or from the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, No. 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C.

TOWN TALK.

I no not think the contents of the Rothwell Times are sufficiently known and valued. One gentleman who resided in the district for a number of years, used to say that he had rather miss any paper (and he took several) than the weekly Times. There has been much interest taken in the cookery lectures lately given, and rightly so, but would you be surprised to hear that every week there are published in our own paper a number of the newest, most economical and most valuable recipes, not only for cooking, but also for cleaning, renovating, &c., and in fact, a general household companion. The stories for young folks are also eminently interesting. Speaking of the general news in this valuable paper, I was also struck by a recent letter received last week from a lady who was in Westminster Abbey. For details see the paper, but the item is this, that some 500 Roman Catholics performed adoration at the shrine of Edward, in Westminster Abbey, where they prayed for the conversion of England to her former faith. A pretty state of things certainly, in the temple of the greatest Christian country in the world.

* * * * * *

From the report of the Woodlesford School Board meeting in the Times last week, I see the amount levied on the parish for the purposes of elementary education, reaches 10½d in the £ for the year. Surely this is very heavy. The amount is not so heavy as that in London, which is 1s 6d, but it is very much in excess of the sum paid in similar districts. At Lofthouse and Carlton, I believe they pay 6½d, and at Rothwell the figure only reaches 7½d; so that at Oulton and Woodlesford they are out of all proportion, and how does the School Board Officials' grants have been exceptionally low this year? or is it the management which is unwisely 'carried out?' or more likely still, is it that so many of the rateable value is paperless, on account of works or property remaining unworked or unoccupied, that those who do pay rates have also to make up the amounts which would otherwise be paid out of this property.

* * * * * *

THE abominable smell I referred to last week, arising from the decomposed fish on Rothwell Haigh, has become even more unbearable still this week, and it is my opinion, that many of the sore throats which I have heard of in such large numbers, are caused by this deadly stench, and I know of one case at any rate, in which a friend of mine quickly dissolved partnership with his dinner, when he came into rather close proximity with the effluvia. I dare not put the thoughts and words which I and others have, I am sorry to say, given way to this week, in Town Talk column of 'Old,' the fellow who makes this disgraceful nuisance, might jump into the quarry, or bury himself with his fish, or take his life in some other way, in order to escape the just execration which threatened to overtake him. I hope however, he will not do this though, but let him live to mend his ways. Surely he does not wish to extinguish the whole population by some fell disease, and I am sure if this offence is repeated, he will be setting a whole community at defiance.

* * * * * *

LET me again urge upon my readers to support the efforts of the Mechanics' Institute Committee in connection with the Art Exhibition next week. The list of exhibits is very extensive and of a varied nature, and every promise of a grand success is apparent. That artistic circular announcing the Exhibition is enough to entice sympathy of all, and draw from their purses the shillings and sixpences as if by magic. I am requested to say that the refreshments are to be contributed, and I am sure every lady reader, will make some tempting viand with which to grace the refreshment stall. Several ladies are entrusted with this work, who will be grateful for contributions of either plain or fancy dishes.

* * * * * *

THERE appears to be no prospect for Rothwell in poor law matters but to go to Wakefield. Mr. Davy, the Government Inspector, recommends this plan, and the Leeds Board of Guardians, by an over-whelming majority, supports his policy. Of course. I am now only touching the subject so far as it is likely to affect Rothwell. The Leeds Borough boundary is to be the boundary for poor law purposes as well. We have outside their boundary consequently we are to be cut off from all connection for poor law purposes with Hunslet, and Mr. Lee says we may go to—Wakefield. It will be extremely inconvenient for me now, it is bad enough in winter time to have to travel to Gloomhouse Street, but the journey to Wakefield will be even more trying. In fact, I dont see how it can be worked, if the Guardians insist on the applicants for relief appearing before them at stated times, as at present.

* * * * * *

THE Rose of Guardian is no light matter for the gentlemen selected to represent our district. Leeds, however is the marker town for Rothwell, and business of some sort often calls us there, moreover the train ear is available half the distance. If our guardians have to go to Wakefield, I think there will be a difficulty in finding persons willing to serve. To one's imagination, Pontefract is as inconvenient as Wakefield. Even when the train service between Woodlesford and Pontefract, we shall be in an awkward fix if we are tacked on to the latter place.

* * * * * *

SOMETHING will have to be done, and Rothwell should stir. We may by discussion and agitation direct events more to our advantage than if we allow the thing to drift. With a rateable of £31,000, Rothwell is not to be despised; we are rather to be envied. Now is the time to stand in the shaping of our destiny for poor law purposes. Let us be doing and doing.

UNION AMALGAMATION.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

In your report of the statement which I gave at the meeting at Oulton on the 10th instant, I notice one or two errors, which I should be glad to be allowed to correct, as they materially affect the question.

After giving the figures relative to the cost of the relief of the poor, your report goes on to the question of the "common charge," and I am satisfied that your readers who were not at the meeting would be led to infer that the amounts given for these charges did not respectable figures, as they do so. This of course is not the case, the 'common charge' being the several items of expenditure which are shared by all the townships in the Union in proportion to their rateable value. Your report also states that the 'separate charges' include the County Rate, which is the principal item. The County Rate has got into the report I am at a loss to know, as I did not mention the county rail as aiding, that being one of the 'separate charges' and not a common one, and in fact I particularly avoided any reference to separate charges, as they do not affect the question, and would be the same whether we were included in the Rothwell Union or not.

If you will kindly give me space for this letter in your next issue, I shall be greatly obliged.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

ROBERT J. SMITH.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

This question at present stands very prominently before us, and it is quite evident there is to be a change somewhere before long. Mr. Smith, at Oulton last week, gave a very good reason why we should stay at Hunslet, stating that Wakefield was too far off, and none of the Guardians would like to go so far; this reason only affects a few gentlemen, we want something to

THE ROTHWELL TIMES—FRIDAY OCTOBER 31, 1884

EPITOME OF NEWS.

A LIFE-SIZED portrait of the Mayor of Sedgwater (Mr. F. J. Thompson) has been executed in oil by Mr. James Ricks, artist, a native of the town, at the cost of a fund raised by subscriptions, and will be publicly presented to him.

At the Police-court, Great Yarmouth, Charles Foxhall, a clerk from London, was charged before Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Wodehouse, and Mr. C. W. Mauthy, of Durham, and the prisoner were visitors to Yarmouth, staying, but not together, at the house where the robbery was committed. On the evening of Sunday Mr. Mauthy found that a case of his had been cut open and the money in question stolen therefrom. Foxall decamped, abandoning his effects, but was apprehended in London. He admitted stealing £17, and was committed for trial.

A CORONER'S jury at Kidderminster has returned a verdict of wilful murder in the case of an infant named Tonks, the daughter of a single woman residing in Bromsgrove, but adding that the evidence did not enable them to say by whom the murder was committed.

At the Police-court, Cardiff, Abraham Follett, a young man, has appeared on a remand, charged with shooting and wounding Annie Davies, at the Mariner's Coffee Tavern, Bute-road. The Head Constable said that the girl herself at the Infirmary declared that the wound was the result of a square accident. Mr. Thompson afterwards applied for the prisoner to be admitted to bail, but this the magistrates refused, and the prisoner was remanded for a week.

ONE half of the proposed guarantee fund of £5000 for keeping open the fine art gallery at Wolverhampton until Jan. 31 has been raised. It has been definitely decided that the Industrial Exhibition should be closed on the 31st inst.

TWO valuable stacks of corn at Newnham, near Sittingbourne, have been destroyed by fire, caused, it is supposed, by a man who had "turned in" to sleep beneath one of the stacks with a pipe in his mouth.

A BOARD of Trade inquiry has been concluded at Sunderland into the stranding of the steamship Black Diamond, Captain Grey, of Dublin, on the rocks at Ryhope. The vessel left London on a voyage to the West, with water ballast, and a crew of sixteen hands, and after passing Hartlepool Lights at midnight struck a heavy log came on, and she struck three-oclock, the engines going full speed. The Court found that the stranding was caused by running full speed in a fog, and severely reprimanded the captain, but did not deal with his certificate.

AT the Borough Police-court, Leicester, William Hopkins, draper, Uppingham, was brought up under remand charged with offences under the Bankruptcy Act. Just before the prisoner failed, it was alleged he removed considerable portions of his stock and secreted them in Leicester, Peterborough, Nottingham, and Loughborough. Over one ton has already been found, but still a large quantity remains to be recovered. The goods were removed in vans, hidden by trusses of hay covered with tarpaulin. The magistrates committed the prisoner to take his trial at the ensuing assizes.

MR. FRANK EMERY, lessee of the Prince of Wales Theatre, Liverpool, has been presented, at the Neptune Hotel, with an illuminated address and a valuable diamond ring, subscribed for by a number of his private friends on the occasion of quitting the leadership of the Prince of Wales Theatre, and assuming the proprietorship of the Theatre Royal, Bath. The company included several members of the city council and a number of the leading residents.

AT Hedhill, Archdeacon Richardson, of Southwark, London, has opened the new church schools of Stithwark's district, which have been erected, in one respect, to evade a School Board, and at a total cost of £2000. Towards this amount £2360 has been actually received, and £500 more is promised.

AT Richmond-in-Yarnsdale, in the old parish church, the Rev. Alfred Edward Northey, M.A., of Otley Vicarage, near Ilkchin. Herts, has been publicly inducted as Vicar of Richmansworth, in succession to the Rev. Alleyne Higgs Barker, the deceased vicar, who had held the living for nearly 32 years. The right of presentation is vested in the Bishop of St. Albans.

AT the Petty Sessions, Sharnbrook (Beds), two shoemakers of Wellingborough, named John Pettifer and Henry Gayle, were recently charged with night-poaching, and also with assaulting a gamekeeper named Henry Gell, on Sept. 21. The Bench, which Lord St. John was chairman, ordered each of the prisoners to four months' imprisonment, and found them over in £10 to keep the peace for six months.

AT the Mitverton (Leamington) Petty Sessions Alexander Powers, barrister at law, under a warrant residing in Leamington, was charged on a warrant with assaulting Thomas Wedgebury and William Liggins, both of Castle-end, Southwick. Defendant had been remonstrated with for annoying a lady, when he ran at Wedgebury and threatened to kill him to the latter. Soon outside he encountered Liggins, and, after spitting in his face, threatened to knock his head through a wall. The prisoner had once or twice been before the Bench, and was now sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment, without the option of a fine.

AT Exeter, on the resolution of Mr. Harris, M.P., the Devonshire Chamber has resolved that as the importers of foreign agricultural produce received privilege not enjoyed by English farmers, such unfairness ought to be remedied by legislative interference.

AT the West of England Eye Infirmary, Exeter, Mr. J. M. Snow was recently elected resident during the year. It was announced that 70,000 patients had been treated since the establishment of the institution.

AT Folkestone a very daring and somewhat unusual robbery was committed at the Pavilion Hotel, and a sum of £20 and some jewellery stolen. The theft is shrouded in mystery. The first indication was discovered by girl. She had on entering the room found that she was locked in from the outside presumably by the thief, who made his escape, but was not yet known or detected. It is supposed that the thief got in the house during the night, and escaped from a side window.

A PORTRAIT worked in the Chinhorne of Claire Ancient," taken during the celebrated trial in 1874, is on view at Madame Tussaud's Exhibition, adjoining Baker-street Station.

A SHORT time ago the St. Albans Corporation decided to take legal action against Messrs. Wells and Austen, for illegally enclosing a piece of land, equal to about half an acre, at the side of the highway, in the Sandpit-lane. A special meeting of the council, the motion was lately rescinded, and it was decided not to take any steps in the matter. It will be remembered that a short time ago two town councillors and six other defendants were heavily fined for destroying the fences enclosing the disputed land, and the councillors, on the advice of its solicitors to the Commons Preservation Society, lodged an appeal against the decision of the local justices. When the case came on for hearing Messrs. Wells and Austen's right to the land, Messrs. Wertell and Burlock, the convicted councillors, withdrew from the appeal and paid the fines and damages inflicted by the local justices. The councillors will now probably apply for the return of the money. The greater portion of the damaged fence has been reinstated by two of the convicted men.

SHORTLY after ten o'clock on Tuesday night last an alarming accident occurred in High-street, Poplar. It appears that about the time in question one of the manual engines belonging to the West India-dock-road station was proceeding at a rapid pace through High-street, Poplar, when it collided with a private brougham, which was conveying one of the lady singers to the Queen's Palace of Varieties. The brougham was overturned, and its occupants severely shaken and frightened, but, fortunately, not seriously hurt. The engine then "cannoned" from the brougham against a small private box, which was conveying a couple of bicyclists to the same place of amusement. This time the consequences were of a more alarming nature, as both the box and the engine were overturned, and on the latter being thrown down, two of them being very severely injured, necessitating their removal to the hospital. The rest of the brigade men were severely shaken, and even the troops of performers who occupied the 'bus, but, singularly enough, none of the latter appear to have been much hurt.

THE Hungarian labourer, Ondron Chowaner, has been, in the London Police-court charged once remand with having a pound and a half of dynamite in his possession on arriving at Liverpool from America. The prisoner confessed that he was not in a position to offer any further evidence. The prisoner now expressed, through an interpreter, the explanation already given—viz., that the dynamite had been put into his box by his son, and that he himself forgot all about its being there. The magistrate said he believed the prisoner's story, and he would discharge him.

THE body of a woman whose name transpires to be Margaret Jenkins, a native of the Scandles, was lately picked up on the sands at Swansea. Deceased was near the place where her body was found, and she is supposed to have drowned herself in the tide. She is said to have lived with the Crawshaw family as a domestic servant

ART AND LITERATURE.

THE Duke of Edinburgh, K.G., has given special permission to the editor of the Anglers' Journal to dedicate to him the bi-centenary edition of Izaak Walton's "Complete Angler," now appearing in the columns of that journal.

THE Lives of the late Archbishop Tait, executed by Signor Raggi, has been cast at the foundry of Messrs. Young, in Pimlico, and will shortly be placed in a niche at Edinburgh University. A likeness to the deceased prelate is an excellent one.

A NEW work upon the French Law of Marriage, Marriage Settlements and Divorce, by Mr. Napoleon Argles, Solicitor to the French Consulate in London, is in the press, and will shortly be published by Mr. H. Sweet, of Chancery-lane.

A SOCIETY has been established at Vladivostok in Eastern Siberia for the purpose of exploring the Amoor district, with a view of founding in Vladivostok a museum illustrative of the natural history of the region.

MR. STEPNIAK, the well-known Nihilist and journalist, has finished the first volume of a new work called "Russia under the Tzars."

THE publishing office of the old-established magazine, The Ladies' Gazette of Fashion, has been removed to 26, Soho-square. Houlston and Sons, 7, Paternoster-buildings, E.C.

THE author of "Horace Maclean" will write the leading serial for Cassell's Magazine next year. The title is "A Fight for Fortune," and the story will be illustrated by Frederick Barnard.

THE annual exhibition of oil paintings by British and foreign artists will open at Thomas McLean's gallery, 7, Haymarket, on Monday, November 3rd.

THE autumn sales during October and November will contain a paper by the editor, Mr. Walford, on the Johnson centenary.

IT is announced that in future the ordinary meetings of the Essex Field Club will be held in the large hall of the Holborn Hall, London-street, Stratford.

THE November number of the Cornhill Magazine will contain a complete story by the author of "John Herring," a Mediæval Tale," and "Major Conyngham's Retainer." The tale will be illustrated by Arthur Hopkins.

THE Bibliographer for November will contain an article on Shakespeare and Ben Jonson's Folio, by Mr. Stanley Lane-Poole, comprising all editions that are found in the British Museum, the Bodleian, the library of Trinity College and the King's Inns, Dublin, and the valuable collection of tracts in the Royal Irish Academy.

WHAT is known as "The Universities Settlement in Whitechapel," under the management of the Rev. S. A. Barnett, will be opened in the course of next month. Accommodation is provided for about sixteen residents, and twelve graduates of Oxford and Cambridge have already accepted. A subscription of £300 has been raised for the current expenses of the first year, and about £1100 has been collected towards defraying the cost of the building, &c.

THE Christmas Number of The Quiver, which will be issued in November, promises to be an excellent sixpenny worth. The leading story is by L. T. Meade, author of "Daisy Darley," and other stories are by the Rev. P. B. Power, Stephen Yorke, Edward Garrett, C. Desprez, F. M. F. Skene, Evelyn Everett-Green, and the author of "Doddletkins." There are also a paper for the New Year by Lord A. C. Hervey, Bishop of Bath and Wells, and a Christmas poem by Mr. G. H. Heming. The Christmas Number of The Quiver, which will be issued in November, promises to be an excellent story by Percy Tarrant, and Edwin Edwards, G. G. Hindley, F. Rainsford, M. L. Rowe, and Fred Barnard are among the other well-known artists who have contributed to the number.

THE first yearly issue of the "Directory of Building Societies" has just been published by the compilers, Messrs. H. Rent and W. Braund. To the 700,000 members of these associations, the work must be of great value. The financial status of each society is indicated by the reproduction of the last balance-sheet, in addition to which the amount of the reserve and the cost of management are shown. It is pointed out that 97 per cent. of the societies whose expenditure is under 10s. per cent., confine their operations to the province, where speculative building and competition for business are not so rampant as in London.

A SHORT time since a circular was issued, signed by Lord Shaftesbury, the Lord Mayor, and the Dean of Canterbury, and an influential committee, with a view of raising funds for a testimonial to Mr. Wyclif Rose, and for his services rendered in the special work of providing Christian people with arguments to meet the objections of agnostics and unbelievers. The matter is advancing to convince the latter that there is an abundant evidence to prove the inspiration of the Bible. As the appeal was made just at the close of the season it did not receive the attention it deserved, and the matter is being again brought to notice. Sir Charles Nicholson, M.P., the Recorder of London, 63, Gloucester-place, is the treasurer.

MESSRS. CASSELL AND COMPANY will shortly publish a new work, entitled "The Dictionary of English History," edited by Sidney J. Low, B.A., Lecturer on Modern History, Kensington Proprietary School, and F. S. Pulling, M.A., late Professor of History, Yorkshire College, Leeds. The contributors include Oscar Browning, M.A., Rev. Professor Mandel Creighton, Rev. Professor John Earle, M.A., H. R. Reichel, M.A., Professor J. R. Thursfield, Miss Alice Zimmern, Professor James Rowley, and Professor T. F. Tout, M.A.

"MONTE CARLO AND PUBLIC OPINION," by Frederick Hawkins, has been reprinted and well edited volume. "A Visitor to the Riviera" gives abundant details of life at Monte Carlo, or rather Monaco. This gem gambling may have been again and again rightly described as one of the chief plague spots of Europe, and, for that reason, and also say of America, seeing how largely our Transatlantic cousins contribute to the coffers of the Casino. The compiler of the volume modestly terms it a "pamphlet" on the work, but it is, nevertheless, a plain, out-spoken exposé of the whole degrading system on which the scheme mingelt, as such, should be carefully perused by all who feel an intelligent interest therein with a view to extinction.

A SAD CASE.

DR. Wynn Westcott has held an inquest in Marylebone, on the body of Miss Alice Louisa Darvell, aged 17, who had lived with her brother at Ramsay, Huntingdonshire. Dr. Westcott, in addition to the witness, Ramsay, identified the body as that of his sister, who had accompanied him to town in order to obtain a situation for her as a barmaid. They were both a friendless pair in Princess-street, Edgware-road, where she was to stay until she got settled. He left her in the afternoon to return home, and did not see her again alive. In answer to the coroner, the witness said his sister had vomited blood on one or two occasions, and the doctor had told her she made blood too fast; in other respects her health was tolerably good. The witness put in a letter from his sister in which she said she had work at their house would be too heavy for her, but he would introduce her to one of his friends. Elizabeth Brown, wife of a licensed victualler, living at the Caledonian, Princess-street, Edgware-road, said that the young woman had been living with her on the Wednesday, and she then seemed all right. On the Thursday morning, after breakfast, Miss Sewell came to witness in the kitchen and asked how long she would be. About half an hour afterwards, as witness was coming from the top landing, she met the young woman rushing up the stairs with blood flowing from her forehead. She ran against witness so violently that she knocked her downstairs. On recovering she got a cab and fetched a doctor. On her return she found Miss Sewell in her bedroom, raving and very violent, like a mad woman. At three o'clock she was removed in a cab to the workhouse, owing to her violence. By the Coroner: She did not know if the young woman had come to London at her own request, but believed there had been some unpleasantness between her and her brother. Elizabeth Perry, living at No. 11, Princess-street, stated that on the Thursday Mr. Brown asked her to go upstairs, as something was the matter. She went upstairs, and found Miss Darvell in the servants' room, fully dressed, with a cut over her left eye. She was very violent, and after Dr. Brisbane had dressed it, she said, "I have killed her brother's child, and I killed him what I have done; ray I've a cold in my eye." She afterwards accompanied her in a cab to the workhouse, on which about the middle of Crawford-street Miss Sewell was seized with a fit. Dr. Brisbane stated that he was called to see the deceased about seven o'clock. He found her delirious, with a wound an inch in length over the left forehead. During the time he was with her she talked about having killed her brother's child, and thought she had better be removed, as she required constant watching. He ordered the wound to be dressed by the bone, and might have been caused by a table-knife. Some blood was found on the floor in her room, and a table-knife lay under her bed. Another knife of the same description was found in the closet where she was taken from to the room. There was no doubt whatever that the wound was self-inflicted in one of the paroxysms. He had since made a post-mortem examination. She had had nothing whatever to do with her death, which was the result of an epileptic form of convulsions. Most likely she cut herself in her delirium. The jury returned a verdict of "Death from natural causes."

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

(From "Truth.")

A contemporary states that the Queen is in favour of having Marlborough House assigned to Prince Edward as a residence, while the Prince and Princess of Wales will remove to Buckingham Palace. This is pure fiction—and is, indeed, so utterly absurd an idea that it is wonderful that any one could for a moment believe it. There is not, and never has been, the slightest notion of the Prince and Princess leaving Sandringham, and it is not proposed that Prince Edward shall "go into housekeeping" on his own account at an early date. The young Prince will probably quit Cambridge at Christmas, and early in the spring he will leave England on a lengthened tour, which will include a visit to the United States and Canada, but which will commence with an exploration of Germany, Austria, and Italy.

The Queen has been endeavouring to induce the German Emperor to abate his wrath against the Grand Duke of Hesse, but without much success. As his Majesty has expressed the utmost contempt for the conduct of Hesse-Darmstadt, and is as indignant as ever with him, and his feelings are shared by the Crown Prince and Crown Princess.

The Duke and Duchess of Teck, who are still in Germany, will return to England shortly, and I understand that they are to reside at the White Lodge, in Richmond Park, which was "lent" to the duchess by the Queen several years ago.

Lord de Grey, when shooting the other day by himself in Yorkshire on Lord Ripon's estate between Studley Royal and Masham, killed 303 partridges to his own gun.

The Duke of Westminster and his party shot between sixty and seventy stags during their recent stay at Stack Lodge, the average "clean" weight being a trifle under 17 st.

In a few days, the Duke of Cambridge is going to Aldershot, where he has been called as London borough at Londesborough-park, and will shoot over the preserves around Selby and Market Weighton, which locally warrant high praise.

I hear that the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Serge of Russia (Princess Elizabeth of Hesse), are expected to come to England shortly on a visit to the Queen. They will also be the guests of the Prince and Princess of Wales at the Duchess of Edinburgh during their stay in this country.

The Bishop of London has returned to Fulham Palace from Monmouthshire, where he has been residing during the last five weeks for his annual holiday.

Lord and Lady Hillingdon are entertaining a succession of visitors during the time their seats at Abbotsbury, their charming seaside place near Weymouth. They remove early next month to Malburyparc for the winter.

I understand that 2'0,000 copies of "Called Back" have been sold in Great Britain, that two authorised and six pirated editions have been issued in America, and that the story has been translated into French, German, Italian, Norse, Swedish, Dutch, Roumanian, and Welsh, whilst, on the strength of this success, 60,000 of the author's forthcoming story, "Dark Days," have been ordered.

Now that the public school year is in full swing again, it might interest the British parent to hear of the luxuries which is practised at Harrow. A gentleman who has a son there has received by one story in his school bill of £1 for "copies." On inquiry, it appeared that the item did not represent, as he was at first inclined to suspect, a platoon afforded the boy in preparing the copies of verses or Latin prose by the House-master, but it meant that, the young gentleman having sufficiently distinguished himself to be given a couple of house-prizes, the father was charged with them at ten shillings each. It would be interesting to know by what principle Harrow gives prizes to his pupils at the expense of the parents, and why he disguises the fact under the ambiguous entry of "copies."

The number of Freshmen at Cambridge this term is in excess of any previous year, being 897, against 870 in October of last year, so that the drainage we have mooted have had much effect in frightening away intending undergraduates. At Oxford the number of freshmen is 620, the most popular college apparently being New, which has 55 recruits, against 53 at Christ Church, and 51 at Balliol. The young Duke of Newcastle has entered at Magdalen.

An unpleasant discovery was made by Sir Houston Stewart, Lord Admiral of Plymouth, during his recent inspection of the Indus, flagship of Rear-Admiral Curme. On visiting the cells, they were found in a disgraceful and unfit for human beings to be in, both from their state of filth and want of ventilation. There happened at the time to be only one prisoner in them, and Sir Houston Stewart ordered to be removed forthwith. Who is responsible?

The Prince of Wales has written an autograph letter to Lady Freake, confiding with her upon her loss, and expressing the sorrow of the writer and of the Princess for the death of one so eminent for philanthropy and generosity. Lady Freake will not continue her residence at the house which has contributed so much to the amusement of London. She will turn Cromwell House for the pleasant retreat of Hans Place.

The Duke of Brunswick was one of the wealthiest Royal personages in Europe, and there has been much anxious speculation as to the disposal of his vast possessions, as his private fortune is said to be enormous. THE TRUE RELATIONS OF FRANCE AND GERMANY.

At the recent distribution of prizes to the members of the French National Rifle Association, which took place at the Trocadery, Paris, under the presidency of M. Anatole de la Forge, speeches were delivered by that gentleman, and by M. Paul Déroulède, which were enthusiastically cheered by an audience of some five thousand persons. They are just now all the more worthy of attention, as showing the unpopularity of M. Jules Ferry's attempt to substitute the German for the English alliance as the key-stone of the foreign policy of France. M. Anatole de la Forge, after noticing with gratification that the association of the "Ligue des Patriotes" numbered over sixty thousand members, all of whom diligently trained themselves in the use of arms, paid a warm tribute to General Campenon, the Minister of War, for his cordial support of the Association. He then went on to say:—

"I am a partisan of peace. I have always been against war, and only fought in 1870 because it was the duty of every Frenchman to take up arms against the invader. It is for this reason that I am no admirer of Bismarck, and only wish we had been entangled. I hold that Alsatia is quite as much as we can manage. The annexation of the capitals of Lorraine is quite enough for my ambition as a patriot and a deputy. I do not impugn the motives of the President of the Council, as I always respect any statesman, and I fortiori my colleague. But I think he makes a mistake in incurring enormous expenditure for undertakings which are not in harmony with our national temperament. Nevertheless, adverse as I am to these schemes of Colonial policy, whenever we are asked for a credit I always vote it. But we cannot sacrifice that handful of heroes who are struggling so gallantly against four hundred millions of Chinese."

After a few words more in praise of the army, the speaker concluded by saying:—

"Your applause will rouse an echo on the other side of the Vosges. I have been described as a cross between a cuirassier and a Carthusian monk, and in effect I am nothing of the kind. But let us hear no more of a France-German alliance: if it is a landmark we shall find it up, if it be a road, we shall be in advance of it. Above all, let there be an end to that silly cry, Sus à l'Anglaterre. Why, gentlemen, should we not look right across to the Rhine to look to? There is not enough of hatred in France to cut it in halves, and not strength enough in France or a double army. Until further orders let us do nothing against Germany, but let us do nothing with her."

ARMED BURGLARS AND THE LONDON POLICE.

A meeting has been held of the subscribers to the fund which has been raised for the purpose of giving a reward—in addition to the ordinary rewards given by Police-constables Chamberlain and Miller, of the N Division, in attempting to arrest two armed burglars on the 25th last., in Park-street, Islington, the armed burglars Wright and Wheatley, who were subsequently sentenced—the former to penal servitude for life and the latter to twenty years' penal servitude—for burglary and shooting the police in Heaton. The object of the meeting was the presentation of an illuminated address, with a purse of £140, to Chamberlain, and a similar address, with a purse of £35, to Miller. The addresses recounted the bravery displayed by each officer. Chamberlain, it was stated, "was shot with a revolver, and for some time laid in imminent danger of losing his life." His comrade luckily escaped uninjured, though very near his comrade when shot. Captain Wilbraham, the chairman of the testimonial committee, presided, and in making the presentation, said that Miller would no doubt have been shot also if he had been as fleet on foot in approaching the burglars as his comrade was. He commended the tact and undaunted courage which the officers had shown in pursuing and endeavouring to arrest two such desperate burglars as were Wright and Wheatley. The testimonials were indications of the manner in which the public were disposed to recognise the bravery of members of the police force. Not only had subscriptions been freely given in North London, but many had been received from the country as well. He expressed a hope that the bullet lodged in Chamberlain's leg would eventually be safely extracted, and that he would be thoroughly restored to health, and able to resume his duties. Mr. Charrington, in endorsing these remarks, expressed a hope that the police authorities would, in the event of Chamberlain being unable to again do duty, be well fed against pain from the effects of the bullet remaining in his leg. He was deeply thankful not only to the subscribers, but to the members of the committee. Mr. Green, who had behaved to him with the utmost kindness during his illness, and had been the means of collecting the subscriptions, and to Police-constables Miller, in returning thanks, expressed regret that he was unable to arrest the ruffian who shot him sooner. The two officers were indebted to each other in the way in which the courage of these two officers had been recognised would prove a great incentive to members of policemen generally to perform their duties with increased vigilance and courage. Chamberlain had been promoted since the shooting affair to the rank of first-class constable, he had been presented with £10 at How-street Police-court, and £20 from the Commissioners of Police, and should he not recover sufficiently to resume his duties he would be rewarded with a handsome pension. Votes of thanks to the chairman and Mr. Partridge, the secretary of the testimonial committee, concluded the proceedings.

ROMAN REMAINS IN THE RIVER TRENT.

In the course of carrying out large dredging and other works for the improvement of the Trent navigation, which connects Hull, Grimsby, and Goole by water with Birmingham, and the Midland railway system, a most interesting discovery has been made. The works in progress, between the villages of Collingham and Cromwell, made it necessary to keep a large amount of dredging, and it was during this operation that the workmen came across the pier of an old wooden bridge. About 67 feet or so down the river, and in another of similar appearance was found, and if is presumed there was at one time a bridge across the river at that place. Mr. Rolfe, C.E., the engineer in chief, had the two piers which obstructed the navigable channel blown up with dynamite. At first there were charges of dynamite, judiciously disposed, completely wrecked the remains of a work which has withstood the action of weather and water for sixteen centuries, and by which many a hard-contested struggle has taken place, as is shown by the numerous bones, spears, and swords which have been dredged up. A portion of the wood and stonework was afterwards recovered, and excavations are to be made on the Nottinghamshire side of the river for another of the remaining piers. From observations made previous to the blasting, it appeared that the foundations were formed of wood set in concrete, at some what similar stone; the oak wailings and balks were found in a fair state of preservation, although the mortar was still quite hard and adhesive: the wailings were tied across through a large centre balk by tie pieces of wood, having dovetailed heads through which pegs had evidently been driven to keep the structure together. There is room for doubt whether any similar structure of wood ever remains in so complete preservation, although in Rome itself traces of a wooden bridge, supposed to be either the Pons Aemilius or the Pons Sublicius, have been seen in the Tiber, but they do not appear to have been distinctly recognisable. The bridge was first thrown across the Trent at the time of the station Ad Pontem by the supposition that Crocolana and Ad Pontem have been accidently transposed in the "Iter" at intervals, the distance between the two corresponding link between the district of Lindum and Crocolana and the "Iter" Ultra Trebentam (Ad Pontem, or some other) on the way northward.

Are you reading MANVILLE FENN'S New Story in CASSELL'S SATURDAY JOURNAL? Everybody says it is the best and most exciting Story which has appeared for years.

Now Ready, price 7d., The First Monthly Part of The Old Testament Commentary. EDITED BY THE Rt. Rev. C. J. ELLICOTT, D.D., Lord Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol. "The work is entitled to the highest commendation. As in the case of its earlier work, so also in this, the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol—himself a distinguished Biblical scholar—has enlisted the co-operation of the most eminent scholars and some of the best living writers of the English universities have yet turned their pens. The work has been entrusted to competent hands, and what the Bishop's scholarship can do in elucidating and explaining the text has been done, and in the best manner. As a practical and devotional commentary, it seems to leave little to be desired."—Scotsman.
Cassell & Company, Limited, Ludgate Hill, London.

ROTHWELL MECHANICS' INSTITUTE
ART EXHIBITION.

Certainly the most plucky effort ever made by the Committee of the above institution, was successfully inaugurated yesterday, under circumstances indicating the most gratifying results. The effort takes the form of an Art Exhibition and Conversazione, and in enumerating the contents and attractions, every taste and fancy will find something to satisfy and please. The idea of such an Exhibition was mooted some months ago, though its ultimate financial success was gravely questioned by some of the Committee, who feared further to involve the institution. As time wore on, however, the probabilities of collecting an attractive show increased, and the members of the Committee, one and all set to work with a will, largely aided by the influence and assertions of the president, the vicar, and by the secretaries, Messrs. Armitage and Wice. Gentlemen having objects of interest and value kindly permitted them to be exhibited, and altogether the undertaking promises to be thoroughly successful. As may be supposed, the Committee placed themselves under serious responsibility in asking the loan of such rare and irreplaceable properties, and they deserve the warm thanks of everyone for enabling us to enjoy a view of the great masterpieces, as well as of those ancient and quaint samples of needlework, old coins, china, books, and implements.

The exhibition was opened, as has been intimated, yesterday afternoon at half-past two o'clock, a large and respectable audience being present at that hour. With very great kindness, the Mayor of Leeds (Alderman Woodhouse), had willingly consented to open the exhibition, and in accordance with his promise, His worship entered the large hall shortly after the hour, accompanied by the Vicar, and other ladies and gentlemen, receiving a hearty welcome from all present.

The Rev. Mr. Fawkes, president of the Institute, then proceeded to introduce the Mayor, which he said he was almost a stranger to, but of supererrogation, seeing that we were almost within sound of the Leeds church bells, and that Ald. Woodhouse had now twice occupied the civic chair. When he was commissioned to ask the Mayor to open the exhibition, he had no doubt whatever about his willingness, but was only afraid that his numerous engagements might prevent his being able to comply. He had, however, agreed to meet their wishes, and they were all very glad indeed to see him. Mr. Fawkes then referred to the position and uses of Mechanics' Institutes, as being supplementary to day schools, carrying on the information received then into the higher grades of education and of science and art. Before concluding, he wished to thank most heartily, the gentlemen who had so kindly contributed to the success of the exhibition by the loan of their valuable pictures, &c.; they were deeply indebted to those who had given their time and labour towards the bringing about of the success now attained; and also to the ladies, who had so gallantly (should he say) thrown their energies and interest into the work; and for the excellent manner in which they had catered for the visitors, as displayed on the refreshment table. In asking the Mayor to open the exhibition, he trusted he would be

To our virtues very kind,
To our failings very blind. (applause).

The Mayor, who was received in a most hearty manner, after remarking on Mr. Fawkes' reference to some statements he made at the opening of another exhibition, expressed his opinion that erroneous notions were still entertained of economy, held principally by persons who were either stingy or thoughtless, again repeating his belief that true economy was the frugal and judicious use of money, not the hoarding it up for no good purpose. In coming to Rothwell, his worship felt considerable pleasure in taking part in an exhibition of such an interesting character. He supposed this would be his last appearance, (to use a well-known phrase), as Mayor of Leeds; in a very few days he would be able to take off his chain of office. Although the collection was small, yet he thought the exhibits made up in quality for any lack in numbers, and he complimented the Rothwell people on their taste and selection. He was pleased to find that the institution was not in debt, but that this effort was made to reduce some £100 which remained on the adjoining care-taker's house; it was not often that institutions were free of debt. He expressed his gratification that the Institute was connected with the Yorkshire Union of Mechanics' Institutes, which he considered was a great help to any country town. Speaking of exhibitions generally, he held that although by showing the secrets and accomplishments of certain trades, exhibitions may have somewhat injured individuals, that the general result was decidedly beneficial. This remark he applied to Art Exhibitions as a means of elevating the tastes of our working people, and thus enable us to keep the position we have attained among the nations of the world. Although they could not all be painters, yet by gaining knowledge of the arts and sciences, all were made better members of society, and ordinary work was done more efficiently and quickly. They would thus advance the general good and do something towards leaving this world better than they found it. His Worship then declared the Exhibition open, and resumed his seat amid applause.

The Hon. and Rev. P. Y. Saville, in a brief but appropriate and pleasing address, proposed a vote of thanks to the Mayor of Leeds, for his kindness in coming to open the Exhibition.

Dr. Glaister, one of the vice-presidents, very ably seconded the motion, pointing out their indebtedness to the Mayor, who had not only shewn his usual willingness, but had come out of his own business way in order to help them at Rothwell. The speaker then gave a short but concise epitome of the past doings of the Institute, especially referring to the lectures on electricity, chemistry, and physiology, and predicted a more successful session in this line during the coming years; he also intimated the intention of the Committee to increase and improve the library, and by these two means to help the working man in his struggle to a higher position in life. The President, Mr. Fawkes, having put the motion, it was carried with acclamation.

The Mayor, in accepting the kindly motion, referred with pleasure to his former acquaintance with Mr. Seville, whose voice he was delighted to hear again. He also felt that the outing had been a sort of holiday, the first he had had for two years. In complimenting Dr. Glaister on his able address, his worship trusted their highest hopes might be realised in Science and Art classes and higher education generally.

This closed the opening ceremony, and Ald. Woodhouse spent about half an hour longer in the hall, inspecting the various exhibits, after which he retired with the president.

A more detailed description of the various interesting and valuable items will be published in our next edition, time and space not permitting a further notice. We wish, however to give a general idea of the exhibition, and proceed to observe that the walls of the hall are quite hidden with samples of the great masters in oil, including Hogarth, West, Vandyck, Carmichael, Grimshaw, Reynolds, Sutteliffe, Cross, &c., while in a case are shewn some of Turner's best works from the splendid collection of Ayscough Fawkes, Esq., to whom the Committee are very deeply indebted, not only for these, but for the Commonwealth relics. Fixed high above the platform is the antlered head of a reindeer, while smaller horns flank it on either side. At the opposite end of the room, are a number of ancient weapons, artistically arranged on a crimson shield, while below are the relics of Fairfax and Cromwell. Antique needlework is well represented, and has been most tastefully displayed from the balcony in the room, and down the sides, and arranged in a large glass case in the centre, are collections of birds, butterflies, coins, manuscripts and books, relics and curiosities of every description. There are also some valuable etchings from Farnley (by the eminent artist, Albert Durer), Indian curiosities, antique chairs, etc. Downstairs in the club room, are some geological specimens and colliery appliances, several pictures and sketches of local interest, and Mr. Seanor's electric and magnetic instruments. Among the many contributors besides Mr. Fawkes, who has so largely and generously sent the best of his Farnley Hall valuables, are to be specially noted Sir Lionel Pilkington, Sir C. Lowther, E. Claverley, Esq., Joseph Charlesworth, Esq., C. C. Charlesworth, Esq., W. Fennell, Esq., E. Hailstone, Esq., the Rev. F. J. Wood, (Headingley), the Rev. F. Fawkes, and other ladies and gentlemen in the district.

Yesterday afternoon, the Old Brass Band played a capital selection of music, commencing with a welcome strain to the Mayor on his arrival; and in the evening the members of the Castleford Orchestral Band delighted the visitors with their excellent performance of a varied programme.

Next week we anticipate being able to tabulate more fully the many loans which have been permitted by the gentlemen and ladies of the district.

A first class refreshment stall has been erected, and supplied with a rich burden of the choicest viands, which is managed by Mrs. Fawkes, Mrs. Glaister, Mrs. Wm. Hargreaves, Mrs. Tennant, Mrs. James Hargreaves, Mrs. J. R. Seanor, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. S. Seanor.

Of the committee it would be invidious to mention any special name, as all have worked most earnestly and harmoniously for the general good, and the thanks of the whole community are richly due to one and all.

CONCERT AT ROTHWELL.

On Monday evening, the members of the Rothwell Wesleyan Musical Society gave a miscellaneous concert in the school-room, where a moderate number of persons were present. The singers were all members of the Society, many of them very young, and cannot therefore be subjected to severe critisism. The performances of the chorus, both in the anthems and glees, were very creditable indeed, and reflect great praise on the efforts of Mr. Idle, the conductor. Some of the single pieces, songs and duets, would have done with a little more practice, but no doubt every one did their best, and deserve thanks for their efforts to make a pleasing entertainment. The programme opened with the playing of Mozart's 12th Mass 'Kyrie,' the second part being also introduced with the 'Gloria' from the same work, and for a small band they executed their part very nicely indeed. The band consisted of some half-dozen 'strings,' two flutes, and harmonium, and they also accompanied the anthems. The anthems selected were, "I was glad," "Blessed is he," "This is the day," "Wake the song of Jubilee," and "The earth is the Lord's." The other items in the first part were two double duets and chorus, "Angry words," by Misses. Varley and Denton, and Masters Nowell and Allen; and "Beautiful and Bright," by Misses Clarkson and Seanor, and Masters Armitage and Gurney; "After," by Miss Clarkson, and "Arm, arm ye brave," by Mr. D. Tilley, the latter with instrumental accompaniment. The second part was devoted to secular pieces, and consisted of the following glees, "Swiftly from the mountain," "Come to the woody dell," and "The singer's good night," by the choir; two songs "The Launch," and "Old English Oak," by Mr. Tilley; and the songs "Silver moonlight winds are blowing," by Miss Hartley; "Chime again," by Miss Clarkson; and "Little Birdie," by Miss A. Cripps. During the second part, a pleasing variety was imparted to the entertainment by a little lady from Bradford, Miss Goldsborough, (ten years of age), who recited with appropriate and effective action "The testimony of the dead," securing for her most hearty applause, which was so continued as to call for another example of her remarkable powers; this was accepted by her exquisite rendering of 'Papa's letter," which called her to use her natural dramatic powers to still greater advantage. Mr. W. Howarth also gave a recitation in dialect, "Hard to please," which, as an effort of memory was good, but, while causing some amusement, was not so well done as some of his previous efforts. Before the close of the evening, hearty votes of thanks were presented to Mr. Idle, the Musical Society, and especially to Miss Goldsborough, by Mr. J. R. Seanor and the Rev. Mr. Pitt, to which Mr. Idle briefly responded. Mr. A. Batty very kindly presided at the piano and harmonium, and accompanied throughout.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are excited by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s 1½d., labelled "James Epps & Co., Homeopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, Gordon Holmes, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

DEATH OF MR. BENJAMIN BATTY.

(Communicated).

Almost before the last issue of this paper had reached many of its readers, a death had occurred in our village, which for several reasons, seems to require more than ordinary notice in our columns. Few names were more familiar in Rothwell than that of Mr. Benjamin Batty, and few men might,but one short month ago, have more reasonably looked forward to many years of health, happiness and usefulness. But he has vanished from among us. Cut off in the prime of life, at the age of 32, when fortune seemed to smile the most, and every prospect to be brightest, his death has caused a profound sensation in the district, and spread a gloom which will be felt for a long time to come. Mr. Batty died early last Saturday morning after less than a week's serious illness. For three weeks previously he had been confined to his house and bedroom suffering from an ulcerated throat, brought on by a cold caused partly by chills which he had caught at night in nursing his wife, who had been unwell. The writer was with him on the Friday just a week before he died, and he then seemed to be recovering nicely, and was looking forward to getting out of doors and to work again. But early in the next week a most alarming change took place in his condition, and it became evident that he was suffering from blood poisoning. Dr. Allbutt, of Leeds, was summoned on Wednesday, but neither his skill nor the anxious attention of Dr. Glaister, was able to contend with the terrible disease. On Thursday, Mr. Batty's mind began to give way, and he never recovered his consciousness. He expired from sheer weakness, and with the exception of short struggles towards the end, his death was probably painless. The body was buried in Rothwell churchyard on Monday, October 27th, at about half-past one. The weather, which had been uncertain in the early morning, was beautifully fine and calm at the time of the funeral, and the corpse was borne from the house to its last home by the loving hands of friends. Before leaving the house, the Rev. S. Fitt, the Wesleyan Minister, gave a short and very touching address, imploring those present to remember the widow and children in their prayers. The pall bearers were Messrs. G. Rawling and J. Furness, (who however led the procession), and Messrs. B. Clark, C. Ineson, E. Hampson, J. Harrison, R. M. Sykes and T. Whitehead. The service was by request conducted by the vicar, the Rev. F. Fawkes, in a most solemn and impressive manner. Besides a very large number of relations and private friends, there were present:—Messrs. W. Hargreaves, J. G. Turner and J. R. Seanor, of the School Board; Mr. H. P. Newsome, of the Local Board; Messrs. Wice, Lockwood, and many others of the Mechanics' Institute; Mr. Harms, chairman of the Debating Society; Mr. Marshall, proprietor of the Rothwell Times, and others of the Wesleyan congregation, (to which Mr. Batty belonged), Messrs. G. Wilson and T. Stainer, of the Old Society; Dr. Glaister and Dr. Nowell, together with many members of the Liberal Club, Temperance Society, and other bodies. Mr. Batty leaves a widow and two children to mourn his irreparable loss. The early hour appointed for the funeral prevented many people who would otherwise have been there. As it was, many came at considerable personal loss, but the necessities to which miners have been reduced by bad times of late, have made broken time a very serious thing, though he must have been largely in public affairs, was one of the last persons in the world to give outside matters precedence over the claims of home and family. At a special meeting held on Tuesday night, of the present and present members of the Liberal Club, a resolution was unanimously passed to send a letter of condolence to Mr. Batty's wife and family.

DR. GOTT AT ROTHWELL.

On Sunday morning, the Rev. Dr. Gott, Vicar of Leeds, preached a sermon in the Parish Church on behalf of the Church of England Temperance Society, collections being taken at the close for the benefit of that Association. The preliminary portions of the service were conducted by the Rev. the Vicar of Rothwell, and the Rev. Mr. Samwell, curate. The choir rendered good help in their capital singing of Hayes' anthem "Praise the Lord," the duets being especially pleasing. Mendelssohn's beautiful 'Kyrie,' and a new 'Gloria' and 'Gratia' were also given very creditably.

Dr. Gott took for his text "Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess, but be filled with the Spirit."—Ephesians v. 18. His arguments were principally directed against the excess of drinking, except where it was evident that total abstinence was the only safeguard from absolute drunkenness, and urged his hearers to join in the movement against intemperance, from self-interest, for the benefit of others, and for the glory of God; and dividing his audience into those who felt this was their besetting sin, those who had at one time been too much addicted to the evil, but had in later years obtained greater mastery over themselves, and thirdly, those who are not affected by temptations in this direction: all these were urged to become members of the temperance section of the Society.

DEATH.

Holloway's Pills—No Mystery.—Whenever the blood is impure or the general health is impaired, the human body is predisposed to attack of any prevailing epidemic. The first indications of faulty action, the first sensations of deranged or diminished power, should be rectified by these purifying Pills, which will cleanse all corrupt and refuse all erring functions to order. These Pills counteract the subtle poisons in decaying animal or vegetable matter, and remove all tendency to bowel complaints, biliousness, and a host of annoying symptoms arising from foul stomachs. The fruit season is especially prone to produce attribution of the bowels and disorders of the digestive organs; both of which dangerous conditions can be completely removed by Holloway's medicines.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

PRESENTATION TO MR. S. FOWLER.—At five o'clock on Saturday last, the Rothwell Old Band met and paraded the town in honour of the presentation of a corset to their conductor. Shortly after six o'clock, about 50 members and friends sat down to a very substantial supper in the band-room of the Miners' Arms, provided by Mr. and Mrs. Brook, of the house. When all appeared to have had their fill of the tables were cleared, and the company again assembled. Mr. A. Batty being called upon to take the chair, said that when he was invited to join their gathering, he was not aware that he would have to occupy the responsible position of chairman. He was exceedingly well pleased to see Mr. W. Hargreaves among them, who, he understood, was to make the presentation. He then made a few lengthy references to the loss sustained by the village in the death of Mr. Benj. Batty. Having thanked the committee for the invitation given him, the chairman spoke a few times of poetry he had prepared, and which he thought would be suitable for the occasion, and after reading them he took his seat amid loud applause. The following songs in the shape

Bandsmen and friends, we here together meet,
To give to Mr. Fowler, this splendid new corset;
From this he'll learn the fact, (to him worth knowing),
That we at least, appreciate his blowing.
With it, we hope he'll long remain a part
In playing the sweet strains of 'Handel & Mozart';
And when our necessary is Redeeming Airs' composed by 'Round.'
Whilst 'Princess Ida,' 'Patience,' 'Pinafore,'
Are such as we have often heard before;
But trust that with this harmony, we shall ever be sick,
When tripping on the green, the 'light fantastic.'
And polkas, 'Varsed' schottishes, oft daily played we're found.

(That is, when out of a box-organ ground);

Such faults as these, of course, are not to hand,
So long as he is master of the 'Rothwell Band.'
Mr. Wm. Harrison was now called upon on behalf of the testimonial committee, and stated that the idea was started outside the band by some friends, who thought it about time the members recognised the services of Mr. Fowler as conductor of the band. At their first committee meeting, they agreed to buy a conductor's baton, but on commencing to collect subscriptions there appeared a general feeling that such a small article was not sufficient for the trouble and labour Mr. Fowler had been subjected to during the time he has conducted the band. As several gentlemen were desirous of giving more towards a rather better testimonial, another meeting was held, at which it was decided to purchase a corset instead of the baton, and they had bought a good and a suitable article as circumstances are to be got. The most important thing he had to tell them was that every penny of the cost of the corset was in hand, and moreover than that, they had had to close the subscription list eight days beforehand. (Cheers).—Mr. Hargreaves rose amid loud applause, and after remarking how thoroughly happy he was that day, said he always considered that Mr. Fowler was the right man in the right place. He experienced great pleasure in listening to the strains of the Rothwell Old Band, and was also glad to observe that its members conducted themselves orderly and well. Too much drunkenness, the speaker thought, damaged the prospects of the band, and he was pleased to notice an improvement in that respect, urging them further to try and conduct themselves as respectably as they possibly could, because he felt sure that so long as Mr. Fowler had them in hand, he would work masters in a right way. He should like to have a word or two with regard to the ill-feeling which he was only too sorry to hear, existed between the two bands playing at present in Rothwell, but sincerely hoped they would try to be as agreeable as they could, and allow things to run as smooth as possible, because Rothwell could boast of more musicians than any other village in Yorkshire, and for this simple reason, he should feel extremely sorry if anything should spring up to damage their future prospects. If there was anything to do at Hunslet, which all its inhabitants, they had to come to Rothwell for one of their bands, therefore he hoped they would not disappoint, but try to help one another. The Old Band did not practise simply a common class of music, but tackled some of the most difficult pieces published, and the speaker told the members that their playing was a credit to both themselves and everybody else in Rothwell. Mr. Hargreaves remembered the time,when Mr. Mark Fowler conducted the band, but as "the old cock crows, the young one follows," and for 37 years Mr. M. Fowler had been a member of that band. There was one man who was not with them that night, but had not sickness being the cause, he would no doubt have been as present as any of them, and the gentleman peculiarly remarking on the member in question, stated that he had several times advised him to give up playing, and the reason why he had not done so rather than either his work or anything else he had to contend with; but, however, his pleadings were in vain, because the man was unable to take a fancy to music, and he would not give it up. If a man has a 'hobby,' and he likes that 'hobby,' let him have it, because in the long run it is better for a man to have

Friday, November 7, 1884.

TIME flies apace, and in the rush of engagements, we had almost forgotten the fact that to day, we commence our twelfth year of existence. We are quite confident that we have the best wishes of our numerous friends, and that, had they been cognizant of the auspicious anniversary, they should have had a bag full of birthday good wishes. However, we take the will for the deed, and cheerily press forward on our mission of spreading light and knowledge wherever we go.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The fortnightly meeting was held on Monday evening, present, Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman), J. Holmes, J. Hargreaves, J. Oliver, H. P. Newsome, J. Dobson, and the clerk, collector, medical officer, and surveyor.

The minutes of last meetings having been read and confirmed, the health report was next taken.

HEALTH REPORT.—Mr. Waite, representing Dr. Glaister, the medical officer, reported that during the four weeks ending November 1st, there have been 14 births (6 male and 8 female), and 8 deaths (5 male and 3 female). In the corresponding period last year there were 20 births and 7 deaths. Causes of death during the past four weeks:—Female, 1 minute, premature birth; male, 5 years, enteritis convulsions; female, 17 months, convulsions; male, 51 years, pneumonia; male, 5 months, disease of heart; male, 32 years, ulceration of throat, septiceaunæ; female, 5 weeks, atrophy; male, 6 weeks, intestinal catarrh, atrophy. The general health of the district was considered to be satisfactory, there being no zymotic or infectious disease. The Board expressed its gratification with the statement.

NEW LIGHT.—Agreed at the last meeting, a new district rate is now ordered to be laid at 1/10 in the £; proposed by Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Newsome, and carried.

BUILDINGS.—The Rev. F. Smith asked the Board's approval of a slight alteration in the plan of the Primitive Mission Room, now being erected at Stourton, which, on certain conditions was allowed by the Board.

WATER.—Mr. Lawton also obtained an interview with the Board, as regards his water supply, which has had to be fetched by him hitherto, but the supply has now been cut off, and he is left absolutely without water. Mr. J. Hargreaves said that every resident in the Local Board district had a right to be supplied, the cost to be defrayed by the landlord. The Board had already stated the case to the Local Government Board, without whose permission they could not go beyond a certain limit of cost, but without a satisfactory reply. The clerk suggested that a joint appeal be made to the landlord by the Board and Mr. Lawton. It was, however, finally decided that Lord Stourton or his agent be served with 21 days' notice to supply his tenants at Rothwell Haigh with water.

HIGHWAYS.—The clerk reported that having taken work with several members, he had obtained payment of the owners for the cost of a hoarding put round certain property in Carlton Lane, which was in a dangerous condition, and which was sold piece-meal. The clerk's action was cordially approved.

A long discussion of a somewhat private character took place on the matter of Bulmer's contract for road maintenance. The chairman was stated to have done nothing on his roads for a fortnight, and they were strongly complained of. A financial difficulty is mixed up with the matter, which places the Board in a rather awkward predicament. Three cheques due to Mr. Bulmer were, however, ordered to be paid over to the person claiming to be the legal recipient; Mr. Dobson (who warmly objected), and Mr. Newsome being neutral.

The chairman (as chairman of the Highway Committee) then moved that one week's notice be given to Mr. Bulmer to repair Butcher Lane and Wood Lane. Mr. Dobson said there were worse places than these. Mr. J. Hargreaves in seconding the motion; suggested that Butcher Lane should be closed altogether, the road was so dangerous. Mr. Holmes said he had foreseen this difficulty in appointing men without sufficient capital to carry on the contract. The resolution was passed, Mr. Dobson remaining neutral, as he did not see how the man was to work without money. Mr. Holmes then moved that Mr. Nichols have six months' notice given to break the contract. This motion was also carried, Messrs. Oliver and Newsome being neutral.

DRAINAGE.—Mr. Newsome reported having visited Mr. S. Wilkinson's proposed slaughter-house, but he felt very strongly the need for the erection of a suitable general abattoir on the Gillet Lane land. The subject was not further discussed.

The subject of the drainage in Cross-street, was again introduced, and after some conversation, came to no result.

FINANCES.—The collector reported having received and paid over to the treasurer during the last fortnight as follows:—

	£57	19	11

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The usual meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday, present, Mr. J. Hargreaves, (chairman), Messrs. J. Dixon and R. Pickersgill, (vice-chairmen); Messrs. J. Parker, W. Lawton, H. Sheard, R. J. Smith, B. Aaron, G. Jepson, J. Graveley, J. Smith, C. Grosvenor, Rev. J. H. Evans, and Mr. Schofield (the clerk).

The relief cases having been considered, the minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

THE AMALGAMATION QUESTION.—The clerk read a letter in reply to the suggestion of the Local Government Board, that the Hunslet, Holbeck and Bramley Unions should be dissolved, and that the portions of these Unions within the borough should be formed into one Union, co-terminous with the municipal boundary, while the out-townships should be added to adjoining Unions. The letter went on to state that the Guardians cannot but regard this proposal with even greater repugnance than the Leeds proposal, as being retrograde in character, laden with hardship and injustice both to the ratepayers and the poor. They then refer to the formation of the Union in 1869, whereby the rural districts were brought to assist in the maintenance of the poor residing in the town, seeing that many of the out-townships in the townships of Middleton, Rothwell and Temple Newsam reside in the town, while the rateable value was in the country. These conditions still remain, and it was argued to be right and just that these townships should assist in maintaining the poor, whose labour furnished their source of income. Objections were then discussed against the addition of Temple Newsam to Tadcaster, and Rothwell, Oulton-with-Woodlesford and Middleton to Wakefield, by reason of their distance and difficulty of access, and thereby entailing hardship on the poor, and inconvenience to Guardians. It is stated that when Oulton-with-Woodlesford was in the Wakefield Union previous to 1869, no representative could be found who would sacrifice the time and labour of attending the Board meetings, not three attendances per year being made by the Guardians of that township. The fact that £3000 has been expended in this township on drainage and water, three men being constantly employed on these works, would make their management very difficult from Wakefield. The wish of Temple Newsam and other townships to join Tadcaster is natural as the cost of maintaining the poor there is only 4½d., while in Hunslet it is 7d.; but on the other hand the rate per head in Hunslet is only 2s. 1½d., while in Tadcaster it is 2s. 3½d.; shewing that that Union does not bear its fair share in maintaining the poor. The suggestion that by these changes uniformity of assessment would be secured is scouted in the letter, the only object gained being uniformity of boundary. As the Town Council have not complained of any inconvenience in this regard, there does not appear any need for change on this account. Moreover, the townships proposed to be detached are not in the boroughs to which it is suggested they should be attached. Rothwell, Oulton with-Woodlesford, and Middleton are not in Wakefield borough, or ever likely to be. There is a much greater probability that in a short time there will be a division of the Leeds borough, when the townships proposed to be sent to Tadcaster will be added to Leeds, and Hunslet incorporated with the townships on the south side of the river, in which case the whole trouble caused by the disruption of present arrangements would be thrown away and a rearrangement rendered necessary The Guardians then respectfully intimate their intention to use every means resisting the proposal, with the almost unanimous support of the ratepayers in all the townships save those proposed to be added to Tadcaster. The fact is also pointed out that in the late meeting of the Leeds Board, only 19 voted in favour of the proposal, out of 47 members. The letter concludes with the desire that previous to the enquiry, which they presume must be held, an interview may be granted to the Board, when they may be able to adduce even weightier reasons than are contained in this letter. The letter was ordered to be sent.

A deputation, consisting of Councillor Asa, Mr. Shaw and Mr. Heath, from the West Hunslet Ratepayers' Association, urging the Guardians to oppose the Amalgamation proposal of the Local Government Board, attended, and the decision of the Board was stated to their satisfaction. It is probable that a house to house canvass will be undertaken.

Propositions by Mr. Graveley and Mr. Lawton were both postponed to another meeting,—several members being absent.

HILLIDGE FIELD.—After discussion on this subject, it was proposed by Mr. Aaron, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill—That the field be offered to the Leeds Corporation for £20.

It was also moved by Mr. Parker, seconded by the Rev. J. H. Evans, that a deputation consisting of the chairman, Mr. Aaron, Mr. Pickersgill, and Mr. Lawton, have an interview on this subject with the Highways Committee. Carried.

ASSISTANT OVERSEER.—The sureties offered by Mr. Marshall, the temporary assistant overseer for Rothwell, were accepted.

DESERTED WIVES.—The clerk produced a copy of a Poor Law newspaper—advertising any persons having deserted their wives, and 'wanted' by the Unions. After some conversation, Mr. Aaron moved—That six copies of the paper be ordered weekly.

Mr. Pickersgill seconded the proposal, which was carried.

Mr. Parker also moved that the relieving officers be required to supply lists and descriptions of men who have deserted their wives, leaving them chargeable to the Union.

Mr. Pickersgill seconded the motion, which was carried.

In reply to Mr. Lawton, the chairman stated that any reward offered for the detection of such persons would be decided on the merits of each case, as brought before the Board at the fortnightly meetings.

WORKHOUSE.—There being a lad in the Workhouse belonging to Peterborough, it was carried by a vote of five over four—that the master be authorised to take the boy to his destination. Several members thought it sufficient to send the lad by an 'express' under the guard's care, but bearing in mind the 'miss' with the lads sent to Canada, the safer method was carried.

In the matter of the supply of potatoes there was rather a warm 'talk' about the price paid for potatoes, Mr. Dixon declaring that 7d. was being paid, while they could be got for 6d. Mr. Lawton declared that he was buying excellent potatoes at 6d., and he strongly objected to their paying any more. Mr. Aaron, Mr. Pickersgill, and other gentlemen took part in the discussion as to whether potatoes should be purchased by contract, or by an appointed Committee, and it was finally agreed to leave the matter in the hands of a small committee to purchase as required at the best market.

THE EMIGRANT BOYS.—Mr. Pickersgill wished to direct attention to the case of four boys recently sent to Canada under charge of Mr. Boyd, the agent of the Roman Catholic Colonization Society. Certain remarks had appeared in a local paper which cast some blame on him for the part he had taken in the matter; he felt that in doing what he did, he had acted in the best interests of the lads, and was most anxious for the promotion of their welfare. The paper referred to, intimated that the agent was an impostor, and that the boys were running wild, without anyone to take care of them; he now moved that the strictest enquiry be made as to the boys, where they are, under whose care, what they are doing, and what are their prospects. Mr. Graveley cordially seconded the motion; he recollected that every information was gathered at the time, and he should certainly like to know something more of the lads now. Mr. Dixon, although opposed to their going out, stated that the priest in Hunslet had expressed the utmost confidence in their 'being in good hands.' Mr. Lawton felt perfectly satisfied at the time, with the information that previous to the lads going out, and was quite sure they would be all right. The motion being carried, the clerk will obtain the information sought.

The several returns and wants were then gone into and passed.

WOODLESFORD CHURCH DEDICATION FESTIVAL.

Although All Saints' Church at Woodlesford, was built in 1870, the anniversary commemorations have only been partially successful, but this year a united effort has been made, and has resulted most satisfactorily to the promoters.

The Festival was inaugurated on Sunday last, when anniversary sermons were preached, in the morning by the Vicar, and in the evening by the Rev J. M. Crawford, Vicar of Lofthouse, the lessons being read by the Rev. J. M. Samwell, of Rothwell. A special musical service was given in the evening when an augmented choir attended, and rendered Tours' service in F beautifully, as also the charming anthem "What are these arrayed in white robes," and the solo, "I with all your hearts." Mr. Atkinson conducted, Mr. Lockwood presiding at the organ, while friends from Oulton, Rothwell, and Swillington rendered valuable aid in the choir.

On Monday evening, the service was repeated, Dr. Pigou, the excellent Vicar of Halifax, preaching a sermon of over an hour's duration.

The Festival was continued on Tuesday, when a substantial tea was provided, after wards followed by an entertainment, in the Woodlesford Board School, to which half of the people were admitted on Tuesday, and the remainder on Wednesday, (when it was repeated), the room being too small to allow of the entire number.

The Tuesday evening entertainment was introduced by an address from the Vicar, the Rev. A. J. Irvin, who, after explaining the reason of its being called a 'parish' tea and entertainment, as being specially for the people of Woodlesford, cordially welcomed all, whether Churchmen or Dissenters. He stated that the object of the effort was to collect funds towards the erection of a mortuary house, which would belong to the parish, not to any one person, and where all would have a right to go, for any help or guidance they might desire, from the vicar for the time being. He felt it was right that the house of God should claim their first attention, he thought they would all agree that the next subject should be the provision of a suitable dwelling for their Vicar. The Church of England was the church of the parish, and he was glad to hold out the "right hand of fellowship" to those who did not attend their church, although he could not agree with their opinions. Referring to the entertainment to be given afterwards, he said that religion did not prevent us enjoying ourselves, but only stepped in when our pleasures came between us and God, or between our duty and ourselves, and he trusted that this parish tea would be a means of bringing them all more closely together in love and friendship. Feeling a deep sympathy with working people, he only wished they had more opportunity for recreation and improvement, and hoped their daily life would become brighter and more cheery; if he was an employer he should certainly be prepared to give an extra half-holiday for this purpose. (Cheers). The entertainment then proceeded.

The choir, consisting of four ladies and five gentlemen, led by Mr. Atkinson, then sang Davis's glee 'Come away to the woods,' with considerable taste. By invitation, the Rev. J. M. Samwell kindly sang 'Thy voice is near,' to the evident gratification of all present. An old but well-written trio, 'A little farm,' was heartily taken up by Messrs. H. Parkin, G. Atkinson, and R. J. Smith, which was loudly applauded. A recitation, 'Ticket o' leave,' by Mr. W. Wright, was given with all the dramatic power which he can so effectively render, and it was only to be expected that an encore was demanded when Mr. Wright kindly recited 'The street tumbler's boy.' Mr. A. Batty followed with a new topical song, for which compositions he is well known, the chorus of this one being 'I would if I could, but I can't;' as might be anticipated, the house was fairly brought down with laughter and interest, and two encore verses were given. The choir then sang the part songs, 'Absence,' and 'Night, lovely night,' with careful emphasis. The Rev. H. M. Sims having given, 'Ye gentlemen of England,' with great care and taste, was succeeded by Dr. Purdy as 'The disagreeable man,' which took splendidly, and on demand, was replaced by 'John Wellington Wells,' the wonderful quack, no less appreciated by the amused audience. A musical treat was afforded by Mr. T. West's 'Lost Chord,' which was greatly enjoyed, and encored by 'The Skipper.' Mr. Lockwood accompanied on the piano with his usual taste and execution.

The second half of the programme consisted of a representation of H. A. Jones' pretty little play, "A Bed of Roses." We doubt if it would be possible to find a more charming little piece than this, the characters are distinct and full of human nature, and the fun is dashed with a very welcome spice of homely pathos. Our readers will doubtless remember the rendering of the piece at Rothwell about six months ago. The cast on Tuesday last comprised three of the actors who performed at Rothwell, the other three characters being supplied by new comers. Miss Castle played Dora Vellacott what he did, he had acted in the best interests of the lads, and was most anxious for the promotion of their welfare. The paper referred to, intimated that the agent was an impostor, and that the boys were running wild, without anyone to take care of them; he now moved that the strictest enquiry be made as to the boys, where they are, under whose care, what they are doing, and what are their prospects. WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of the Board was held on Friday last, the Rev. A. J. Irvin, Mr. Flockton, Mr. Hoyle, Mr. Nowell, and the clerk were present. The minutes of the last ordinary and special meetings were read and confirmed. The attendance in the district was reported to be satisfactory, there being an average of 80 per cent. of the children whose names were on the roll.

There was nothing of general interest and the proceedings were concluded unusually early.

A special meeting was afterwards held for the purpose of electing a member of the Board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Holdsworth.

Mr. Nowell proposed that Mr. Jno. Farrer, of Oulton, be elected a member of the Board, and Mr. Flockton seconded the proposition, which was carried unanimously, all the members being of opinion that if Mr. Farrer would accept the office he would be a decided acquisition to the Board.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

On Wednesday a public tea took place in the Boys' Department, National School, to which about 80 sat down. The provisions were of an excellent character, and great credit is due to the several ladies who have been untiring in their efforts to make the affair a success, which was certainly accomplished so far as the provisions and arrangements were concerned, although a much larger number might have had enough and to spare. A miscellaneous entertainment took place in the Infants' school-room at 7.30. The Vicar, the Rev. F. Fawkes, opened the proceedings, and in a few choice sentences expressed his pleasure in seeing so many present, assured that the entertainment would be a success. Miss Kidd and Mr. Naylor then gave a pianoforte duett, Miss Lunn following with the song 'Oh give to me those early flowers.' A little treat was then provided in the shape of a pianoforte and fife duett, 'The Sea,' by Messrs. Naylor and Lewis, which well merited the encore which it received. Mr. Harms' song 'Wine and Glory,' especially commended itself, the foolish fly being only another illustration of the many deplorable pictures in which man's vices are depicted, and his extreme lack of moral courage. The audience would greatly have relished another of Mr. Harms' productions, but they were obliged to be content with the prospect of hearing him again in the second part. 'Flowers and Butterflies,' by Misses Horton, Leeds, was heartily encored, and in response they gave 'Ever and Anon,' and were young Maggie, the Rev. Mr. Samwell concluding the first part with 'Sweet dreamland faces.' Mr. Tudor Trevor now came forward, and said a few very amusing stories about short addresses, which the audience relished immensely. But coming to the main object of the gathering, Mr. Trevor toned down, and very earnestly and strikingly spoke on the great subject of temperance, holding that the Church of England Temperance Society's work could be summed up in the three words 'Reform' and 'Rescue' the drunkard, and 'Reduce' his temptation; finishing up with an urgent appeal to join the movement. The second part opened with a pianoforte solo, 'Selection from 'William Tell,'' by Miss E. H. Parker, which reflected great credit on the performer, and well deserved the encore which it received, and in response she gave 'Juanita.' 'Shake of the hand' by Mr. Harms, was the next item, and it was given in his usual good style, following which came 'Maggie's secret' by Miss E. Wormald, being a good song, nicely rendered; for which performance she also received an encore. The dialogue 'Miss Burton's troubles,' by Misses A. M. Chapman, E. Dobson, S. C. Lewis, E. Wheatley, and Messrs. R. Watkin, R. H. Lewis and J. Lunn, was capital, each part being well sustained; and it would be wrong to mention any one name, each cleverly upholding the part allotted. Mr. Joseph Naylor very creditably accompanied the several songs. A vote of thanks was presented to the ladies by Mr. Fawkes, seconded by Mr. Tudor Trevor, and carried.

THE ART EXHIBITION.

The success foreshadowed by the attendance and interest manifested on the opening day, was fully maintained during the later days of the Exhibition, so much so, that at the urgent desire of several gentlemen, who were large exhibitors, the Committee decided to keep it open, on the Monday and Tuesday following, being finally closed on Tuesday evening, after a most successful week, resulting in a financial success of about £30 clear.

Although not attempting a perfect catalogue of the many contributions and their generous owners, the endeavour here to tabulate below the principal items of interest—trusting that if any gentleman or lady's name has been omitted, they will pardon us, and inform us of the same, so that it can be corrected. We are quite aware every visitor is deeply indebted to all who have sent the smallest article.

By far the most important of the exhibits in the pictures consisted of 7 water-colours, by Turner, which form part of the Farnley Hall collection, illustrating "Byron," "Scott," and "Moore," three poets in three different kingdoms born in the same case 2 most interesting sketches by Turner are shewn, one consists of 3 proclamations signed by Cromwell, Fairfax, and the King; the two former are intact, while that by the King is pierced by three swords; this is entitled "Cause and effect." The other is a picture of a Helmet, Sword and Drum of Sir Thomas—afterwards Lord Fairfax, with shot and bullets found at Marston Moor. In another case there are no 2 very valuable original etchings by Albert Durer, 'Prodigal Son,' and "The knight, death, and the devil,' nearly 200 years old. These also belonged to Ayscough Fawkes, Esq., and four fine engravings by Sir Joshua Reynolds. C. N. Charlesworth, Esq., has also contributed largely to the exhibition, 'Charity,' by Peele, a foreign coast scene, two hunting scenes, 'Game and Fish,' seascape by Carpichael, besides several cases of animals and birds being amongst them. Hogarth's picture 'Midnight Conversation,' was lent by Edmund Calverley, Esq., of Guiseley Hall. J. Cudworth, Esq., has lent a large coast scene, and an excellent 'Nativity,' by West, besides many others. Edmund Bates, Esq., lent portraits of General Monk and Captain Forrest. 'Casting out the devils,' by Van Dyck; with other pictures of excellent merit. The Rev. F. J. Wood, of Headingley Vicarage, sent the splendid portrait by Van Dyck near the needlework. A view of the South front of York Minster belongs to the Vicar of Rothwell, and received much praise; other water colours. An oil painting entitled "Who is it, was obtained from E. R. Crowe, Esq., a young Leeds artist; Lester Sutcliffe, Esq., of the same town, also sent 2 of his pictures taken from Roundhay Park, and another "A late autumn evening in Carnarvon." These and many others (amongst which are the following) made up a very extensive and excellent collection. John Tennant, Esq., water colours: 'Group of Cattle,' by T. Sidney Cooper, an architectural drawing by S. Prout, and "A seaport," by W. Callow. Jas. Simpson, Esq., 9 water colours by Wagstaff, being views of Ripon, Richmond, and Knaresborough. H. Carver, Esq., oil painting, a landscape by Carmichael, and also several water colours. Mrs. Audsley, two wool work pictures. Mrs. Geo. Armitage, a large oil painting of an old lady. An ancient map of Yorkshire (1610) was hung up without a name attached. Mr. John Parker, 'oil painting' St. Agnes,' and water colours. Mr. S. Seanor, 2 oil paintings and water colours. Mr. Hirst, small oil painting by 'Schwanfelder.' Mrs. Clarkson, 'Old Brighton.' Miss Wade, 2 pencil drawings. Dr. Nowell, oil painting, 'Mother and Child.' A number of other pictures were hung, but bearing no names, we cannot specify them here, among them being several 'Grimshaw's.

A long list of office and municipities might be made, but we shall have only to mention the most important. Of course the Commonwealth Relics from Farnley Hall attracted much attention; these consisted of Cromwell's watch and sword, the swords of Lord Fairfax and General Lambert, with the Seal of the Commonwealth for the administration of ministers. Besides these, John Tennant, Esq., lent an autograph letter of Fairfax's, and the same General's walking staff was shewn by Ed. Hailstone, Esq. The following are among the things of interest—W. Pethell, Esq., armoury, old coins, bronze work, Roman keys and brooches. Sir L. M. S. Pilkington, curtains of old English work (1692), old gold and old silver watches; old octagonal silver watch, 'right of freewarren' granted by Edward 3rd, 'with a new fangled' a coil of rope by the late Charles Waterton, and the smallest crucifix in the world. Sir C. Lowther, Maltese oil lamps, large reindeer's head, rabbit, pheasant, &c. Mrs. J. B. Charlesworth, smallest musical box in the world. Mr. C. E. Charlesworth, old gold watch. Mr. Craven, silver cup. Mrs. Seanor, old tobacco box. Rev. F. Fawkes, Florentine snuff box, Spanish knife, Labrazine. Mrs. Clarkson, old blue plates, and needlework. Mrs. Parker, needle work, old plate, pillion, and toppings. Mrs. J. B. Seanor, Indian jewellery and boxes. Mrs. Bergheim, crown of thorns made at Jerusalem, doll dressed like the Virgin Mary. Mr. A. Cripps and Mr. J. W. Wright, a fine collection of butterflies and moths, bird's eggs, old coins, etc. Mr. John Tennant, 3 old oak chairs, one of which George 4th is said to have used. Mr. J. Abbishaw, oak cradle nearly 200 years old. Mrs. S. Seanor, Indian gods. Vicar and churchwardens of Rothwell, 'John of Gaunt's' signature and an old mirror made from wood taken from Leeds Old Parish Church. Mr. T. Wormald, Prayer book, made for the Paris Exhibition. Mrs. Hare, portraits (George 2nd). Mrs. Edwin Young, electrotypes. Mrs. P. Howarth, old oak cash box. Mr. John Parker, Indian shield and clubs, walking stick made of bone. Mr. J. Wright, stuffed pole cat. Mrs. Audsley, old china. Mrs. Crawford, old china. Dr. Glaister, model of Greenland sealing canoe. Miss Whitaker, modern bead-work. Mrs. C. Nichols, needlework. Mrs. Marshall, needlework quilt. Mrs. Tennant, Indian table cover. Mrs. Hirst, old English needlework curtain. Mrs. Turner, some fine specimens of lace and needlework. J. Farrer, Esq., fossils. Rev. W. Hargreaves, Esq., specimens of carboniferous fossils, group of pit lamps, etc. J. Hargreaves, Esq., great stone taken from the bladder of a horse. Dr. Nowell, fossils, coins, Saxon, English and Spanish coins, etc. Jas. Simpson, Esq., valuable decorated jug and Indian ornaments. An ancient Bible, nearly 300 years old, Mr. J. B. Copley, also another not quite so old; ancient M.S. etc. and many other items of interest and value.

We committee last week the choice display of foliage plants, kindly lent by Messrs. John Clayton, Thos. Fielding, and Jas. Wood, and which added so much to the attractiveness of the Exhibition.

Very valuable aid has been afforded by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, who have given their services and used their talents for the pleasure and amusement of visitors, so that each evening entertainment has been provided in the shape of vocal music, recitations, etc. A very slight notice is all we can afford, though on an ordinary occasion, a column might very properly be given to each concert.

On Friday evening the Church Choir Glee Party rendered three part songs, "Here's life and health to England's Queen," "Evening," and "What shall he have that killed the deer," they also gave the opening piece 'The wintry winds,' and 'Now up the chariot at hand,' all of which were tastefully rendered." Mr. Harms gave two songs, 'Thou art so near,' and 'Philip the Falconer,' and the Rev. Mr. Samwell also rendered 'Thy voice is near,' and 'In the gloaming.' The duet 'Larboard Watch' was then given by Messrs. Woodcock and Brown. Of course Mr. A. Batty's topical song, 'I would if I could, but I can't,' was anxiously looked forward to, and met with much applause, and an encore. Besides the musical items on the programme, Dr. Purdy was called upon for two recitations, and rendered "Our Folks" and "The Duelo."

On Saturday, prior to the concert, the Rothwell Temperance Band played selections of music in the Hall and in the front of the Institute, which lent a very lively aspect to the exhibition.

In the evening the concert opened with a quartette by members of the Temperance Band. The songs were given by Miss Stead. (Leeds), "We'd better bide a wee," (encored), and Miss Nowell "When the ship comes home"; Mr. Batty also repeated his topical song. Mr. Samwell gave 'Heard on the Rhine.' Dr. Glaister gave two recitations in good style, and as an encore rendered Hood's "Bridge of Sighs." Messrs. Lewis and Varley gave a Piccolo duet, and these with the lesson in "Jogrefey," and conjuring by Dr. Purdy, made up a very interesting entertainment.

Monday evening was again taken up in a great measure by the Church Choir Glee Party, who in a very creditable manner sang the glee "Comrades in Arms," part songs "Bewark" "The Wreath" and "Fair Flora Decks" with the madrigal "Now is the month of Maying." Mr. J. Dobson, came forward with his favourite song "Nancy Lee." Mr. Harms, gave "Johnny Sands" and made a very good impersonation of the "Quack Doctor" with his blue spectacles, &c. Miss Mary Jane Clayton, played a pianoforte solo very nicely. The duett "All's Well" was well rendered by Messrs Brown and Woodcock, and the end came with "God Save the Queen.

The Wesleyan Musical Society occupied the platform on Tuesday evening, and for so young a Society did their part well. Four anthems, "Blessed is he that considereth the Poor," "Wake the song of Jubilee," "This is the day," and "The earth is the Lord's" were given with a chorus of 30 or 40 voices. Three glees were also given, the titles to which are "May Morning," "Swiftly from the mountain's brow" and "The Singer's good night." Miss Clarkson, sang two songs "After" and "Chime again." Miss Nowell, gave "Ruby" which was encored, and in response sang "Fair Dove." Miss Hartley, sang "Silver moonlight" very creditably. On the instrumental side, the "Gloria" by the band was given at the opening of the concert, and during the evening Messrs. R. Lewis and A. Varley played a flute duett, and Misses Hampson and Seanor a pianoforte duett. With great and in his usual efficient style, Mr. J. Wice played the accompaniments each evening.

A very excellent suggestion was made on Saturday to allow scholars to visit the Exhibition at a charge of a penny each, and the idea was cordially assented to. The rooms were therefore throng ' on Monday and Tuesday afternoons by young people under charge of their teachers and they were highly pleased and interested, especially with the cases of butterflies, the bird's nest in the coil of rope, the armoury, the old books, etc. About 250 children passed through, from Rothwell Haigh Board, Woodlesford Board, and Oulton National Schools; also from Methley. Mr. Savile, the rector, very kindly bringing them with him by train from Methley.

The committee met on Tuesday's concert, the Committee set to work, and commenced taking down the pictures, and otherwise preparing for the removal of them, and the other valuable articles which had been exhibited, and before Wednesday evening, most had been restored to their owners.

Much time and labour has been put into this exhibition, and the Committee highly deserve the success which has attended it. Led on by their president, who has been the mainspring in the whole machinery, and who has not stopped content with securing the articles to show, but has even set about fixing tables, arranging things, and doing other manual work in a real earnest style; the committee have worked night and day in the affair, and we are sure everyone will thank them for the way in which the whole work has been done, bringing credit on the Institute and on the village.

EPPS COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled; "JAMES EPPS & Co, Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Autumnal Remedies.—Towards the fall of the year countless cases are at work to lower the tone of the nervous system, which will be followed by ill health unless proper means be employed to avert that evil. Holloway's far-famed preparations supply a faultless remedy for both external and internal complaints contracted with changes of season. All affections of the skin, roughness, blotches, pimples, superficial and deep-seated inflammations, erysipelas, rheumatic pains, and gouty pangs, alike succumb to the exalted virtues of Holloway's Ointment and Pills; which will effect a happy revolution in the patient's condition, and the most inveterate disorder are found to have obstinately withstood the best efforts of science to subdue them.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

CARLTON.—The anniversary of the Wesleyan Missionary Society has been held in the Wesleyan Chapel, Carlton, during the past week. On Sunday, two sermons were preached by Mr. A. Tattersall, of Wakefield, and on the following Tuesday evening the missionary meeting was held, the chair being taken by Mr. Wm. Hargreaves. The report shewed that the society was now free from debt, and that successful work had been done over the whole of its field of operations, particulary in France, India, and Southern Africa. The chairman confirmed from personal observation the statement of the report as to France, he having been present in that country at the time of the Voltaire celebration, and also remarked on the barren and desolating effects of infidelity there and elsewhere. Hospitals and works of mercy had been the result of christian faith and never of unbelief. Rev. T. Rathmell was warmly received, it being his first visit to Carlton. Recommended objections to the work, and made an earnest appeal for increased support. The meeting was also addressed by the Rev. Sidney Pitt. The collections were considerably in advance of last year. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the chairman for his presence and liberal support of the funds.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—On Wednesday last, a concert was given in the above place, which was got up for the purpose of raising a sick club funds, but there was only a moderate company present, owing perhaps partly to other attractions, The effort, it was feelingly remarked in trying to bring before the public good talent were very successful, and was deserving of being better patronised than they were on the occasion. Messrs. of Birstal, opened each part with a pianoforte solo, which he accomplished with much taste, and was well deserving of an encore. Two solos on the violin with pianoforte accompaniment were nicely given by Master Day. Miss Day has a fine voice, and she will easily excel both in the first and second part receiving an encore, and he kept those present in a continued state of amusement. The pieces selected were "Ring the call to me, dear father," "The monarch of the wood," and "Tickling Ned," while Miss Day rendered "Timothy Bent, the rent collector," "Give my best respects to all," and "Dear me, is that possible." Mr. C. Nettleton (Leeds) also gave a favourable impression of his qualities as a musto vocalist, and gave three songs consisting of "Far, far away," "The old village blacksmith shop," and "The harp." For two of which he had to return, the latter piece being especially worthy of comment, as it is a beautiful song, and in the hands of Mr. Nettleton, it was feelingly rendered. His encore songs were "The reckoning day" and "Let me kiss you." Mr. R. Forster, of Leeds, very ably accompanied the above. Master Willie Nettleton, while Mr. Firth undertook the work for Miss Day and Master Day. Mr. W. Blackburn occupied the chair, and fulfilled the duties in his usual amusing way. As all the performers had given their services gratuitously, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded them on the motion of Mr. T. Whitehead and Mr. C. Ineson.

WOODLESFORD.—The missionary meetings was held in the Wesleyan Chapel on Thursday evening. Mr. Edward Allcock, of Wakefield, presided, and supported the claims of the society in a hearty speech. The Rev. A. B. Crabtree, of Seacroft (both humorous and pathetic) of his experiences as a missionary on the gold coast of Africa. The success of Wesleyan missionaries lives in this unwholesome region has been great, but the services have been remarkable. The numbers given in the report, 2,000 to 3,000 more than thirteen thousand, Rev. Sidney Pitt, also spoke of the remarkable opportunities for missionary work in these times. The collections, subscriptions, &c., were upwards of £5 19s. 8d., of which a larger proportion than usual was raised by the young people by means of missionary boxes. Thanks were accorded.

POOR RATE.—At the West Riding Police Court, on Monday, a poor rate of 1s. 3d. in the £ was laid for the township of Oulton-with-Woodlesford.

STOURTON WESLEYAN BAND OF HOPE.—The annual tea and entertainment was held in the Wesleyan School-room last Saturday. A very excellent tea was provided at 5 o'clock, of which a large number of people partook, followed by an entertainment, presided over by Dr. Dowell, of Rothwell. After singing and prayer, Mr. J. Nash introduced Dr. Nowell. The chairman, in his address, congratulated the committee on the progressive, and advised all those who were not abstainers to become so at once. A good number of recitations, &c., were given, one worthy of special mention being given by Mr. J. Wormald. The chief attraction was, however, a violin solo by Mrs. Bates, a sight dimpsy, by whom it must be said, fully deserved the applause she got. A pleasing variety also was a well rendered pianoforte duet. The Rothwell Band of Hope Choir was conducted by Mr. T. Kale. At the close of the entertainment a satisfactory collection was made.

HUNSLET.—Burglary.—Between midnight and the above society held their weekly meeting last Friday. A very able essay on 'Water' was given by Mr. F. Harris, of Rothwell, and a hearty vote of thanks was man, everybody was very pleased at the manner in which the essay was given.

FATAL COLLIERY ACCIDENT.—Between midnight and two o'clock on Tuesday morning, Edward Dawson, 19, bye-workman at the New pit, Middleton, met with his death by the fall of the roof. He was found in the place where he had been working, with a large stone on the top of him. He was last seen alive in the pit by Richard Lowe, a night deputy, by whom he had previously been warned not to touch the roof. The inquest was held before Major Taylor, at Middleton, on Wednesday last. The verdict was returned that "Accidentally killed by the falling of the roof in the 'little coat' main of New Pit, Middleton Colliery."

A GOOD SAMARITAN.—Last week the pleasure of inspecting a magnificent Gold Keyless Watch Hunter, made to the order of Councillor Alf Cooke. We are glad to hear of the progressive improvement, and is all that a time-keeper could be. The case (which are of 18 carat gold) are a unique specimen of the goldsmith's art. The back has the husband's monogram and crest embossed; while the front part has been beautifully enamelled to form the figures and the words "Better Half." Mr. Cooke informs us that some time ago he entrusted to W. Owen, of 4, Briggate, Leeds' a large clock to make and erect for his works, as it has given such universal satisfaction, he was encouraged to place this impotant order in his hands, which has been completed with success.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The match on Saturday last, reminded one of olden times, when "Emonie" and Oulton used to do battle against each other, for excitement and numbers present. Some 200 persons were in the field to witness the encounter, but very few expected a tie would be the result, especially if it be borne in mind that Oulton players were in excellent training, while on the other hand some of the Rothwell men had not touched the ball this season before last week, I may say that I myself, was never more "taken in" in all my life than I was about that match, and my idea was that Oulton would at least have 4 or 5 goals to the good at the finish, however, I must give honour where honour is due. It was the fine play of the Rothwell backs that upheld the honour of their club, and to W. Hartley, (captain), great credit is due, as he made one of the finest games ever witnessed on Rothwell ground, moreover, his playing throughout was a treat to witness, and I may say without fear of contradiction, that he was the best man on the field. Besides him, Ward and Wormald played to advantage, but the forwards were thoroughly out of practice, their passing being very indifferent. The right wing forwards were partly to blame for this, as they kept the leather nearly all the time at their side, while the "renowned Dobson" on the left was simply doing nothing at all, owing to not being properly supported from the right. This was a great mistake, for the part of those forwards, and if they had only played into one another's hands as they ought to have done, the surprise might have been greater. Again, the Oulton side the case was different, their forwards being ahead of the backs, so far as play is concerned, and in the 1st I could observe that their captain (Boothroyd) working as hard as ever; this time in his new place centre forward, a position I spoke about when giving the review of the Oulton club a fair trial, he is a weak one, unless the captain had two men for it. However, it was managed by the player we took it, and he was ably assisted by Albert Scott, from the left. The latter is a nice screw kick, and brings his balls in front of the goal in splendid style, one or his in the first half being especially noticeable. The halfs were a pretty fair trio, the ever welcome face of T. Cooper being one of the number, and the captain was spoken very highly of by the spectators, though for my own part I should like his style much better had he to play in front of the backs, because when there's any wind up, such kicks as those of the above player are very dangerous, as they get blown further than when they were kicked from the centre. The backs are kept low (so as to go nicely over the heads of the players) they go further on a still day, and are not likely to be blown so far out of the line as are when high in the air. I don't know what Oulton people see in "Dick with his long 'uns," as I have seen him play several times, and in but one single occasion has he performed anything out of the ordinary (rather the other way) and on Saturday I never saw worse kicking than what he did, two out of nearly every three balls did he slip off the side of his foot, some going outside of the flag, while others went nicely to a Rothwell man. If I was one of the Oulton forwards, a better man than "Dick" would have to be at my back, or else I should put very little trust in him as a defender of the citadel, and a safe and reliable kick. His companion, Nunns, was perhaps a little better, but not much so, as he is to fail to see "crack back" as some people call him. I was only too sorry that a dispute should arise (when it only wanted some five or six minutes to the call of time) in reference to a goal obtained by Oulton. From a spectator's end a goal was declared to appear a goal, but as laid down by the Rothwell umpire, and one of the backs, it was most certainly "off side." Oulton players were not to blame for the dispute, because the right-wing forwards were playing behind the backs every time they had the opportunity, and I kept one eye on my play in readiness for calling out to them. My advice to the two players in question, is that if I could not play without being "off side" I would not play at all, for there's nothing to be gained by so doing. To see how seldom goals have been scored fair enough to some matches that have been objected to, is simply because one or two players were (if they had the chance) always behind the backs. Taken altogether, the match was a very keen one throughout, but if anything, Oulton had rather the best of it.

CAPTAIN.

OULTON v. ROTHWELL.

The above teams met on Saturday afternoon last, on the ground of the latter, in the presence of a large number of spectators. Oulton won the toss, and the Rothwell captain kicked off, with the wind blowing almost diagonally across the field. For a while play was down one side of the field, but the ball was travelled to the vicinity of the home goal. Nothing transpired, however, and after some play in neutral territory, the Oulton goal was invaded for a time, but with no success. Some give and take play then took place, and after (the Rothwell captain) made the finest run of the day, almost the length of the field; nothing resulted, however, and no goals were kicked at the call of half-time. In a few minutes the ball was again set rolling, and rather rough play commenced. Both sides made onslaughts on the opposing goal, but the good saving power of the backs and goalmen averted the threatened danger, until some few minutes before time, after some sharp play on the part of the visitors, the ball was passed to Moore, who put it through the Rothwell uprights. An appeal was immediately made to the umpire, and 'off-side' was given as the reason was agreed to, and a' six yards' taken by Rothwell. After some exciting play in the vicinity of the Oulton goal, the whistle was blown for time, and where it remained to the finish, but with no serious result, and at the call of time the game resulted in favour of Oulton by having scored. Teams:—OULTON: Goal, W. Bradley; backs, C. Nunns, R Jowitt; half-backs, T Coope, J Crawford, J Hirst; forwards, A. Scott, W. Moore, (captain) T. Abbey; (centre) E Boothroyd (capt) (right wing) T Moore, H Ellis. ROTHWELL: Goal, W Smith; backs, W Hartley, (capt) A Wormald; half backs, J. Ward, A. Seanor, A Basies; forwards. G Dobson, J Harrison; (left wing) E Copley (centre) W I Taylor, J W Chadwick (right wing.)

STOURTON ST. ANDREW'S v. HUNSLET WESLEYANS.

This match was played on the Stourton ground on Saturday. The home captain having won the toss, kicked off at 3.30. with a slight wind. The ball was immediately rushed up to the Wesleyan goal, where after some give and take play, Cowling got the ball and dribbled into the home quarters. The Stourton back however secured the leather, and by a long dribble and kick nearly succeeded in beating the Wesleyan colours. For a time play was carried on in the Wesleyan territory. Hall eventually succeeding in alleviating his side, and was rewarded by the Stourton back, who again dribbled up, and the good play of Willis in goal only succeeded in averting the downfall. Lunn was now transferred to the Wesleyans, by dribbling well into the home quarters, but he was well stopped by Hall, who on one occasion spoiled his chances at goal. Soon after A. E. Goldthorpe made a capital attempt at goal for Stourton, which Willis saved splendidly. The ball was called soon after, neither side having scored, although some good play had been exhibited. On restarting, the home team pressed with a "backing cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box.—Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS, Boston, U.S. European depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

HARRIERS.

The Stourton Harriers had their run on Saturday from head quarters, Queen Hôtel, Stourton. The hares, W. Atkinson and A. Jones, were sent off at 3.30, and the pack with J. Clark as pace, 10 minutes later. The trail led down Wakefield Road to Thwaite Gate, down the canal side to Thwaite Mills, across the drawbridge, past Bundy Row, and along the fields between the river and canal to Warterloo, then out into Knostrop road. Then across country to Swillington Bridge, through Woodlesford and the cricket ground, across Church Garside's farmstead to Pontefract road, then by the footpath leading to Spiney lane, where the finish was found. The pace then led across the country to Wakefield road, half-a-mile from home, when it was decided to race in. R. and J. Clark third. Distance run, 10 miles. J. W. Weatherhead acted as whip.

DISSOLUTION OF THE HUNSLET UNION.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Sir,

My attendom has been directed to two anonymous letters which have appeared in your paper, one on October 24th ultimo, signed 'Rothwell,' and one on the 31st signed 'Scrutator,' but each bearing a striking resemblance in the style, diction and character.

The writer (or writers) of the letters is evidently not seeking to benefit the township of Rothwell so much as to work his spleen against the township of Hunslet, indulging in pettish invectives against the latter township, for making what he calls 'a profit' out of the Ratepayers of Rothwell, keeping quite in the dark the fact, that if Rothwell is taken from Hunslet, it must be joined to some other Union, and it is possible to be part of the levying pan into the fire.

The question to be answered at the present time, is, what is the best course to adopt in the interests of the ratepayers and the poor? Will it be the greatest benefit to the township of Rothwell to retain the proposal of the Local Government Board and retain the Hunslet Union as it is, or that it should become amalgamated with the Wakefield Union?

At the public meeting held in Oulton on the 10th October, Mr. Smith very clearly shewed that there would be no pecuniary advantage to the ratepayer in being joined to Wakefield, and I think no one will venture to say that the poor would derive advantage by the change.

If then there would be no benefit accrue from the change, would there be any inconvenience? Let anyone residing in the Wakefield Union in the event of discovery of the sad. Price 2s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Florilline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the mouth, teeth, and breath of impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a pearl-like purity which nees, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour from the breath after tobacco. "The Fragrant Florilline" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste. Price 2s. 9d. per bottle. Discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

HOW THE COMPLEXION IS RUINED.—It is well known to the medical faculty that the majority of skin diseases are the result of impurities in the blood, the effect of impure and irritant soaps. The more delicate the skin the quicker is the ruin. Why not adopt the only wholesome and safe remedy? During the last five years the total number of attendances by the guardians representing the Rothwell District, was three perpaer. Now the township is never unrepresented.

There is little doubt that a determined resistance will prevent the Local Government Board from pressing their scheme. That it would receive the support of a section of the Leeds Board was to be expected; they seek self-aggrandisement at any cost. Their judgment as a Board however can be estimated at its proper value, when it is remembered that 19 guardians out of 47 have given their votes in favour of the proposal.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
T. SCHOFIELD.
Clerk to the Hunslet Board.

RATES.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

In your report of the Local Board meeting of the 24th u t, I noticed that Mr. Dobson said he would like to have the different rates specified on the demand notices, as he usually liked to know. If you, or some of your readers would be good enough to explain why the Rothwell ratepayers should be so much more heavily taxed than the ratepayers of Leeds. Can we afford to pay so much more than they? are we richer than they? On the contrary, we are told that we are poor in Rothwell that we cannot afford to have our streets paved, no, not even the main streets in the town; nay, we are in very poor that we cannot have the paved crossings, nor the streets properly cleaned, so that if we wish to walk out of the inhabition. Great care has been taken to preserve the valuable collection with which they have been arranged, and it is sincerely hoped that everything will be found on its return, in perfect order. Their thanks are also due to the ladies who have supplied and managed the refreshments, and to all who gave their services in the various concerts which proved such a great attraction, and added so materially in the success of the undertaking.

Yours truly,
G. H. ARMITAGE, Hon. Sec.

TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT.

It is at all times hard to lose one whom we hold dear, but it is terribly so when we have the consciousness that but for mistaken treatment the loved one might have been with us still. To some cases the fact that the sufferer is treated for the wrong complaint is known in sufficient time to admit of the patient being saved, and the following is a case in point:—

A little more than two years ago, a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption. Her fond parents took her to Paris, as a last resort, hoping to find some skilful physician there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreadful disease. In this their hopes were blighted, but fortunately away in that distant foreign city they met with a description of a new method of treating Dyspepsia which emanated from the Mount Lebanon Shakers of the State of New York. The thought struck the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and not consumption; and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was obtained and administered to the patient, and the result was truly marvellous. To-day their daughter lives in the enjoyment of good health. The fact was, the patient had been treated for the wrong complaint, and when she was treated for Dyspepsia (her real trouble), all the alarming symptoms of consumption vanished. This is not an isolated case. The county is full of suffering thousands that are being treated for Liver Complaint, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Lung Troubles, &c., &c., &c., when in fact they are afflicted with Indigestion in some of its varied forms, and all of such sufferers would obtain relief if they were properly treated for Dyspepsia. Seigel's Curative Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or patent medicine store. Dr. Seigel, Physicians, A. J. White, Limited, No. 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C.

Her Majesty the Queen has been pleased to accept a copy of the new edition of Jewitt's well-known artiffel "Pottery and Porcelain: A Guide to Collectors." by Mr. Frederick Litchfield. It is now in all booksellers in London pottery. That the book has come as a boon to collectors of old china is proved by the fact that since its first publication in 1878, 5,000 buyers and Son, in 1880, two new editions have been called for.—Court Journal.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless to use in any case, and pleasant to taste. It produces quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. Sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Florilline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the mouth, teeth, and breath of impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a pearl-like purity which nees, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour from the breath after tobacco. "The Fragrant Florilline" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste. Price 2s. 9d. per bottle. Discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

HOW THE COMPLEXION IS RUINED.—It is well known to the medical faculty that the majority of skin diseases are the result of impurities in the blood, the effect of impure and irritant soaps. The more delicate the skin the quicker is the ruin. Why not adopt the only wholesome and safe remedy? During the last five years the total number of attendances by the guardians representing the Rothwell District, was three perpaer. Now the township is never unrepresented.

There is little doubt that a determined resistance will prevent the Local Government Board from pressing their scheme. That it would receive the support of a section of the Leeds Board was to be expected; they seek self-aggrandisement at any cost. Their judgment as a Board however can be estimated at its proper value, when it is remembered that 19 guardians out of 47 have given their votes in favour of the proposal.

T. SCHOFIELD.

Friday, November 14, 1884.

As the subject of rates is a most important one to everybody, and has been referred to in a very pointed letter last week, it may be advisable to discuss some of the questions raised. Every ratepayer has a right to know how his money is expended, and every authority is bound to open its accounts to all who have a right to see them, providing this is done at suitable times and under proper conditions; an illustration of which may be found on scanning the notices issued by the Overseers and the School Board this very week, and posted on the church and chapel doors. Besides this a full statement is published by the School Board every three years, and by the Local Board at Easter, specifying the particulars of income and expenditure, so that any ratepayer or other person may in the easiest manner possible ascertain "how the money goes." These abstracts of account were referred to by Mr. Turner at the last Local Board meeting.

Another mode of ascertaining "how the money goes" is found by a perusal of the estimate furnished previous to the laying of any Local Board rate, or the issue of any School Board precept, which are pretty fully specified in the reports of the meetings. Before going further into figures, may we remark on the difference between Leeds and Rothwell in regard to the form of demand notes. Rothwell, together with hundreds of other places, is under the paternal care and direction of the Local Government Board, whose laws are found in the Public Health Acts, wherein is specified the exact form in which every book must be kept, and every form be issued; the demand note for Rothwell is according to that hard and fast order. Leeds is not so bound, having special Acts of Parliament for its own governance, and we presume, has decided on issuing its demand notes, in the form mentioned by our correspondent.

We have taken the trouble, for the information of our readers, to ascertain in what proportion the present 1/10 rate will be divided for the different departments of Board work, and the result is as follows, accepting as a basis that £85 is raised by a 1d. rate. About half of the rate, say 10½d., is required for the maintenance of our streets and highways; 3d. for sewerage treatment and nuisance removal; 1d. for street lighting; 4d. for repayment of loan and interest incurred by the drainage and waterworks; 1½d. for salaries; and 1d. for legal charges, election expenses, establishment charges and miscellaneous items, leaving a margin of about 1½d. to cover leakages and allowances for unoccupied houses, etc. It is but fair, however, to remember that the last two or three years have been years of extraordinary expense, in completing the drainage and waterworks and in bringing up our highways to such a condition as will satisfy the county surveyor, and secure for us some assistance from that source. It may now be anticipated that the reduction of 2d. this half-year, will be followed by a further lightening of our burdens when the full advantage of the County return is received. The 2s. rate was necessitated by the compulsion used by the county to make our roads good; the county authorities will, in future, return to our exchequer, a considerable proportion of the cost incurred by the Board, so long as the roads are kept good.

We are not sufficiently acquainted with the Leeds scale, as referred to by our correspondent, though a gentleman states that his last rates were 3/5 for the Corporation and 3/- for the Poor. If this is so, the Local Board average rate is about the same as Leeds, while the Poor rate is 1s. less than the town.

Why are our rates as much as Leeds, our correspondent asks? May we answer in two ways. First, our authorities have given us every advantage that Leeds has, so far as they are able; we have drainage, water, streets lighting, and free highways; but we have little rateable value to pay for them. Here is our misfortune. Could our rateable value be increased by railway, by mills or in some other way, we should have comparatively no more expense, but we should have a much larger rateable value out of which to obtain our money, and so our rates would be proportionately reduced. Looking into this subject further, we find this argument supplies some extraordinary figures, which will no doubt be as surprising to our readers as they were to us. Leeds rateable value is put down at about £800,000, and by laying 1d. rate she raises £3,000; whereas Rothwell, only having a rateable value of £31,000, can only collect £85 by a 1d. rate. So that supposing our year's expenditure is £3,600, we have to lay a rate of 3/5, while the same amount could be raised in Leeds by a 1½d. rate!! If the rateable value of Rothwell was £62,000, (double the amount it now is) and, all other things being equal, our rate would only be 1/9 per annum, and so on. These figures (which are only approximate, not exact) speak volumes, and we should hail every new house erected as a means towards this end. For this reason too, we rejoice in the rumour of another step being made towards the making of the proposed railway, which will have a marked effect on the rates, by increasing our rateable value, and so reducing the individual cost.

THE revival of the rumours as to the fall of Khartoum and the death of General Gordon rest upon no reliable authority. On the contrary, there is negative evidence that they are unfounded. A deserter from the Mahdi's forces at Berber, who arrived at Dongola yesterday, after a journey of fifteen days, states that the inhabitants of Berber were much harassed by General Gordon's steamers, were much dissatisfied with the Governor, and were prepared to tender their submission on the arrival of the British forces. Other intelligence, whilst confirming the advance of the Mahdi's forces, imply that Gordon is still at Khartoum.

ON Monday evening, the Franchise Bill passed unexpectedly quick through Committee in the House of Commons; on Tuesday, the third reading was agreed to with but little discussion, and last night the Bill made its re-appearance in the House of Lords, where it was read a first time, the second reading being fixed for Tuesday.

WE are credibly informed that the hope of a settlement of the Franchise question has grown stronger within the last twenty-four hours, but this hope is not based upon anything of a definite character. It is said that the highest person in the realm is doing all that she legitimately can do to bring parties to an understanding. There is no doubt that the Duke of Argyll visited Mr. Gladstone on Wednesday with a view to negotiations of a private character. The determination of the Tory leaders to hold no communication with the Government until the Redistribution Bill is brought in renders it difficult to suggest an arrangement. The Duke may attempt to communicate with the Tory leaders, but it is more probable that he will address himself to the independent section of the Tory party. It is almost useless to expect that the Tory leaders will concur in any settlement to which the Government can assent; and almost the only prospect of any arrangement lies in the probable detachment of a portion of the Conservative Peers from their usual leaders.

WE have also good authority for stating that, in any case, there will be no dissolution this year. What means the Government may take to meet the difficulty, if it arises, it is impossible to say; but it is certain that the Cabinet are determined not to dissolve Parliament at the behest of the House of Lords. This view is shared by all the members of the Cabinet; and it is believed, therefore, that in spite of rumours that are current, there is no intention of solving the difficulty by a general election. Of course, unexpected circumstances may arise which may force the Government early in the year to go to the country. No one can tell what courses the controversy may take, and circumstances may compel the Government to take steps which they do not now contemplate.

The result of the election for the presidency for the United States of America which took place on Nov. 4th, is now officially decided in favour of the Governor of New York, Mr. Grover Cleveland, whose views are friendly towards this country, and whose name has always been associated with honesty and probity. He is 47 years old, and has risen, like so many of his predecessors, from humble birth in a country village in New Jersey, gradually rising by his own perseverance and good character to become a prominent solicitor, and eventually Governor of New York, and now to be the President of the great continent accross the water.

ON Monday last, the yearly election of Mayors of the numerous municipalities of Britain took place, and smoug others were the following:—

LONDON:—The Lord Mayor for the present year is Alderman George Swan Nottage, and the annual banquet to Her Majesty's ministers took place on Monday evening, a full report of the annual 'Show' is given in our 6th page.

LEEDS:—Alderman Bower, who succeeds Alderman Woodhouse, from whom we have so lately had a visit.

WAKEFIELD:—Alderman Moorhouse, 21 years in the Council, succeeding Councillor W. H. Lee, who has been Mayor four times.

PONTEFRACT:—Alderman Rhodes, re-elected for the fifth time.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are excited by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s. 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soothe and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

Holloway's Pills.—No Mystery.—Whenever the blood is impure or the general health is impaired, the human body is predisposed to attack of any prevailing epidemic. The first indications of faulty action, the first sensations of deranged or diminished power, should be rectified by these purifying Pills, which will cleanse all corrupt and reduce all erring functions to order. These Pills counteract the subtle poisons in decaying animal or vegetable matter, and remove all tendency to bowel complaints, biliousness, and a host of annoying symptoms arising from foul stomachs. The fruit season is the time to prove to produce irritation of the bowels and disorders of the digestive organs; both of which dangerous conditions can be completely removed by Holloway's medicines.

KAY'S COMPOUND Essence of Linseed, Aniseed, Senega, Squill, Tolu, &c., with Chlorodyne. Of all Chemists.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence in thousands of cases, because it contains more nutritious and less exciting elements than any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa usually sold. When you ask for Cadbury's Cocoa Essence be sure that you get it, as shopkeepers often push imitations for the sake of extra profits. Makers to the Queen. Paris depôt, 90 Faubourg St. Honoré.

MR. BENJAMIN BATTY'S DEATH.
(Communicated).

In reference to this sad event, the Vicar preached on the morning of last Sunday week from the text, Hebrews, 6, 12, "That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises." After depicting the death of the soldier and the fisherman at the call of duty, and quoting Tennyson's exquisite lines and dwelling upon the mysterious operations of the Divine Will, which, while leaving the basest and the worst to live, called away the truest and best and took them from us; he pointed out the lesson of submission in faith and confidence that these trials are all ordained for wise and unerring purposes.

"But oh! for the touch of a vanished hand
And the sound of a voice that is still."

As regards the character of Mr. Batty, a few words may not be out of place.

The observations made by 'Gossip' in last fortnight's paper were very appropriate and he need fear no charge of exaggeration. But it was not the suddenness of Mr. Batty's death, or the loss sustained by his wife and children which caused such an impression, as the strong personal qualities which gave him his pronounced individuality. A well-known person in the village expressed his surprise that at the early age of 32, Mr. Batty had in his sphere "made such a mark upon his day and generation." This may seem rather high-flown language, but in the opinion of the writer, it is justified by the moral qualities which were so conspicuous in his conduct. In all the relations of life, whether as a father, son, husband, friend, master or servant, he was humanly speaking, beyond reproach. The two chief points, however, about him, which seem to claim most attention, were his strong sense of right and wrong, and his devotion to private and domestic duties. With regard to the former a little personal incident may be recorded. Some years ago, a gentleman remonstrated with Mr. Batty in the hearing of the writer, upon the coolness and assurance with which he could confront people in a higher station than himself, adding that he wondered he was not afraid to speak out as he did before —certain local magnates. Mr. Batty was at no loss for a reply and quick as thought, in fact almost before the gentleman had finished speaking, his answer came "I'm not afraid of saying or doing anything so long as I know it is right." The tone and the manner in which the words were said was very impressive. The readiness of the reply showed that the whole subject had been calmly and carefully thought out long before, and the rule of life settled once for all.

While Mr. Batty took such an active interest in all public matters, both in the village and beyond, it was at no sacrifice of home affections. His private life was perfect. On Saturday evenings he used to make a practice of going to the Liberal Club, and he would say to the writer as they walked home together "Now then I must have something for my lad" and then he would buy him a cocoa-nut, or an orange, or a toy, to place upon his bed that he might find it in the morning. Those who knew Mr. Batty will admit that it is no exaggeration to say that there was scarcely a man in Yorkshire who was such an ardent liberal, and would therefore be so anxious to attend the great meeting on Woodhouse Moor the other day. But the sacrifice was made, home duties called him elsewhere, and Mr. Batty stopped at Rothwell.

Ardent partisan as he was, Mr. Batty made no enemies. His motives were pure, and he never allowed public contest to engender private animosity. Those who bore any grudge against him had all the grudge to themselves, he bore none. Almost these very words were made use of to the writer since his death, by one whom he had helped to defeat and whom he had opposed publicly on several occasions.

Another trait of Mr. Batty's character ought not to be passed over in silence. While leading so blameless a life himself, he was indulgent as few men are, of the sins and faults of others.

One last incident may be told, and this little sketch is finished.—A few hours before he died, and some days after his reason had passed away, he murmured, "The good on the right hand and the one on the left—that's right, that's as it should be, isn't it?" These were the last words he uttered, and fit indeed for the closing scene. Aged 32.

Leaves have their time to fall
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all—
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O Death.

Youth and the opening rose
May look like things too glorious for decay
And smile at thee; but thou art not of those
That wait the ripened bloom to seize their prey.—

Mrs. Hemans.—"The Hour of Death."

TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT.—It is at all times hard to lose one who is dear, but it is terribly so when we have the consciousness that but for mistaken treatment the loved one might have been with us still. In some cases the fact that the sufferer is treated for the wrong complaint is known in sufficient time to admit of the patient being saved, and the following is a case in point:—

A little more than two years ago, a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption. Her fond parents took her to Paris as a last resort, hoping to find some skilful physician there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreadful disease. In this their hopes were blighted, but fortunately away in that distant foreign city they met with a description of a new method of treating diseases, which emanated from the Mount Lebanon Shakers of the State of New York. The thought struck the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and not consumption; and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was obtained and administered to the patient, and the result was marvellous. To-day their daughter lives in the enjoyment of good health. The fact was, the patient had been treated for the wrong complaint, and when she was treated for Dyspepsia (her real trouble), all the alarming symptoms of consumption vanished. This is not an isolated case. The country is full of sufferers themselves that are being treated for Liver Complaint, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Lung Disorders, &c., &c., when the fact is they are afflicted with Indigestion in some of its varied forms, and all of such sufferers should obtain relief if they were properly treated for Dyspepsia. Seigel's Curative Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or patent medicine vendor throughout the province. J. J. Whaley, Limited, No. 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C.

LOFTHOUSE REMINISCENCES.

By Mr. Geo. Roberts.

The property which runs along the Lee Rock, now part of the Lofthouse House park, was purchased by Joseph Charlesworth, Esq., in 1827. It was formerly occupied by a farmer named Joseph Butler. The lands, now used as a carpenter's shop, with cobbled round house on the Scarcroft side of the road, formed the home-stead—a bridge connected the two parts of the farm. The name of the house was altered from Miss Mary Stocks. Shortly after 1827 the brook was straightened, and the wall up Lofthouse hill side was built, opposite to where the brook was improved with a stank cock-pit House, a spot of cottages built on a hill side, famous in former days for cock fighting and gambling, as it was an out-of-the-way place, one way Outwood, stretching up to it. Roads to Wakefield in all directions ran over the Outwood. Land has been previously bought here on the Stanley side of the Lee by Mr. Charlesworth. What is now the park was all cornfields, and a footpath ran through them, opposite to Mr. Lee's house, in the hill side to Coppidhouses, which footway was called Boar or Booth Lane. The farm-yard which stood where now stands Lofthouse House was exempted 100 years ago by a Shimeld of Carlton; which later by a former named Fearnley, later by David Robinson, and later sold by Barbara Johnson, his widow, who married Walker the schoolmaster. The front entrance to Lofthouse House was at first at the top of the hill. The back entrance faced the north. Properly adjoining the back entrance belonged to Thomas Clarkson, a shoemaker, who died in 1817, aged 91. The cottage now occupied by William Tate was the first post office, which was opened about 1826. William Nettleton, village tailor, was the postmaster.

The house where Mr. Thomas Hargreaves lives was occupied by a family of weavers named Jo. afterwards, between 1841 and 1851, by Mr. Peter Allen, the figurarian. The high building now the Post Office was occupied by Hopkinson, the Yorkshire Gazetteer gist, afterwards by Mr. Hewbottom, later as the village workhouse, and later still as miners' cottages. The building on the south side of the Post Office was a disused stable in which the S.S. Thomas ours was held out to the inhabitants in the time of the Penfoxs. It belonged to Mr. Fenton, of Hunslet, and was made over, I am informed, to the Rev. John Reid. All the land eastward down to the beck, belonged to the Barnells, who were stonemasons, and on which land

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

HOUSE OF LORDS.—MONDAY.

THE GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

During a short discussion which ensued on the presentation by Lord Napier and Ettrick of a petition from Europeans, Hindus, and Mussulmans in the Madras Presidency, complaining of the annual migration of the Government to the hills for a lengthened period, Lord Hinchenbrey cited the opinion of Lord Lawrence, who, he said, was one of the hardest-working Governors-General in favour of the removal of the Supreme Government to Simla in the hot season. « As to Madras, he held that a similar change was equally necessary. In this view the Duke of Argyll, the Duke of Buckingham, and Lord Salisbury expressed their concurrence, and the petition was withdrawn in consequence of some informality in the signatures, and their lordships adjourned.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.—MONDAY.

THE NILE EXPEDITION.

Mr. Gladstone, replying to Sir A. Northcote, said the vote for the Nile Expedition would be brought forward immediately after the Franchise Bill had passed through its stage.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

The Lord Advocate, in reply to numerous questions by the Scotch members as to the Caledonian Canal, said he was not then in a position to state what arrangements it had been necessary to make for the preservation of the peace at Uig.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

On the motion to go into Committee on the Franchise Bill, Mr. Tomlinson withdrew the amendment of which he had given notice. Mr. J. Lowther, whose utterances were vociferously cheered by some of the Conservatives, said they had abstained from placing amendments on the paper in the interest of the time of Parliament, and not because they were any more satisfied with the bill as it stood. He made some references to the proceedings on Friday night, and stated that the Conservative party had not receded from the position it had taken up, nor from the principle embodied in the amendments of Colonel Stanley. Mr. Gladstone said the interpretation placed upon the conciliatory speech of Sir R. Cross by Sir C. Dilke was not disavowed at the time by the former, and he (Mr. Gladstone) was at the time by the former, and he (Mr. Gladstone) was at the time by the former, and he (Mr. Gladstone) was not disavowed at the time by the former, and he was therefore puzzled by the authoritative declaration on that side of the House. After some further animated discussion, Sir S. Northcote added that while they assented to the passing of the bill they did so on the understanding, so far as they were able to enforce it, that it must be accompanied by a distinct and clear measure of redistribution. The question was put and agreed to after a few cries of "No," and the House agreed to after a few cries of "No," and the House then went into committee on the bill. Colonel Saunderson moved his amendment proposing to defer the operative date of the bill until after the passing of a bill for amending the law with respect to settle and ascertain the dividends of counties and the limits of cities and boroughs of the United Kingdom for the purpose of the election of members to serve in Parliament. Another animated discussion followed on the redistribution question, and the views of the two parties with regard to it. Ultimately the speakers being Sir S. Northcote, Mr. Gladstone, and Sir W. Harcourt. The proposal of Colonel Stanley was negatived by 194 to 140, and eventually the bill went through committee without amendment, and laid load cheering.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE BILL.

Mr. Woodall brought in his bill for conferring the Parliamentary Franchise on Women, and at half-past eight the House adjourned.

HOUSE OF LORDS.—TUESDAY.

NEW PEERS.

Lord Monk Bretton, Lord Northbourne, the Earl of Arran, and Lord De Vesci, newly-created peers, took the oath and subscribed the Parliamentary roll.

THE JURISDICTION OF JUSTICES.

Lord Bramwell's bill to enlarge the jurisdiction of the justices of quarter sessions in regard to the trial of prisoners was read a second time, after some discussion.

LAW OF EVIDENCE AMENDMENT BILL.

Lord Bramwell, in moving the second reading of this measure, explained that it would enable husbands and wives to give evidence in cases affecting each other. After a few words from Lord Fitzgerald, the Lord Chancellor, and the Marquis of Salisbury, the motion was agreed to.

Their lordships rose at a quarter to five o'clock.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.—TUESDAY.

NEW WRIT.

On the motion of Lord H. Grosvenor, a new writ was ordered for the election of a member for Hackney, in the room of the Right Hon. T. Hawkett.

REDISTRIBUTION.

Notice was given by Sir J. Lubbock of a series of resolutions constituting a scheme of redistribution of seats.

KHARTOUM.

Replying to Sir H. Tyler, Lord Richard Grosvenor stated that no information had been received at either the War Office or the Foreign Office confirming the rumoured fall of Khartoum.

LORD NORTHBROOK'S MISSION.

Mr. Gladstone intimated that Votes in Supply would be taken on Thursday, and that, though Lord Northbrook's report was not yet in form, his colleagues were sufficiently cognisant of its general views to take a decision upon which they would do, not later than on some day in the coming week he hoped to state the course which the Government would propose.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

On the order for reading the Representation of the People Bill a third time, Mr. Goschen reproached the Opposition for a change of tone since the South Warwickshire election, implored the Conservatives to return to the frame of mind in which they were on Thursday and Friday, and declared that a wise scheme of Redistribution was more likely to be passed now than by agreeing to the amendment. Lord J. Manners asserted that the altered tone originated on the Treasury Bench. Whilst speaking with honeyed accents, Ministers would not budge, and so long as they persistently maintained that position, it was impossible for the Conservative party to contemplate publishing in privately on the subject of Redistribution. This declaration was received from both sides of the House with protracted and defiant cheers. The descent of the Prime Minister and his colleagues on the street in the autumn, added the noble lord, had confirmed the wisdom, prudence, and patriotism of the course which the Constitutional Party had adopted. Mr. Gladstone said the speech of the noble lord had extinguished any hopes of a reasonable accommodation, and had rendered it impossible but that a great political crisis should ensue. Mr. Goschen, however, in spite of what had been said, he invited communications from the Opposition as to their views. The discussion was continued by Sir H. Tyler, Sir W. Harcourt, Mr. Ritchie, Mr. Newdegate, Mr. Illingworth, Mr. Stuart-Wortley, and others, and eventually the bill was read a third time without a division, amid Liberal cheers and cries of "No" from the Opposition.

POOR LAW GUARDIANS (IRELAND) BILL.

The Poor Law Guardians (Ireland) Bill passed through Committee, and the House adjourned at five minutes to ten o'clock until Thursday.

THE Old, English Hotel at Matlock-bridge, situate about one mile from Matlock Bath, Derbyshire, which was rented at a sum of £1,200, was three times destroyed by fire at an early hour on Friday morning. Between two and three o'clock an alarm of fire was raised, and very soon the building was in flames. The fire appeared to have first broken out in the servants' rooms near the tower of the hotel, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the guests of the servants were rescued from the flaming apartments. Several fire-engines were sent for, but a considerable time elapsed before they arrived. The fire had by this time gained such mastery that all attempts to save the building proved fruitless. The hotel eventually became a heap of ruins, and the owner and occupier (Mr. Mark Mattocks) is estimated at between £12,000 and £14,000, partially covered in assurance.

ROYAL NATIONAL LIFEBOAT INSTITUTION.—At a meeting of this institution, held on Thursday last, the 6th inst., at its house, 14, John-street, Adelphi, rewards amounting to £458 were granted to the crews of lifeboats of the institution for services rendered during the past month, in which period they have saved 76 lives. Rewards were granted in the cases of shore-boats and others for saving life from wrecks on our coasts. During the current year the institution has been instrumental, by its lifeboats and by other means for which it has granted rewards, in saving 632 lives, besides assisting in rescuing 13 vessels from destruction. Payments amounting to £2800 were also made on the 222 lifeboat establishments of the institution. Special contributions lately received were £105 from James Paul Esq., M.D., Barnes; £11, balance of the Mar ine of Normandy's Banquet held at Jersey; £5, collected by Mrs. Brenan, Esq.; £5, collected from the officers and men of the ship City of Benares (per Captain R. Adair); and £3 3s., offertory from the Harvest Festival at the West London School, Ashford (per the Rev. Hugh J. Flynn, D.D.). New lifeboats have recently been sent to New Romney, Kent, and Crail, Fifeshire. Reports having been read from the chief inspector and the five district inspectors, on their recent visits to lifeboat stations, the proceedings terminated.

THE LORD MAYOR'S SHOW.

The suggestion "This may be the last Lord Mayor's procession" has for some time become too stale for repetition. Nevertheless, if that of the 10th inst. was indeed the very last, it must be conceded that it was a good one. The Lord Mayor Nottage evidently determined that, so far as in him lay, it should not disgrace the ancient chivalry. It was certainly by far the best within the memory of most of us. It was picturesque and suggestive, and, though there were defects, it must have been a delightful spectacle for the huge masses of people who struggled and waited to see it. It took full two hours for the procession to reach the Law Courts. Starting from the time-honoured muster-ground in Guildhall-yard, it had to work, as per programme, through many City streets, wheel round Charterhouse-street into Farringdon-street, and turn its face towards the West. The blinds at the General Post-office were drawn in consequence of the funeral of Mr. Fawcett, and the leading band played the Dead March. Special ablutions occurred in Cordwainer's Ward, of which the Lord Mayor is Alderman. His honour decorations abounded. His lordship, in conspicuous lettering of scarlet and gold, was hailed, greeted, and welcomed: and by thousands of delighted dwellers he was spotted at the heavy gilt structure in which he sat ensabled on. A halt was called near the Church of St. Mary, Aldermanbury, where, amid great enthusiasm, an address was presented on behalf of the inhabitants. After a brief reply from the Lord Mayor the procession resumed its progress. Once in Fleet-street a straight course was open to the procession. Up to the last moment it seemed doubtful whether it could pass through. A single Hussar, followed by two or three comrades and a handful of mounted police, rode into the thick of the strong partingle right at last as the wedge spar tee a solid block of wood. The church bells were clanging, and soon the Royal artillery kettledrums and the state trumpands in the procession made common music with them. There was no sanch of novelty to come that the stock features of a Lord Mayor's procession were also at a matter of course: such as the banners of sheriffs, exsheriffs, past mayors, aldermen, civic companies. Friends, too, were the born of the Wardmote trainbearship, the beadles, the watermen, and the like, and they were received at old friends. Much history were received at old friends. Much history would no doubt understand that on that occasion they were only the supers of the piece. Unsanctified by any historic associations were the two fire-engines attracted much admiration. Heralded by the smart band of the Corps of Commissioners came a full strong partingle right at last as the wedge spar tee a solid block of wood. The church bells were clanging, and soon the Royal artillery kettledrums and the state trumpands in the procession made common music with them. There was no sanch of novelty to come that the stock features of a Lord Mayor's procession were also at a matter of course: such as the banners of sheriffs, exsheriffs, past mayors, aldermen, civic companies. THE result of conciliatory communications between the rival parties in Parliament has brought about mutual concessions in regard to the Franchise and Redistribution Bills, and daily interviews are now being held between Mr. Gladstone and the Marquis of Salisbury. The Franchise Bill will become law this year, and the Redistribut on Scheme will be before the country shortly, after it has been discussed in its main points, by the leaders of the Government and the Opposition. While every one must rejoice that the dark shadows lately clouding the political horizon have lightened, we demur to any expression of feeling in regard to the victory or defeat of either side; the result has been obtained by an earnest desire on both sides to secure the best and highest welfare of the country by honest and gentlemanly concessions.

IT is gratifying to learn that the directors of the Hull and Barnsley Railway have completed their arrangements for raising the necessary new capital to complete the line, and that work will be resumed on the first of December. The progress of this railway is of immense importance to us, as until it is in a fair way of advance, the East and West Yorkshire is not likely to make much movement. Should this line progress favorably, we may see within the next two months signs of real life in connection with "our railway."

THE long pending case for breach of promise to marry, between Miss Fortescue, a rising young actress, and Lord Garmoyle, son of Earl Cairns, was heard yesterday, being cut short by the offer of his father's solicitor of an indemnity of £10,000, which was accepted.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The ordinary meeting of the above Board was held on Monday last, present, J. Charlesworth, Esq., (chairman), Messrs. W. Hargreaves, J. Hargreaves, J. Turner, H. P. Newsome, J. Dobson, and J. Nowell, and the clerk, collector and surveyor.

The minutes of last meetings having been read, were confirmed.

MR. HOLMES' PROPERTY.—There having been considerable correspondence between the Board and Mr. John Holmes, of Roundhay, in regard to the drainage of his property, he (Mr. Holmes) had an interview with the Board on the subject. Mr. Holmes commenced narrating the efforts he had made, on erecting his property in Holmes Square, in order that the cottages might be properly drained and supplied with water, and was proceeding at some length, when his attention was drawn by Mr. W. Hargreaves and the chairman, to the fact that the question was their present condition, which, as detailed by the medical officer in his report, was not satisfactory. Mr. Holmes then replied to the three charges contained in the Board's notice. First, he had tried several plans for preventing the sewer gas from rising into the houses, and desired to prove the efficacy of these experiments. Second, he was instructed that the duty of connecting his present drains with the Board's main was the duty of the Board and not of himself. Third as regards the open drain on another property, in which a nuisance is caused by the sewage from his property running into it, is either a private drain or a public one, and it is therefore not his duty to remove it. After considerable conversation, in which several members joined, the chairman pointed out that a certain system of drainage had been decided upon by the Board, under the approval of the Local Government Board, and the whole question was, whether Mr. Holmes was willing to connect his property with the mains already laid down, to the satisfaction of the Board, or its surveyor. Mr. Holmes expressed his wish to make his drainage efficient, but objected to connecting his property with the present system. He asked that the inspector would accompany him to his property, and see the mode he proposed to adopt, if agreeable to the Board. The chairman again pointed out that the Board could not allow everybody just to carry out any hobby they might have for draining property, and the interview terminated at the same point as it began; it was unanimously resolved to go on with the legal proceedings.

HOLIWAYS.—Mr. Hargreaves, the chairman of the Highway Committee, stated the details of Mr. Bulmer's road contracts, and so far as can be ascertained from certain calculations, it is high time that the contract was broken; the amount of money paid is considerably over the value of work done and material used; (of course there is the difference on and off). Mr. Turner referred to his efforts to have the contract broken two years ago, (which he said was very fully and correctly reported in these columns at the time) and he now fell foul of Mr. Hargreaves for objecting to that course then. Mr. Hargreaves replied with some warmth to the strong words used by Mr. Turner, and recapitulated how he had at first endeavoured to help these poor contractors by extending the Board's forbearance; that afterwards a resolution was carried to call in Mr. Farrer as adjudicator, and his report was in Bulmer's favor, as regards value of metal, though against him as to form of road. He also referred to his continuous and regular attendance to the Board's work. The chairman felt sure that everyone would acknowledge that Mr. Hargreaves was not the one to shirk work, and that if any individual member had done more than another to save the rates and do the work of the Board, it was Mr. W. Hargreaves. The Board could not break the contract, unless they showed that some provisions or conditions were not carried out. Mr. Hargreaves continued that a fortnight previously, the Board had given Bulmer seven days' notice to repair Butcher Lane and Wood Lane; in accordance with that order they found an attempt made, but, of so poor a character, that he now moved, that seven days' notice be given to him to break the contract. Mr. Newsome remarked that the Board was very poor at the time, and wished to keep these expenses down. As the Board now seemed dissatisfied, he supposed they must appeal to Mr. Farrer. Some reference having been made to Bulmer's roads as being second-class roads, Dr. Nowell took exception to the term being used to Rothwell streets, and protested against their being treated in a manner inferior to any other roads in the district. The chairman explained that the term was used regarding the class of metal used, a harder material being required for the Leeds and Wakefield and Leeds and Barnsdale roads than for the streets. Mr. Nowell still held to his protest, and felt persuaded that not a particle of metal had been put on some parts of Rothwell streets for two years. Commercial Street was certainly improved, but other portions were dangerous and disgraceful. The chairman reminded the doctor of the drainage and water mains which had seriously interfered with town improvements. The seven days' notice was then seconded by Mr. Dobson and carried; Mr. Newsome neutral.

Mr. Hargreaves also gave details of Mr. Nichol's road maintenance account, and urged the Board's attention to the fact that nothing was now being done on these roads, and that if this continued, the Board must take the matter up, and charge it against the contractor. The Highway Committee will watch the progress of events.

Mr. Hargreaves, on behalf of the Highway Committee, also asked that the chairman and vice-chairman be requested to see Mr. Edwards, in order to obtain his approval for taking up the old paving between Carr Lane and Old Engine. Mr. J. Hargreaves, was very pleased to move the appointment, as he was always against the paving, and would have it all up, by degrees, and macadam the whole road. Mr. Newsome seconded the motion, feeling that now they had the steam roller, they could do very well without paving. Carried.

The chairman of the Highway Committee further reported on the proposal of Leeds to supply Methley with water, which would necessitate the opening up again of the Leeds and Barnsdale Road: in fact, he understood that the present pipes supplying Oulton were to be taken up and replaced by larger ones, and the Oulton pipes used for the distance between Oulton and Methley. He urged that, if their road had to be opened again, the Board should use every effort to secure thoroughly good repair afterwards. Mr. Turner also suggested that certain privileges must also be secured. Mr. J. Hargreaves then moved that a Committee for this object be appointed consisting of Messrs. W. Hargreaves, J. Turner, H. P. Newsome, and Jas. Nowell. Carried.

WATER.—The clerk reported that the quantity of water charged for by the Corporation had been larger last quarter than usual. The explanation appears to be, the small quantity of rain which has fallen, necessitating a larger consumption. Dr. Nowell said they had a larger consumption at Oulton-with-Woodlesford. He also reported that owing to a want of pressure in some parts of Woodlesford, the people had to get their supply at night, and as a warning, stated that three persons were suffering from lead-poisoning arising from their drinking water which had dropped from the tap, while the pressure was low. Mr. Jas. Hargreaves said they had been without a good supply for some weeks, and that he was always particular to allow the tap to run some time before drinking.

RATE.—The collector presented his rate book for signature, shewing that £1869 2s. 5d. should be raised by a 1/10 rate. On the motion of Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Newsome, five members placed their signatures to the rate, which was also stamped with the Board's seal.

General District Rate	....	3	11	7½
Water Rent	...	13	11	4
		£17	2	11

PLANS.—The plans of a science workshop for Mr. J. Turner, were approved by the Board; they are of a very elaborate and complete character, and reflect credit alike on the proprietor, and the architect, Mr. W. Richardson.

EPPS COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled, JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Autumnal Remedies.—Towards the fall of the year countless sufferers set to work to brace the tone of the nervous system, which will be followed by ill health unless proper means be employed to avert that evil. Holloway's far-famed preparations supply a faultless remedy for both external and internal complaints connected with changes of season. All affections of the skin, roughness, blotches, pimples, superficial and deep-seated inflammations, erysipelas, rheumatic pains, and gouty pangs, alike succumb to the exalted virtues of Holloway's Ointment and Pills; which will effect a happy revolution in the patient's condition, though the symptoms of his disorder are legion, and have obstinately withstood the best efforts of science to subdue them.

WHEN in Leeds, you should visit the Golden Cup Cocoa House, 157, Briggate, or the Borough Arms Cocoa House, Kirkgate.—Private rooms for ladies at both houses.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The fortnightly meeting of the above Board took place on Wednesday; present:—Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, (chairman); Messrs. R. Pickersgill and J. Dixon, (vice-chairmen); Messrs. J. Parker, J. Smith, H. Sheard, J. Rollinson, J. Graveley, R. J. Smith, C. Grosvenor, W. Lawton, B. Aaron, G. Greaves, J. Hardcastle, G. Jepson, the Rev. J. L. Evans, and the clerk (Mr. Schofield).

The minutes of last meeting having been read and signed, the Board considered the reports of the relieving officers.

DESERTED WIVES.—Several cases of wife-desertion were brought up, and according to last meeting's resolution, a number of the runaway husbands were ordered to be advertised for, a reward of one guinea being offered for their apprehension.

AMALGAMATION.—The Board, after some discussion, agreed that, in view of the further steps which may be necessary in opposing the proposal to dissolve the Hunslet Union, a deputation be appointed to support the decision of the Board, in any inquiry which may take place before the President of the Board of Trade. The gentlemen selected were the chairman, Councillor Pickersgill, and Mr. Aaron, together with the clerk. An amendment was made to nominate Mr. R. J. Smith as the third member. Mr. Lawton suggested Mr. Graveley, but Mr. Graveley thought he would rather hinder the object of the deputation than otherwise. Mr. R. J. Smith, though personally without feeling on the subject, thought that as Oulton and Woodlesford are deeply concerned in the matter, by reason of their drainage and water works, they should have some representation. The chairman said that only one or two persons would be allowed to speak before the Local Government Board, the evidence of all persons would be collected and presented in a concise form. At the meeting with Bramley Board, it transpired that they had engaged Mr. Simpson to represent their Board. After discussion, it was decided by a small majority, that the Hunslet Board join Bramley in the engagement of Mr. Simpson, solicitor.

WORKHOUSE FIELD.—The chairman reported that he, along with Councillor Pickersgill, Mr. Aaron, and Mr. Lawton, had met the members of the Leeds Highway Committee that morning, and the result was satisfactory. The Committee agree to accept the offer of the Board for the remainder of the Workhouse field, at a rent of £12, or £20 for the lot, the rent to commence from February, 1884. They also offer to send stone to break at the Workhouse at 9d. a ton. A letter to this effect was also read by the clerk, and the Board expressed its general concurrence with the arrangements come to by the Committee, and expressed their purpose of allowing the rent to remain at the present figure, so far as they were concerned.

The seal of the Board was placed to the document completing the purchase of the Hillidge-road land from the Corporation some six months ago.

EMIGRANT BOYS.—In accordance with the wish of the Board last meeting, the clerk had written Mr. Boyd, as regards the four boys lately sent by the Board to Canada, through his agency. In reply, Mr. Boyd stated that the boys arrived safely at their destination on September 20th, and had been placed in situations. He anticipated very shortly hearing from their several employers, and would communicate the result to the Board.

RE-VALUATION.—The Assessment Committee having asked the approval of the Board for the re-valuation of certain property in Hunslet, and the issue of a supplemental list, a resolution was passed in accordance with the request.

WATER LEAKAGE.—Several Hunslet guardians spent considerable time last week in discovering the supposed leakage in the water pipes supplying the Workhouse, which had caused a large advance in the amount of last account, and it was now reported that the leak had been found and remedied; although no formal vote was passed to these gentlemen, they none the less deserve the thanks of all ratepayers.

The usual returns and requirements were read and passed.

PAROCHIAL TEA MEETING AT LOFTHOUSE.

The first annual parochial tea under the regime of the present vicar was held on Monday evening in the National School-room. The trays were presided over by Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. J. Charlesworth (Lofthouse Park), Miss Charlesworth, Mrs. J. H. Lee, Mrs. Thos. Hargreaves, Mrs. Armitage, Mrs. Marshall, and others. Upwards of 200 sat down to an excellent tea. Amongst those present were J. Charlesworth, Esq., Rev. T. H. Bywater (Outwood), Rev. A. M. Samwells (Rothwell), Dr. Glaister, and Dr. Jewison. The evening's entertainment consisted of songs, readings, and a farce "Turn him out," the performers of which were all local, and acquitted themselves with credit. The Rev. A. M. Samwells opened the programme with a song, "Thy voice is near me." The Rev. J. R. Crawford read "Shamus O'Brien, a tale of '98," with an Irish brogue one seldom meets with in Yorkshire, and in a manner which no professional need be ashamed of. The Rev. A. M. Samwells sang "Dream Faces;" Dr. Glaister recited a piece describing the adventures of an Englishman, Irishman, and a Scotchman in search of work, and who only owned 3d. amongst them, and how the Irishman became possessed of the supper, which was destined for the best deserver. He then gave as an encore "The Confession." Mr. G. Carbert, who was received with applause, sang "The Frenchman," which being encored, "Oblige a Lady" was given by him. The Rev. T. H. Bywater, vicar of Outwood, read an extract from "Handy Andy;" the Rev. A. M. Samwells sang "In the Gloaming;" Dr. Glaister gave a recitation "Lady Clare Vere de Vere." Mr. G. Carbert appeared in a most extraordinary get-up as "The Quack Doctor," and sang in an irresistibly humorous manner. Mr. Jowett, of Oulton, then gave a capital stump speech. Before the farce, Mr. Crawford made a few remarks expressing his indebtedness to those who had provided trays. The farce was a most amusing one, and created roars of laughter. At the close the Vicar thanked the performers for their services. The proceeds realized over £5.

HUNSLET POPULAR CONCERTS.

The success of last season's popular concerts at Hunslet has enabled the promoters to set out upon the second year with a good heart. "The balance was on the right side —thanks to gentlemen who take up this mode of adding to the comfort and pleasure of those among whom they live. But even had that criterion been wanting, another, and one hardly less conclusive, would have been afforded by the welcome which a renewal of the movement received last night in the Mechanics' Institute. Scarcely a seat was unoccupied when Signor Bisaccia and M. de Munck opened a very popular programme with a duett from Mendelssohn on the piano and the violoncello. M. de Munck is a skilful master of the violoncello, as was proved upon more than one occasion during the entertainment." His selections from Chopin and Schumann were admirably rendered, but neither Chopin nor Schumann was nearly so heartily applauded as was M. de Munck himself; or, to be more explicit, than M. de Munck's rendering of Handel's "Harmonious Blacksmith." Following the custom now in vogue, M. de Munck treated the audience to one of his own pieces —a piece well calculated to bring out his powers of light and rapid fingering. He fell throughout an able conductor in Signor Bisaccia, who, as conductor and pianist, contributed not a little to every success of the evening. Although applause was never wanting for the instrumental part of the programme, the popular voice was decidedly with the vocalists, and especially with those of them who were content with songs whose very repetition has an added charm to some people. "The Better Land," "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," "Jack's Yarn," "Darby and Joan," "The Lost Chord," "Sally in our Alley," are pieces high in favour at the Hunslet Popular Concerts. Each and all of this style of music was sure of an enthusiastic encore, so that not a little extra was demanded from the soloists. Mr. Griffin, with his sea songs, and Mr. Henry Guy, with his songs of sentiment and passion, received more than one flattering tribute to their selection as well as to their effective singing. Miss Marian McKenzie and Mrs. Hutchinson also had recalls for songs the popularity of which will always ensure for them an enthusiastic hearing. In a word, the second series opened well, and its continued success will, it is to be hoped, establish the Hunslet Popular Concerts upon a sure and permanent basis.

POLICE NEWS.

WEST RIDING COURT.—FRIDAY.

(Before Major Barker, Mr. W. T. Marriott, and Mr. E. Calverley).

WIFE DESERTION.—John Braine, delver, Castleton, was charged with going away and leaving his wife chargeable to the Union, from which (Mr. Mellor, relieving officer, stated) she had received 15s. relief. Defendant, who said he was 'het' with his wife, was ordered to pay the 15s. and 10s. costs, or a month.

DEFRAUDING A BROTHER IN LAW OF £200.—Joseph Frost, a young man who has been in gambling ways, was charged with obtaining £200 by false pretences from his brother in-law, William Crossley, of Carlton.—Mr. Williams, prosecuted. Mr. Frank Lockwood had just served 14 days under a charge of vagrancy. At the time he was committed Superintendent Hall stated that there were certain grave charges against him, and it was one of these he was now brought up for. The defendant, who had led an exceedingly wild career, went to his brother-in-law and told him a very plausible story about having bought a large house in the suburbs of Leeds, on which he had paid a deposit, but had not sufficient money to complete the purchase. He promised that if he (Crossley) would lend him £200 he would bring him the deeds as security. On the strength of prisoner's representation, Crossley lent Frost £200—his hard-earned savings—which the prisoner squandered in a few days. A fanciful manner his story about buying a house being a complete fabrication.—Crossley having given evidence, the case was, on the application of Mr. Williams, remanded for a week.

A CONFLICT BETWEEN POLICE OFFICERS AND GAMEKEEPERS AT OULTON.—The Bench were occupied from one o'clock until after four o'clock in the afternoon, in hearing a case from Oulton which seemed to excite considerable interest. The defendants were William Francis, gamekeeper for Mr. Calverley, of Oulton Hall, and John Dobson, a game watcher in the service of the same gentleman, and they were charged with being drunk and disorderly, and with assaulting Police-sergeant Turton, and Police-constables Simmons and Seal.—Considerable time was occupied in taking the detailed evidence of Police-sergeant Turton, and corroborated Police-constables Simmons and Seal.—The defence was that the police had some ill-feeling against the keepers, that it was the Sergeant and not the defendants who was drunk, and the police officers aggravated the defendants to use abusive language, and then followed them into the park and apprehended them.—After several witnesses had given evidence to the above effect, the Bench fined the defendants £1 each, and with the expenses they had £1 17s. 5d. each to pay, or in default one month's imprisonment.

MONDAY.

(Before Col. Mackie, Mr. W. T. Marriott, and Mr. J. Charlesworth.)

THEFT OF A CHICKEN AT CARLTON.—A young man named Frank Tennant, a butcher, of Carlton, was charged with having stolen a pullet, valued at 1s., the property of John Marshall, labourer, of Rothwell, on the 7th inst. On that day prosecutor missed the pullet, and four days after saw it in the possession of a man named Wm. Binder, of Carlton. Prisoner had gone to this person's house on the morning of the 7th, and saying that he had got the chicken from a lad in exchange for a pigeon, sold it to Binder's possession. After Marshall saw it he communicated with the police, and prisoner was apprehended. He was sent to prison for a month.

NEIGHBOURS AT LINGWELL GATE AT VARIANCE.—Robert Crabtree, a miner, living at Lingwell Gate, was charged with assaulting Ann Young, a married woman, living at the next house to him, on the 8th inst.—The prosecutrix complained that Crabtree threw a piece of shale at her, which struck her on the nose, blacking both eyes. This offence was committed in her own house. The man said, in defence, that whenever he went into his garden to work the children of the prosecutrix were always throwing stones and annoying him. They often illtreated his children as well.—Fined 1s. with 12s. 6d. expenses, or, in default of payment, seven days' imprisonment.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—The entertainment on Saturday last, in the above place, was given by the Burley Perseverance Temperance Choir, consisting of songs (comic and sentimental), recitations, a stump speech, and a comic sketch. The talent of the Burley choir has in former times tended to draw together some of the largest audiences which congregate at this place of amusement, and on Saturday, the success both in numbers present and in the quality of the entertainment, was due, it would seem, to the publicity of the choir itself, was all that could be expected. Special mention should be made of Mr. Atkinson, who was undoubtedly the heart and soul of the entertainment, he being on the platform on every occasion, either singing, reciting, accompanying, or something else. It was close upon eight o'clock when Mr. J. Blackburn, the chairman, made his appearance, and after explaining the delay which had taken place, called upon Mr. Atkinson to open the programme with a pianoforte solo, after which Miss Lee sang, "Circassian's Dream" in a very pleasing manner. A recitation by Mr. Atkinson, entitled "Courting and Keeping Company," caused a great amount of laughter, and so well did he suit the audience that a return was demanded, when he gave "Treacle Harrel!" Following the custom now in vogue, Mr. de Munck treated the audience to one of his own pieces —a piece well calculated to bring out his powers of light and rapid fingering. He fell throughout an able conductor in Signor Bisaccia, who, as conductor and pianist, contributed not a little to every success of the evening. Rothwell Parish Church.—On Saturday last, the choir boys belonging to Rothwell Church, with no choirmaster, left Rothwell at Thwaite Gate for an afternoon's outing, in response to an invitation from the vicar, who arrived about 2.30, and all took the tram to Leeds. After a comic sketch by means of the Cavendish Arms Coco House, Mr. Fawkes took the boys to the Art Exhibition, now open in the Leeds Municipal Buildings, and nearly two hours were spent inspecting the pictures and various objects to be seen there. An adjournment was then made for tea, and a most sumptuous repast was found awaiting them. The spread reflected the greatest credit on Mrs. Broughton, the genial hostess, for, table, in addition to piles of tempting sandwiches, had literally loaded the tables with almost every known variety of the pastry "cooks art," to which the most ample justice was done by the hungry youngsters. The vicar being obliged to return to Rothwell directly after tea, the party was left in charge of Mr. Edwards, the remainder of the evening. After strolling in parties about the town and markets, the boys met by appointment at 7 o'clock, and Mr. Harnas having secured seats at Ogden's circus, they were soon safely ensconced in the front row of the upper circle, whence they had a splendid view of the evening's entertainment, which they seemed to thoroughly enjoy—if applause be taken as indicative of enjoyment. At the close of the performance, the boys were again called with buns and ginger beer, and then a move was made for the Royal Hotel, where the vicar had ordered a waggonette to meet the party. After a little delay, a start was made for home, and the youngsters, thoroughly tired, but nevertheless well pleased, were all safely housed at Rothwell just before eleven o'clock.

Lofthouse.—Miss Emma Lee, who has been a Pupil Teacher in the Robin Hood Board Schools here during the last four years, has been successful in obtaining a Queen's Scholarship at the Darlington Training College. Miss Lee will begin her two years course of study at the commencement of the year.

The Stourton Wesleyans held their weekly Mutual Improvement Society class on Friday last, when Mr. Thomas Sykes, delivered an essay on "Geology." The essay was a long one and therefore did not allow much time for debate; but the matter which it contained and the manner in which it was given, gave great satisfaction to the good number of members present.

Death of Rev. John Farrer.The death of this venerable Wesleyan minister will be received with feelings of respect and regret, as having for many years sustained high positions in his own church, and been greatly honoured by all to who were acquainted with him. Mr. Farrer died on Wednesday last, aged 82 years.

Rising Young Men.—It may be interesting to some to know that James Richard Seanor, second son of Mr Matthias Seanor, architect, of Manchester, last week passed a successful examination for his B.A. degree.

Poor Rate.—On Monday last, a poor rate for Rothwell at 1s. in the £ was signed by the justices at Wakefield.

Oulton.—On Friday, at the West Riding Police Court at Wakefield, a new highway rate of 10d. in the £1 was laid for Oulton.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The footballists in Rothwell were greatly surprised when they heard the result of the match which took place at Fox-holes last Saturday. The reason of the def at as I have heard, is partly owing to the smallness of the field and the rough manner the home team played. The team playing for Rothwell was a very light one indeed, while the home players were a strong, heavy lot, and all ever they could say was "take the man" and the field being too small, the consequence was that they did take the man, because the visiting forwards had to be nearly all together, and could not pass the ball in time and get out of the way too. Besides "charging" as they call it, I was told that some of the Rothwell players have been kicked very badly indeed. It appears quite certain that the Foxholes players did not know the game, for if they be true sport they ought to play as steady as they can until they get a better knowledge of football, and not make a practice of charging as often as they do. A Rothwell player tells me that when there was not the least possibility of touching the ball, some of the home players would try to kick him instead of kicking the ball, it was very often one of the men. If a Rothwell man was dribbling the ball and passed it when near to one of the opposing players, the latter would kick, and the upshot was that his boot came into collision with the other man's legs. They are a good set of players, which I am pleased to hear acquainted with the game, but they require to pull up in accident of a serious nature happening in some match in which they are engaged; moreover, I have already heard that one of the Rothwell men got rather badly hurt last Saturday. Take my advice, and play steadier, because it will be both better for the players and the club. Should the Foxholes team play well the second was scored just after the commencement of the second half, from a kick half the length of the field, the ball just going under the bar. It was a rather lucky shot, I should say, because there was much hope of a ball going between the posts when kicked from such a distance. In the return match, let's hope for a more pleasant game than that of last Saturday.

The Stourton St. Andrew's team were simply 'not in it' when opposed to Doncaster Rovers last Saturday on the Heath. The Rovers are undoubtedly a very smart lot, with an extraordinary turn of speed, while passing (and dribbling when needed) is practically almost to perfection. They play well into each other's hands, while every man knows his own work, and this is the secret of how our village clubs are so easily overcome when opposed to such fleet-footed players. Six goals to one is a mighty big score, and it makes one wonder what 'James' has been doing to have allowed so many to be registered, but I suppose the visitors must have kept continually bombarding the home citadel, that is the only way I can account for such a defeat. Anyhow, the St. Andrew's club is going on well (?); seven matches have been played so far this season, of which 4 have been lost, 2 drawn, and 1 won, and they may reckon on having to sustain another defeat to-morrow when they go to Doncaster, this time at the hands of the Temperance club. However, try and avert such a 'drubbing' as that administered by the Rovers.

The recent combination called Robin Hood, playing at Thorpe, are doing immense, only having lost one match in the season. This same club on Saturday they played a drawn game when playing at Knottingley, for which performance they must be congratulated very cordially on account of the opposition given by the Rothwell club at Thorpe, and they are sanguine of success, which is not too much to prophesy, as Rothwell have only been beaten once on the ball, and judge from the merits of both teams when playing against Fox holes, (Robin Hood winning by 6 goals to 0, and the other hand Rothwell lost, 2 to 1) the home club must feel quite certain they can pull off the match.

CAPTAIN.

ROTHWELL v. FOXHOLES.

Played at Foxholes on Saturday last, in the presence of a good number of spectators. The home team won for the home team by 2 goals to one. The Rothwell captain having won the toss, Fowler kicked off, but the visiting forwards were on the ball, and got well into the home territory, where a shot was made by Harrison, which struck the crossbar, and rebounded into the field, but Taylor picked it up in front of the goal, when their first point was gained. The ball was again on the move, and the move, and the home team worked the ball near the corner, when Ward relieved, only to have the leather sent back, and a kick by one of the home players made matters equal. During the rest of the first half, play was mostly carried on in the home quarters, and although several shots at goal were made and corner kicks taken, nothing further resulted, and the game was at half-time stood 1 goal each. There was no time lost, and both sides again set to work, and from the goal

Rothwell Times,

Friday, November 28, 1884.

It is not our custom nor our purpose to take cognizance of the various letters on many matters which are willingly published in our columns, and it is only on account of the general want of information on the subject and consequent incorrect opinions, that we have directed our attention to further explanations as regards town and country taxation.

Our correspondent last week, while thanking us for our remarks on this subject, failed to carry out to their natural result, the figures and statements that were then quoted, and as a more distinct and pointed line of argument seems necessary, we refer again to some of the questions asked.

We do not write in defence of either the Rothwell Local Board or any other authority, and it is not for us to deny that that body has made mistakes which, with their past experience, will not be likely to occur again. But governing bodies, like individuals, have to learn a great deal from actual experience, sometimes painful, often expensive, and seeing that the members of a Board are supposed to be the essence or representation of those who elect them, it is no use trying to throw the blame of any failures on these gentlemen, who, without any advantage to themselves, willingly and strenuously devote their services (time, talent, money), for the accomplishment of the general public good.

Referring to the letter of a "Burdened Ratepayer," the writer hardly deals fairly with the amount on which he bases his calculation. Our two last rates have been, as we stated, exceptionally heavy, because during the last four or five years, three expensive public works, water, drainage, highways, have had to be carried out, while on the other hand, several unfortunate causes have combined to keep the income exceptionally low; first, many houses have been unoccupied, no rates from them; second, very, very little building has been going on, no increase of rateable value; third, business generally has been fearfully quiet, keeping down rents; fourth, all the farms have been reduced in rent, actually diminishing the rateable value; fifthly, and most of all, while we have been contributing to the general County Fund, we have only received our first allowance during the past half-year. So that to put the average fairly, we ought to reckon our district rate at 3/- or 3/2. Our average poor rate is 2/1, not 2/4 (it has never been 2/4 in the year), being as we stated, about 1s. less than Leeds.

To return to the question why the ratepayers in Leeds get so much for an 11d. highway rate, and we in Rothwell get so little for our 1/9 rate (the proportion for highways is shewn in our last leader)? Faising our correspondent's figures as above, Leeds 11d, Rothwell 1/9 per annum; if he had worked out our argument as regards the rateable value of Leeds and Rothwell a little further he would have found the answer in the same manner that we find it. Rothwell rateable value, £31,000, realizes by a highway rate of 1/9 (£55 for a 1d.) £1785. If we had Leeds rateable value, we should realise this amount for a little over ½d. in the £. Of course we are not going to argue that our streets and highways are at all approaching those of the town, in their cost of repair and the manner in which they are kept, but these figures seem necessary to shew how utterly foolish it is to expect a country town with fifteen miles of highways, small rateable value, and stagnant trade, to compare in rates or anything else with a large thriving business town, the land in which is valued in some cases at £100 a yard, topped by another £100 in magnificent buildings placed upon it. Surely the argument needs carrying no further, and we trust both our correspondent, (whom we thank for mooting the question,) and also others who are interested in the subject, will be satisfied that we only need to conserve our own interests, and help each other, to gradually lighten our burdens.

There is another paragraph which might as well be touched on; the statement that in the "good old days" a 10d. rate did for the highways. How much did our correspondent and others who had to use horses, pay in tolls? We fancy, if reckoned up, there would be a pretty heavy item at the end of the year. Again, how did the traffic of those halcyon days, compare with the present enormous cartage down Bell Hill?

Taken altogether, things are not so much worse, after all, although we can always do with "less to pay and more to receive."

The conference on the Seats Bill was resumed at the Prime Minister's residence yesterday afternoon. Mr. Gladstone, Lord Salisbury, Lord Hartington, Sir Stafford Northcote, Sir Charles Dilke, and Mr. Chamberlain were present. The latter only remained a quarter of an hour. It is stated that this was the last of the conference, and that the result is that the Premier will be able to make his expected statement in the House of Commons on Monday night.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting was held on Friday last, present:—Messrs. W. Hargreaves (chairman), J. G. Turner, J. R. Seanor, J. Batty, W. Lawton, and the clerk and attendance officer.

The minutes of last meeting having been read and confirmed, the clerk reported that the audit of the Board's books would take place on the 28th inst.; and the annual examination of Rothwell schools on Dec. 5th, and Rothwell Haigh schools on the 10th and 11th.

The Christmas holidays will commence on Friday, Dec. 19th, school to re-open on Monday, January 6th.

According to a notice given last month, Mr. Turner introduced the subject of cookery lessons, and detailed the result of his enquiries, which had evidently been very searching, as to the mode adopted under the Leeds Board, and the probable cost. He had also obtained lists of eligible girls from the two Rothwell schools. In further discussing the subject, however, it appeared evident that owing to the difficulty of the conveyance for the teachers, the time occupied, and cost incurred, the plan was not feasible under the Board. A general hope was expressed, however, that the question may be taken up by the ladies of the town, for the benefit of elder girls and young women.

Cheques was granted for Rothwell salaries, £29 1s. 6d.; Rothwell Haigh £42 11s. 8d.; the fees last month being Rothwell £10 4s. 2d.; Rothwell Haigh £10 6s. 1d.; Hunslet Board of Guardians £2 7s. 11d.

The chairman gave notice that the Board re-consider the standard fixed in the bye-laws for exemption.

LOFTHOUSE SCHOOL BOARD.

The usual monthly meeting of this Board was held at Robin Hood School on Wednesday night; the members present were Mr. T. Oliver (chairman), Messrs. J. Armitage, T. Hargreaves, J. Hammill, and H. Hall, with Mr. J. B. Lee, the clerk.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read, the clerk stated that the following fees for the past month had been paid into the bank: Robin Hood School, £13 12s. 3d., Carlton, £11 14s. 1d. Cheques were signed for salaries at Robin Hood School, £20 16s. 9d.; Carlton, £18 15s. 6d., and £7 10s. 5d. for interest and part principal on the last loan for alterations at Robin Hood School. Miss Emma Lee and Miss Alice Fisher, whose engagement with the Board terminates at Christmas, attended and discussed with regard to another engagement; the Board re-appointed them at the salary of £40 per year, to date from the 1st January. A few applications for remission of fees were made and granted; other minor business concluded the meeting.

LECTURE ON "GLADSTONE."

A lecture entitled "England under Gladstone," was delivered in the Rothwell Primitive Chapel on Wednesday evening by the Rev. P. Nume, one of the ministers of the Primitive Methodists of the circuit. The audience was a moderately large one, and although not so demonstrative as they probably would have been had it taken place in a public hall, most of the persons present were evidently in sympathy with the speaker, in his attempt to defend the action of Mr. Gladstone's government, both at home and abroad, and would no doubt be pleased and edified by the Rev gentleman's temperate remarks on questions which are often discussed with rash and unthoughtful words.

Mr. Samuel Seanor was the chairman, and introduced the lecturer in a very brief and appropriate manner.

The able lecturer manifested a thorough knowledge of his subject, and in a clear, concise, and pithy way, went over the various ground traversed by the present government. He was strong in his defence of the Liberal and Radical party, supporting their various principles and policies, defending them at the points where they are so frequently and persistently attacked by their opponents, and strenuously advocating the furtherance of the principles of liberty and freedom, which the Liberal party are so constantly carrying on. Of course his condemnation of the opposing party was displayed in the same proportion with his support of Gladstone, and in many of the cases, where the present Government are being blamed for mismangement and disaster, he contrived to trace the original cause to some unwise deed or word from the Conservative side of the political arena.

Mr. Nume, at the commencement of his lecture, said his purpose was to review the progress of events under Gladstone's government since the last general election up to that morning's newspapers. Beginning with the history of the dissolution of the late Conservative Government, Mr. Nume proceeded to narrate the incidents of the last election, resulting as it did in a large majority of Liberals returned, which he said was in a great measure due to the unequalled and mightily inspiring eloquence of the present premier of England, he detailed the way in which Mr. G.'s speeches confirmed the wavering electors, and literally "swept the Conservatives away," he then gave an account of the way in which the Prime Minister was elected, and the present Cabinet formed, including a short biographical sketch of the lives of some of the gentlemen taking part in its deliberations, the names of Lord Hartington, Sir Charles Dilke, the late lamented Mr. Fawcett, and others being in the list, and proving a very interesting item in the lecture. At the very beginning of their career, the Liberal Government had to settle the Austrian difficulty, followed by trouble in the Montenegrin territory, in India and Afghanistan, in South Africa, and lastly in Egypt; on all these points the speaker gave an embracing history of the events leading up to the immediate ruptures, and in a creditable way presented the Liberal side in the best light possible, at the same time throwing the onus on to the shoulders of the Tories. Turning from foreign politics to home government, which most people are well acquainted, he dealt with the Irish question at some length, beginning with a narration of the way in which the land had been wrongfully wrenched from the Irish peasantry, and the other injustices which they have borne, he said that Irishmen, in their hearts, were convinced that the land was their own; and he said that the present government had been hindered in a shameful way, by the Tories, in their attempts to legislate for the Irish nation. He said the government made certain provision for the administration of justice to Irishmen, but the Lords refused to pass the Bill, and the consequence was, that coersion, eviction, boycotting, outrage, murder, followed. The Crimes Bill, the Arms Bill, and the Land Reform Bill, setting forth the principle of the three 'F's,'—'Fair Rent,' 'Fixity of Tenure,' and 'Free Sale,'—(which was so much interfered with by the Lords, and delayed in its progress), were passed, and in many other ways the lecturer endeavoured to prove that the Gladstonites had improved the laws relating to Ireland, although hindered and opposed at the hands of the Conservatives. The Bradlaugh question received its share of notice, and the extension of the County Franchise was introduced, the various facts connected with this important measure being enumerated; in speaking on this subject, Mr. Nume met with much sympathy in the hearts of his audience, and rejoiced in the prospect of its early passage through the House of Lords. In conclusion, the Rev. lecturer recited some of the characteristics of Mr. Gladstone's rule; he said it was founded on a true sense of righteousness, he would do unto others as he would be done by; his watchword was "Justice to all;" he recognises manhood, and not money. The lecture was brought to a close by the recitation of twenty or thirty lines, calling upon the sons of liberty to arouse and work, and was a stirring and appropriate finish to a clever and well-seasoned lecture

The Rev. Mr. Pearson proposed a vote of thanks to the lecturer, giving some amusing stories, about the two great political meetings in Leeds not long ago. This was seconded by Mr. Jos. Harrison, senr., and carried with applause.

A vote of thanks was then presented to Mr. Seanor, and the audience dispersed.

Epps Cocoa.—Gratefuel and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled, James Epps & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

WHEN in Leeds, you should visit the Golden Cup Cocoa House, 157, Briggate, or the Borough Arms Cocoa House, Kirkgate.—Private Rooms for ladies at both houses.

METHLEY LOCAL BOARD.

At the ordinary monthly meeting of this Board, held on Monday afternoon, at the Red House, Mr. J. Richardson presided, and there were also present Messrs. J. Hollings, J. H. Phillips, Chadwick, S. Charlesworth, P. Wroe, R. Smithson, and Jackson, and Nixon, with the clerk (Mr. R S. Wigin), the medical officer (Dr. Wigin), and the surveyor (Mr. Jos. Charlesworth).—The clerk reported that he had written, as instructed by the Board at their last ordinary meeting, asking the Leeds Water Committee if the Methley Board agreed to take their supply at 5d. per thousand gallons, the minimum quantity to be 30,000 per day, would they enter into a contract to supply them for twenty years at that rate? He had received a reply in the affirmative from Mr. Morrison, the Leeds Town Clerk, on the 8th instant, which he immediately forwarded to the chairman, who then called a special meeting of the Board, when all the members present were of the unanimous opinion that the Board should enter into the contract at once.—The Chairman said there remained a few formal arrangements with the Local Government Board now to be effected.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—On Saturday last, the usual entertainment was given at the above hall, to a moderately good audience. The performance opened with a well played pianoforte solo by Mr. J. Ward, followed by a song "Little Hero," by Mr. C. Nettleton, which being encored, was responded to. A variety was now introduced in the shape of a clog dance by Mr. Clifford, to banjo accompaniment. Mr. T. Managan then sang 'Welcome as the flowers in May,' and as an encore gave 'Poor old Dad.' An amusing negro sketch by Messrs. Caylon and Dennis then intervened. Miss Lindley gave a song, followed by one from Mr. Bywater. After ten minutes inter. val, Mr. Nettleton came forward with the song 'Pull the bell handle,' and being recalled gave 'Let go the anchor.' 'The year of 1883,' was sung by Mr. Managhan, and the encore song was 'Peaceful stars are shining bright.' The feature of the evening's entertainment here came, this being a musical entertainment by Mr. Caylon. This consisted of several tunes, very cleverly played on a variety of novel instruments not the least interesting of which was the "Wooden Piano." A well rendered recitation by Mr. Deloitte, and another clog dance by Mr. Clifford finished the performance.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A MOTHER AND CHILD IN LEEDS.—Mr. J. Malcolm, the Borough Coroner, held an inquiry at the Leeds Town Hall on Wednesday, into the circumstances attending the deaths of Priscilla Green (35) widow, and her son, George Green, four years, who lived in Pontefract Lane Leeds. The mother and child were found dead on Tuesday, under most distressing circumstances. About four years ago Mrs. Green's husband died of heart disease, and she with her children came to Rothwell, when she resided with her father, Mr. Joseph Barker, for some time. She decided shortly after her arrival here. Mrs. Green afterwards went to Leeds, where she made a living by keeping a bakehouse. On Tuesday morning the neighbours noticed that the bakehouse was not opened at the usual time, and upon an examination being made the child was found dead in bed and the mother dead on the floor. It seemed that since its birth the child has been subject to heart disease, and Mrs. Green herself had been medically attended for the same disease. It was presumed that the child had died suddenly, and that the mother, on making the discovery, had in her excitement dropped down dead. Two other children were asleep in another bed in the same room. The jury found that "death in each case had resulted from natural causes.' The funeral took place at Rothwell yesterday.

DEATH OF COUNCILLOR WHITELEY.—By the death of Mr. Whiteley, of this district has lost an enterprising quarry owner and contractor, and the Leeds Town Council a very promising member. The deceased gentleman was a builder, and his knowledge and experience were of value to the committees of the Council. He was a widower, and leaves two sons and three daughters. His death, which is attributed to inflammation of the bowels, will be regretted not only by his Conservative friends and supporters, but by all who know him to be a willing and a practical public servant. Mr. Whitel-y was only 35 years of age. The late Mr. Whiteley was interred at St. Mark's Woodhouse, on Tuesday last, the funeral being attend d by the Mayor, and many of the members and officials of the corporation. While the funeral was taking place, the bell of the Town Hall was tolled, and Dr. Spark played the Dead March in Saul on the organ. Great regret is felt at Robin Hood, where his quarries are situated, at such a-rdable anxiety is felt as to whether, and how the works will be carried on.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Another sudden death occurred yesterday. A little child nearly two years old, the son of Mr. Geo. Gibson, Well Lane, Rothwell, had been somewhat unwell for some time, and at about half-past four yesterday, while getting his tea, sat upon his father's knee, he suddenly succumbed without the slightest warning.

In the December Part of CASSELL'S MAGAZINE, which will form the First Part of a new volume, two new serial stories will be commenced, one entitled "Sweet Christabel," by Miss Arabella Hopkinson, and the other "A Diamond in the Rough," by the author of "HUARD MANSFIELD." A new feature, entitled "Our Reading Club" will be included, its object being to supply every information required for formation and arrangement of reading clubs, suitable programmes for reading, &c.

ALTHOUGH more than a million copies of CASSELL'S POPULAR EDUCATOR have been sold, this remarkable work is still as largely in demand as ever, and the publishers have arrangements for re-issuing it in serial form during the present month. The secret of its ever-growing popularity seems to be that it is so framed as to meet the requirements of every class of learners. Testimonials from schoolmasters, mechanics, artisans, farm labourers, and persons in every position of life, speaking of what this unique work has done for them, are continually reaching the publishers. Mr. Thomas Burt, M.P., does not hesitate to acknowledge how much he owes to the POPULAR EDUCATOR, which has been recently characterised by a leading educational journal as' a School, an Academy, and a University in one, Part 1 will be published on the 25th inst.

NEW MUSIC.—Messrs. Marshall & Co., of Oxford Circus, have published three new songs of varied character, copies of which have reached us. One by the well-known composer, Mr. W. M. Hutchinson, and though of dissimilar character, are both good in their way. "Far away in dreams" is an engagement to the popular "Dream Faces," by the same author. The words, which are also Mr. Hutchinson's, are touching and very expressive, the accompaniment being in beautiful harmony with the song. "Vanity Fair" is a very pretty and taking composition, and concerties out in an unusual degree, the sentiments of the song, the words of which are written by D'arcy Jaxone. For dramatic illustration, it will be successful. "The last milestone" is a song, the words of which are sympathetically written by Mr. Jaxone, the appropriate music being from Mr. Henry Potter's pen. The songs is supposed to be used by an aged man or woman addressing a grand daughter, and the music naturally partakes of the slow and sacred character to be expected; though a somewhat difficult representation, the artistes, both poet and musician, are to be congratulated.

STOURTON WESLEYAN METHODIST SOCIETY.—In connection with the above society, missionary sermons were preached on Sunday last, in the morning by the Rev. F. Woofenden, and in the evening by Mr. F. Hargreaves. Good congregations were present at each service. Collections were made at the close of each service in aid of foreign missions.

STOURTON WESLEYAN IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.—The above society held their weekly meeting on Tuesday evening, when the members were very pleased by hearing a lecture on 'John Milton,' which was very ably given by the Rev. W. W. Dickens.

A SERIAL issue of Dr. Grikie's LIFE AND WORDS OF CHRIST is about to be published in screenpenny monthly parts by Messrs Cassell & Company. This edition will have the advantage of a series of full-page frontispieces, and with Part 1 will be issued a large map in colours of Palestine in the time of our Lord.

LOFTHOUSE PAROCHIAL TEA.—The Vicar of Lofthouse requests us to correct the list of tray-holders, as reported last week, the names of Mrs. W. Hargreaves, Mrs. Bentley, Mrs. Baines, and Mrs. Scott having been omitted. The total amount cleared was £8.

THE SEASON.—The December number of this excellent work, which has just reached us, continues to maintain the foremost place in the monthly series of fashions. The coloured plates of the "Queen's" illustrated fashions are simply gorgeous. The directions as to how dresses, mantles, hats, caps, etc., are to be made up and finished in the work of all kinds, present an array of useful and brilliant attractions. Such a work is specially acceptable before Christmas.

POLICE NEWS.

WEST RIDING COURT.—FRIDAY.

THREATENING HIS GRANDFATHER.—Thomas Williamson, butcher, was charged by Stephen Williamson, a farmer, his grandfather, with threatening, on the 11th, to throw him out of doors at Rothwell.—Complainant said that defendant came to his house drunk and threatened to throw him out, using bad language and being very violent. He frightened witness's wife very much. Cross examined: You threatened more than twenty times to throw me out. Defendant said he brought the property of his grandfather's son and went to see the complainant about it, when the grandfather became violent, and he (defendant) went to Low Moor to see his unfaithful son.—Defendant was bound over to keep the peace, himself in £5 and a surety of £5, for six months, or in default to undergo imprisonment in the Hunslet Westgate; in default of paying them 14 days' further imprisonment. This seems to be a very painful and disgraceful case, the old man and woman, over eighty years of age, having lived long and honourably in Rothwell, and by family misfortunes are now greatly reduced in means. Such conduct to an aged couple cannot be too strongly denounced.

CHARGE AGAINST A POLICE CONSTABLE.—Policeconstable Reid, of Middleton, was charged with threatening to 'screw the b——old head' of Thomas Dixon, farmer, of Middleton, on September 4th. Mr. B. W. Kemp appeared for the complainant. It appeared from the statement of Mr. Kemp and the evidence, that police-constable Heaton used to hire a field of the complainant, which was used for the fair, and when the defendant took his place he also wanted to have the field, but complainant refused to let it to him, and in consequence there was some ill-feeling apparently between them. Complainant fastened up the gate, and the defendant put a chain on a stump. On the 4th September defendant accused the other of stealing the chain, which belonged to him. Complainant said he had put the chain on a stump because he found it in his field. The defendant then several times said he should like to "screw off the b——head" of complainant. Complainant replied calling the defendant a scoundrel, and said his grandson had been wrongfully sent to the assizes by the defendant. Mrs. H. Dixon, wife of Robin Dixon, daughter, and Ralph Ashton, a mechanic, corroborated the complainant's statement. The defendant said he apprehended the complainant's grandson for an unnatural offence, for which he got 12 months. He only threatened the complainant with using or breaking the chain, and the charge was brought through malice and spite. He called James Woolley, joiner, who said the chain was his. The case was dismissed, each party to pay his own expenses.

HARRIERS.

THE STOURTON HARRIERS met on Saturday at their head-quarters, Queen Hotel, Stourton, for their usual weekly run. The hares, Rowland Hill (capt.) and H. Atkinson, were despatched with the bags at 3.15, and were followed by the pack with W. Johnson as pilot, and W. Fatkin as whip, started to follow the two, which led over the bridge and across country past Mr. Rowland Hey's Farm, to Wood Hill, past the Windmill and down to Bell Isle wood, again across the country past the ride range into Dewsbury Road, across the Monkey Foot pit hills, and towards Beeston, then a sharp turn to the right into the Dewsbury Road, again by the New Inn, then across Hunslet Moor and the Seven Arch Bridge, past the Mars Entrance, and out into Pepper Lane, at the bottom of which the finish was found close to their home. The signal being given to race in W Fatkin, took the lead and came in first, J. Clark second, and J W Weatherhead third. The hares appeared for 4.10, and the pack at 4.36, after a pleasant run of 8 miles.

Holloway's Pills.—The greatest Boon of Modern Times.—These searching Pills act directly on the liver, correct the bile, purify the system, renovate the debilitated, strengthen the stomach, increase the appetite, invigorate the nerves, and reinstate the weak to an ardour of feeling never before experienced. The sale of these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, and no wonder, the utmost scepticism has been no Medicine equal to Holloway's Pills for removing the complaints which are incidental to the human race. They are a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to those who suffer from any disorder, internal or external. FOOTBALL NOTES.

Oulton players had a day's rest last Saturday, owing to being wrong about the date. It was Scottbridge whom they should have met; but that organisation was arranged to play Meanwood on the above mentioned date, and on the 22nd inst. This is the third club in this district that have been thrown over by Scottbridge this year, in reference to dates.

Rothwell took what might be termed a second team to engage Robin Hood at Thorpe last Saturday. The game was rather a one-sided affair, especially in the second half, when, with the wind and rain behind them, the Robin Hood forwards had it all their own way, and goal after goal was put through, leaving only four backs and goalman. This shows once more what the Rothwell half-backs are (?) when they could only counter one single goal in half-an-hour when the ball was always in their opponents' half. They lack energy, and have not the slightest intention to whether they get past the ball or shy, but kick in a very certain way, not seeming to care where the ball goes. Another point is that when a good shot is made by one of the team, the rest of the forwards stand with their mouths wide open, to see whether it is scored or not, instead of rushing in for the rebound chance to let the ball drop (which he did several times on Saturday) try a second time to get it through. This neglect was also shown by the backs as Rothwell, but one can hardly expect a new club like the former to play like the latter should do, when they have not had one good tuition. Newbold, was played for the first time, and proved to be a very useful man at back, and I have little doubt but that he will be a great acquisition to the Rothwell team. A. Ward had the honour of being captain on the first win for Rothwell this season, but it is needless to remark on his play, as it is quite an understood thing for him to do his best, and he did. Ward, Lonsdale, and Green, Greenwood is the only one who has improved, and he acquired himself well, and the points he scored was the result of a good shot and pluck in the clevered manner. For the losers, A. Ellis played with much of his usual dash, while Bedford also favoured his side badly for one by his good kicking at back.

Stourton St. Andrews' were disappointed in not having some visits from their friends, there to meet the Temperance Club, which is, I hear defunct, so it seemed that an open Saturday was in store for them, but, however, at the last moment, Mr. Thomas Hunslet Weslevans on hearing this, sent a rather unusual challenge, which was accepted by the committee of the Stourton team, and the game was a representative one, and if anything Stourton suffered most in this respect. At the commencement, both sides played up well, but it soon became apparent that the other superiority over the Wesleyans by scoring twice during the latter part of the first half, one of which being objected to, no point was waived. When the second half began, it appeared evident that the Stourton players were a little too good for their opponents, who fell off greatly, and the home team taking full advantage of this opportunity quickly increased their score, and at the end of time had compiled six goals to the Wesleyans nil. Lunn and Charlesworth appeared to have had their "day out," the latter being especially conspicuous for three goals being objected to, on each occasion, by Mr. Ralph Ashton, a mechanic, corroborated the complainant's statement. The defendant said he apprehended the complainant's grandson for an unnatural offence, for which he got 12 months. He only threatened the complainant with using or breaking the chain, and the charge was brought through malice and spite. He called James Woolley, joiner, who said the chain was his. The case was dismissed, each party to pay his own expenses.

WOODLESFORD AND OULTON.

OCCASIONAL NOTES.

As a participatory of the remarks in this column with reference to the Mechanics' Institute, the printer's ink was scarcey dry before circulars were issued on Friday last, announcing the first of a series of lectures, by J. G. Purdy, and intimating that a reading-room, well furnished with newspapers, books, periodicals, and games, is to be re-opened at once This is so far so good, and if it be followed by a vigorous personal canvass, there can be little doubt that we shall soon hear a better account of the Institute than that which can fairly be given at present. Lectures and games, and many of his admirers will be interested in his appearance in the more serious character of instructor on subjects of which he has special and practical knowledge. It is time a little light was let in upon the subject of the proposed lecture, to dispel some of the ignorance and prejudice, which lead many worthy people to seriously oppose the practice of vaccination.

THE Church entertainment, etc., to which reference was made last week, has again drawn attention to the lack of accommodation which has always heavily handicapped local enterprise in the way of public entertainments or social meetings of any kind in Woodlesford or Oulton. When the Board Schools were built, it was generally hoped that meals would be adopted for providing a good large room for public gatherings, in combination with what was required for educational purposes. But the conservative mind of the School Board for the time being lost sight of this great public need, and the district remains as it was. The Vicar of Oulton, when they were erected as schools and for educational purposes only; but in a village community where the school is often the only available public building, the school population have surely a claim that provision should be made for their education and entertainment also. Those who have been present at the annual prize distribution, when it has been attempted to squeeze all the scholars, the members of the Board, and parents who have attended, into one of the rooms, may think that a large room would be quite every useful room for purely school purposes. By removing the wall which divides the boys' or girls' school and class-room, and substituting a moveable partition, the accommodation could be greatly extended, but it is hardly likely that the Board will ever make such alteration, until we arrive at the remote contingency of over-pressure in the number on the Roll. The prospect of the Mechanics' Institute providing a home for itself in the way of a large public hall may be considered still more remote, so that there are likely to remain as they are for some time to come, and must be made the most of.

TOWARDS the solution of the vexed question of drain ventilation, we venture to offer a suggestion—for what it is worth—to the consideration of those who make sanitary science a special study. It is admitted that if the noxious sewer gas could be drawn to any point and submitted to intense heat, its dangerous properties would be destroyed, and it could be safely passed into the atmosphere without risk of polluting it. With very little expense, and without disturbing the present arrangements, could not permission be obtained from the firm of Messrs. Bentley and Co. to connect with their boiler furnace a ventilating shaft from some convenient point in the main sewer, which passes the premises? And if this was done, the draught of the furnace would continuously exhaust the sewer gas as it was generated, the heat would be sufficient to render it innocuous, and it would be passed harmlessly away up the chimney shaft, instead of escaping with its fetid and sickening smell from the grates close to our doors. A similar connection might be made with the pottery kiln, and arranged so as to be cut off while the kilns were being drawn and filled If, on account of the low position of the places named, this plan did not suffice to thoroughly exhaust the offensive gas, it would at any rate relieve the pressure, and greatly mitigate the nuisance and danger. The present rough and ready system is a standing invitation to typhoid and other malarious fevers to come and sojourn with us.

WHEN the public water supply was introduced, all the local wells, pumps, etc., were allowed to fall into decay, and when from pressure in the mains supply is stopped, a water famine often causing serious inconvenience is the result. It is rather exasperating when the household goes to the nearest pump expecting to fill his cooking the dinner, boiling kettle for tea, or perhaps for commencing a day's washing, to find the supply stopped and no power to get any. However, it is not unreasonable to ask that a sufficient public notice should precede the cutting off of the water for an unlimited time. At present this does not appear to be considered necessary.

THE latest 'institution' in Woodlesford is a Concertina Band. It has been said that there lies dormant in the souls of all men a genius for some particular musical instrument, and an unsuspected yearning to play on it.—It is rough on the neighbours when this instinct developes into an affection for an unholy trombone or a lacerating clarionette.—The number of those who feel a call to play the concertina is legion, and there has been no difficulty in getting together a sufficient number to form a respectable band, who meet regularly for rehearsal, and parade the village occasionally, apparently deriving a full measure satisfaction from their musical efforts, and exciting considerable interest by the novelty of their performance.

CAPTAIN.

ROTHWELL (A TEAM) v. ROBIN HOOD.

This match was played on the ground of the latter on Saturday last, Rothwell losing the toss, and kicking off up hill, and in the face of a strong wind. Play was of an unsettled character for some time, but eventually the ball was got safely away from Rothwell goal but without effect. The ball was then run up the field, and put in dangerous proximity to the home goal, but this was got safely away. Rothwell again however, and an easy chance to score was missed by the visiting forwards. After travelling down the field for a time, some smart passing on the part of the Rothwell forwards took the ball into the home quarters once more, and a shot by Lewis took effect, but it seemed to put the Robin Hood team on their mettle, and desperate efforts were made to score, but the back division were equal to the occasion, never averted all danger. Play again travelled to the other end, and the home team kicking the ball out a 'corner' fell to their credit, but was not improved upon by means of the second goal being scored for his side. Nothing more resulted before the call of half time, after play was resumed, there was a continual bombardment of the Robin Hood goal, and eventually a good shy by H. Greenwood did the needful. This point to be the last point gained, for although shies were being continually made, none were successful. Only once in this half did the home team get in anywhere near the home goal, but the visitors' goal, and then a heavy kick by Newbould relieved, and at the call of time Rothwell were declared victors by 3 goals to nil.

ROTHWELL.—W. Smith, goal; E. Newbould, back; A. Ward, (capt.) W. Wroe, back, D. Longley, half-backs; W. I. Taylor, H. Greenwood. J. W. Wright, H. White, R. H. Lewis, J. Harrison, forwards.

STOURTON ST. ANDREWS' v. HUNSLET WESLEYANS.

This match was played at Stourton last Saturday, The Wesleyans captain having won the toss, Gallimore kicked off for Stourton at 3.30, against the wind. The ball travelled quickly all over the field, and for a time the respective backs had their goals intact. The Stourton forwards however got the ball in dangerous quarters, and Lunn, from a nevers-ease fish, put by Fatkin, Baldwell, scored the first point. Soon after restarting, Charlesworth appealed for another goal, but Mr. Phillips maintained that the ball was over the cross bar, and as neither of the umpires could give a correct decision whether it went over or not, no goal was scored by the benefit of the doubt. Soon afterwards half-time was called Stourton having scored 1 goal to nil. During the second half, Lunn and Charlesworth were both worth scoring three goals and Lunn and Goldthorpe one each. The Wesleyans tried hard to score, but the Stourton backs were equal to the occasion, and only once during the match had their custodian to handle the ball. The game ended in a win for Stourton by six goals to love. Lunn and Charlesworth played splendidly forward and well were assisted by Blackburn.

TOWN TALK.

We have had a bit of frost at last. One was almost beginning to think that a proper winter must have come, that King Frost had withdrawn him-self entirely from us, and had probably made his permanent home in the frozen regions of the pole. But that is not the case. Tuesday morning dawned, and revealed the long-covered pavements and roads to the delight of the school-children, and disappointment of the aged and infirm. We may yet have a real winter, one of the right good old English winters, and Old Father Christmas will perhaps visit us again 'in his robe of white arrayed,' in spite of the mild weather which has up to this week prevailed. If so, we shall want our skates once more, and for my part I intend getting mine ready at once, hoping to have an opportunity of a "spin" at Christmas.

It is rumoured a young lady's wife now-a-days to bring an action for breach of promise of marriage against her unfaithful beau. The damages—£10,000 —are the nearest approach to Calora ('otherwise Lord Garmoyle), is probably the highest amount of damages ever recorded in this country in an action of this kind. The nearest approach to it is £5,000, given in 1825 to the late Judge Talfourd, for the loss of an alliance with a lady who had inherited a considerable fortune from his father. Other sums of £3,000 are not unfrequently sometimes occur, and on one occasion in the reign of "William and Mary," a disappointed man was awarded £4000 for the loss of a lady of wealth. £2,000. These sums are small compared with Miss Finney's loss and pleasant taste, by say the least, is a very convenient sum of money.

Most people will remember the School Board Election about a year ago, and some may know that immediately after that election, a letter headed 'The Chairman and the Members of the Old Father Christmas' appeared in the Rothwell Times. I may say that that letter suited me in one or two points, especially those two first drops of the liquid "Floriline" when one could not exercise the privilege of voting, because their names did not appear on the list of voters. The following paragraph I could not fully appreciate—' thirdly, that the Local Board of Rothwell should revise its by-laws and make them reasonable on the question of breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or disagreeable smoke. "The Fragrant Florline" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of this age. Price 2s. 6d. of all Chemists and Perfumers. HOW THE COMPLEXION IS RUINED.—It is well known to the medical faculty that 90 per cent. of skin diseases are caused, and the complexion ruined by the use of impure and poisonous soaps, which should be at once the quicker its ruin. The Albion Milk and Sulphur Soap is the purest, the mildest, and most reliable of all the many toilet soaps before the public. Recommended by the entire medical profession. Delicately and delightfully perfumed. It is a boon to sensitive skins, and as a shaving soap is unequalled. Sold by all Chemists. Wholesale U.S. European depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

IS RHEUMATISM CURABLE?—Yes, if you take GOODHOUSE'S RHEUMATIC MIXTURE. Speedily cures Rheumatism in the Limbs, Shoulders, Back, or Head. Rheumatic Pains in the Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica, Rheumatic Headache, Rheumatic Gout and Stiffness, in any part of the system, quickly yield to the acute or long standing, it never fails. Sold by all Chemists, or direct from the Proprietor, 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d. per bottle. GOODHOUSE'S RHEUMATIC MIXTURE, Ossett, Yorkshire.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Dr Browne's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now sold by most respectable chemists in the kingdom at 1s. 1½d. per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," a "tickling in the throat," or a "cold settled on the chest," are often too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box.—Prepared by JOHN L. BROWNE & SON, Manufacturing U.S. European depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

UNION LINE.
CAPE of GOOD HOPE, NATAL & EAST LONDON MAIL STEAMERS.—FORTNIGHTLY MAIL PACKETS sail from SOUTHAMPTON every alternate Thursday, and from PLYMOUTH the following day. For Freight or Passage apply at the Company's Offices, Oriental Place, Southampton, or 109, Leadenhall Street, London.

SMALL-POX PREVENTION and CURE.—Any person taken with this dread disease should begin in a good hearty manner to prevent its coming on, and take nothing but Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. This simple treatment, after years of observation, is confidently declared that any other. Take it frequently as a preventative.—Sold by all Chemists, or post free for 14 stamps from the Pyretic Saline Office, 113, Holborn, E.C., London.

CHOLERA.—The late eminent Dr. Stevens recommended Lamplough's Pyretic Saline during cholera every 15 minutes to any one attacked by this disease. He never lost a case when this was taken in time. Sold by all Chemists, or post free for 14 stamps from the Pyretic Saline Office, 113, Holborn, E.C., London.

SYMPTOMS.

IF your vital forces are depressed, if you have a feeling of general lassitude and weakness, are easily tired, suffer from Nervous Debility, are short of breath on every slight effort, and experience feelings of misgiving and despondency, you are suffering from GENERAL DEBILITY. Use Mop Bitters twice a day.

IF you have a sense of weight or fulness in the stomach, a disagreeable taste, sometimes vexatious; but generally feeble, a morbid craving, but no appetite, you have a fair sample of pain for some time after eating, wind, sourness, vomiting, and flatulency in the stomach, and a sickness over it, headache, or some of these symptoms, you are suffering from DYSPEPSIA, which Mop Bitters will permanently cure.

IF you have weakness in the loins, with frequent pains, a "backache" across them, a quenchable thirst, harsh and dry skin, darkly flavred tongue, swelling of the ankles, occasional swelling of the limbs, frequent hiccoughs, inability to void the urine, or too much fatigue in attempting it, you are suffering from a complication of KIDNEY, URINARY and PLAINT, such as Bright's disease of the Kidneys, Diabetes, Retention, Inflammation, Irritation, Mucous and Renal calculi, Gravel, Stricture, and suppression or retention of urine, and Mop Bitters are very speedily curing well over you.

IF you have sickness, want of appetite, fainting dizziness, and feverish symptoms, you are suffering from TORPID LIVER, and the invitation are the surest cure.

IF you have a dry, harsh, and yellow skin, a dull pain in the right side, extending over the shoulder-blade, with a feeling of weariness, soreness over the region of the liver, and sometimes an enlargement of the liver, with yellowness of the eyes, bowels irregular, generally diposed to looseness, a hacking cough, with a feeble appetite, soreness of breathing, fever and hands generally cold, poison from the liver has begun to generate taste in the mouth, low spirits, sometimes mistake it for Indigestion, pain in the heart, disturbed sleep, heart-burn, disinclination of exertion, with a dread of company, symptoms, you are suffering from LIVER COMPLAINT, and Mop Bitters are very speedily curing well over you.

IF you have a complexion which few understand at once will present itself in the form of confirmed condition of certain organs, a wearisome tiredness, sometimes a shooting of the lower limbs, a desire to fly all to pieces, and a fear you will, with mental imbecility, strength and health—any of these symptoms show that you are suffering from NERVOUSNESS, and Mop Bitters will prove the very cure you.

Many diseases arise from Impurities of the blood, Indigestion and Debility, but these symptoms are the most common, and every person should be well acquainted with them.

BEWARE of buying Sarsi sold in all forms, pretended to be like Hop Bitters. The only genuine is put up in very large square bottles, Amber-colored bottles. Dr. Soule's name blown on the glass, white label on one side, with black letters and green hop cluster. The other side yellow label. Directions in English and German. Manufactured only by the HOP BITTERS COMPANY. For Sale by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors.

KAY'S COMPOUND Essence of Linseed, Aniseed, Senega, Squill, Tolu, &c., with Chloroform. Of all Chemists.

THE CONSUMPTION EMULSION (registered as PETHIBRON).—The public have it in their power to very materially relieve many of the distressing symptoms arising from Asthma, Bronchitis, and diseases of the respiratory organs. Pethibron, however, is invaluable in restoring the waste of tissue caused by that dreaded disease Consumption, where the name CONSUMPTION EXTRACT. This Pethibron has been recommended by many eminent medical men as the most valuable remedy which can reliably be used in this country, and when the authority of Dr. Allbutt, the celebrated specialist in Consumption, that this remedy can be relied on, and will assist the treatment of Phthisis—viz., "a curious ground which the purest waste of tissue, and serve as a digestible food to the Consumptive patient." We cannot do better than quote Dr. Allbutt's opinion from his work, entitled "Consumption: Its Cure," &c., for extract, "It is greatly assistive my treatment. I almost invariably find there is a gain of weight even after it has ceased to give any positive evidence for the efficacy of Pethibron. In addition to it local treatment, and the use of cod liver oil, quinine, iron, and bromide of potash, are often necessary. Pethibron is sold in bottles at 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, and in cases of more power, its action is almost sure. It can be obtained of all Chemists, or, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, and Sole Proprietors, Pethibron Chemical Company, Limited, 33, Farringdon-street, London, E.C.; or of W. B. Dick, N.S.D., 61, Great Queen-street, London, W.C.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemists for "The Mexican Hair Renewer," sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere at 3s. 6d. per Bottle. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

A NOTICE TO MOTHERS.—Every mother should give her child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth "Dr Gs at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet, sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for Dysentery and Diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Price 1s. 1½d. per bottle. Sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

FLORILINE.—For the TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Floriline" in water will produce a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents decay, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly whiteness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or disagreeable smoke. "The Fragrant Florline" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of this age. Price 2s. 6d. of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

THE recollection of the recent Gas Exhibition has scarcely left our enlightened minds, before we hear complaints of the quality of the gas supplied by the Rothwell Gas Light Co. On Friday, Saturday, and Monday last the writer much suffered from sore throat, and the shock sustained by the olfactory nerve, on entering some of the well-lighted sh ps or public houses, was truly terrific. "Oh, we can't help it, we won't do, gentlemen; if you supply such gas as this, you will compel people not only to discard the use of the article, but to petition the Board of Trade to cease gas even for illumin

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday last; present, Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, (chairman), Mr. J. Dixon, (vice-chairman), Messrs. J. Parker, J. Smith, H. Sheard, J. Hardcastle, J. Rollinson, W. Lawton, C. Grosvenor, B. Aaron, G. Jepson, R. J. Smith, J. Graveley, and the clerk (Mr. Schofield).

The minutes having been read, matters relating to the minutes were proceeded with. Several special cases for relief were considered and decided, and on Mr. Lawton's proposal, and the clerk's suggestion, it was agreed that the names and descriptions of husbands having deserted their wives, should be posted up in certain public-houses and in the Free Library.

AMALGAMATION.—The Committee in whose hands rest the proceedings respecting the proposed Amalgamation Scheme, reported having seen Mr. Simpson, who will undertake the brief, for the Bramley and Hunslet Boards for 30 guineas. The clerk also read a letter sent by himself and the Bramley clerk, addressed to the Local Government Board, requesting that, in the event of another inquiry being ordered, that an independent commissioner be sent down, so as to secure an impartial hearing of the question.

The clerk reported that a gentleman had intimated that a house-to-house canvass would be voluntarily undertaken without cost to the Board, in opposition to the Amalgamation scheme; provided only that the Board supply the necessary memorial and spare sheets. On the motion of Mr. J. Smith and Mr. Parker, it was agreed that the sheets be supplied; Mr. Dixon against, being of opinion that the work should be paid for, in order to secure its being properly done.

DEFAULTERS.—The case of Gledhill, Stephenson, and others who are more or less concerned in certain property, which ought to repay the cost entailed on the Guardians in maintaining a certain female in the asylum) was again brought up, and although Mr. Greveley objected to the cost which would be incurred, it was otherwise unanimously decided, that the clerk take the necessary legal proceedings for compelling these persons to pay the amount of past and current expenditure incurred by the Guardians in the maintenance of the poor girl mentioned above.

RATING OF SCHOOLS.—Mr. R. J. Smith drew attention to the statement of a member of the Leeds School Board that the schools in Hunslet and Holbeck Unions are rated at 2s. a head. The clerk said the statement was incorrect, that they are rated at 6d. per scholar.

HILLIDGE FIELD.—The clerk read the agreement for letting this piece of land to the Leeds Corporation as arranged at a previous meeting, and the document was ordered to be signed and sealed.

In accordance with notice given, Mr. Aaron moved that the present wall in the above field be removed, and that a new wall and entrance gates be built to enclose the whole piece of land, using as far as possible the old material. Mr. Parker seconded the motion, this expense being included in the loan of £1,000 lately obtained for the purchase of the land. Mr. Dixon proposed an amendment to postpone the work for three months; Mr. Grosvenor seconded this motion, which Mr. Lawton supported, as it was no use spending money on their premises, seeing that the Amalgamation question was still unsettled. The majority of the members took this view of the subject, and the original motion was lost.

THE JUVENILE EMIGRANTS.—The clerk read a letter from Mr. Boyd, the sec. to the Roman Catholic Colonisation Society, giving the names and addresses of the several homes in which the four boys lately sent to Canada, are located; they are all said to be in good situations and are quite well. Mr. Grosvenor pointed out that they had no direct evidence of these boys' welfare, through Mr. Boyd, and he, along with Mr. Rollieson and Mr. Graveley, expressed a wish to have an independent report. The other members, however, saw no reason why Mr. Boyd should not now be relieved of all responsibility, and a motion to that effect was passed, through Mr. R. J. Smith and Mr. Jepson.

CHRISTMAS.—The extra meat, groceries, etc., required for the usual Christmas treat were sanctioned, along with an expenditure of £2 in fruit, etc., for the children in the workhouse.

The usual wants and returns were then reported, and the meeting closed.

WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of this Board was held on Friday last, the Rev. A. J. Irvin, Mr Farrar, Mr. Flockton, Mr. Hoyle, Mr. Nowell, and the clerk being present. The minutes of the previous ordinary and special meeting having been read and confirmed, it was resolved to have the entrance gate to the boys' playground removed, it having been broken by passing carts.

The monthly financial statement shewed that during the last month £7 13s. 2d. had been received for school fees, £1 4s. 6d. for letting rooms, and £50 from the overseers on account of precept; the balance in hand being £76 6s. 1d. Cheques were drawn for the usual monthly and quarterly salaries amounting to £47 14s. 2d., and for sundry accounts £6 10s. 9d.

The clerk reported that he had that morning attended at the Union Offices at Hunslet, with the accounts of the Board for the year ending 29th September, 1884, which had been examined and passed as correct by Adams, the district auditor, who had expressed his satisfaction at the manner in which the books were kept. The auditor's certificate was produced.

The Rev. A. J. Irvin brought forward a resolution (of which he had given notice to the clerk) "That the charges made for the use of a schoolroom and platform for entertainments and lectures be reduced from 6s. and 2/6, to 2/6 and 1s. respectively." His reason for re-opening this question was that the charge as at present existing, especially in the case of lectures, virtually a prohibitory one, and as lectures were really educational in their nature, he thought that no more than the actual cost of coal and gas ought to be charged; and that the charge was also too high for low-priced entertainments.

Mr. Hoyle said he would second the proposition if the charge for the platform was made 2s. instead of 1s., which alteration was accepted by the chairman.

Mr. Nowell moved as an amendment "that the Board pass on to the next business." He thought that the whole question had been thoroughly ventilated a few months since. Mr. Flockton seconded the amendment, being of opinion that the Board should have more time to consider the question than they had had in the present instance. The voting on the question was two votes for the amendment and two for the proposition, Mr. Farrer being neutral. The chairman gave notice that he would move a resolution on the subject at the next meeting.

It was reported that the annual inspection of the schools by Legard, H. M. Inspector, would take place on Friday, the 5th December, 1884, and the Standard examinations on Monday, the 8th December, 1884; it was also reported that the average attendance at the schools for the year which had closed that day (28th November) shewed a great advance upon the previous year.

The numbers for the respective years are:

	1884.	1884.	Increase.
Boys' Department	52	61	9
Girls' ,,	43	50	7
Infants' ,,	55	72	17
Total	150	183	33

being a total increase of 33 for the whole school, which was attributed in a great measure to the system of attendance cards and prizes adopted at the beginning of the year.

Mr. Parkin attended the meeting with reference to school matters, and called the attention of the Board to an alteration which had recently been made in the Code, whereby backward children might be retained in the Infants' department after they were seven years of age, if they were too backward to pass the first standard. It was decided to consult Mr. Legard on the subject on Friday next at the inspection.

The Prize Scheme of the Board provides that all children who make 350 and 400 attendances during the year shall receive prizes value 2s. and 3/6 each respectively, and as the schools had been closed by the Board on account of measles 74 days in addition to the usual holidays, thus depriving the children of 15 opportunities of making such attendances; it was resolved to reduce the numbers by 15 in each case; the numbers entitling children to prizes will therefore be 335 and 385 respectively.

It was resolved to hold the ordinary meetings of the Board on the last Tuesday in every month, instead of Friday.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The usual fortnightly meeting was held on Monday; present, Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman), J. Hargreaves, J. Oliver, H. P. Newsome, J. Dobson, J. Turner, J. Nowell, and the clerk, medical officer, collector and surveyor.

The minutes of last meetings were read and approved.

HIGHWAYS.—In regard to the roads under Mr. Bulmer, it appears that some work has been done during the fortnight, but under the circumstances, the general feeling was that it would be better both for the Board and also for the contractor, to terminate the contract, as the sooner a valuation is made, the better will be the result for the contractor. After further conversation, it was moved by Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Dobson,—That the Board do take possession of the roads under Mr. W. Bulmer's contract. The chairman was very wishful that a legal opinion should be taken on the question, but there being no seconder, the above resolution was carried, Mr. Newsome being neutral.

The chairman of the Highway Committee referred to the state of the paving between Carr Lane and Old Engine, and stated that the Committee recommended that 100 yards of it should be taken up, and macadam used. It was moved by Mr. J. Hargreaves, that the whole of this paving be pulled up. Mr. Turner expressed his pleasure that a motion to this effect was made, and reiterated his opinion against all paving, crossings included. The chairman stated that the Committee recommended that 100 yards of this paving be taken up at present; he combatted the feeling of some members against the advantages of paving Bell Hill, holding that when this work was done, the Board was completely beaten with the road, and that he had been told by competent authorities that the Board had done the best thing possible in paving it. Mr. Oliver, in seconding the chairman's remarks, said that he believed the Board had done the very best way they could have adopted at the time, and that when it was worn up, it would not owe the Board anything for the money laid out. On the subject being voted on, Mr. Dobson voted with the chairman and Mr. Oliver; Mr. Nowell joining Mr. Jas. Hargreaves and Mr. Turner for pulling up the whole of this portion of the paving. Mr. Newsome was neutral; the chairman gave his casting vote in favor of only 100 yards being done at present.

The surveyor reported certain damage done to the Leeds and Barnsdale Road, and to some flagging in Woodlesford Lane, by a traction engine belonging to Mr. Isaac Kaberry. It was agreed, on the motion of the chairman and Mr. Oliver, "That £6 be claimed for damage done by the above-mentioned engine.

HEALTH REPORT.—Dr. Glaister gave his report for the month, on the health of the district, and stated that during the four weeks ending November 29th, there have been 22 births (8 male and 14 female), and 10 deaths (6 male and 4 female). In the corresponding period last year there were 20 births and 7 deaths. The causes of death during the past four weeks are as follows:—Female, 64 years, bronchitis; male, 6 months, bronchitis; male, 4 months, fits; female, 8 weeks, convulsions; male, 8 months, bronchitis; male, 7 years, convulsions; female, 29 years, congestion of lungs; male, 52 years, rheumatism; male, 63 years, interestrial hepatius; male, 2 years, pneumonia.

The general health of the district was stated to be good, there being no zymotic disease in the Local Board boundary.

The doctor also handed in a detailed statement of the sources of water supply on the premises of Messrs. Oliver, Lawton, Atkinson and others, on the Haigh. This report will be forwarded, along with a letter from the clerk, to the Local Government Board.

BUILDINGS.—The chairman reported the non-fulfilment by Mr. Geo. Mitchell, of plans approved by the Board for the building of an ashpit, etc., for Dr. Glaister's house. The building is neither in the same position, nor according to the dimensions specified in the plan. The chairman moved and Mr. Dobson seconded, "That seven days' notice be given to Mr. Mitchell, to pull down the ashpit, and rebuilding it according to plan; carried.

WATER.—The question of water supply was next introduced, and complaints made of the inconvenience to which the inhabitants have been put by having the water cut off at certain irregular periods. The reason was explained by the chairman, as not arising from any fault or leakage on the Rothwell side of Thwaite Gate, but of the Leeds side, and it was anticipated that the cause would shortly be removed. Mr. Jas. Hargreaves reported the frequency of being without water at Rothwell Haigh, and it was moved by the chairman, seconded by Mr. Nowell, that a water barrel be provided for the houses near the reservoir, until proper arrangements can be made. It was also agreed, on the motion of Mr. Newsome and Mr. Jas. Hargreaves,—That handbills be distributed in Rothwell requesting the inhabitants to be as careful as possible of the water, until a better supply was obtained.

It was also ordered that a letter be written to the Leeds Corporation, complaining of the inconvenience caused by the short supply of water, some portions of the district being almost constantly without, and urging immediate attention to the question; proposed by Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Turner, and carried.

GAS.—Numerous and strong complaints were made by the members and the inspector of the bad quality of gas recently supplied by the Rothwell Gas Light Co., and asking an immediate improvement in it. Mr. Jas. Hargreaves and Mr. Nowell moved a resolution to this effect, which was carried, Mr. Newsome being neutral.

A resolution was carried to place a gas light or two in the engine house.

Water Rents	...	7 0
Miscellaneous	...	3 18 6

ROTHWELL TIMES--FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1884.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

ROTHWELL WORKING MAN'S CLUB.—The annual tea and meeting of the above club took place on Tuesday evening last, when some 40 persons sat down to an excellent repast provided by Mr. and Mrs. Smith, the caretakers. Shortly after tea, when the tables had been cleared, the annual meeting was proceeded with, the Rev. F. Farrer occupying the chair. Mr. G. Wilson (the secretary), was first called upon to read the report of the doings of the club during the past season, in which it was stated that in the year of 1883, the number of members was 81, while at the present time they reached 54, or an increase of 27. The committee have during the year gone to the expense of purchasing a new bagatelle board, which has proved a very successful outgoing. The balance sheet shews that the committee started their term of office with a balance in hand of 18s. 7d., and although they have had £12 6s. 0d. to pay for the further amusement of the members in the shape of a new bagatelle board, and also of painting and papering the premises at a cost of £2 12s. 7d., they leave with a balance in hand of 7½d., which is most gratifying to all concerned. The total amount of income is £37 15s. 1d., and the expenditure £37 5s. 7½d. The President rose to say a few words before the adoption of the report, and the reverend gentlemen in a somewhat brief address explained his ideas in reference to the working of the club. He felt very glad that the business was carried out on non political grounds, although it had been suggested to him several times, that seeing they had a Liberal club in the village, to use their room for a Conservative Association, but as persons of both sections were members of the Working Men's Club, Mr. Farrer remarked that those who wanted to form a Conservative club, should do so irrespective of the one now being carried on by them. He was very much in favour of recreation for young people, (football, cricket, bicycling, and other games) as it was the means of keeping them away from the public houses, while at the same time he believed it was most beneficial to the health of those participating in the same. In conclusion, he trusted the club would meet with the greatest amount of success. The election of officers was next proceeded with:—President, Rev. F. Fawkes. Vice-presidents, Messrs. E. Calverley, C. and J. Charlesworth, J. G. Turner, W. Jowett, J. Brown, J. Tennant, W. Hargreaves, J. Farrer, A. M. Samwell, J. R. Purdy, and I. Gould. Committee, Messrs. J. Wise, R. Redley, G. Farrer, H. Normald, A. Baines, J. W. Chadwick, and S. Dobson. Librarians, Messrs Baines and H. Wormald. Treasurer, Mr. Sunderland. Secretary, Mr. G. Wilson. Votes of thanks were passed to the chairman, and the meeting closed.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—There was a somewhat larger attendance than usual at this place of amusement on Saturday last, and those who took the trouble to be present were no doubt well repaid for the entertainment given by a party from Horbury. The comic sketches were excellently gone through, the several characters (which must have cost a great deal) being well got up and well-rated great credit on the performers, though it would have been a much better treat if they had contrived to have a few songs between the sketches in place of one or two of the recitations. The programme opened by Mr. W. Fisher singing "Take me home" in fair style, followed by the reciting of "Weaver's Lad" by Miss Hopkinson. Messrs. J. Mitchell, W. Booth and — Rayner next took part in a round, entitled "Poor Thomas Dike," which was given in character and very well got up, but did not evoke much applause from the audience. Mr. J. Mitchell again made his appearance in a recitation which was his own composition entitled "Johnny Johnson, the donkey rider," and he acted the piece extraordinarily well. A comic sketch "Blunders at Olde Scroggins" in which Misses Hopkinson and Booth, and Messrs. Ellis, Mitchell, Booth and Rayner took part, when each acquitted themselves in a style inferior to a much higher class of performers. Mr. W. Fisher then appeared in the recitation "The Blackley Highwayman," followed by a duett "Reuben and Rachel" by Miss M. and Mr. W. Booth. Mr. Rayner, unaccompanied, and in response to an urgent call, the two last verses were repeated. After an interval of ten minutes, the concluding part was commenced by Mr. W. Fisher in a song "Does your heart beat true to me," succeeded by Mr. J. Mitchell reciting "Misdemeanors at Blackpool" in character, and also a dialogue "Simms and Matty" by Miss Hopkinson and Mr. Carr. A negro burlesque, "The Swindling Somnambulist," was represented by Messrs. Ellis and Booth. Mr. Mitchell again appeared, this time in "The last lecture," which was also given in character, when it appeared quite evident that the performer was well up in his work and the audience could have caught the several 'hits' contained in the piece they would have been simply delighted. "She wore a wreath of roses" was next given by Mr. W. Fisher, and loudly applauded. The entertainment terminated with a farce, entitled "Blundering Blazes," the parts being taken by Miss Barker, Messrs. Carr and Rayner, the whole proving a great success, the get up of the various characters were all that could be desired.

Mr. Rayner as "Batter" in the above farce was performed almost to perfection, whilst an excellent substitute was found in Miss Haines as "Barnet's sister": Mr. Carr should also be complimented on the dramatical powers displayed by him in his representation of the "Old Bachelor." Mr. A. Newton acted as chairman, and Mr. J. Ward presided at the piano.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, STOURTON.—On Saturday evening last (St. Andrew's Eve) a very success-ful Parochial Tea and Entertainment took place in the Board School, Stourton, in connection with the church of St. Andrew's, Stourton. About 150 persons sat down to a capital tea, provided over by several lady members of the congregation, and among those present were the Rev. A. J. Miller, (Vicar of Middleton), Mrs. Miller, and the Rev. V. Litchfield and Mrs. Litchfield. After the removal of the tables, a capital entertainment followed. The Rev. A. J. Miller presided in his usual happy manner, and expressed his great pleasure at again meeting the people of St. Andrew's, after his arduous mission labours in the East End of London during the past fortnight, and publicly thanked Mr. and Mrs. Holmes for the new reading desk they had just presented to the church, and also other friends for gifts of flower vases, and banners for the use of St. Andrew's. He also briefly spoke of the successful state of the Sunday School, and endeavoured to encourage the teachers in their hard work. He then formally introduced to the parishioners, the Rev Vincent Litchfield, who has lately been appointed to the curacy of St. Andrew's district. Mr. Litchfield, who was received with great applause, briefly addressed the audience, expressing his pleasure at making the acquaintance of the people of Stourton. The Rev. gentleman said he felt already at home in Yorkshire, and felt quite sure he should meet with a kind welcome amongst whom he had come to labour, who if they lacked the polish of the South country people, he was sure they made up that deficiency in their warm-heartedness. He also asked them for their hearty co-operation in his ministrations among them. The musical part of the programme was then proceeded with; the choir (under the able direction of Mr. George Heathcote, Organist of St. Andrew's) giving the Rise Pipe Strawberries" very efficiently. Mr. Whitworth followed with "The Tar's Farewell" (Adieu) and Miss Greaves, of Wrangthorne, with "The Miller and the maid," after which an amusing recitation, 'Logic,' was well rendered by Mr. Litchfield. Mr. Chapman then sang 'The Pilgrim of love,' and Miss Fieldhouse and Mr. Smart gave in a very pleasing manner the Music of Home and, unmingled. Mr. Braithwaite who possesses a good bass voice, contributed Gatty's 'True till death.' Mr. Williams sang 'Come la-see and lada,' and Mr. Smart followed with the ever-welcome 'Come into the garden, Maud,' and Mr. Ryder contributed a recitation from Sir Walter Scott's 'Lady of the Lake,' which was well given, but too lengthy. The first encore of the evening was fairly earned by Mr. Whitworth, who gave the song 'My old wife,' in so insensely humourous manner, and he responded with Stansud Lover's 'That rogue Reilly.' Miss Greaves followed with 'Fanny O'Hea,' for which she was recalled, substituting 'Within a mile of Edinboro Town.' Then followed Mr. Chapman with 'Madeline,' Mr. Williams with 'Trifles light as air,' Mr. Braithwaite with 'Thora and Rosa,' and the Andrew's Choir with that delightful glee, 'Sweet and Low.' The singing of the National Anthem closed one of the most pleasant entertainments ever given in the village of Stourton.

ATTENTION has been called to the melancholy fact that, as shewn by the report of the coroner for West Middlesex, no fewer than 60 persons lost their lives by small boat year by falling from windows, whilst in the act of cleaning them on the outside, and it has been suggested that something in connection with this should be devised for remedying so serious an evil. It may be well, therefore, to state that the remedy has been devised already. At the Health Exhibition was a model of 'Adam's Reversible Window Sash,' a remarkably simple arrangement for the complete convenience of risk, and easily adaptable moreover to windows as at present usually constructed. It should be known, too, that the above sash can be made to adjust their level by the ordinary method of cleaning the windows of a house from the outside is, by 10 and 11 Vic., cap. 89 a misdemeanour, punishable by imprisonment, besides rendering the master liable under the Employers' Liabilities Act.

HOWDEN OLD BAND MUSICAL ASSOCIATION:—CLASS —The first meeting of the above class was held in the band room on Wednesday night, Nov. 26th, when Mr Jno. Plows read an able paper on "Music and how it should be produced." The subject was handled in a masterly manner, and very much pleased those present, especially such as the information given at the close as to accompaniment. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Plows for his instructive paper.

SPOKATON SUNDAY SCHOOL.—In connection with the above Society a service of song was given by their choir in the school-room on Sunday afternoon last; the service was entitled "Jesus in Canaan." The chair was taken by Mr. Councillor Atha at 2.30. The service was rather a lengthy one, but the singing was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The connecting readings were given by Mr. J Swales, while Mr. T. Groner conducted the singing with great care, and Mr. F. Lickin presided at the harmonium. A very satisfactory collection was made at the close, the amount it is being £1 7s. 1½d., which was handed over to the Sunday School.

STOURTON WESLEYAN MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY held their usual meeting on Friday last a good attendance of members was present to hear Mr. Harry Webb deliver a very able essay on "Bible History." At the close, a debate was carried on respecting the subject, and all went home well satisfied with what they had heard.

STOURTON WESLEYANS.—The above society held their annual meeting of Foreign Missions on Monday evening, Nov. 27th, 1884 in their school-room, Wakefield Road. The speakers were the ministers of the circuit, assisted by some other gentlemen, all of whom spoke very well on the subject of Foreign Missions. The financial results of the mission were found to be better than they were last year.

POLICE NEWS.

WEST RIDING COURT.—Friday.

STEALING A HORSE RUG.—James A. Robinson, Henry Cooper, and William Thompson, all Rothwell hawkers, and Silvester Cork, were charged with stealing a horse rug, value 2½s. 6d., the property of Charles Bottomley Inman, mineral water maker, Oulton, on the 29th of November.—Prosecutor drove up to the "John o'Gaunt," at Rothwell Haigh, and Coburn had his horse's head when he went into the house. When he came out there was nobody there, and a mile from the house he overtook the prisoners riding a cart. They said they knew nothing of the rug, which he left in his trap, but he found it covered under a sack, in the bottom of the cart. The men were more or less the worse for liquor.—Police Constable Wilson spoke to apprehending the prisoners.—Thompson pleaded guilty and was fined 10s. and costs, or in default one month. The others were discharged with a caution.

MONDAY

BANKRUPTCY.—On Monday morning last, on the petition of John Swales, of Norton, farmer and lime burner, Mr. Scholefield Sanderson, at the Wakefield Bankruptcy court, decided that the receiver of the court was re-instituted receiver in the estate of Edward Arthur Hall, of Hope Farm, Oulton, farmer and commission agent. Messrs Carter and Atkinson, solicitors Pontefract, acted as solicitors for Mr. Swales, and the usual official business.

A FOUL MOUTHED WOMAN.—A married woman named Ann Squires, of Rothwell, was summoned on the information of Police-constable 334, for having used obscene languageon the highway at Rothwell, on the 23rd ult. The officer said defendant used very bad language and had to put her into the lock-up twice. Police-sergeant Turton gave corroborative evidence. Defendant said the bad language she used was in defence of her own child, whom her own mother had abused.—As this was her first appearance before the Court she was ordered to pay 5s., including the costs.

BOROUGH COURT.—WEDNESDAY.

(Before Mr. Moorhouse, (Mayor), Dr. Slatter, and Major Taylor.)

CRUELTY TO A HORSE.—Virgins Thompson, sawyer and greengrocer, of Lofthouse Gate, was charged with working his horse whilst in an unfit state. Inspector Richmond, of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said on Friday, the 21st. ult., he noticed a sore on the horse's back, and crupper, on which on the back of the animal, which appeared to give it much pain. The saddle was over it at the time; on the top of an old mat. It had been in that condition for six weeks. Thompson said he was not aware the animal was in such a bad state. He had done his utmost to alleviate as much as possible any pain it might suffer. Police-sergeant Turton corroborated the complaint. When he saw the sore the saddle was pressing right on to the wound. Thompson begged for leniency of the Bench, on the ground that he had had many expenses at home through sickness, and was fined 10s. and 9s. 6d. cost.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, distressing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are excited to healthy secretion, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

Holloway's Ointment and Pills—Autumnal Remedies.—Towards the fall of the year countless causes are at work to lower the tone of the nervous system, which will be found by ill health unless proper means be employed to avert that evil. Holloway's far-famed preparations supply a faultless remedy for the disorders of internal derangement connected with changes of season. All affections of the skin, roughness, blotches, pimples, superficial and deep-seated inflammations, erysipelas, boils, carbuncles, and gouty pangs, alike succumb to the exalted virtues of Holloway's Ointment and Pills; which will effect a happy change in the patient's condition, even though the symptoms of his disorder are legion, and have obstinately withstood the best efforts of science to subdue them.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

OULTON players realised more than expectations at Rowmarsh last Saturday, when they were only defeated by 2 goals to one. The games with Rawmarsh are always looked forward to as one of the best clubs whom Oulton engage, and although our village club sprung a surprise last year, they are by no means discarded, and considering that they were defeated at Oulton by five goals to three, the defeat on Saturday last, was indirectly a very close, and achievement on the part of the players, and they deserve all the credit they may receive for such a praiseworthy effort. Connell was as safe as usual on the Oulton side, and I have no doubt his presence would be badly missed, for his excellent "screws" from the left.

One of the best and finest matches ever witnessed, I should say, came off at Stourton last Saturday, when the St. Andrew's were opposed by Hull Town. The home club had undoubtedly the strongest team in the field of any they have had this season, the forwards being especially good. Latham, Chadsworth, Exley, Pearson, of Sheffield renown, and Swift, (if I am rightly informed) from one of the finest clubs we have in England. Backing up the wind in their favour, they kept the leather continually in their opponents territory during the first half. Swift being especially noticeable amongst the forwards, and after a time Charlesworth was enabled to do the needful. On the change of ends, a draggled game was looked for, but the game would have to be abandoned, but, however, the Hull captain gave way. A couple of fouls were made against Oulton, but neither of them were of a nature objected to on though part the (the Stourton inquiry) there was nothing to be seen on that half of the field. My opinion is, that if both umpires had given their opinion, the one on which half of the field the ball was fouled against Oulton, but if he chose to give a decided opinion about the point in question, and the other umpire saw it, the latter's decision must be, and should be final. Both umpires were in attendance, a rather rough ustute, and the seaport men being the heavier of the two had an advantage, but, however, in fact the players and spectators, the whole of the town of the Stourton club, they found some foemen "worthy of their steel" and the home goal was kept intact and the match ended in a draw, neither the Stourton I goal to none. After the match, the Hull men were gratuitously entertained to tea by the Stourton players, which was greatly enjoyed by their lengthy journey.

The Rothwell and Oulton clubs have had three drawn games when opposed to each other this year, two with the second and one with the first eleven. It is hardly necessary to say that they are all interesting, though each side had what might be termed, one or two of the first eleven playing with them. The Rothwell team have been favourite for each should have won easily, but as usual the forwards were not ableto score the major points, and to show what opportunities they had, there was a time when Rothwell had only to score, to handle the ball once during the whole match, that being at the time when Oulton got their goal. The home backs were nearly all on the defensive of the field, and kept the ball well in the Oulton territory, but were badly at fault by their forwards, who time and without number were the means of a "six yards" being given to their opponents, when they should have scored from the balls that they had in front of them. The first-half, and Oulton drew "first blood" in the second portion of the game from a foul in front of the home goal, and from which a shot was made, free kicks the visitors were given from players fouling the ball, and it was most disgraceful to the Rothwell backs that the home team got their point, about ten minutes before time, from a screw kick from that last improving player, Greenwood. There is one thing I have to say in connection with the Rothwell (N.Ass'n.) that is not to have all the best men playing on one side, as it is my opinion that if Ellis had been at the other wing, they would have come on rather better than they did. Two or three of the Rothwell players had been "spotted" and were not allowed to display their real form, which is based on the latter consideration, is at present alike to all.

Interest in the work of foreigh missions is growing in the neighborhood. The annual meeting of the Woodlesford and Oulton branch of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel which was held on Wednesday in the Board Schools was well attended, and the vicar in his spirited opening address was able to congratulate members on the position they held in comparison with other villages in the Deanery, the branch being second on the list last year with a contribution of £15. The proceedings at the meeting were most interesting; the promoters had secured the advantage of an address from a missionary, the Rev. Mr Abraham, who had had large experience in the colonies of Australia and New Zealand. His sketches of the character and practices of the Aboriginals and Maories illustrated by a series of large pictures were graphic and entertaining; and the good accounts of the steady progress in the spread of christianity in these quarters of the world which he was able to give was most encouraging. In the course of the proceedings, it was incidentally mentioned by the chairman that, while it was easy to rouse enthusiasm in politics over such subjects as the Franchise Bill and the Redistribution of seats, which became the absorbing subject of conversation in the village inns and in the workshops, and wherever men were gathered together, one never heard the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel with its claims for a particular benefit or profit. The contrast, which is based on the latter consideration, is at present alike to all.

The contrast, which is based on the latter consideration, is at present alike to all.

It is said that a Conservative Association is projected for Oulton and district. Our Conservative friends are thus wise in the generation, putting themselves into a position for effectively educating the new county voters from their point of view. What are the Liberal's about? they are not to be left behind in the way of organisation. They are generally ready enough to take the responsibility of the world upon their shoulders, and generally handle it in the wrong manner of the human race. The Tories of course dispute the qualifications of their opponents for those little tasks and assert that they are the props of the universe.

HARRIERS.

THE STOURTON HARRIERS had their weekly run on Saturday afternoon from the New White Bear, Tingley, in which the following members took part: J W Weatherhead (pace), H Atkinson, J G Sheard, C Collins, S Clark, B Rose, F W Jones, J Clark, W Fatkin, R Hill (captain and whip). Being late in starting it was decided to only have a 40 minutes run. The hares (J Clark and W Fatkin) were despatched with the bags at 3.40, and ten minutes later the pack started; they found close by, skipping the Wakefield and Bradford road to East Ardsley, then a sharp turn to the right and across country into Batley road, through Howley Park, and down into the Dewsbury road. The finish was found one mile and a half from home. The pace then led the way home at a good speed, and at 4.30, the hares having arrived 15 minutes sooner, having had a pleasant run of a little over 5 miles, through some splendid country.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence in thousands of cases, because it contains more nutritious and flesh-forming elements than any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa s usually sold. When you ask for Cadbury's Cocoa Essence be sure that you get it, as shopkeepers often push imitations for the sake of extra profits. Makers to the Queen. Paris prize, 80 Paxbourg St. Hotbore.

WOODLESFORD AND OULTON.

OCCASIONAL NOTES.

It is needless to remark that winter is since more upon us with its usual severity; we only refer to the trite subject of the weather in order to make a little appeal on behalf of the youngsters attending the Infants' department of our schools. The heavy fall of snow on Sunday night was allowed to remain in the unswept and ungarnished state for the entire day, without even an attempt being made to clear a path; and it was pitiful to see the little ones slopping through the half melted snow and the deep in slush on their way into school. This should be looked into; if it is too much to clear an open space in the playground, at least a path should be made by which the very little children could make their way into school dryshod.

The first of the season's lectures under the auspices of the Mechanics' Institute was given on Monday evening last, when Dr. Purdy showed how even so unpromising a subject as vaccination could be made interesting and instructive. Beginning with a brief epitome of the ravages of small pox recorded in the history of the world from very ancient times; the lecturer showed its importance were all the means devised to check the advance and spread of this loathsome disease before the discovery of vaccination by Dr. Jenner. Within 20 years was it was impossible to go out into the streets of a populous neighbourhood without meeting several people disfigured for life by traces of the fell foe, cases of loss of sight, speech, or hearing from the same cause being also common, it is now rarely but otherwise, and only occasionally that when they do occur it is invariably proved that the patient has never been vaccinated. Statistics were given to show that if the law which provided for the compulsory exercise of this great boon, was faithfully carried out, practical immunity from the scourge of smallpox would be the result. Many of the supposed evil effects attending the practice of vaccination were shown to exist only in the imaginations of those who oppose the system, and some appalling instances were cited of the results of neglecting the use of this safeguard by large communities. An interesting sketch of the operation of vaccination concluded the lecture, to which the closest attention was paid throughout by a fairly numerous audience. Questions were invited and a short discussion followed during which points arising out of the subject which had been merely touched upon in the lecture were more fully explained. The usual votes of thanks were cordially accorded to the lecturer, and chairman the (Rev A J Irvin), at the close. Previous to the vote of thanks being taken, an expression of the opinion of the audience was invited, and unanimously given in favour of asking the Board to reduce the charge for the use of the room for lectures &c., promoted by local public societies for the general good. It seem only right that a difference should be made in favour of ratepayers who may be said to be using their own property, and outsiders who wish to use the rooms for a particular benefit or profit. The result, which is based on the latter consideration, is at present alike to all.

ENTERTAINMENTS AT WOODLESFORD.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

In the 'Occasional Notes' of last week I observe a reference to the lack of accommodation for entertainments at Woodlesford, in which the writer intimates that the Oulton Local Board is not providing a larger room in the schools. It is surely within the recollection of your correspondent that at the time the building was erected, there was ample accommodation for all classes of entertainments at the Two Pounds Ten Concerts, but that room is now largely devoted solely to the purposes of a billiard room to the exclusion of the caterers for public amusement. The Local Board have also thought fit to supply a demand which had no existence. Whether the Board would be justified in ignorning an expense which was required by many years standing, and substituting a sliding screen as suggested for the sake of two or three concerts per year is a question for the ratepayers, and as this only applies to Woodlesford in point of advantage, and Oulton and Woodlesford in point of cost, I should imagine that the Oulton people would not quite see it.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER.

TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT.

It is at all times hard to lose one whom we hold dear, but it is terribly so when we have the consciousness, that they might have been saved if the loved one might have been with us still. In some cases the fact that the sufferer is treated for the wrong complaint is the cause in sufficient time to admit of the patient being saved, and the following is a case in point:—

A high class family some years ago in the beautiful young lady of New York was given up to die of consumption. Her fond parents took her to Paris, as a last resort, hoping to find some change that there might be in arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreadful disease. In this their hopes were blighted, but fortunately away in that distant land they met with a description of a new method of treating Dyspepsia which emanated from the Mount Lebanon Shakers of the State of New York, and thought struck the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and not consumption; and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was obtained and administered to the patient, and the result was marvellous. In a few days there began to be the appearance of good quenchable thirst, harsh and dry skin, darkly furred tongue, swollen and inflamed throat, morbid dropsical swelling of the limbs, frequent hiccoughs, inability to void food, alarming symptoms of fatuigue in attempting it, pain on the chest, with some form of KIDNEY OR URINARY COMPLAINT, such as Bright's disease of the Kidneys, such as in the Liver Complaint, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Lung Disorders, &c., &c., when the fact is they are afflicted with Indigestion in some of its varied forms, and which if neglected would obtain relief if they were properly treated for Dyspepsia. Similar cases to the above applies to Woodlesford in the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Indigestion or Dyspepsia,

BEECHAM'S PILLS

ARE admitted by thousands to be worth above a GUINEA a Box, for Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Fulness, and Swelling after Dinner, Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Scurvy, Blotches on the skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, &c. &c. The first dose will give relief in twenty minutes.

This is no fiction, for they have done it in thousands of cases. The Proprietor of these Pills having obtained (at great expense) a Patent for them, he challenges the whole world to produce a medicine equal to them for removing the above named complaints and restoring the patient to sound and lasting health.

Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

For females of all ages these Pills are invaluable, as a few doses of them early off all gross humours, open all obstructions, and bring about all that is required. No female should be without them. There is no remedy to be found to equal BEECHAM'S PILLS for removing any obstruction or irregularity of the system. If taken according to the directions given with each box, they will soon restore females of all ages to sound and robust health.

For a weak Stomach, impaired digestion, and all disorders of the Liver, they act like "Magic," and a few doses will be found to work wonders upon the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the long-lost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse into action, with the ROSEBUD of health, the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are "Facts" admitted by thousands, embracing all classes of Society, and one of the best guarantees for a Nervous Debilitated is, BEECHAM'S Pills have the largest sale of any Patent Medicine in the world.

BEECHAM'S MAGIC COUGH PILLS

Are a remedy for Coughs in General, Asthma Difficulty of Breathing, Shortness of Breath, Tightness and Oppression of the Chest, Wheezing, &c., these Pills stand unrivalled for anyone labouring under any of the above complaints. They need only try One Box to prove that they are the best remedy to the public for Asthmatic and Consumptive Coughs, Hoarseness, and Oppression of the Chest. They speedily remove the sense of oppression and Difficulty of breathing which nightly deprive the patient of rest. They give almost instant relief and confirm in those afflicted with the above distressing and, when neglected, dangerous complaints, but any person troubled with any of the above complaints should give Beecham's Cough Pills a trial.

The most violent Cough will in a short time be removed.

Caution.—The public are requested to notice that the words "BEECHAM'S PILLS, St. Helen's," are on the Government Stamp affixed to each box of the Pills; if not so, they are a forgery.

Prepared only, and sold wholesale and retail by the proprietor, T. Beecham, Chemist, St. Helen's, Lancashire, in boxes, 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. each. Sent post free for 15 or 36 Stamps.

Sold by all Druggists and Patent Medicine Dealers in the United Kingdom.

Friday, December 12, 1884.

THE present generation has become accustomed to surprises and revolutions, and many events which would formerly have caused turmoil and even civil war, are now allowed to pass with little more than discussion.

The events of the year now nearly closing, however, stand out high above everything else in our nation's history, not only of the year, but of the past fifty years. The household suffrage given to the towns some 16 years ago, was a great stride beyond the Reform Bill of '32, but the Franchise and Redistribution Bills, cover a much wider area, and secure to town and country alike, the means of ascertaining through their representatives, the opinions and wishes of every householder in the United Kingdom, and also gives as far as possible, proportionate weight to every division of these in ands.

By the Franchise Bill, which became law a week last Saturday, two millions of householders, whose only crime has been that they lived in the country, will now be entrusted with the same voting power as the town householders; when the next General Election comes round, these men will for the first time, have a voice in Parliament.

Together with this vast increase of electors, has been produced a bill which is the result of perhaps the most remarkable and unique Committee that ever sat round a baize-covered table. After much controversy and monster political meetings unequalled at any former period, we found one morning that the proposed Bill for the Redistribution of Seats was to be considered by a committee consisting of Mr. Gladstone (Prime Minister), the Marquis of Salisbury and Sir Stafford Northcote, (Conservative leaders of the two Houses), the Marquis of Hartington and Sir Charles Dilke, (representing the moderate and Radical sections of the Liberal party). Day after day we were told of the two Tory leaders visiting Downing Street for consultation with their Liberal colleagues, and on the evening of Monday week, the Premier presented the outcome of their joint deliberations in a crowded house.

By this Bill 80 towns in England, 8 in Scotland, and 22 in Ireland, will be relieved of their members, on account of their population being small, while 2 towns are disfranchised for corruption, and 4 others will be included in the county representation. Of the boroughs which now send two members, 34 in England and 3 in Ireland will be reduced to one member, because of their population being under 50 000. Boroughs of a population from 50,000 to 165 000 will have two members, while our larger towns and cities have a considerable increase of representation averaging about one member to each 50,000 population. Liverpool will have nine representatives, Birmingham and Glasgow seven, Manchester six, Leeds and Sheffield five, and other smaller additions. Forty-three new boroughs are proposed, the majority of which are in or near the City of London, which is itself to be represented by only two members. The considerable balance of unsupplied seats is allotted to the counties, where a large proportion of the newly-enfranchised householders are found. Leaving the other counties, we find that Yorkshire, which now returns ten county members, is henceforth to be represented by twenty-six gentlemen. The plan of dividing the large towns and the counties into single-member districts is proposed, so that should this mode be finally adopted, Yorkshire would be parcelled out into 26 divisions, each of which would elect its own member.

How will this affect us here? Pontefract, Wakefield, and Leeds are on the three sides of us. These three towns have their several members, but within the radius touching them, is a large and important population, numbering some 30,000 persons, who certainly claim to have a word in the re-arrangement of districts, and who should be represented by one of the twenty-six members. It is for us to keep our eyes open, and secure every advantage we possibly can. Rothwell is the natural centre for the populous neighbourhood between these towns, and we see nothing impossible or unreasonable in the suggestion that a memorial should be prepared by the several bodies concerned, desiring the Boundary Commissioners to consider the propriety of making these towns the outer circle of a parliamentary district, the gentleman representing which shall be called the "Member for Rothwell." The subject requires consideration, and should be taken up with spirit, and we think a portion of the time of next Local Board meeting would not be badly spent in discussing what steps to take for the advancement of the interests of this district in this direction.

SCHOOL BOARDS.

The annual inspection of the schools under the Rothwell and Woodlesford School Boards, has taken place during the past week. At Rothwell, the examinations were conducted last Friday by Mr. Tillard, one of Her Majesty's Inspectors, and Mr. Haler, assistant, and have resulted in an improvement of about 9 per cent, an average of 76 per cent being gained. At Woodlesford, examined by Mr. Wade, inspected the schools, on Friday and Monday, the result being 90 per cent for the boys and about 80 for the girls. Rothwell Haigh was examined by Mr. Tillard and Mr. Wade on Wednesday and Thursday, and it is anticipated that last year's high character will be fully maintained, but the schedules have not yet arrived.

EPPS COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. LOCAL & GENERAL.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—The platform of the above hall was occupied on Saturday evening last by a party from Hunslet. Only a moderate audience was present, but the entertainment was relished by all who heard it. The performances opened with a glee, "Ye Tar's Song" by the Hunslet Methodist New Connexion Quartette, followed by a song by Miss Tolson. Mr. Cocks gave the well-known song "Whiz, Sqoall," and a comic reading by Mr. Sheard took immensely. Mr. Holden sang "True Friendship" very nicely, and a trio "Fair Flora decks" by Messrs. Sheard, Cook, and Dawson, was given with taste. Miss Shaw sang "Katie's Letter," and on receiving a well-merited encore, rendered "Riding on a load of hay." Mr. Hewison sang "The Ironclads of England" very tastefully, and Mr. C. Dawson then came forward with a comic song "Will you lend me mother a sovereign," and as an encore gave "The boy can say, Pa!" A glee, "Onward roaming, never weary," by the quartette, finished the first part. After a short interval, the party came forward and sang "Hail! smiling morn," and Miss Tolson gave a recitation, when being loudly applauded, was responded to with another piece. Mr. Sheard sang "Worried Dave," and then came a dirge "Death of Cock Robin" by Messrs. Dawson, Sheard, Cook and Hewison Miss Shaw took part in "Paul and Virginia," followed by Mr. Sheard in a comic recitation, "Toby Tosspot." The comic, Mr. Dawson, next gave "How did you leave the pigs, Sammy," and responded to a lengthy demanded encore. The glee, "When evening's twilight," was well rendered by the quartette, and "God save the Queen," concluded the entertainment.

COFFEE SUPPER.—The young men connected with the Primitive Methodist Sunday School have been busily engaged of late in soliciting subscriptions for a coffee supper, the result of which go towards their wall at the coming Christmas Fete and Bazaar. There was not so good a company as might have been anticipated, but we have no doubt but that the financial portion of the affair will be gratifying to all concerned.

THE Special Christmas number of the Christian Million contains many elements of popularity. First, there is the coloured plate, entitled 'The Golden Wedding,' from the painting of John Morgan, selected from this year's exhibition of the Royal Academy. This picture is an immense success. It is full of sympathy, and spreads irresistibly to the spectator. The fidelity of the reproduction to the original is remarkable, and we are sure that the tens of thousands of sightseers who gazed with so much interest on the original as it hung up in the Academy will be delighted to find the opportunity for purchasing so faithful a copy at so nominal a price. The proprietors could hardly have hit upon a happier idea, or one more successfully carried out. Then there are numerous high-class wood engravings of Christmas subjects, such as 'Hanging the Mistletoe,' 'Dreaming of Santa Claus,' 'The Sailor Boy's Return,' 'Christmas in the Orphanage,' 'A Christmas Drive in Canada,' 'Christmas in the olden Time,' 'A Wet Christmas,' etc., etc., etc. To these are added Christmas Stories by various well-known authors: 'Andrew Nettleworth's Golden Wedding,' by J. Jackson Wray, the winner of the Carriage and Pair in the late prize scheme; 'Jack's Return;' a Christmas Love Story,' by F. M. Holmes; 'From Door to Door, a Postman's Story,' by George Malchinock; 'Christmas in the Outer Time, my Grandfather's Story,' by Alfred H. Miles; 'Dorothy Hilcroft's Reward,' by William J. Lacey; 'Dorothy's Darling, a Soldier's Story,' by M. Munro; 'Out of His Keeping, a Temperance Story,' etc., etc. To sum up—there are Eight Complete Christmas Stories, Ten Christmas Pictures, Eight Illustrated Poems, by Christ as Poems, besides Two Christmas Hymns with music. The price for the whole is 6d., and there can be no doubt but that it is a wonderful budget for the money.

STOCKTON RATEPAYERS ASSOCIATION.—The above association held a meeting at the Queen Hotel, Stockton, on Monday last, the 8th instant; John Swales, Esq., occupied the chair. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been confirmed the business of the meeting was proceeded with. Respecting local wants, several complaints were made regarding numerous dark corners about Stockton, and a deputation was appointed to wait on the Rothwell Local Board at their next meeting, to request them to put up a few more lamps, and to suggest where they are most needed. A resolution was also carried supporting the Board of the Hunslet Union in their endeavours to prevent the sma gestation with the Leeds Union. It was also resolved to ask the Local Board to stir in the matter of the Cemetery Drainage. The business being concluded, the meeting was brought to a conclusion by a vote of thanks to the chairman.

MR. FRED PARKER, assistant overseer for Rothwell, who left England some few Weeks ago for a voyage to New Zealand, has lately written to his friends, and no doubt it will be gratifying to many who know him to learn that he was then in improved health. His letter is dated from St. Vincent, Nov. 15th, and he writes in a very cheery strain, having experienced very little sickness, and enjoying himself immensely. The voyage is expected to last about six weeks, the steamer making 320 miles a day. We trust Mr. Fred will join in the hope that the voyage may prove the means of restoring Mr. Parker to health again.

MR. ERNEST HUTSON, formerly of Robin Hood Inn, and who began his career as a reporter for this journal, is now, we are I sed to hear, the sub editor of the Derby Journal, the most influential paper in the north of Ireland. We are sure the onward progress of our young friend will be most gratifying to all interested.

DENTISTRY as practised by Dr. G. H. Jones, of N.-7, Great Russell Street, London, wondrously exemplifies the high state of perfection to which it in art has been brought. His pamphlet, which can be had gratis, contains a list of Medals, Diplomas, and Awards, such as no dentist has ever won before.—St. Pancras Gazette.

LOCAL PRIZE-WINNERS.—Mr. W. Oldroyd, of Newsam Green, Woodlesford, was winner of £3 for a pen of three prize pigs at the Leeds Christmas Cattle Show on Tuesday, and Mr. W. Speight, Middleton, carried off £10, the first prize for a fat cow in milk for slaughtering.

TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT.

It is at all times hard to lose one whom we hold dear, but it is terribly so when we have the consciousness that but for mistaken treatment the loved one might have been with us still. In some cases the fault might have been with the doctor, in others the fault lay with the patient in not having explained very little sickness, and enjoying himself immensely. The voyage is expected to last about six weeks, the steamer making 320 miles a day. We trust Mr. Fred will join in the hope that the voyage may prove the means of restoring Mr. Parker to health again.

TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT.

A little more than two years ago a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption. Her fond parents could see but one last resort, hoping to find some skilful physician there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreadful disease. In this latter hope we are delighted to be fortunately away in that distant foreign city they met with a description of a new method of treating Dyspepsia which emanated from the Mount Sinai Hospital in the State of New York. The thought struck the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Dyspepsia instead of Phthisis, and not consumption; and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was obtained and administered to the patient, and the result was marvellous. To-day their daughter lives in the enjoyment of good health. The fact was, the patient had been treated for the wrong complaint, and when she was treated for Dyspepsia (her real trouble), all the alarming symptoms of consumption vanished. This is not an isolated case. The country is full of suffering thousands that are being treated for Liver Complaint, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Lung Disorders, &c., when the fact is they are afflicted with Indigestion in some of its varied forms, and all of such sufferers would obtain relief if they were properly treated for Dyspepsia. Seigel's Curative Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or patent medicine vender, or from the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, No. 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C.

POLICE NEWS.

WEST RIDING COURT.—MONDAY.

A DESPERATE WOMAN.—SERIOUS STABBING CASE.—A young woman named Ruth Maskell, of New Woodlesford, appeared in the dock to answer a charge of feloniously wounding and wounding Charles Wright, a miner, living at the same place. Mr. B. W. Kemp appeared to prosecute and Mr. E. Lodge defended.—Mr. Kemp briefly opened the case on behalf of the latter gentleman, and three or four times on Saturday the ball prosecutor, who said he lived at New Woodlesford, was called and examined. He stated that on Saturday night, at half-past one o'clock, he was standing in the house, when a man named Clarkson came and told him that Ruth wanted him. He went to Barrat's shop with Clarkson, and in prisoner's presence Clarkson asked him if Ruth had not blamed him about a lamp which had been stolen. Witness replied "No, she had blamed Barraclough." Prisoner then flew into a rage, and vilmes' wife told her to guard her temper. She became worse, and threw a pair of scales which were on the counter at him, causing a wound upon his forehead. She then threw a jug at him, but that missed. She then went into the kitchen and threw all the pots she could lay her hands on. He tried to present her, but two other wounds were caused on his chin. Clarkson got hold of prisoner, and witness made the best of his way out of her presence, proceeding to his own home. His wounds were dressed by some of the neighbours, and after having washed him-elf he heard the prisoner call for him. She was then standing near his house door. They lived on opposite sides of the street. He went to the door, and asked her what she wanted, whereupon she appeared with a polished knife with the knife. She had a knife in her left hand, and with it stabbed him deeply in the right arm. Prisoner afterwards said she did not intend to stab him, but if he came out again she would rip his inside out. He then retired into his own house.—In cross-examination witness said he had had a drop of drink that night, but he was not "fresh." He had been convicted for drunkenness and threatening language on several occasions. He would not swear that he did not use bad language to his wife, but he did not kick the prisoner on the night when she interfered between them. He, however, did kick her three or four times when she used the knife upon him. He never struck or kicked her in Barrat's shop. The knife was not used when he was trying to pull her out of her own house. He struck the prisoner's husband when he was leaving Barrat's shop, and also kicked him.—James Clarkson, miner, Oulton, gave corroborative evidence.—Dr. Parry, surgeon, Woodlesford, said he saw the prosecutor on Sunday morning. He was then bleeding profusely from a wound in the arm an inch and a half long down to the bone—the ulnar artery had been severed. He also found a wound on the forehead, and on the left side of the head. Whoever struck the blow must have been with a pint pot. She had a poker in her hand, but no knife.—Mr. Lodge in defence said that on Saturday night his client was very much provoked by the prosecutor. The row commenced by the prosecutor kicking his wife on the leg, and prisoner threw a pint pot at him He then kicked her on the legs, but she got away from him and went home. Soon afterwards he went to her house when she struck him on the arm with a pint pot. Both her legs were badly bruised by the prisoner, and her head was also bruised by him. He was very sorry for what she had done, and as she had not come scathless from the fray herself he hoped the Bench would treat the case as a common assault, and only inflict a fine upon her. Defendant was ordered to pay £5, or go to prison for a month. Had she not been provoked they would not have given her the opportunity of paying a fine.—Prisoner said she would not pay the fine.

HARRIERS.

STOURTON HARRIERS.—This club had their first cross-country run on Saturday, on the Leeds and Wak-field Road, starting from the milestone opposite to the Queen Hotel, and running to the fifth milestone against Victoria Hotel, Outwood, and back again, the prizes for the first three being a gold medal, (presented by the president, Mr. James Simpson), a g ld centre medal, and a silver medal, (presented by the club). Ten members had entered for the race, but only nine started. The start was started at 2.5, and the scratch man at 3.0 Sheard being late was 2½ minutes behind his time. The result was—1st, R. Hill, scratch, who did the distance in 66 minutes; 2nd, H. Ross, 2½ min. start, 3rd, G. Sheard, 1 min; 4th, F. W. Jones, 3½ min.; 5th, J. Gill, 2 min.; 6th, W. Parkin, 3 mins.; 7th, W. Atkinson, 5 mins.; 8th, J. W. Weatherhead, 1½ mins.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Autumnal Remedies.—Towards the fall of the year countless causes are at work to lower the tone of the nervous system, which will be checked by all means. The most proper means be employed to avert that evil. Holloway's fortified preparations supply a faultless remedy for both external and internal derangements connected with changes of season. All affections of the skin, erysipelas, shingles, glandular enlargements, old-sored inflammations, erysipelas, rheumatic pains, and gouty pangs, alike succumb to the exalted virtues of Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which will effect a happy revolution in the patient's condition, though the symptoms of his disorder are legion, and have obstinately withstood the best efforts of science to subdue them.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

A win for Rothwell was given in Saturday's match against Knottingley, and considering the strength of the opposing team, the result is very gratifying. 2 goals to one. The forwards have somewhat improved on their previous form, and have been playing by their selves after the commencement of the match were two or three times put however, after awhile they seemed to be working in the same faulty way as in former matches, and three or four times on Saturday the ball went rolling as steady as possible to the goalkeeper. Their halfback forwards were very useful, instead of 'rushing in' as they did when the second point was scored. The high wind which blew from g al to goal helped the game to be played mostly at one end of the field, though when the home team had to face it, they did somewhat better than their opponents, so that they were the largest number of points, but played best all through the match. Seaner, Longley, and H Richardson were in fine form for Rothwell, and gallantly defended their lines during the second half, while of the forwards Taylor worked hard, and Copley has improved a little since the month. I should very much like to draw the attention of the Rothwell men to the time of starting, because when 3 o'clock struck, (the time agreed on by bills) there was only half of the team ready for playing, the result being that the latecomers of the game were played in by the spectators, and after having been kicking about for some time, everywhere do not care to pay for the while match and only get to see half of it.

Oulton first team tried the powers of the new organisation against the Rothwell team at Oulton Green, and found them ra her 'tough customers to deal with" as the score indicates, the home team only succeeding in a goals. It seems very evident that the Foxholes players must have a little knowledge of how the game should be played, or they could not do so. Their play is in fault, Rothwell say the ball was kicked, it not taken, will be getting as bad as those of Rothwell, for ball display and play, but the latter has used and the evening the practice of self-honesty is ended, the better they will succeed. A complaint has reached us that the referee was not impartial in between them. He, however, did kick her three or four times when she used the knife upon him. He never struck or kicked her in Barrat's shop. The knife was not used when he was trying to pull her out of her own house. He struck the prisoner's husband when he was leaving Barrat's shop, and also kicked him.—James Clarkson, miner, Oulton, gave corroborative evidence.—Dr. Parry, surgeon, Woodlesford, said he saw the prosecutor on Sunday morning. He was then bleeding profusely from a wound in the arm an inch and a half long down to the bone—the ulnar artery had been severed. He also found a wound on the forehead, and on the left side of the head. Whoever struck the blow must have been with a pint pot. She had a poker in her hand, but no knife.—Mr. Lodge in defence said that on Saturday night his client was very much provoked by the prosecutor. The row commenced by the prosecutor kicking his wife on the leg, and prisoner threw a pint pot at him He then kicked her on the legs, but she got away from him and went home. Soon afterwards he went to her house when she struck him on the arm with a pint pot. Both her legs were badly bruised by the prisoner, and her head was also bruised by him. CAPTAIN.

ROTHWELL v. KNOTTINGLEY.

This match was played on the ground on Saturday last, and resulted in a win for the home team by two goals to one. In the absence of the captain and vice-captain, J. J. Harrison winning the toss, decided to play with the wind in his favour. Knottingley started the game, and the ball, after passing from two or three men was given to the centre forward, who dribbled into the corner and well centred, but however, was got safely away. After play, the ball was kicked by Knottingley's goal-mouth, and Greenwood and Copley each missed a splendid chance of scoring while some four times the ball was struck by the backs out of bounds, which was rather unlucky for Rothwell. On the commencement of the second half, the visitors were soon in the home quarters, but were kept from scoring, and the scene of action was transferred to the other end of the field, where Rothwell made the home forwards look sorters. However, the sphere was quickly sent into the home territory, and again the backs resisted the attack, but Greenwood was not to be denied, redoubled their efforts, and sent it a low shot which Ellis fell rather sho t of, or he would most likely have got it away. The kick off from the centre of the field forwards got hold, and by good combined play carried the ball well into the Knottingley quarters, and a shy was sent over behind the goal. The visitors alleged he the Rothwell men that the goalkeeper touched the ball, but the home umpire not being able to see, the point was not given. Both sides were now all over the field, which was nicely returned by the home backs, and from one up to the latter stating that they had not previously competed at the finish Rothwell being declared winners as above stated Teams: Rothwell, goal, J. Ellis; backs, W. Richardson; half-backs, R. Longley. A W Beaver, J Harrison (capt.); forwards, W. I Taylor, H Greenwood, E Copley, I Blackburn. S. H Lewis.

STOURTON ST. ANDREWS v. GAWBER RANGERS

This match was played at tourton on Saturday last. The Rangers captain having lost the toss kicked off with a strong wind in his favour. The ball was immediately carried into the "saints" territory, but after a little give and take play, was transferred to the Rangers ends, where Johnson by quick following up was enabled to score the first goal. On restarting, the ball was again taken into the saints quarters, and from a long kick by Willi-ms, Blackburn once more did the needful. The Rangers who were at this time playing 2 forward, and 5 backs were unable to score their first and only point from a long kick, which the Stourton custodian failed to stop, the ball bouncing from behind the goal. Ross who played forward in the half-time, which was Stourton 2 goals to Rangers 1. The second half was chi fly noticeable for wrangling and wrong play, caused by the referee's inability to keep the Gawber umpire. Indeed, throughout the match he acted in a most unfair manner, but for him Stourton would have claimed more goals. Pearson by a splendid effort scored another goal for Stourton, which proved to be the last scored, thus Stourton were left winners by 3 goals to one.

SCORERS.—Goal, Pearson; backs, J. Goldthorpe (capt.), J. Atkinson; forwards, W. Wilson, W. Goldthorpe, J. Rathmell; forwards, Rev. V. Litchfield, J. Lane, W. Swift, M. Johnson, G. Blackburn.

OULTON v. FOXHOLES WHITE STAR.

A match was played on the first team of the Oulton Club being desired by the newly-organized Foxholes Club, the first was played on Oulton Green, on Saturday last. The weather was rather fresh, and the turf somewhat soft. The game was played in two half-hours, Oulton commencing with the wind to their backs It was soon apparent that the Oultonians were much superior, and play was confined almost exclusively to the Foxholes goal. Here a very hot bombardment was made, but owing to looseness of play and erratic shooting, only one goal was secured. In the second half similar play was shown, two splendid shots by Abbey taking effect. The visitors were much oppressed, but their backs exhibited some good points, and with constant practice will fully develop. A very pleasant game ended in an easy win for the home team by three goals to nil. The smallness of the score was entirely due to "gallery play" and bad shooting at goal—faults which will have to be remedied before the Oulton team of to-day can at all compare with that of the past.

OCCASIONAL NOTES.

THE event of the week from a juvenile point of view has been the annual examination of the scholars at the Board Schools by Her Majesty's Inspector. Judging from the appearance and demeanour of the youngsters 'lined up' for inspection, there is no trace of the nervous and excitable condition of mind which we are hearing so much in large towns just now. Under-feeding and the conditions of life in the vitiated atmosphere of narrow streets and overcrowded dwellings are alleged, however, to be the principal cause of the mischi f complained of; and it may be that under the happier conditions of rural country life, children are physica ly bett r fitted to beat the strain to which they are undoubtedly subjected. The result of the examination which I had doubtless be officially published in due course, is we understand very satisfactory all round.

ATTENTION is being directed to a proposed series of musical entertainments to be held in Woodlesford shortly very shortly. This is not the place to enter into the religious aspects of mission work, but believing, as we are bound to do, in the enormous good done by these services, in raising the tone of individual and public life in a community, we may be allowed to express a hope that the proposal will take definite shape, and that the mission may be carried on with as much success as attended the commencement of the Pigeon and Carpenter Hitchcock in Woodlesford and Oulton Churches about ten years ago.

THE Choral Society's Concert which is advertised for next week, promises to be both attractive and entertaining. The programme contains variety enough to suit all tastes. The humorous element is rather more prominent than usual; the selection is not so severely classical as on former occasions, if, indeed, it can be said that the Society will as a body of singers, sustain the efficiency which was noticeable in their performances last year.

"RATEPAYER'S" letter on the subject of a public room for Woodlesford and Oulton, reads like a promontory symptom of irritation at the prospect of the School Board incurring some outlay as the result of the accommodation for 'two or three concerts a year.' There is no cause for alarm. In what was said on the subject in these notes, I only expressed that until over-pressure in the number of scholars made it necessary to provide another room, no alter tion could be made in the present arrangement of the rooms. It would be useless to recommend such alteration as was suggested, entirely for the sake of a 'concert or two' If there is no other reason for it. When the time comes to make any extension in the schools, however, we trust that the public need to which we have drawn attention will be fully considered. 'Ratepayer' asserts that when the schools were built, 'ample' accommodation for public gatherings was to be found in the club-room a the 'Two Pointers' Inn. Before the schools were built, or the School Board elected, ratepayers had to be found who asserted that ample accommodation for scholars was already provided in the schools at Oulton and in the Alma school at Woodlesford, and that it was sinful to put up expensive new buildings to supply a demand which had no existence. It is possible that some of these people may agree with 'Ratepayer' in considering that in the 'Pointer's' club-room ample accommodation for all public purposes was to be found; a room which—if I stayed at the bar—was liable to be closed at any time, and which in fact has since been closed for all public purposes. There is at all times a great lack of accommodation in question, and when at last (if it ever is) this room is provided, it ought to be under the control of some such undenominational body as the School Board, as then it would be available to all parties and for all public purposes.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We would particularly urge our friends to send in their letters and news, as early as possible, as we cannot accept contributions later than Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, except in the case of matter occurring on Wednesday or Thursday, which should be forwarded within a short period after. Advertisements may be sent in until Thursday morning.

TOWN TALK.

I GOT an earwigging from a director of the Gas Company for a paragraph the other week in Town Talk refusing to the foul gas. I did not mean to that; the Gas Company have practically a monopoly for the supply of gas, and if the article sent out is foul, I shall cry out again, perhaps in terms a little more aggravating to the persons responsible next time. I am told that in re-naring the directors of the works were not to blame, but the secretary was in fault, he being the party in charge of the purifiers. Well, gentlemen, if your manager pays you to do your duties more closely after him. I mean no more than this. You must make good dividends or your shareholders will hold you responsible, and the result will be a row, or depend upon it the consumer will hold you at fault.

THE sale on Thursday week of the effects of Mr. Flint at Oulton, drew together an exceptional large crowd. The sale was by order of the trustees, and not the disadvantage the general public is at in bidding at local sales where the Leeds dealers are present. I cannot say, and shall not attempt to guess, but I have a constant bidder for every article submitted to competition naturally attracts the attention of the whole of the trade, and the hammer, and a nod from the favoured bidder is sufficient, while a bid from any other person must be bawled out at the top of one's voice to attract notice. The broker runs the price up as near its market value as his judgment dictates, and then leaves the article to be contended for by the crowd; but unless the bidding is quick from the public in the first instance, the auctioneer, having the broker's eye, the thing is knocked down to him in a jiffy. This kind of policy on Thursday week was glaringly carried out, with the result that the public got few bargains, while some things fetched prices absurdly above their market value, the plums going as usual to the broker and the burnt fingers to local buyers.

IF I were to attempt to describe the commotion lately made among the good (and bad—for I believe there are a few of the sort left yet) housewives in this locality, I should be undertaking a task which would be beyond the capacity of much better writers than your humble correspondent 'Gossip,' and I shall only just mention it, and pass on. What is the reason for turning the water off at such inconvenient time as the morning of Saturday week, for instance) I cannot say, and shall not attempt to guess, but I don't think it would have been done just at that time had it not been absolutely necessary. We have to be thankful for. In some suburbs of large towns they have been on short allowance for some time. Our supply is only stopped, however, very rarely, because the fountain is dry, but that the means of conducting the precious stream to our reservoir, has been damaged. I believe the Local Board are going to turn the water off again, and I hope all the consumers will endeavour to act in accordance with the wish of the Board, as expressed in the handbills sent out last week.

'How is the time?' 'It is exactly two minutes past twenty-one.' 'Thank you.' This is in all probability the language we shall hear in the course of a year or two. It has been decided by the Authorities at Greenwich to deal out the time by the quart instead of by the pint, so to speak, and on and after January 1st, 1885, the day is to be measured in 24 hours, numbering consecutively from 1 to 24, instead of in two periods of 12 hours each. Of course everybody will be able to adopt this system or not, as they fancy, but if in course of time, the various public companies adopt it, and railway trains, tram cars, etc., are timed by it, we shall all be compelled to use it.

THE LATE MR. B. BATTY.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

West Elizabeth, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, U.S.A.

October 23rd, 1884.

Dear Sir,

On Friday evening last. (Oct. 21st), two copies of your paper were handed me at the post office here. One addressed to myself, and the other to a present visitor at our home, but on this occasion the pleasure was marred by the announcement in its pages that my beloved friend, Mr. Benjamin Batty was dead. I could hardly realise the fact; astonishment overcoming other feelings, I repeatedly looked over the columns to discover something upon which I could base a hope that the report was a cruel hoax. But alas, the more I read only tended to confirm what I did not desire to believe, and I laid the paper down with a feeling of despairing grief, that my friend, the young man who valiantly combated for the rights that belong to manhood, and who laboured incessantly in the cause of enlightenment and progress of the age, was no more. In my mind he has constantly stands before me in the full exhibition of life as when I parted with him nearly seven years ago. These impressions cannot be removed while memory lasts; there can be no false colouring made, which can detract from the excellences of a good and great man. The sincere relatives may entertain notwithstanding their great sorrow, a feeling of sublime pride, lasting as their existence, that they were privileged to be blessed a brute, that places his name with those of all hon urable men. His life was an advantage to society in that we may emulate his deeds, was a calamity, and while we submit to the decrees of Almighty power with humble obedience, the feelings prompt us to rebel against the fates. In planning back to the period when he came into public life, I think his friends will remember his enthusiastic persistency in the formation of the Rothwell Liberal Association, and a fact with which you will, no doubt, be conversant—the formation of a petition to Parliament asking the extension of the franchise to the counties. To recount his Reform Bulletins would be impossible, but the present generation will not forget the inspiring influence of his presence, or his excellent natural discussion. Rothwell is now minus one of its best, say in the earnestness of true respect to the young men up in very large numbers at our deceased friend in all the public services of his life, is a worthy one to follow.

His masterly efforts at speechmaking on all pungent questions, showed him a powerful and friend in all the public services of his life, is a worthy one to follow.

His masterly efforts at speechmaking on all pungent questions, showed him a powerful and fearless orator, and his literary efforts were evidence of the correctness of thought attaining to sublimity of production in itself, which while instructive to his hearers, was calculated to fill them with pride and awe. He lived to benefit his fellow men. He died, and his soul has gone to receive the reward of the just.

TO OUR READERS.

Our Christmas number will be published on Wednesday evening next, instead of Friday. All news and advertisements should arrive at the office as early on Tuesday as possible.

We hear that there is little probability of our full supply of water being to hand for some time yet, and it will be for the advantage of all consumers to use it as economically as possible in domestic matters, adopting other water for inferior purposes.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

On Monday evening, the ordinary meeting of the Board was held, present:—Mr. W. Hargreaves, (chairman), Messrs. J. Holmes, J. Hargreaves, H. P. Newsome, J. Turner, J. Dobson, J. Nowell, and the clerk, collector, and surveyor.

The minutes of last meeting having been read were confirmed.

DEPUTATION.—In accordance with a resolution of the Stourton Ratepayers' Association, a deputation was appointed to wait on the Board in regard to certain matters affecting the lamps and the sewerage. Owing to the indisposition of two of the gentlemen appointed, Mr. C. Midgley was the only member of the deputation able to attend, and he proceeded to state the wishes of the ratepayers he represented. Some twenty additional lamps are asked for in several streets on the estate, besides three or four others, including an extension through the railway bridge on Pontefract Road. He also asked the serious attention of the Board to the danger arising from the fact of a ventilating sewer grate being close to his house, thereby endangering the health of the locality. The Board expressed surprise that this nuisance had not already been remedied according to their decision some months ago, but as it appeared some misunderstanding had arisen, the chairman promised that they should be immediately carried out. The Board informed Mr. Midgley that the suggestions of the deputation as regard additional lamps would be carefully considered by the Lamp Committee. There was also another matter mentioned in the letter of the Secretary to the Association, relating to the Woodhouse Cemetery nuisance, and the clerk replied that he had already written to Mr. Simpson, enquiring whether any further steps had been taken, and was informed that Mr. Simpson would not get home until that night, when the enquiry would be answered. Mr. Newsome urged that the Board should keep a strict watch on the fulfilment of the promises made by the Leeds Burials Ground Committee, as regards the disinfection and purifying of the fluid coming into our drains.

HIGHWAYS.—Respecting the difficult and very unhappy question of the roads under Mr. Bulmer's contract, a long and varied correspondence was read, resulting in a protracted discussion of the subject. It appeared evident that every member was satisfied that a termination of the contract would be the best thing not only for the Board, the ratepayers, and the roads, but also for Mr. Bulmer himself, with whom considerable sympathy was expressed. A difference of opinion existed, however, as to the best mode of coming to such a termination, the chairman, with several other gentlemen, urging a joint appeal to Mr. Farrer to value off, and complete the adjudication, signed by the Board and by the contractor; they urged that while the Board is waiting, the roads are gradually getting worse, and as Mr. Dobson said, the sooner the valuation was taken, the more advantageous it would be to Mr. Bulmer. Mr. Turner advised the Board to let the action be taken by the other side and his amendment was seconded by Mr. Nowell, the idea being to do any slight repairs necessary and charge against the valuation when it came to be made. As the surveyor pointed out, this plan might be carried on for six months, and the greatest difficulty would be experienced in properly valuing the roads, as to what was due to Bulmer and what to the Board. Before finally deciding, it was agreed that Bulmer should be asked if he was willing to break the contract, and have the roads valued at joint expense, and on being sent for, it was found that this would meet his wishes. It was therefore eventually agreed that a joint application be made to Mr. Farrer, the adjudicator, the expenses to be borne by Mr. Bulmer and the Board, a document being signed at the close of the meeting to that effect.

WATER.—A letter was read from the clerk to the Rural Sanitary Authority of Oulton and Woodlesford, respecting the proposal to lay up the road again by laying pipes for the Methley water supply, and pointing out the advantage of making the present pipes do, providing a reservoir is made at John o' Gaunt's to supply both Oulton and Woodlesford and Methley. A reply was ordered intimating that the Board is watching the progress of events.

The clerk also stated that he had called the attention of the Corporation to the short supply of water lately experienced in the district, and the Town Clerk had replied, promising to lay the matter before the Committee. In reply to a question, the surveyor said the reservoir was quite full that morning. The necessity for a larger layer of pipes from Swan Junction is very evident, and must be done in order to secure a sufficient volume of water for the present and future needs of the authorities at this side.

SEWERAGE.—Mr. Joseph Holmes reported the result of the trial against Mr. John Holmes, of Roundhay, for failing to abate a nuisance, and for neglecting to properly drain his property. The first charge occupied nearly two hours, and the second is adjourned to give Mr. Holmes an opportunity of complying with the Board's order. The speaker gave every credit to Mr. W. Wright for the excellent service he rendered the Board. The clerk read the particulars of costs, and payments made to witnesses, to which the Board agreed. A full report of this case will be found in the Police column.

ADULTERATION ACTS.—In reply to a circular from the Department as regards the Adulteration of Food and drugs, the clerk was instructed to state no complaint had reached the Board of any infringement of the Act,

GAS.—The Clerk stated that in conformity with instructions received last meeting, he had complained to the Rothwell Gas Light Company as to the bad gas supplied, and had received a reply stating that the subject was having the attention of the directors. The chairman said he was sorry to have to refer again to this matter, and reported that only on the previous Wednesday, he had been compelled to turn off his gas and use candles, and that very grave complaints were being made of the quality of gas used in the collieries. Mr. Nowell joined in strong objection to the noxious character of the gas put through the pipes, especially referring to Sunday night, when, although the light was good, the stench was most grevious. He had also heard of people discontinuing its use in cooking ovens on this account. During further conversation on the subject, the Board expressed a general opinion that, while desiring the welfare of the Gas Co., the ratepayers and consumers had a right to a good article. The chairman suggested the advisability of appointing two members of the Board, who should undertake to have the quality and character of the gas tested as they might agree. A proposition to this effect was carried through Mr. Holmes and the chairman, appointing Messrs Nowell and Turner, to this work. Mr. Newsome, neutral.

BUILDINGS.—The surveyor reported that after considerable objection, Mr. Mitchell had pulled down the outhouse erected in Dr. Glaister's yard. It was not re-built.

FINANCE.—On the motion of Mr. Newsome and Mr. Dobson, a number of accounts and salaries were ordered to be paid.

General District Rate	£370 13 5
Water Rent	19 1 6
Miscellaneous	4 16 5
	£394 11 4

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The fortnightly meeting of this Board took place on Wednesday evening, present, Mr. Jas Hargreaves, (chairman), Mr. J. Dixon, (vice-chairman), Messrs. J. Graveley, J. Parker, J. Hardcastle, G. Sheard, B. Aaron, C. Grosvenor, G. Jepson, W. Lawton, J. Smith, and the clerk, (Mr. Schofield).

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

The relieving officers presented their report of special cases, which were considered and decided on.

In order more efficiently to carry out the monthly oversight of the permanent cases under the relieving officers, it was resolved on the suggestion of the clerk—That Messrs. Parker, J. Smith and Hardcastle will meet the clerk and the relieving officers on the subject.

CALLS. The clerk reported that the overseers of Rothwell, Oulton and Woodlesford, and Temple Newsam, are in arrears with their payments. The clerk stated, however, that a letter had been received from the Rothwell collector, referring to lateness in getting the rate out, owing to the change in collector, and a promise of early payment. Mr. Graveley intimated that the Temple Newsam payment had been delayed owing to a dispute with two large ratepayers, but that the amount would be paid before Christmas.

FURNITURE.—The furniture in the master's sitting-room having become worn out, it was last meeting decided to purchase certain articles, and Mr. Aaron and Mr. Lawton reported having carried out those instructions —the action of the Committee being approved.

FEVER CASE.—A letter was read from the secretary to the Leeds Fever Hospital respecting payment for attendance on a child sent from the Workhouse. It appeared that when the child was received into the Workhouse, he was suffering from fever. As regards his admission some obscurity exists, as, it known, to be in the fever, he ought not to have been received at all, but have been undertaken by the Leeds Sanitary Authorities; a full and detailed statement of the facts was ordered to be obtained for next meeting. The chairman spoke strongly against the Board having been led into the necessity for paying anything in fever cases, as the Rothwell Local Board had had to bear all the responsibility of fever cases in their district, the cost having to be borne by private individuals.

AMALGAMATION.—A letter was read from Mr. Parker, secretary of the Stourton Ratepayers' Association, stating that a resolution had been passed by that body, expressing a strong desire to remain in the Hunslet Union, and urging the Board to use every means to prevent the dissolution of the Hunslet Union and preserve its entirety.

A letter was read from Mr. Wiley (Clerk to the Bramley Union), stating that he had written to all the members for the West Riding, asking their support in opposing the dissolution of the Unions; among the replies was one from W. H. Leatham, Esq., who said he had heard nothing about the question, and asking the opinion of the townships included in his constituency, Rothwell, Oulton and Woodlesford, and Middleton. It was arranged that Mr. R. J. Smith forward copy of the resolution passed at the Oulton meeting, and Mr. Parker will also see about sending a copy of the Stourton resolution.

Having heard nothing from Sir Charles Dilke, the Board agreed that Mr. Schofield write again, as regards receiving a deputation against the Amalgamation project.

The usual lists of waifs and returns were then read and approved. The meeting was the briefest of the year, and in pleasant and character, partook largely of the merry season which is so near at hand.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are exuded by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, ½d., tins 1s 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

Holloway's Pills.—The greatest Boon of Modern times.—These searching Pills act directly on the liver, correct the bile, purify the system, renovate the debilitated, strengthen the stomach, increase the appetite, invigorate the nerves, and reinstate the weak to an ardour of feeling never before experienced. The sale of these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, convincing the most sceptical that there is no Medicine equal to Holloway's Pills for removing the complaints which afflict the human race. They are indeed a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to those who suffer from any disorder, internal or external. Thousands of persons have testified that by their use alone they have been restored to health after other remedies had proved ineffectual.

ROTHWELL TIMES---FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1884.

WOODLESFORD CHORAL SOCIETY.

The opening concert of the seventh session of the above society, was given on Monday last. The programme, a miscellaneous one, was sufficiently varied to meet the wishes of all, and the audience, a fairly numerous one, expressed very cordial satisfaction at the efforts made for their entertainment. To the vocal parts of the concert, Miss Davies contributed, a song "The Maiden's Rose," by J. L. Hatton, (in the place of her brother, who was unable to sing,) and joined her sister in the duet "Hail to the merriest bells," which was encored. Mr. Atkinson sang "Come into the garden, Maud," and "The pilgrim of love," very effectively, and in response to the warm applause, gave "The Bay of Biscay." Mr. T. Porter, who possesses a bass voice of fine quality, was heard to advantage in Hutchinson's "Ironclads of England," and the well-known "Four jolly Smiths," (encored). Mr. J. Prime, an old member of the Society, gave with considerable effect, that venerable favourite with tenor singers, "Death of Nelson." The instrumental numbers comprised a piano solo, played in her usual finished style, by Miss Middlemiss, (conf'ed.), and a cornet solo, given with much skill and good taste by Mr. B. Walker, with piano accompaniment by Mr. W. Lockwood; this was also encored. A fortunate selection of part songs had been made, and they were fairly well rendered by the members who turned up to represent the chorus of the Society. There were a few absentees however, and this made the balance of parts a little less perfect that it otherwise would have been. The part songs comprised Pearsall's "How bright in the May time," a "Cradle Song" by Walter Macfarren, "Good Morrow," a very bright and taking Composition by A. Zimmerman, and Bishop's "Sleep gentle lady." Mosceles' "Village Chorister" was given as a quartette by Mrs Craven, Miss Castle, Mr. Atkinson, and Mr. J. Craven, and a humourous quartette, "Profundo Bass," was contributed by Miss Davies, Miss Middlemiss, Mr. Davies, and Mr. Atkinson; this was given with appropriate action and gesture, and was encored. Last, but certainly not least, we have to notice the humourous selections of Mr. A. Batty, whose efforts, were most warmly appreciated by the audience. Besides "Mrs. Brown's luggage" and "Moods and Tenses" which were on the programme, Mr. Batty had, in response to very persistent recalls, to give three other characteristic songs, which he accompanied himself on the piano. An old favorite was also welcomed in Mr. Jas. Smith, who received a cordial recall for his song "The Twin Brothers." Mr. W. Lockwood shared with Miss Middlemiss the duty of accompanying the vocal parts of the programme, and Mr. Atkinson conducted, although although the most arduous portions of a concert, are seldom sufficiently noticed, we feel sure, their well-known names will be a guarantee that their work was well done. Between the parts the president of the Society, the Rev. A. J. Irvin, gave a short address, warmly commending the aim and object of the Society to public encouragement and support.

LOCAL & GENERAL.

MIDDLETON SUNDAY SCHOOL.—A concert on behalf of the funds of the above school was given on the evening of Monday last, and was fairly attended. The Vicar, Rev. A. J. Miller, presided in a most genial manner, and the performers (who, with the exception of Miss Greaves, of Wragginton, all hailed from the parish of St. Andrew's, Stourton) did their part of the work in a very creditable manner. The glees "O who will o'er the downs so free," and "Sweet and low" were well rendered, but undoubtedly the palm of the evening must be awarded to Mr Smart, who gave the song, "Tell her I love her so," in capital style. Miss Greaves sang with great taste, "The miller and the maid," "Barney O'Hea," and "Katie's letter," while Miss Fieldhouse very sweetly rendered the plaintive song, "Tit for tat," in addition to taking part with Mr. Smart in the duets, "Home to our mountains," "Mr. Whitworth's song, "I'm an Englishman," was warmly encored, and he responded with "She's as good as gold." Mr. Brailsford contributed "True till death," and "An awful little scrub," and Mr. Williams was very successful in "Drink puppy, drink" and "Dolly Varden." A recitation, "Lofty," by the Rev. V. Lloyd-field, and reading, "That vulgar boy," by the same gentleman, most agreeably varied the proceedings. The reverend gentleman also contributed "Jack's yarn," and also the "Farm yard." Other songs were, ably given, Mr. Williams singing "The Vagabond," Mr. Whitworth "My old wife sold," and "The Lord Farewell," and Mr. Smart "Bonnie Mary of Argyle." The proceedings were brought to a close about ten o'clock by the singing of the National Anthem.

STOURTON PRIMITIVE METHODISTS.—In connection with the above Society, a new Sunday School has been built, which was opened last Sunday and Monday being preached at 2.30 by Mr. John Parker, and in the evening at 6 o'clock, by Mr. Richard Bell, of Knaresborough. The singing, which was very efficient throughout the day, was performed by the singers from Joseph Street Chapel, and accompanied by a band of instrumentalists. On Monday, Dec. 15th, a public meet tea was held in the school room from 4.30 to 6.30, which was fairly attended. The tea tables being cleared, the Rev. Dr. Perrin delivered a very interesting lecture on "John Bright," to an appreciative audience. Collections were made at the services on Sunday, and at the close of the lecture on Monday, to £4 7s. 5d.

STOURTON MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.—This Society held their weekly meeting last Friday evening. A good attendance of members were present, and they were very pleased by hearing an excellent essay read by Mr. George Smith on 'The Bible chained in church porches.'

OUR RISING YOUNG MEN.—It is always most gratifying to get to publish information now and again, of the advance of those to whom Rothwell has given birth, and we shall be glad to receive any news of this description from friends and relatives of these young people. We learn from a contemporary, that Mr. Junius Arthur Mitchell, son of Mr. Mitchell, has successful in obtaining an appointment, after a severe trial and against a large number of competitors, as lay clerk in Whitehall Chapel, Mr. Wilson was well-known by many of our readers, as having been born in Rothwell, and having been left an orphan at five years of age, was brought up by his friends, and with no very bright prospects. As a lad he manifested considerable musical ability, and having a sweet and clear voice, was soon laid hold of as a chorister in our church service. Leaving Rothwell, in his teens, he was soon enrolled in the Bailey Parish Choir, there, afterwards receiving an appointment as also in St. Thomas' choir, thence transferring his services to the Leeds Parish Church, where he has afforded valuable assistance for some time past. He was ever ready to assist any musical effort, and was professionally engaged in the last Musical Festival. Mr. Wilson possesses an excellent voice, of remarkable compass, sweetness and volume, and from his past success, we anticipate for him still further progress in the art, which he has espoused. We are quite sure many of our readers will join with us, in presenting our hearty congratulations on his appointment; his new duties commence on the 20th instant.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—PRESENTATION TO MR. THOMAS BLACKBURN.—This very interesting ceremony took place on Saturday last in the Temperance Hall. A public tea was provided at 5 o'clock, and there being a surplus from the amount collected for the corner, it was suggested, and ultimately decided, to give the widows of Rothwell a free ticket. There was a goodly number present, and every person appeared satisfied with the treat provided. The meeting was announced to take place at 7 o'clock, but it was half-past before it was opened. Mr. Thos. Whitehead, in the absence of Mr. Wood, introduced the chairman, Mr. Jas. Hargreaves to the meeting. Mr. Hargreaves expressed his pleasure in being present, and trusted that the gathering would be a great success. He was not a total abstainer himself, and the reason of his being there and occupying the position of chairman was that owing to the public having selected him for the cornet, it was thought advisable to have someone to represent them. He was sorry Mr. Blackburn had been for some time in very poor health, and hoped he would soon be better. The glee party then gave "Life's a bumper," which was rendered very nicely. The secretary of the Testimonial Committee, Mr. C. Elliott, next gave a few particulars with respect to the corner, which has cost £22 and is now entirely paid for. The chairman then called upon Mr. Wm. Hargreaves to make the presentation. Referring to the character of Mr. Blackburn, Mr. Hargreaves said he had always found him to be an honorable man, and a man whom he could rely upon; he believed Mr. Blackburn had tried his very best to make the band a success, and he had been very successful in his undertaking, and great credit was due considering the short space of time the band had been in progress. He was proud to think that we had a town's band in Rothwell which were a credit to none, considering the size of the village, and he hoped that a friendly rivalry would exist between them, and that they would never again see such paragraphs in the columns of the Rothwell Times in any controversy for depend upon it that nothing is gained by such conduct, but it only tends to weaken one or other of the bands, and may ultimately result in the downfall of both. He hoped that Mr. Blackburn would long be spared to be their conductor, and that the cornet might be preserved as an heirloom in the family. Mr. Blackburn, in return, thanked all who had so kindly and generously contributed towards his testimonial, and hoped he might ever be deserving of the great kindness and honour they had shown him. He had tried every possible means in his power to bring the band up to the state of proficiency which they had arrived at, and although it had been said that he was only in his A.B.C. with regard to music, he was glad to say he had got his scholars a certificate, (referring to the victory at Soothill) and it he was only spared they would soon have some more. Master Horner Blackburn then played "Auld Lang Syne" on the new cornet, which had just been presented to his father. Miss Rider following with a recitation "Beautiful Snow," and the glee party "Cradle song" and "Youth." Mr. J. R. Senior asked the question if it would be right to give a tectonal speech on this occasion, answering it himself by saying that as this was a festive gathering and a time of rejoicing, he believed that such a thing was not expected; he felt pleased in being among them. He was glad to find that some of the old drinking notions were becoming extinct. It had been found that now we can have rejoicing without drink, and he was glad to see that there is coming a time when drink will no more be seen at funerals. "Match making," and marriages could both be done without drink, and the following is a case in point:—A little more than two years ago, a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption, and her parents took her to Paris, as a last resort, hoping to find some skilful physician there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreaded disease. In the their hopes were blighted, but fortunately away in that distant foreign city they met with a description of a new method of treating Dyspepsia discovered from the Mount Lebanon Shakers of the State of New York. The thought struck the parents of this helpless young girl that perhaps their daughter was afflicted with Indigestion or Dyspepsia, and not consumption; and if so, there might be a chance for her recovery.

Some of the Seigel's Curative Syrup, made especially for the cure of Dyspepsia, was procured and adopted, and the result was marvellous To-day their daughter lives in the enjoyment of good health. The above case, which has been treated by Dyspepsia (her real trouble), all the alarming symptoms of consumption disappeared. This is not an isolated case. The country is full of suffering thousands that are being treated for Liver Complaint, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Sick Headache, &c., &c., when the fact is they are afflicted with Indigestion in some of its varied forms, and all of such sufferers would obtain relief if they were properly treated for Dyspepsia. Seigel's Curative Syrup can be obtained from any chemist or patent medicine vendor, or from the Proprietors, Seigel Syrup, Co., Limited, No. 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

I begin to think that all feats of football "going to the dogs," as regards their village, may be put on one side, when our Rothwell club can turn out two eleven as it did last Saturday. The first team took a journey to Attercliffe to meet the holders of the Sheffield minor cup, and after a good game were defeated by a goal to none. A very good team was chosen to play for Rothwell, and at the time the train was due to start, Pape was an absentee, and I am told that had the eleven gone as at first selected, our club would most likely have pulled off the match, because the men they engaged at Sheffield was worth very little, and being the centre man, it made a great difference. I am only too sorry to state, that it is not an uncommon thing for the above player to make promises to go cricket and football with Rothwell, and then go with the former. The backs on the Rothwell side played exceedingly well, the foremost of the set being the captain (Hartley) who played hard all through, and he was ably assisted by Ward, a pair not outshone by any of the opposing team. The forwards have yet plenty to learn before they can be classed on to possess any great amount of football talent, and had it not been for Clodwick, the late captain of the club, they would have been "no where" as he played in a cool and daring style, which showed that he has a little of his old form left, when he chooses to bring it out. A word of praise should also be given to Wright, who kept his charge in a most daring and clever style. Of the backs, Hartley, Ward, Clodwick, and Oakley, played exceedingly well forward, and Wilkinson, as a back, proved himself to be a most reliable player, while the half-back division (Heath) repelled many shots made by the Rothwell men.

The second team of the club stayed at home, and encountered the second team of Stourton St. Andrews, and a rare good team, I should say). The home players had the best of the game, but try as they did, neither their defence may be put down to the want of combined action and good shying on the part of the forwards. The visitors were not to be put down by opponents most of the game, but their forwards seemed to be hopelessly at sea in making some of the shots, and failed to score. It was only in the latter while Waterhouse played very safe at back first half. Blackburn passed nicely, and scored a neat goal the second half. Dronfield played well, and passed well, and with practise will make a good addition to the club. Longley and Seanor were prominent in the forward division, and made a word about the foul which occurred in the Stourton goal-mouth some few minutes before time. The ball was kicked deliberately at the ball, when it would result in an unmistakeable goal, is to my mind very bad work indeed, and cannot be too severely condemned. The why in question will be most undoubtedly have scored had no foul been made, and indeed, under the new rule, I believe (although not quite sure) that a goal, irrespective of distance, had they been so disposed. However, they allowed the point, and therefore lost the match. But let me remind the players of this matter, in saying so he had got his scholars a certificate, (referring to the victory at Soothill) and it he was only spared they would soon have some more. Master Horner Blackburn then played "Auld Lang Syne" on the new cornet, which had just been presented to his father. Miss Rider following with a recitation "Beautiful Snow," and the glee party "Cradle song" and "Youth." Mr. J. R. Seanor asked the question if it would be right to give a tectonal speech on this occasion, answering it himself by saying that as this was a festive gathering and a time of rejoicing, he believed that such a thing was not expected; he felt pleased in being among them. He was glad to find that some of the old drinking notions were becoming extinct. TREATED for the WRONG COMPLAINT

It is sad indeed to lose one whom we hold dear, but it is terribly so when we have the conscious ness that but for mistaken treatment the loved one might be with us still. In some cases the fear that the sufferer is treated for the wrong complaint is known in sufficient time to admit of the patient being saved, and the following is a case in point:—

A little more than two years ago, a beautiful young lady in New York was given up to die of consumption, and her parents took her to Paris, as a last resort, hoping to find some skilful physician there capable of arresting the rapid strides of the supposed dreaded disease. CAPTAIN.

ROTHWELL v. ATTERCLIFFE.

This match was played on the Old Forge Ground, Brighouse, Attercliffe, on Saturday last. Hartley won the usual spin of the coin, and decided to defend the town goal. The home team commenced, by kicking off, from the half way stripe, to the half line backs, and their forwards, by the aid of their halfs, and quick following up, looked as if they would score, but the final kick by Pape was a wide one, and Rothwell was given to the home team, which brought no relief as Hartley gutting hold, made a nice dribble, and was within an ace of doing the needful. On the ball being again kicked off, the game player was upon it, and when pressed, passed to Harrison, and he in turn to Fern, who missed his way through the half line passing outside the posts. For the first ten minutes, the leather was kept down in the home quarters, after which the Attercliffe men pulled themselves together, and the good play of the left-wing forwards, and the centre, caused Rothwell to be driven back, the ball to the other end of the field, but Wright managed to get the ball away, which, however, was quickly returned, and a good goal-mouth scrimmage ensuing in with all their wonted "dash" to which they are accustomed, prevented the leather from getting out, and the ball got to their credit. Hartley on restarted, but the leather was again taken into the visitors' territory, when it was kicked out of boundary by one of the forwards, giving Rothwell the advantage of a free kick, and they then transferred the the scene of the play, and after a little scrimmage the goal was mulled the ball, and the Rothwell forwards being too slow to seize the chance, the opposing backs kicked it out. The ball was taken by Harrison who only made a poor attempt, the home backs being enabled to clear their lines with a six yards yards kick, and their forwards again had were soon busy in Rothwell half, but a long kick by Newbold sat them short, and soon after half-time was called. On the ball re-starting the home team had it, and it was at the point where the finest piece of passing of the day was indulged in by Chadwick and Harrison, the latter receiving the ball from the former, evaded both half-backs and backs, and never halted till the corner was nearly reached, but on the ball being centred, Wright shot off the home players and bounded away, or the easy goal was almost certain. Play was continued for some little time longer, when Rothwell secured the visitors were forced back into their own half, and the leather was kicked out by them, giving a corner to Attercliffe, which was cleverly cleared, and another shortly after, met with the same result. A change at point came over the game, the Rothwell men worked hard and were rewarded by the ball being centred across the goal-mouth, and the ball being passed to the left, a very good shot was made, which (the visitors allege) went under the bar, but having no referee to bend back to knock the ball out. The point was however waived and the game proceeded as before, Rothwell pressing to the call of time the score remained unaltered, and one of the most pleasant, even, and interesting game in the Attercliffe district was brought to a close.

ROTHWELL:—J. W. Wright, goal; F. Newbold, H. Ward, half backs; W. I. Taylor, H. Greenwood, T. Fern, J. W. Chadwick, Jos. Harrison, forwards.

ATTERCLIFFE:—Wright, goal; J. Richardson, and J. Ward, half backs; W. I. Taylor, H. Greenwood, T. Fern, J. W. Chadwick, Jos. Harrison, forwards.

Referee—Mr. Sharp. Time keeper—Mr. Wilkinson, and J. Smith, backs; W. Green, J. Carter,—Manuel half-backs, R. Barker, W. J. Peabler, W. Moffat, J. W. Farnsworth,—Savage, forwards.

ROTHWELL v. STOURTON ST. ANDREWS.

(A Team).

A good representative team of Stourton St. Andrews' club visited Rothwell on Saturday last, to meet the 2nd team of that club. The visitors were rather late in putting in an appearance, consequently their arrival, and hostilities were soon commenced. Seanor won the toss for Rothwell, and decided to play with the wind at his back. Scarfe kicked off, and play was for a neutral to r tory for a time, but was quickly transferred to the visitors ground, where a long shot by Tiffard was cleared through by Copley. The kick-off brought no relief, as shot after shot went wide of the mark, owing to the bad kicking of the Rothwell forwards. Ultimately a change took place in the state of affairs, and by a combined effort the visitors worked up the ball to the Rothwell goal, but it was repelled. However, not to be on done, they renewed the assault, and a low shot made matters equal. A bombardment of the Stourton goal now ensued, but to no effect, and at half-time the score stood 1 goal each. No time was lost in recommencing, and the battle for a while was waged in the centre of the field, but helped by the wind, the visitors forwards worked the ball up, and made it rather hot for the home backs. This did not last long, however, and the sphere travelled to the other end, only to be returned, however, and eventually Blackburn scored goal number 2 for Stourton. This seemed to put the home team on their mettle, and some quick play ensued in neutral ground. This was afterwards transferred to the Stourton end, and several chances were missed by the Rothwell forwards. After some give-and-take play between the opposing forces, a run was made by Longley, finished by a good shot at goal, which was to all appearance going through, when Fatkin, one of the visitors' backs, put up his hands and caught it with his hands. A goal was claimed by Rothwell, but Stourton denied it, and the home captain eventually waived the point. Heavy skies now threatened for a few minutes at the visitors' goal, but with no tangible result, and at the call of time Stourton were declared winners by a goal to none. The following were the teams:—Stourton: Gill, goal: Waterhouse, Fatkin, backs; Rathmell, Exley, Ellison, half-backs, Hawdley, Sedgwick, Blackburn, Longley, Johnson, forwards. Rothwell: White, goal; Smith, Lewis, backs; Seanor, (capt.), Longley, Higgins, half-backs; Blackburn, Batty, Copley, Moore, Tiffany, forwards.

FOXHOLES v. ROBIN HOOD.—Played at Foxholes on Saturday last, and resulted in a win for the former by 2 goals to one.

POLICE NEWS.

WEST RIDING COURT.—FRIDAY LAST.

THE LOCAL BOARD v. MR. JOHN HOLMES.—Mr. John Holmes, gentleman, Bramhay, Mr. Leeds, appeared in answer to a summons which had been taken out against him by the Rothwell Local Board, and which charged him with refusing to abate a nuisance on his property at Rothwell, after being served with the usual notice to do so. Mr. Fairweather, Rothwell, appeared in support of the summons, and Mr. Middleton, of Leeds, appeared for Mr. Holmes, who was present. The case had been in the hands of the Local Board at some length, and said they had no desire to press for the penalty of £5, but they asked that the nuisance complained of might cease to be abated. About 1881, the Rothwell Local Board received an order from the Local Government Board calling upon them to provide a proper system of sewerage for the village, and they did so at a cost of about £3,000. On the completion of the work Mr. Holmes was served upon Mr. Holmes to drain his property in Holmes Square, but he refused or neglected to comply with the notices, and allowed the sewage from his property to flow through an old stone drain under Commercial Street into a garden occupied by Thomas Barratt, where it formed a pool nine yards long by two feet wide and two feet deep, and then overflowed into a beck. The pool was only about fifteen yards from some dwelling-houses, and it formed a langerous nuisance, particularly during hot weather, and if any epidemic visited the village no doubt the pool would form a fever den. There had been many complaints about the nuisance, and Mr. Leather, agent for Mrs. Meynell Ingram, had written to the Local Board to take legal proceedings against the Local Board unless the nuisance was abated. Mr. Lewis Straker, the surveyor and nuisance inspector of the Local Board, gave evidence as to having served the usual notices on Mr. Holmes to abate the nuisance, and said that during the early part of July last, Mr. Holmes' square there was only a ditch to carry away their selections were left under the direction of the the sewage, and he had heard many complaints as to the nuisance. Dr. Gilchrist, the medical officer of health to the Local Board, said he examined the pool on the 6th of October, and again that (Friday) morning. On the former occasion there was a foul smell from the pool, which was in the centre of the village, and he considered it injurious to health, and likely to be a nuisance, particularly in dry and hot weather. Mr. James Brayshaw, contractor, who executed the sewerage works at Rothwell, said he had shown Mr. Holmes how he could connect his property with the main drains and abate the nuisance. Mr. Joseph Holmes, Chairman of the Tanfield Committee of the Local Board, said he had perceived an offensive smell from the sewage matter referred to. The nuisance was not on the defendant's property, but it was caused by the sewage from his property, which ought to be turned into the Board's main sewers. Mr. Middleton, in defence, submitted that he had plead that the prosecution had not proved the usual preliminaries in such cases, but the Bench overruled the objection, upon which the defendant was called. He said he was the owner of the property known as Holmes Square, and had been since 1850, and he had always been the same drainage and outlet. The sewer had been a common sewer for at least twenty years. He had never received any complaints from any of his tenants about the drainage of the property. He had repeatedly made verbal and written complaints about the unhealthy nuisance to the Local Board, and asked them to abate it, but they had not done so. The Local Board's system of drainage was so filthy that he dreaded to enter his drains with those belonging to the Board. He had sinded drainage matters for the past forty years, and he wished his property to be treated properly in regard to the sanitary arrangements. After a long hearing the Bench said they were of opinion that a nuisance existed, and they made an order upon Mr. Holmes to abate it according to the notice served upon him, and to pay the costs, which amounted to £6 3s. 6d. Appeal for a case, and his application was refused. There was another summons against the defendant, which charged him with not having the privies of his houses disconnected with the drain, and also with not having other sink pipes trapped. After some argument the Bench adjourned the case for a month, in order to give the defendant an opportunity of carrying out the drainage arrangements in accordance with the requirements of the Local Board.

LEEDS POLICE COURT.

NEGLECT OF FAMILY.—On Wednesday, before Mr. Bruce, at the Leeds Town Hall, Thomas Woodhersting curer, Meadow Road, was charged by Mr. H. Ramsden, relieving officer, with deserting his children, whereby they became chargeable to the common fund of the Rothwell Union. The officer stated he had gone away to Hull, and from there to Wakefield, where he was apprehended on Wednesday. A previous conviction being proved against him for neglecting to maintain his children, he was sentenced by the Stipendiary to two months' hard labour.

WOODLESFORD AND OULTON.

OCCASIONAL NOTES.

We are glad to record another success scored by our local Choral Society. The concert which was given on Monday may be considered creditable to the promoters, and satisfactory to the audience which supported them. It must be granted, too, that this success was due quite as much to the conscientious rehearsals of the programme—which are seldom much appreciated—as to the individual efforts of soloists, instrumental or vocal. We are not, however, prepared to say that the part-songs were given with equal excellence, indeed, in one or two of them. Bishop's 'Sleep, gentle lady' for instance, and Macfarren's "Cradle Song," the singers left much to be desired in the way of giving effect to delicate shades of expression. They have yet to learn the meaning of—or the art of producing—a piannissimo: that crucial test of a good chorus. On the whole, though, the part-songs were fairly well rendered: the quality of tone was excellent. We were glad to have, in addition to the piano solo by Miss Middlemiss, a cornet solo by Mr. B. Walker. The leader of the band is possessed of a skill and a good judgment which will always secure him a welcome hearing in the concert-room. Mr. A. Batty was a decided acquisition: his songs were finished touch to the brightness and 'go' of the concert. In addressing a few words to those present, the Vicar adressed very earnestly the claims of the Society for public support. It is amazing that the aims of such a Society and the principles it offers should require such appeals. Surely such a spirit of devotion to the cause of music were abroad at the present time, we can well believe that the advantages and privileges now offered, would be eagerly and fully availed of.

THE School Board have been very liberal indeed in providing prizes this year for the children attending the schools, and the bill for the piles of handsome books which were to be seen on the desks last night, on the occasion of the distribution, must have been a heavy one. The policy in a wise, as well as a generous one, however, and few will be found to cavil at the extra cost. It is well to offer something of sterling value to strive for, as an incentive to regular attendance upon which so much depends, and such a policy is pretty certain to result in improvement all round, and in raising the tone of the schools generally. The ceremony of distributing the prizes, which has usually been very interesting, was rather a tame piece of business, the board being represented solely by the chairman and clerk. The vicar's remarks were, as usual, pithy and to the point, and the children sang their selections very nicely under the direction of the teachers in the respective departments; but it must have been disappointing to the large number of parents who were present on a rather hard day, that the chairman, that some of the other members of the Board did not attend and address to the scholars and those connected with them, a few of the pleasant and remarks which are naturally expected on such an occasion.

"MEMBER FOR Rothwell." That was rather a bold note to strike, which was given out in the Times leader of last week, in the course of the new parliamentary county districts. This is a subject of much interest to the inhabitants of the whole of the district. Then one soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box.—Prepared by John I. Brown & Son, Chemists, Ludlow, European depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Floriline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly white-ness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco smoke. "The Fragrant Floriline" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE BAND.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Sir,

Thoughts of the coming Christmas brings recollections of the past, and I am reminded of a letter which appeared in your paper in February last. The letter I refer to was signed R. T. S. and revealed some very long facts relating to the conduct of the Temperance Band men and other matters, amongst which was a statement of the financial condition of the Society, from which your readers would learn that the debt on the Hall was a rather heavy one for such a building, (the exact amount I do not now remember), and the debt on the band instruments was £50.

An advertisement appeared in your paper a week before last Christmas which read as follows:—CHRISTMAS MUSIC.—The Rothwell Temperance Band beg respectfully to inform their friends and supporters, that on their Christmas visits they will solicit their kindly help in support of the Band Fund." As the correspondent goes on to say, that as the result of the band's Christmas playing, over £20 was collected from friends and supporter, which sum instead of being paid over to the treasurer, in support of the band's fund as the advertisement stated, the sum divided £24 of it among themselves, which they pocketed for their own private use, spending the remaining £2 10s. in a suit of uniform for one man, and it must be the band. As there was no reply of any kind to the letter of R. T. S. it is reasonable to conclude that his statements being true, could not be contradicted, for their own sakes, it is much to be regretted that the bandmen should have fallen into so very discreditable and damaging to themselves. We may hope that during the past year of their sober life they will have seen their mistake, and that they will not again lower in esteem by the same proceeding. In order to prevent this, should not every friend and supporter of temperance when solicited this Christmas time intend to use a written statement explaining the purpose to which the money collected is to be applied, and the same to be signed by the president, secretary, and treasurer. Your insertion of this in your next issue will oblige.

Yours respectfully,

A SUPPORTER OF TEMPERANCE.

THE CONSUMPTION EMULSION (registered as PYTHRICON).—The public have in the Consumption Emulsion a remedy more nearly allied to the elements of life than any other preparation of cod liver oil. LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The fortnightly meeting of the Board took place on Monday last, present:—Messrs. W. Hargreaves (chairman) J. Holmes, J Hargreaves, J. Sanderson, J. Oliver, J. Bramley, J. Turner, H. P. Newsome, and the clerk, medical officer, collector, and surveyor.

The clerk read the minutes of last meeting and of the committee meetings, among which there was a suggestion for the settlement of compensation to Mr. Brown for damage done during the process of disinfection at his house. After considerable discussion, it was agreed to refer the matter again to the committee. During the conversation, Mr. Oliver mentioned some statements which had been made outside, that the disease had not been small pox, and wished to ask the doctor again as to his opinion. Mr. Glaister rather warmly replied that he had already stated half a dozen times that the children had been suffering from small pox, and this opinion he very strongly asserted once more, after having given every care and attention to the cases. Mr. Oliver expressed his satisfaction with the answer, and the minutes were finally confirmed.

HEALTH REPORT.—Mr. Glaister then made his monthly return, shewing that during the four weeks ended Dec 29th, there have been 9 births (5 male and 4 female) against 16 births last year at this time. Whereas there were 11 deaths in the corresponding period last year, only two fatal illnesses have occurred during the month, one male (60) atrophy of the heart, and one male (59) cirrhosis of liver. The health of the district generally is very satisfactory.

HIGHWAYS.—The chairman of the Highway Committee reported that the clerk and surveyor had attended with him at the Quarter Sessions held that day at Leeds, but had not succeeded in securing the confirmation of the provisional order granted last quarter. Mr. Darwen, junr., barrister-at-law, appeared in support of the application, instructed by Messrs. Tennant and Barret, solicitors, of Leeds and Rothwell. The bench simply repeated the provisional order, to be confirmed next sessions As regards the state of the roads, the county inspector had expressed his entire satisfaction, and notwithstanding the verdict, as endorsed on the counsel's brief, obtained at the previous sitting, no further concessions could be obtained. The Board expressed very great dissatisfaction that the Bench had not carried out the promise of last sessions, Mr. J. Hargreaves, remarking that the Guardians had now to pay an extract of nearly double the amount charged last year on behalf of the County Rate, of which Rothwell pays its quota, and still we are prevented from reaping any benefit. Mr. Holmes expressed his opinion that they were staving off the responsibility as long as possible, at the same time strongly objecting to the injustice. Mr. Oliver said the clerk looked hopefully forward, and had no doubt the order would be confirmed at the March sessions

Further steps were taken for the thorough inspection of the streets and roads at present under contract, and a day was appointed for that purpose.

Mr. Newsome asked about the John o' Gaunt's road, which very greatly needed attention. The clerk pointed out that the Highway Committee is now the acknowledged Highway Authority for that portion of the newly divided parish.

TEAM LABOUR.—There was only one tender received for this work, from Mr. Bleasby, who offered to provide what was required according to advertisement, one man, horse and cart at 9/6, and two men, two horses and carts for 11s. per day. The tender was accepted on the motion of Mr. Bramley and Mr. Newsome. Mr. Holmes neutral.

Mr. Lawton had sent an offer of two traction trucks, which will be submitted to the Highway Committee.

The clerk had received a reply from the Local Government Board as regards the proposed application for a loan for the payment of the steam road roller, in which the secretary is timated that an enquiry would shortly be held on the subject.

Mr. Oliver complained strongly of the damage done to the road by traction engines generally, and instanced a case in which spikes had been put into the wheels, whereby the paving on Bell Hill was seriously torn up and injured. After some rather warm remarks, it was resolved on the motion of Mr J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Turner, that the clerk write the Leeds Industrial Co-operative Society, as regards the damage done by their engine, and demanding compensation.

BYE-LAWS.—A meeting of this Committee had been held, Mr Oliver chairman, and a number of alterations and additions made, the most important referring to pigeries and ashpits. The subject was adjourned for the consideration of a special meeting.

FINANCE.—The collector reported having received and paid as follows :—

General District Rate ...	177	16	8
Water Rents ...	8	13	7
Miscellaneous ...	41	7	3
	£227	17	6

Mr. Roberts had R. memorale from Leicester, Durham, and Chisleburst; H. hortensis from Durham; and H. aculeata, Z. purus, and Z. nitidus from Castleford. Mr. Ward exhibited a golden plover, which had been killed by flying against the telegraph wires, and a fine specimen of the Little Gull.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

On Wednesday evening, the ordinary meeting of the Board was held in the Board Room, Hunslet, present:—Mr. Jas. Hargreaves (chairman) Messrs. J. Graveley and J. Parker, (vice-chairmen) and Messrs. J. Pearson, G. Greaves, G. Butterworth, B. Aaron, G. Jepson, W. Sutcliffe, J. Dixon, W. Lawton, and the clerk (Mr. Schofield.)

A large number of relief cases were gone into, extending until after six o'clock.

BOARDING OUT.—The chairman mentioned about a girl, who, it was afterwards agreed, should enter the home of Enos Ely, of Rothwell, on trial.

The clerk then read the minutes of last meeting, which included also the names of children boarded out, with those of their foster parents; the agreements with several of these have already been completed, and it seems probable that in the majority of cases, the arrangement will work advantageously to both parties.

TREASURER.—Mr. Gatecliffe having resigned the office of treasurer, arrangements had been come to with Mr. L. M. Walker, of the Yorkshire Banking Co., who accepts the post under a bond of £2,000, no interest to be charged nor commission given except when the balance in hand reaches a certain amount RELIEVING OFFICERS.—After some discussion on the subject of the revision of the two relief districts it was agreed that the whole matter be again referred to the Committee.

FEVER HOSPITAL.—A letter was read from the Sanitary Committee of the Leeds Corporation, relative to the admission of persons into the Fever Hospital at Leeds, and it was proposed by Mr. Parker, seconded by Mr. Aaron, that instructions be given to the relieving officers, to refer all fever cases to the Leeds medical officer of health.

MISS CONNOR.—A letter having been received from the Authorities under whom Miss Connor (the late mistress) has obtained a situation, it was unanimously agreed that a testimonial be sent setting forth the high character and faithful attention to duty which had been manifested by her when at Hunslet.

HALIFAX DISPENSED INFIRMARY CONFERENCE.—The chairman reported that Mr. Graveley, Mr. Aaron, the clerk, and he, had attended the Poor Law Conference at Huddersfield, and had been very much profited by the proceedings He mentioned several of the matters brought up, of which a full account has already been published in the daily journals, and expressed his special gratification that the Hunslet Board had taken steps for the boarding out and schooling of the children under their care. Mr. Parker said that Mr. Davey, the inspector, had intimated his satisfaction that the Board had carried out these schemes. Mr. Sutcliffe was then somewhat severe in what they had been so far behindhand in adopting these plans, as it appeared that three-fourths of such children were already being dealt with in this manner. Mr. Aaron fully agreed with the remarks of his colleagues, and was especially glad to hear the excellent speech of Colonel Brooke, who expressed his approbation of the law prohibiting the payment of wages in public-houses. As regards the question of testing labour, he was thoroughly of all able bodied men being put to the ordinary test work, rather than employing tramping joiners, painters, and other skilled artizans at their own trade, in the house. They wanted to keep down the number of such men, and he thought the monotonous test work would prevent them coming into the house, except in cases of real extremity. He would rather give any work they had to tradesmen in the town under contract. Other members joined in the conversation, shewing that the Conference had been of considerable advantage to all.

AMALGAMATION.—In view of the probable order for a Local Government Board enquiry into the proposed amalgamation of Leeds, Hunslet, Holbeck, and Wortley Unions, the clerk suggested the advisability of appointing a Committee to watch the course of events, on behalf of the Board. After discussion it transpired that the enquiry may be a considerable time yet, and the subject was postponed till a later meeting.

Mr. Lawton complained that the boy he had taken had been sent out in very bad shoes, and that his feet were wet when he arrived at his house. He thought the Board ought to take care that these children are sent away well shod. Instructions were at once given that this matter must be carefully attended to in future.

The clerk was instructed to convey the best thanks of the Guardians to the undermentioned, namely :—Miss M. B. Wilkinson, of Austhorpe Lodge, Whitkirk, near Leeds, for Christmas cards and letters for the inmates of the Workhouse. Messrs. Exley & Son, Druggists, Hunslet Lane, Leeds, for camphor lockets for the Workhouse children. Mr. Smithenbank, of Hunslet, for a Magic Lantern entertainment, given to the inmates of the Workhouse.

The master's wants, and the fortnightly returns, were then reported and passed, as usual.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. WOODLESFORD CHURCH CHOIR.

On Wednesday evening last, the Chairmen, Churchwardens and Sub-men, and Sunday School Teachers connected with the above Church, were entertained by the vicar, the Rev. A. J. Irvin, and Mrs. Irvin, when a substantial supper was provided by the host and hostess of the "Two Painters" Inn. Supper was served with a liberality and thoroughness for which this house justly enjoys a high reputation. At the conclusion of the repast, the vicar in offering a few remarks on church music, Sunday school, and church work generally, expressed his regret that the limited accomodation prevented his welcoming those per sent at his own parsonage. Before sitting down he proposed the health of "the Churchwardens" coupling it, in the absence of Mr. Smith, with the name of Mr. Bentley. Mr. Bentley in responding expressed the warm interest he had always felt, and continued to feel in Woodlesford Church, and especially in the musical portion of the services. He hoped that the choir would always maintain the high degree of efficiency which he had been accustomed to hear in the services of Woodlesford Church. The toast of "Mr. and Mrs. Irvin" which is heartily drunk at the end of the evening was given up to music. Among those who contributed songs, &c., were: Mrs. Irvin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Craven, Mr. Atkinson, Mr. H. J. Smith, Mr. Goodall and Mr. H. Hudson Mr. W. Lockwood, the church organist, accompanied at the piano.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

Last Friday, a meeting was held in the girls' department of the National Schools, under the auspices of the above Society, (a branch of which has been established in connection) for the purpose of electing the officers for the coming year. The president, the Rev. F. Fawk s, in the chair. Mr. Fisk s in his opening speech endeavoured to put forth his own views as clearly and concisely as possible, but some of the members holding different opinions, a regular discussion ensued, which interfered greatly with the business, and after the election of Mr. J. G. Turner and J. W. Walker, to the posts of treasurer and secretary, it was resolved that the next meeting be adjourned until Monday, Jan. 14th. About a dozen signatures were taken at the close.

AURORA BICYCLE CLUB.

Last Saturday, the members of the above club met at their headquarters, the Working Man's Club, for a farewell tea and social, given on account of two more members leaving the village. After the feed, which was of a very excellent quality, and heartily enjoyed by all, a sort of free and easy night was managed in, and the secretary, in alluding to the loss of two or three members of the club, hoped that other members would come forward and fill their places; he said they had lost their valuable member during the last year, two of them going now to Sydney, Australia. During the evening, a sketch was taken by one of the members, of the whole party which will be sent to Australia to the two member there. The remainder of the evening was spent in songs, and recitations, and discussion on the coming bicycling season.

TEA AND SOCIAL.

On Monday evening last, the members of the Rothwell Board School F. C. sat down to an excellent knife and fork tea, provided by Mr. and Mrs. Smith (of the Working Man's Club). The repast was laid for 6.30, and was of a varied and outhsome nature, to which the lads seemed to do full justice. After the table was cleared, a pleasant evening was spent by the company, the meeting breaking up at ten o'clock.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

MRS. ROODHOUSE'S TREAT.—The annual treat generously provided for the Rothwell Wesleyan Christmas Cheir, by Mrs. Roodhouse, took place on Friday evening last, when those connected with the choir, and the friends who assisted in the Christmas singing, were entertained by their kind hostess to a varied and sumptuous repast at her house. During the evening games, music, readings, etc, were enjoyed, and at a later period, the hospitality and sympathy for which Mrs. Roodhouse was formerly acknowledged with musical honours. The party did not break up till well into the morning, every one feeling the debt of obligation to the lady who had so appropriately and cordially remembered the services of the singers at the Wesleyan Chapel

THE LETTERS AND PARCELS WORK OF THE ROTHWELL POST OFFICE.—The General wishes to make known throughout the Service his high appreciation of the energy and zeal displayed in successfully meeting the unprecedented pressure of Post Office business experienced throughout the United Kingdom during the last few days.

WESLEYAN METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The subscription list towards the cost of heating, seating, and painting the school and class-rooms being now closed, the collectors, Messrs. Goodall and Gurney, desire to sincerely thank all the friends who have so generously responded as to enable them to hand to the treasurer the handsome sum of £30.

LAST WEEK'S BAZAAR.—We have intimations from the Secretaries of the Wesleyan, Temperance and Primitive Bazaars of the obligations felt by their several committees for the very handsome gifts given last week, and they desire to thank the public for their kind assistance. It is understood that the total receipts of those who had the management of the concert and exhibition given by them. They have been at St. James' Hall this week, and their object is to raise money to assist in the new organ at home in building schools, &c. So far as we can ascertain, the Troupe well deserve public patronage.

MARKETS.

LEEDS CORN, Monday.—We continue to have holiday-markets. Millers show little disposition to buy, and except for pressing sorts, and where business is done it is at prices slightly easier than last Monday's market. Beans, maize and oats are also ready for immediate use, with a limited demand.—Mr. Wm. Mason's Report.

WAKEFIELD CATTLE, Wednesday.—The opening market for the new year was in some respects of an unusual character, and it was evident that the restrictions on the removal of cattle caused much inconvenience and annoyance to those engaged in the trade. The fog market was to any described, whilst there was not a lean cow or mil h cow on offer. There was also no average attendance of buyers, but trade ruled heavy as dealers in many cases asked advanced prices both for beef and mutton, and in some instances they secured them. Compared with last Wednesday.

STOURTON HARRIERS.

The Stourton Harriers ran from headquarters last Saturday. The hares (R. Hill and H. Atkinson) set out with the bags at 3.20, the pack following ten minutes later. The scent led up Wakefield Road, across to Woodhouse Hill, past the Rifle Butts, into Dewsbury Road, which was kept as far as the Woodman Inn, then into the fields to the left, up to Middleton; from here a circuitous route had been taken to Parnaby Wood, where the trail finished. As it was decided not to race by a small party, a start was kept, and home was reached at 4.45, after an enjoyable run of 9¼ miles. The hares arrived at 4.32. Frank Wright, whip. W. Atkinson; timekeeper, W. Coggill.

FOOTBALL.

SHEFFIELD HALLAM v. STOURTON ROVERS

These teams met at Stourton on Thursday, Dec. 27th. The visitors started the leather, and for the first five minutes, play was very even, neither side having the best of it. Then they warmed up with the ball, at length the home forwards getting hold, drew first blood. From the kick off, the Hallam forwards made a neat dribble down to the home goal, but were well stopped by J. Goldthorpe, who relieved his side by a long kick, which was well replied to by Powell, and the Blades' not to be denied, lowered the home colours. This seemed to put the Stourton men on their mettle, as they made a determined attack on the visitors' goal doing the needful twice. Shortly after, half-time was called, on restarting, the home team scored their fourth goal, which however, was disputed. Sheffield now worked hard to make matters equal, and added another goal to their score, after which the Stourton men took the defensive, and when time was called the score stood, Stourton 3 goals and 1 disputed, to Hallam 2. It would be unfair to make special mention of any player, as all played well for their respective sides. The Rothwell team should have visited Stourton last Saturday, but for some reason unknown failed to turn up.

OULTON v. RAWMARSH.—Played at Rawmarsh on Saturday last the home team winning by 3 goals to none.

OULTON VICTORIA v. DONCASTER ROVERS.—The first match between these clubs was played on the ground of the former on Saturday last, the home team being defeated by 4 goals to none.

ROTHWELL BOARD SCHOOL v. ——FAWKES' TEAM —Played at Rothwell on Wednesday afternoon, in a fierce hailstorm, which lasted the first half of the game. The first half of the game each side scored 3 goals, but on changing sides, the Board School put on two more goals on their opponents' none, thus winning by 5 goals to 3. Fawkes, Whitehead, and Wood played a fine game for the losers, while H. Harris played unexceedingly for the school, it being his splendid back play than won the match.

WHAT IS THIS DISEASE THAT IS COMING UPON US?

Like a thief at night, it steals in upon us unawares. Many persons have pains about the chest and sides, sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A sort of sticky slime collects about the teeth. The appetite is poor. There is a feeling like a heavy load on the stomach; sometimes a faint allgone sensation at the pit of the stomach which food does not satisfy. The eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and feel clammy. After a while a cough sets in, at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish coloured expectoration. The afflicted one feels tired all the while, and sleep does not seem to afford any rest. After a while he becomes nervous, irritable and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head on rising up suddenly. The bowels become costive; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the urine is scanty and high-coloured, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the food, sour times with a sour taste, and sometimes with a sweetish taste; this is frequently attended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired with spots before the eyes; there is a feeling of great prostration and weakness. All of these symptoms are in turn present. It is thought that nearly one-third of our population have this disease in some of its varied forms. It has been found that several cases will arise from the source of this disease. The disease is Dyspepsia or Indigestion, for which Seigel's Curative Syrup is a certain remedy. Seigel's Curative Pills are also a effective remedy for Constipation and Biliousness. Those afflicted with asthma will find immediate relief by using the Rx in wood for six weeks. Sold by Chemists A. J. White, Limited, on the stamp. An almanac containing testimonials from persons who have been benefit from use of Seigel's Cura tive Syrup will be furnished, free of charge, by the proprietors A. J. White, Limited, 17, Farringdon Road, London E.C.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS!—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste. It produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers every where at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH—A few drops of the liquid "Floriline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, leaves the gums in a healthy state, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly whiteness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco-smoke. "The Fragrant Floriline," being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d. of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now sold by most respectable chemists in this country at 1s. 1½d. per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box.—Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS, Boston, U.S. European depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

"IS RHEUMATISM CURABLE?" Yes, if you take WOODCOCK'S RHEUMATIC LOTION. Speedily cures Rheumatic Pains in the Limbs, Rheumatic Pains in the Head, Rheumatic Pains in the Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica, Rheumatism of the Heart, Rheumatic Swellings and Stiffness in fact, every phase of Rheumatism, however long standing, is relieved, and never fails. OBSERVE—This is not a quack remedy warranted to cure everything, but a genuine SPECIFIC FOR RHEUMATISM only. Sold by all medicine vendors at 1s. 9d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d. and 11s. THE NEW RAILWAY.

We should not be surprised if a number of people should, on seeing the heading of this article, rub their eyes and pinch their arms, in order to be sure they are fully awake, and not enjoying one of those pleasant dreams they used to have some six months ago, of "Rothwell station, quarter-hour journeys to Leeds, profitable shares, and wondrous prosperity and advancement all round." Certainly things have been comparatively quiet to the outer world as regards the East and West Yorkshire Union Railway, but according to the old proverb, "still waters run deep," and while doubtful souls have feared it was all "up," and credulous people have listened to all manner of rumours about the Midland having arranged to run a line to Drax from Woodlesford, about the new station at the 'Bridge' being discarded in favor of the Midland station, about troubles with this and that interested company or individual, and even that the line would not be made at all, the promoters and their professional helpers have been working away all the time, willing to be almost forgotten so long as they were allowed quietly, carefully, effectively, to prepare and complete the prospectus, which we believe is nearly ready.

We observe that the new company have now taken offices in Albion St., Leeds, just above the Yorkshire Post office, and that Mr. Sebastian Meyer, late assistant secretary for the Hull and Barnsley Railway, has been appointed secretary to the East and West Yorkshire Union line.

We are pleased to note, also, the general consensus of opinion as expressed in the speeches and statements of gentlemen well versed in railway matters, as to the useful and genuine character of the scheme, and the probability of its being thoroughly successful both commercially and financially.

Only on Wednesday, the promoters of the Hull and Barnsley line, made their first journey on the new railway, which will be partly opened in May, and completed before the end of the year. With this line made, no doubt greater attention and interest will be taken in the smaller scheme in which we are more particularly concerned, and we fully anticipate a cordial and satisfactory reply to the company's prospectus, by a steady and exhaustive call for shares in this valuable and much-needed railway.

LOFTHOUSE CHURCH CHOIR.

On Thursday, the members of the church choir, numbering 20 men and 19 boys, were entertained to a splendid supper by Joseph Charlesworth, Esq., J.P., at Lofthouse Park. The tables were loaded with choice edibles, and every one enjoyed a good substantial repast. After supper they went into the billiard room, where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Charlesworth, Miss Charlesworth, Rev. J. R. and Mrs. Crawford. Here they sang several carols and the following choruses:—'And the glory,' 'For unto us a child is born,' 'Hallelujah,' and 'Worthy is the Lamb.' Mr. B. Marshall, organist and choirmaster, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Charlesworth, for their great kindness, and appreciation of the services of the choir. Mr. Moorhouse seconded the vote, and Mr. Charlesworth suitably replied, and said it would always be a pleasure to give the supper at Christmas time to the choir, as the efficient manner in which the services were conducted tended to brighten the worship in God's house. He gave a beautiful book to each of the following choir boys, for regular attendance during the past year: Marshall Roberts, J. R. Marshall, E. Balme, and Tom Parkin. The vicar, Rev. J. R. Crawford, paid a high compliment to the choir, saying that few village choirs could go through such difficult music in such a good style without accompaniment. He then recited a story, with the moral, "Give your service honestly to God's service." The rest of the evening was spent in a convivial manner, interspersed with singing and dancing. 'God save the Queen' was sung just before eleven o'clock, when all went home expressing thanks, and satisfaction at the conduct of their worthy host.

OULTON-WITH-WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of the Board was held on Friday evening last, there having been no quorum on the previous Monday, when the Rev. A. J. Irvin and Mr. Hoyle were the only members who put in an appearance. The members present were Mr. Jackson, (chairman) the Rev. A. J. Irvin, Mr. Hoyle, and Mr. Nowell.

The minutes of the last ordinary and two special meetings having been read and signed by the chairman, the clerk read his monthly financial statement, which showed a balance in the hands of the treasurer of £37. Cheques amounting to £35 9s. 3d. were drawn for teachers' salaries and accounts.

The clerk reported that on Monday, Dec. 31st, 1883, he had attended at the Union Offices, Hunslet, with the accounts of the Board, which had been audited by Mr. John F. Adams, the district auditor, and passed by him as satisfactory, and produced the auditor's certificate to that effect. Mr. Adams again drew attention to the amount of arrears of school fees, and urged the Board to take steps for reducing the amount.

It was reported that the annual inspection of the Woodlesford School had taken place on Monday, Dec. 4th, the inspectors being Messrs. Taylor and Wade, and the duplicate schedules, shewing the result of the Standard examination, had since been received. In the boys' department 55 were presented, of which number 53 passed in reading, 48 in writing, and 48 in arithmetic, being 90·3 per cent, which is the highest percentage of passes yet reached at the Woodlesford School, and an advance of 17 per cent on the previous year in this department. In the girls' department, 54 were presented, out of which 46 passed in reading, 34 in writing, and 32 in arithmetic, being 69·1 per cent, or a decrease of 20 per cent with regard to the previous year. In the infants' department, 10 children were presented in Standard I, of which number, 7 passed in reading, 6 in writing, and 5 in arithmetic, or 60 per cent, being a decrease of 23 per cent on last year. The general report on the school has not yet been received, but is expected about the middle of the present month. H. M. Inspector had complained of the irregular attendance at the school, and a letter was read from Miss Castle, drawing attention to the same subject, and recommending the Board to adopt a system of cards as a means of improving the attendance. The clerk produced a form of attendance card which he thought would effect the desired result if adopted. Each child would be furnished with a card bearing its name and an explanatory notice to the parents, the teachers would be required to enter once a month the child's attendances, etc., and return the card to the parents, who would thus be regularly informed on the subject. The system of giving prizes for passing in three subjects would be discontinued, and in lieu of which a first-class prize, value 5s., would be given to every child making the highest possible number of attendances; a second-class prize, value 3/6, would be given for 400 attendances; and a third-class prize, value 2s., for 350 attendances. Dr Nowell suggested that the card should be so arranged as to admit of being entered up weekly instead of monthly, and with this alteration the clerk's scheme was adopted, and instructions given to have the cards procured and furnished to the children as early as possible.

The question of paying the salaries of the teachers quarterly instead of monthly was discussed, but was deferred for further consideration at the next meeting.

Dr. Nowell gave notice that at the next meeting he should move a resolution that the Board take into consideration the advisability of converting the boys' and girls' departments into a mixed school.

CONCERT AT ROTHWELL.

On Tuesday last, a miscellaneous concert of a very unusual character, took place in the Mechanics' Hall, by a party of Delaware Indians, (accompanied by their chief,) who during the last few weeks have visited several towns in England, and given entertainments for the purpose of raising money for building schools, etc., and spreading the gospel in their own country. A very interesting programme was provided, and every thing gave promise of a really good evening's enjoyment.

The chief, J. B. Waubuno, gave a very able and interesting speech, showing the advancement of his own tribe by the spread of Christianity and temperance, and he was glad to say that those with him were all total abstainers. The company then gave several glees and songs in excellent style, some of the performers being possessed of excellent voices, after which a war dance was given by the warriors, whose personal appearance was anything but pleasing, and by the swinging of tomahawks and repeated whoops, and the most graceful of dances, evidently gained the satisfaction of everybody. The first part was brought to a close by the company giving several glees, all of which were more or less pleasing. The second part was opened by the singing of the hymn, 'Sweet by-and-bye,' in their own language, followed by the 'Scotch Lassie Jean,' by Ahenawaka, which was succeeded by 'Hail, smiling morn.' The song and chorus, 'Gathering the shells by the shore,' was very well rendered. A very humorous piece, 'The barber's shop,' was next given, followed by the 'Schoolmaster,' after which Waubuno, the chief's son, gave 'Rocked in the cradle of the deep,' his splendid bass voice being heard to advantage. A scalping scene was next witnessed, giving a good idea of this bloody and heartrending custom. After two or three more songs, the National Anthem was sung, which brought the concert to a close.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence in thousands of cases, because it contains more nutritious and flesh-forming elements than any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa ordinarily sold. When you ask for Cadbury's Cocoa Essence be sure that you get it, as shopkeepers often push imitations for the sake of extra profits. Makers to the Queen. Paris depôt, 90, Faubourg St. Honore.

YORKSHIRE MINERS AND THEIR WAGES.

PROPOSED SCHEME.

The following is the outline of a scheme which has been submitted to the consideration of the miners of Yorkshire, and which is to be laid before the Colliery owners for their consideration, for the better regulation of miners' wages:—

TO THE COALOWNERS OF YORKSHIRE.—Gentlemen,—We, the miners of Yorkshire, are willing to agree to a Joint Committee of Coalowners and Workmen, as per the following resolution of Conference, held in Barnsley:—1. That the present rate of wages, with 10 per cent. added, be the minimum rate of wages. 2. That the standard rate of coal rate shall be the selling prices, as found in the owners' books, from November 1st to December 1st, 1883. 3. That the collieries represented at the joint meeting of owners and workmen in Sheffield, October 9th, 1883, have their books examined, to find what the standard price of coal was on that date. 4. All coal to be calculated at retail price, in order to find the average. 5. That the men have the right to appoint and instruct their accountant, and that he shall not be restricted in his search, and that he shall have the right to put the mode of inquiry and the results before the men's secretary. 6. That such statement of prices be got out only when the Joint Committee cannot agree. 7. That after the case or cases have been heard before the umpire, he shall give his decision on each case within one week of the final hearing or sitting. 8. That each party bring whatever evidence may be considered necessary to promote or defend their case or cases. 9. That all collieries apply a price-list to the men, and the Joint Committee have power to compel each and every colliery owner to grant a price-list. 10. That the Joint Committee have power to compel each colliery owner to carry out the said price-list, and that no price-list be violated or interfered with, without the sanction of the Joint Committee. 11. That each colliery owner and pitsteed workmen agree and pledge themselves to abide by and carry out the rules and decisions arrived at by the Joint Committee. 12. That ——— be the first chairman-umpire under the rules of the Joint Committee. 13. That twelve colliery owners, or their representatives, and twelve workmen, or their representatives, compose the Joint Committee. 14. That the secretaries of the owners and workmen act for their side, but have no vote on any question. 15. That the secretaries of each association forward to each other the business for each meeting at least three days before time of meeting. 16. That a Joint Committee meeting be held once in every month, to take into consideration all cases brought before the said Joint Committee, and to decide thereupon.

ROTHWELL LIBERAL ASSOCIATION

The annual general meeting of the above association was held on Tuesday last in their club room, over the Co-operative Store, an apartment lately engaged in place of the one near the Cross. Mr. James Batty, the president, having taken the chair, the balance sheet was read and adopted, which showed that the total income for the past year was £26 14s. 3½d., and the expenditure £24 12s. 11d., leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer of £2 1s 2d. The election of officers next took place with the following result:—President, Mr. R. M. Sykes; vice-presidents, Mr. T. Whitehead and Mr. Chas. Ineson; committee, Messrs. Jos. Harrison, senr., Geo. Rawling, Jas. Batty, Jas Taylor, B. Batty, and R. Ellis; auditors, Messrs. C. Ineson and R Ellis; treasurer, Mr. R Batty; secretaries, Messrs. J. Turner and J. Nunns.

THE AMALGAMATION OF THE FOUR UNIONS.

We understand that the clerk to the Leeds Board of Guardians has received a letter stating that the Local Government Board will, early in March, institute an inquiry into the proposal to amalgamate the several unions within the Leeds borough.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.

As announced, the Rothwell Temperance Society held their second annual sixmanack show, last Saturday. There were about 285 almanacks entered, all of which were hung on the walls, and being nicely contrasted, gave a very striking appearance. Mr. Herbert Lockwood, teacher of drawing, was the judge. With the exception of the first prize for the large almanacks, (of which there was only one) each prize had to be divided between several persons. There was a good attendance during the evening, and the proceedings were enlivened by the band playing selections at intervals. The following is a list of the almanacks which gained prizes:—Large size: 1st prize, "Tricks;" 2nd prize, "Scene from the Harz Mountains;" 3rd prize, "Going to Market." Small size: 1st prize, "The Knight of Snow's Song" 2nd prize, "A bridesmaid;" 3rd prize, "Lord F. C. Cavendish." The show was again opened on Monday to the schools, in the afternoon, and the public in the evening. The Amateur Drum and Fife Band was in attendance, and after a march round the town, assisted the Temperance Band by their performances during the evening.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH —Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps's Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the throat in the mouth they are excited by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., 1s 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

WILD FLOWERS IN ROTHWELL AND DISTRICT.

By MR. G. ROBERTS, of LOFTHOUSE.

No. XII.

Wood Loosestrife.—A procumbent plant about 6 to 10 inches in length, often rooting on the stem like the strawberry. The corolla is rotate and of a bright yellow. Grows about Swillington, Lofthouse, and other places, generally in woods. The Latin name is Lysimachis nemorum.

Scarlet Pimpernel or Poor Man's weather glass.—A small annual about 6 inches high, with small bright red flowers. Flower rotate and leaves opposite. Grows commonly in corn-fields, and has accompanied man in all parts of the globe to which European seed-corn has been taken. The flowers are said to close immediately before rain, but they are generally found closed in the latter part of the day, whether rain is impending or not. Many plants fold their petals or leaves, and there is rest or sleep during dull weather or in the night, much in the same way as animals rest or sleep. Scientific name is Anagallis arvensis.

Centaury. An erect plant with narrow leaves and pretty pink flowers, usually about a foot high, but sometimes only half an inch high and bearing a single flower. It is one of the few "simples" that are now sought by herbalists, along with barberry and gentian. It grows in most parts of the "old" parish of Rothwell, but is nowhere common. It is more frequent in the disused limestone quarries about Kippax and Ledstone.

Autumn Gentian—An erect plant often about a foot high, but varies in height according to soil. The flowers are of a hand-some purple blue colour, and grow towards the top of the stem. It grows nowhere in the immediate neighbourhood of Rothwell, but is frequent on the limestone further eastward. The scientific name is Gentiana Amarella.

Yellow-wort.—A small but handsome limestone plant with bright yellow flowers. The stem is stiff and the opposite leaves, which are of a glaucus green, are so connected, that the stem seems to grow through them. It is a bitter plant, and often gathered and dried by the disciples of Culpepper. It grows at Kippax and near Castleford.

Lesser Bindweed.—A twining and prostrate field-weed with delicate pink bell shaped flowers. It is one of the worst weeds on the farm, often growing in beds and smothering the corn, hence it is called in many places corn-bind. The old rough plan spoken husbandmen of former days called it devil-weed. When once established it is exceedingly bad to eradicate, as the roots descend into the gravel below the plough. It is difficult to find the extremities of the roots even with a spade and a mattock. Any one who happens to be troubled with this pertinacious enemy in the farm or garden will find that allum refuse, which is given away at the alum works at Outwood, a valuable auxiliary in assisting to extirpate it. The allum refuse should be used on thickly, and no weed will pen-trate through it. The patches of land so treated will have to remain at least one year in fallow. The shale in smaller quantities will also help to loosen and pulverise the soil.

Greater Bindweed. A similar but larger plant with larger flowers than the last. The roots are white and do not descend so deep into the soil. It is much akin to the preceding but is not so bad to extirpate. Both are great pests in a garden. Flowers white.

ERRATUM.—In last paper under Heather the word "eastward" in line 6 should be westward.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

LOCAL BOARD ENQUIRY.—In pursuance of the intimation received last meeting, notices have been posted in the district, stating that an Inspector from the office of the Local Government Board will sit at the Board Room, Rothwell, on Tuesday, January 22nd, to receive evidence as regards the proposed loan to enable the Board to purchase the Steam Road Roller lately purchased.

Holloway's Pills.—The greatest Boon of Modern Times.—These Purifying Pills act directly on the liver, correct the bile, purify the system, renovate the deb linated, strengthen the stomach, increase the appetite, invigorate the frame, and educate the weak to an ardour of feeling never before experienced. The sale of these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, constituting the most so-pical that there is no Medicine equal to Holloways Pills for removing the complaints which are incidental to the human race. They are indeed a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to those who suffer from any disorder, internal or external. Thousands of persons have testified that by their use alone they have been restored to health after other remedies had proved unavailing.

BORAX—PREPARED CALIFORNIAN, 'The Household Treasure—Pure Antiseptic,' is now sold in small and family packets by all intelligent dealers, prepared and ready for immediate use, with full directions,for all Personal and Domestic purposes, and suitable for Academies, Hotels, Hospitals, Asylums, Ships, Public Institutions, and all homes—from the mansion to the cottage—everywhere.

PROPERTY SALE AT ROTHWELL.

On Monday night last, at the Black Bull Inn, Rothwell, Mr. Chapman, of the firm of Messrs. Howgate and Chapman, auctioneers, Wakefield, offered for sale the several lots of property, situate in Rothwell, formerly owned by the late Mr. W. Hainsworth, of this place, and held in trust by Mr. R. Hargreaves and Mr. J. Blackburn, both of this town.

A large company assembled, and the bidding was brisk and to the point. Lot 1, consisting of three cottages, situate in Butcher Lane, having an area of 559 sq. yds., and producing a gross rental of £21 9s 6d., was knocked down to Mr. Wm. Ward, of Rothwell for £255. Lot 2, a parcel of land of 309 sq. yds., along with the dwelling house erected thereon, situate behind Lot 1, was secured by Mr. Thos Lambert for £100. Lot 3, consisting of 7 messuages, with gardens, covering an area of 883 sq. yds., situate on the south side of the Cross, and producing a gross rental of £47, was bought by Mr. Thos. Baines, of Hunslet (brother to Mr. C. Baines, of the British Oak) for £810.

Amongst the bidders who kept up a lively fire of competition in the various lots, we noticed, in addition to the purchasers already named, Mr. W. Hargreaves, Mr. H. P. Newsome, Mr. John Dobson, Mr. Wm. Sykes, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Lambert, and others.

Mr. Tennant, of the firm of Messrs. Tennant and Barret, acted as solicitor on behalf of the vendors.

It is generally understood that the reasons why from a judgment on these matters, that the prices realized were satisfactory to the sellers, and a fair rate to the buyers.

HOW MANY PEOPLE SUFFER.

It is often a matter of how many more people than formerly complain of feeling unwell. It is not that there is a greater amount of contagious diseases about, but there is a greater strain upon the nerves of such are far less than of yore, because of better sanitary arrangements and greater attention to cleanliness and other matters. The enormous prevalence cannot be doubted of pains in the back, side, and chest; enervated and languid feelings; loss of energy; distress after meals; nervous headache, with often a sense of deadly faintness at its pit, which eating does not stay; sick headache, so called biliousness; unpleasant sensations of sickness at the stomach rising in the morning, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, and loss of appetite, or too-frequent of food. These are but the smaller forms of "feeling unwell," and yet how great is the distress and suffering, with hindrance to business and pleasure, they give rise to. The cause is not far to seek; it lies in the stomach and digestive organ, which have become impaired, to the distress of nearly all the other functions of the body. Nothing could be more unwise and just as assuredly tendency on the part of a small but still important wheel of a clock to let the dis-arrangement of its whole function as a time keeper, so does the failure of so important a wheel as the digestive organs in the mechanism of the human frame, bring on a highly impaired vigour or inaction, all the parts depending on them—and they are legion—out of gear. Just as the wheel of the clock can be set right, so we found that accurate time may be kept, so must the impaired organs of the stomach be restored to their original vigour. Digestion must be promoted by increasing the flow and strength of the gastric juice, and this "Seigel's Curative Syrup" will effectually do. It will impart strength to the stomach, invigorate the liver, and impart tone to the bowels, to the greater enjoyment of life and health of all who suffer; and that it is so may be tested by a perusal of the Testimonials in an Almanac, which will be furnished free of charge to any applicant by the proprietors, A. J. White (limited), 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C. The ayrup can be obtained from any chemist or medicine vendor.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets, labelled "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also maker of Epps's Chocolate Essence

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

Old Sores and Old Skin Diseases.

The seeds of these disorders are effectually swept by this penetrating Ointment, not only from the superficial parts, but from the internal tissues likewise. Any case, even of twenty years' standing, may safely be taken in hand.

A Certain Cure for Bronchitis, Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Asthma, &c.

For curing sore throat, bronchitis, asthma, sightness of the chest, and pain in the side—which instant treatment alone prevents degenerating into more serious maladies, this Ointment has the same powers over chest complaints as a blister or mustard plaster, without any pain or destitute. Old asthmatics-yields will meet a marvellous ease from the use of this Ointment, which has brought round many such sufferers and re-established them after every other means had signally failed.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, Old Sores, and Ulcers.

By rubbing the Ointment round the affected parts, it penetrates to the bones and sinews, and exercises a wonderful power on all the blood feeding tissues, and returning them, the diseased flesh to a healthy condition. Even when matters have become intolerable, the matter thicker, and a cure is most effected. In all long-standing cases, this Ointment should also be taken, as they will thoroughly expel all depraved humours from the body.

Court, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints.

Gout and Rheumatism arise from inflammation in our parts affected. To effect a permanent cure, adopt a cooling diet, drink plenty of water, take a dose of Holloway's Pills every night and morning. DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.
CHLORODYNE (established by the Profession to be the most wonderful & valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.
CHLORODYNE effectually checks & arrests these from fatal disease—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Neuralgia, &c.
From Dr. B. J. Bowrow & Co., Homœopathic Pharmacists, Bombay.
"We have made a pretty extensive use of Chlorodyne in our practice lately, and look upon it as an excellent direct sedative and antispasmodic. It seems to allay pain and irritation in whatever organ, and from whatever cause, & induces a feeling of comfort and quietude not obtainable by any other remedy, and it seems to possess this great advantage over all other sedatives that it leaves no unpleasant after-effects."
"Hart Rossell communicated to the College of Physicians that he received a dispatch from the Emperor of Russia, stating that he was saved from a severe attack of Cholera by the timely use of CHLORODYNE."
CAUTION—BEWARE of IMPURE and IMITATIONS.
CAUTION—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the whole of the Statements sworn to by PEREIRA, were deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to in the Court of Chancery on the 12th July, 1864.
CHLORODYNE is a dark brown liquid, with a very nauseous taste. Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., and 22s. each.

GOVERNMENT ENQUIRY AT ROTHWELL.

In pursuance of a notice publicly given some time ago, a court of enquiry was held at the Board Room, Churchfield, on Tuesday morning last, before Stephen Harding Terry, Esq., Assoc. Mem. Inst. C.E.

The court opened at eleven o'clock, there being present, Messrs. W. Hargreaves, J. Holmes, H. P. Newsome and J. Turner, (members of the Board,) with Mr. Tennant, solicitor, Mr. Rowley, engineer, Mr. S. Hargreaves, clerk, and Mr. Starkie, inspector and surveyor.

Mr. Tennant stated the Board's case, as regards the necessity and advantages of the steam road roller just purchased, and that the Board sought to obtain a loan from the Public Works Loan Board of not less than £250, to cover the cost of the implement, which amount might be repaid in seven years.

Mr. Rowley gave evidence as to the construction and capabilities of the engine, producing plans and sections in illustration, and otherwise upholding the wisdom of the purchase just made. Mr. Starkie, the surveyor, corroborated the previous statements, and reported on the excellent work already done by the engine.

The Commissioner, after hearing the evidence, expressed himself as favorable to the course taken by the Board, and evidently approved of the purchase of the roller, and of the application for a loan. During further conversation on the subject, the question arose of building a shed for the engine, the purchase of two traction waggons, and the erection of a depot for storing the various implements used by the Board, all which proposals were approved by Mr. Terry, and it was eventually suggested that instead of asking for £350 simply for the purchase of the roller, that the amount be increased so as to cover the expense of a shed, storehouse, &c., the repayment to extend over ten years, instead of seven. It transpired from remarks made by the Commissioner, that the Local Government Board frequently advance money for these road rollers, and appear to agree with the advantage of using them. Mr. Terry also seemed favorable to the stone breaking machines, one of which is doing good work at Harrogate.

The members of the Board were greatly pleased with the evident agreement with their proposal, entertained by the Commissioner, and also with his courtesy and desire to advance the well being of the district. A very cordial vote of thanks was accorded to him, on the motion of Mr. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Holmes. The enquiry lasted about an hour.

After the meeting, we understand the whole party adjourned to Marsh Road, where the newly completed steam roller was working on a piece of road just metalled by Mr. Rulmer. Mr. Terry expressed great satisfaction with the roller, assuring the Board that they had got good value for their money. Mr. Turner, having directed the Commissioner's attention to the application of road scrapings upon the metal, felt supported in his opinion by the reply, "you might as well try to bind a road with marmalade." In regard to crossings, the Commissioner's opinion was that paved crossings are better than flagged ones, but better still to have no crossings at all. The Commissioner left shortly afterwards.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of the School Board was held on Friday, present—Messrs. W. Hargreaves (chairman), J. G. Turner, J. R. Seanor, J. Batty, W. Lawton, and the clerk, attendance officer, and teachers.

The Finance Committee had previously met and examined the quarterly accounts and teachers' cheques.

The minutes of last meeting having been read, their confirmation was agreed to on the motion of Mr. Turner, seconded by Mr. Batty. Mr. Lawton neutral.

DRAWING EXAMINATION.—The clerk reported that the drawing examination was fixed for the 21st January at Rothwell Haigh Board Schools, and asked that one or two members should assist him in conducting it. Mr. Lawton kindly undertook to be present in order to make the requisite minimum number of managers. Carried.

[The examination took place on Monday, when 10 girls and two pupil teachers presented themselves from the girls' schools, and 45 boys and 2 pupil teachers from the boys' school. Some of the exercises were very creditably worked.]

SINGING CLASS.—The Rev. E. W. R. Hutchinson, having applied for the use of the infants' school-room, 1½ hours per week, for the purpose of training young people to sing correctly, it was proposed by Mr. Turner, seconded by Mr. Seanor, that the infants' room be let to Mr. Hutchinson, for an hour and a half every Monday, at a rent of 1s. per quarter. Carried.

TENDER FOR CHANNELLING.—The Board having asked for tenders from several contractors, to put down certain channelling and flagging at Rothwell Board Schools, it was proposed by the chairman—That Messrs. Chapman's tender be accepted at £11 9s. 6d. seconded by Mr. Turner, and carried. Mr. Lawton moved an amendment to postpone the work till next winter, but it was not seconded.

PUPIL TEACHERS' PRIZES.—As already reported in another form, the clerk stated that prizes had been gained by Miss Nowell, Miss Gill, and Master Myton, ROTHWELL TIMES---FRIDAY, JAN. 25, 1884.

WESLEYAN CHOIR CONCERT.

By the exertions of a few ladies and gentlemen interested in the Wesleyan Choir at Rothwell,a very capital miscellaneous concert has been got up since New Years' Day, and passed off on Monday evening in the Mechanics' Hall, with considerable eclat.

The hall was well filled before half-past seven, the time for commencing, and a more appreciative and respectable audience has seldom been present. Although the performers were mostly connected with the Wesleyans, a very gratifying feature in the affair, was the kindly sympathy and goodwill manifested by the presence of many others, not members of that denomination.

The platform used was the one purchased by the efforts of Mr. W. Wright, Mr. Harms, and others, and with the curtains above, behind, and adjoining the orchestra, presented a very warm and cheery appearance. The singers were ranged on three rising semi-circular seats, the piano completing the half-circle on one side and a harmonium on the other, the conductor's stand being before the centre of the platform, with the small band of instrumentalists near him.

The first portion of the programme was almost entirely composed of selections from Handel's "Messiah," the second part being filled with songs, duets, glees, &c., of a lighter type. Mr. Joseph Idle, as conductor, mounted his stand at half-past seven, and the performance began with the grand overtures usually taken at such concerts. Following these, which were carefully rendered by the half-dozen gentlemen composing the band, came the grand opening solo of Isaiah, "Comfort ye my people," by Mr. J. W. Gibson, who displayed his really fine voice in an effective manner, especially considering the disadvantageous always felt by the first soloist in a concert. The choir then took up "And the glory," and at the outset shewed that each singer was well up to the part assigned. The only departure from the 'Messiah' was then given by Mrs. Collingwood and Miss Fielding, in the sweet duet, "O, lovely peace." The thinness of the band was more felt in this piece than any other, but all kept up nicely, and the ladies succeeded in affording pleasure to their audience. In the Pastoral Symphony, the band shone well, the music not being such as to demand a large orchestra. Miss Walker's solo, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," was looked forward to with some trepidation by many of her musical friends, but her success in rendering the glorious song was complete, and her high character as a singer was still further decided. The chorus, "Lift up your heads," was splendidly done, the promptness with which the change was taken up being perfect. The effort required for an amateur to sing "The trumpet shall sound," did not deter Mr. W. Varley from essaying that portion of bass solos, and the courage with which he entered and went through the mazes of those wondrous 'runs' was most praiseworthy, especially where the notation is in the higher cleff; he was very ably accompanied by Mr. A. Blackburn who played the trumpet portions, on the cornet, and also by the string band. The difficult and catchy chorus, "Behold the Lamb," went very well, especially after the first bar or two. This was followed by that most expressive of all Handel's songs, "He was despised," and in singing this remarkable composition, Miss Fielding shewed, to a practised ear, the careful study she had devoted to such music, and voiced those strange accidentals in an effective and soul-stirring manner. The first part concluded with the ever fresh and ever welcome "Hallelujah," in the singing of which it is almost superfluous to say, the choir did themselves justice.

After a short interval, the performers again assembled, and the change in the character of the programme was soon apparent by the singing of the glee "Blow, blow, thou winter wind," which was well taken up, and except that a little more practice would have improved it, was enjoyably sung. Owing to the illness of her father, Miss Clarkson (leading soprano in the choir) was unhappily prevented from taking her song "Far away," but Mrs. Higgins, a friend from Leeds, very kindly agreed to sing it, and rendered the old favorite most delightfully. As to the character of the next number, the promenders of the concert were not aware, Mr. Liversedge's powers as a violinist being well-known and appreciated; he however appeared in a sort of nondescript dress, and, mixed with some degree of 'ginger' humour, performed on several novel instruments, besides the violin, the guitar and banjo, the 'bells' music being both pleasing and clever. The little performance was, to many, a not unwelcome variation in the programme, and caused a good deal of amusement. The ordinary style of the concert was resumed by Mrs. Collingwood, 'in Warner's song, "To the woods," the beautiful words and music eminently suiting the sweet, silvery tones of the the singer's voice. The next piece was the part song, "Ah, could I with fancy stray," which was well rendered by a double quartette, Mrs. Collingwood and Miss Walker, Miss Fielding, Mr. Blackburn and Mr. Ward, Mr. Varley and Mr. A. Ward. In the swinging song, "When the ship comes home," the singer and the song were again eminently suited to each other, the easy nonchalance and strong, clear vocalization of Miss Nowell, gave just the right effect to the taking story narrated in the song, which has evidently made an impression on the popular minds. "Call" (duet), Mrs. Collingwood and Miss Fielding were quite at home, and the few minutes occupied by this beautiful composition, will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Tilley then followed, and in rendering "The sailor and his lass," and what is absolutely a new song, and a nice little story of a sailor's love life. Miss Fielding followed with "The Irish Emigrant," which was given with much expression, and most effectively shewed the sympathetic, mellow voice with which she is endowed, the like of which is so rarely to be heard. The story of the "Belfry Tower" was excellently well illustrated by the choir, who richly deserved the applause and satisfaction evidenced by the audience. The fact of so beautiful and difficult a song as "The blind girl to her harp," being put down on the programme for Miss Walker, no doubt had something to do with the constancy with which the people remained to the close of the concert, and few singers, amateurs at any rate, could have surpassed this young lady in the many-sided emotions exemplified in this song. The last number in the programme was the sweet quartette, "Sleep, gentle lady," committed to Miss Walker, Miss Fielding, Mr. Higgins, and Mr. Tilley, and it was given most tastefully and sweetly, riveting the attention of all who were privileged to listen.

The National Anthem closed the concert, which, though unpretentious in its programme, and its performers, has yet been pronounced by all whose opinion we have heard, as being one of the most enjoyable and successful held in Rothwell, every singer being more or less cheered at the conclusion of the piece.

Mr. Joseph Idle conducted the choir and band with great care and in strict time, Mr. Marshall and Mr. Naylor dividing the duties of accompanyist on the piano and harmonium, Miss Fielding taking that part in Mrs. Collingwood's song. The instrumentalists included Mr. Plows and Mr. Wormald, (Lofthouse), Mr. Liversedge, (Leeds), Mr. S. Mortón and Mr. C. Ward, (Rothwell), and Mr. Higgins, (Leeds). In the choir were included Mrs. Higgins, (Leeds), Mrs. Collingwood, Mrs A. Ward, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Turner, Miss Walker, Miss Nowell, Miss Hampson, and Miss Seanor. (soprani); Miss Fielding, Miss ——, (contralti); Messrs. C. Turner, S. Sidebottom, and Keighley, (alti); Messrs. J. W. Gibson, J. Gibson, J. Blackburn, (tenori); Messrs. Hope, Varley, Tilley, Nicholson, A. Ward, and Sheldon, (bassi). The promoters are specially indebted to the ladies and gentlmen who kindly came from a distance to assist.

A MODERN ASMODEUS.

A TEMPERANCE LEGEND.

By Uncle Toby.

The following remarkable experiences recently gone through by a young friend, Mr. Samuel Todkins, which had the effect of inducing him to enroll in the list with the most zealous advocates of the temperance cause, may be thought sufficiently interesting for preservation in your columns.

I must premise that Mr. Todkins, whilst hardly deserving to be classed as a "masher," is a little bit particular about personal appearance, and as he struts up Commercial Street, or along the Marsh, arrayed in a neat (not made to measure,' from the 'behive' establishment, a pair of elegant boots two sizes too small for him, from Hampson's 'old established boot store,' and one of Blackburn's stylish overcoats, (for which he pays weekly instalments) gracefully twirling a cane, and with a flourish of his white handkerchief diffusing an odour suggestive of Marshall's 'fancy depository,' one may be excused for mistaking him for the 'gent' he so carefully imitates. You must not understand "gentleman," not to say vanity, is his strong point; but don't for a momen run away with the notion that Samuel is nothing more than a heartless and brainless fop. Enclosed in that head of furniture are the seeds of a better nature—he is a fund of Yorkshire 'canny' good sense, and the fact that he is just now on his way to seek his Harriet Ann, goes to prove that if he has no heart, it is because he has transferred it to the keeping of someone else who, let us hope, is worthy of his trust.

Harriet Ann, however, to-night, for the first time fails to meet him at the trysting place. He waits until he is obliged to give her up for this evening, and then wanders disconsolately away. Unwilling to go to the Pantomime without her, he drifts aimlessly along, until he finds himself in idle curiosity following the tail end of a crowd, into a large hall off Hunslet Lane, where a celebrated 'Apostle of Slops' is to hold forth on the blessings of temperance.

Samuel finds a seat close to the door, and soon forgets his own troubles in the absorbing interest excited by the pathetic sketches, and earnest appeals of the speaker. For a time he is serenely unconscious of a stream of cold air which, playing directly from the keyhole of the door into the slumbering volcano of a hollow mouth, at last arouses its activity. (Samuel has a habit of opening his mouth to listen.) He suddenly, however, becomes alive to the presence of this new feature of interest, which developes energy so rapidly, that at last he rushes off, pos-essed only with the frantic desire to have it out. He arrives at a neighbouring surgery, only to find the dentist away, and is invited to wait for his return. Impatient of waiting, his tortured nerve betrayed by the pathetic shrieks

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

On Monday evening, the ordinary meeting was held, present:—Messrs. W. Hargreaves (chairman), J. Holmes, J. Wakefield, J. Sanderson, S Bramley, J. Turner, H. P Newsome, and the clerk, medical officer, collector and inspector.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

CROSSINGS.—In accordance with a notice given a fortnight ago, Mr. Turner moved that the resolution ordering certain crossings to be made in the town and be rescinded, fortifying his argument by several reasons, and also referring to the Commissioner's remarks respecting them. Opinions on the other side were given shewing that the experience of other gentlemen and the inspector, was in favour of crossings for the comfort of pedestrians; as there was no seconder to the motion, it fell to the ground.

A rather warm and lengthy disputation arose on the report of the enquiry lately held, in which the Commissioner's private opinion on subjects other than that for which the enquiry was held are made public, but which eventually cooled down, and the usual routine of business was resumed.

HEALTH.—Dr. Glaister reported that during the four weeks ending Jan. 26th, 1884, there have been 14 births (11 male and 3 female) and 4 deaths (3 male and 1 female.) During the corresponding period last year there were 21 births and 7 deaths. Causes of death during last four weeks:—1 male, 13 months, bronchitis; 1 female, 35 years, phthisis; 1 male, 5 months, convulsions; 1 female, 40 years, apoplexy.

He stated that the general health of the district was very satisfactory, and that there are no cases of zymotic disease at present.

The clerk informed the Board in Mr. Glaister's absence, that his re-appointment had been confirmed by the Local Government Board.

THE ENQUIRY.—The chairman reported that at the enquiry held on the Tuesday previous, after conversation with the Commissioner, it was suggested by the Commissioner that the the loan proposed to be obtained from the Public Works Loan Board, be increased in amount so as to cover the cost of building a shed and store house, and the purchase of two traction waggons, as well as the cost of the engine, and that the term for payment be advanced to ten years.

The clerk remarked that the previous resolution must be rescinded first, and the chairman continued, that he now gave notice of his intention to move the rescinding of the resolution to borrow £350 for 7 years. In further conversation with the Commissioner, the chairman ascertained that new waggons would be preferred by the department, also a good useful building in which all the Board's tools could be kept. Looking at the matter from another point of view, the chairman reminded the Board that before actually going into this expense, they should remember that there is considerable probability that County Boards will be established, who would undertake all the high roads, and if this were so, we should not need all these things. He advised that the Board wait till it is seen what the Local Government Board intend doing. Mr. Sanderson said we should get the valuation, surely. The chairman and Mr. Holmes thought no', for buildings at any rate. Mr. Turner did not see how the County Board would do wi hout local establishments. Mr. Newsome agreed with the chairman, and thought it a good suggestion that the Board should hesitate and see what Parliament proposed to do. Mr. J. Hargreaves also coincided, although he thought that if County Boards were established, the property of existing authorities would be considered, and a valuation allowed. He thought that if a shed or store house was built, it ought to be near the main roads, so as to be more easily disposed of, if necessary. It was intimated that the building at Carlton Bridge was at liberty, but no definite action was taken concerning the matter. Mr. Holmes said that when Leeds got her Act to incorporate Hunslet Holbeck, Beeston, &c., into the borough, the sheds, tools and implements were all taken in, and not a farthing valuation paid for them, and he feared such would be the case if a County Boards Act was passed. He should therefore go in for this proposal standing over. Mr. Bramley said that the Board had land in two places, and he thought that one of them might be utilized for such a building as would answer all their purposes: a wood shed might be put up first. Mr. Turner urged the necessity for some place in which they could shelter their engine, and was strongly in favour of a temporary shed. Mr. Holmes then proposed that the whole question be referred to the Highway Committee, seconded by Mr. Bramley and carried.

The clerk read a letter from Mr. Bulmer, complaining of the extra cost to which he was exposed by drainage contractors leaving the road in a less satisfactory state than that in which they found it, and asked the Board's assistance in the matter. The chairman and other members thoroughly sympathised with the writer in the difficulty under which he laboured, and the subject was referred to the Highway Committee.

The chairman reported that an engine belonging to Messrs. Pawson had seriously damaged the road on Bell Hill, on the 17th January, breaking up the channel for from 20-to 30 yards. Having been corroborated by the foreman, the chairman moved that Messrs Pawson be written to requesting them to repair the damage within seven days, or otherwise the Board would do it at their risk and expense. Mr. Turner seconded the motion, which was carried.

The chairman remarked on the expense of employing the present driver of the engine, and moved that a driver be advertised for at a future time; seconded by Mr. Turner, and carried.

DRAINAGE.—Mr. Newsome brought up a matter as to the price charged for drainage pipes, as being higher than previously. The clerk explained that the last lot of pipes were purchased at a much cheaper rate, and that the present price was only such as would allow for carriage and breakages above cost price. It was however agreed to advertise for pipes delivered free in Rothwell.

The clerk having asked for tenders from three persons for connecting certain properties in Rothwell, it was proposed by Mr. Holmes—That Mr. Bulmer's tenders be accepted for the several lots, his being the lowest price. Seconded by Mr. Bramley, and carried.

OFFICE IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. Newsome called the attention of the Board to the fact that the overseers had purchased and put down new cocoa nut matting in the Boardroom, and suggested that the Local Board paint and cleanse the walls and ceiling, in order further to improve the appearance and comfort of the room. The matter was adjourned for two months (till the election)

WATER.—A letter was read from Mr. Andrews of the Black Bull Inn, stating his position as regards water and water rents, and asking that he may have a meter placed in his house, and pay on the quantity consumed. It was agreed to follow out the resolution passed in October as to meters.

In the course of conversation, Mr. Holmes enquired if the clerk had heard anything more about the promised reduction in the Leeds price from 7½d. a thousand gallons. The clerk stated that he had not yet received any further communication, but he understood that the price to Morley had been reduced to 6d. a thousand gallons from the 1st January, and anticipated that we should be put on the same terms, as promised. Mr. Newsome intimated that, at the proper time, he should again bring forward his motion to revise the basis on which water was charged for, so as to equalise the prices more properly, by charging all cottages under £10 a uniform price, and higher rates apportionately according to the number of taps.

The clerk said that the account the last quarter for water was the Rothwell portion being largely increased by the serious leakage which was found a short time ago in Bell Hill.

Rothwell £148 13s. 2d.
Stourton £27 8s. 9d.

NUISANCE REMOVAL.—The clerk stated that he had not yet received the reply from the Local Government Board respecting the proposed altered hours of removal, and suggested that the advertisement for tenders be held over till after this reply was to hand; agreed.

FINANCE.—The collector reported having received and paid into bank for the last fortnight:—

General District Rate	64	15	7½
Water Rents	25	5	7
Miscellaneous	32	4	7½
	£122	5	10

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The fortnightly meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday afternoon, present, Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, (chairman), Messrs. J. Gravely and J. Parker (vice-chairmen), and Messrs. J. Pearson, J. Dixon, H. Sheard, R. Pickersgill, B. Aaron, Wm. Sutcliffe, G. Jepson, E. Maude, W. Lawton, G. Butterworth, and G. Greaves, with Mr. Schofield, the clerk.

Mr. Davey, the Government Inspector, was also present a portion of the time, to further enquire respecting the late fatal accident by burning, and also as regards the proposed amalgamation scheme. It would appear that no blame is attached to the Guardians, nor to the master, in connection with the death by burning, but is one of those accidents which cannot be foreseen. Mr. Davey stated that the enquiry as regards the Amalgamation scheme will take place on Tuesday, the 4th day of March, in the Civil Court of the Town Hall. Any township or authority desiring to be present, must be represented by barrister, and will be heard on any phase of the question relating to poor-law matters.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read, the Board proceeded to its ordinary business

PORTER.—Out of several applications, two persons were selected by the Committee to appear at the meeting, and of these, it was resolved that John Gartner, lately employed in the Government dockyards, and now residing at Pont-fract on superannuation, be appointed porter at the Hunslet Workhouse.

LAND.—The present tenant of some land belonging to the Board being wishful to have the rent reduced, some discussion ensued as to whether they should not advertise for it, but as it is necessary to give a twelve months' notice of intention to leave, the matter was passed over.

COOK.—The Visiting Committee having decided to appoint Ann Gill as cook at the workhouse, the suggestion was confirmed, on the motion of Mr. Lawton and Mr. Graveley.

OVERSEERS.—Mr Sutcliffe asked a question as regards the form of demand notes issued by the overseers, which eventually resolved itself into an introductory discussion on the appointment and duties of overseers generally. From the conversation it transpired that this "relic of the past" is based more on tradition than any well defined, popularly understood law of election, and it was almost a moot question as to when the properly appointed authority for calling meetings for some time, and several Guardians expressed a wish that the whole matter should be gone into, and an opportunity given of hearing a voice in these appointments. The chairman said that there was a regularly called meeting every year for the election of overseers at Rothwell, and that last March the board room was crowded with ratepayers, this signified by their votes which three, of the several names proposed, shall act as overseers for the twelve months following.

The clerk intimated that there was a difference in the law for calling such meetings, between a parish and a township, and gave it as his belief that only the vicar, churchwardens, or overseer was able to call a vestry meeting in Hunslet.

The list of wants and other formal matters concluded the business.

The returns for the 4th and 5th week, just ended are: receiving indoor relief, 188 and 189, against 198 and 188 last year in the corresponding period; vagrants, 10 and 31; imbeciles 2; in asylum 70 and 70: 1270 relieved (out-door) at a cost of £89 9s. 8d., and 12 2 at a cost of £86 14s. 6d., against last year 1 61 at a cost of £81 11s. 4d., and 1154 at £79 18s. 6d.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Holloway's Pills and Ointment offer to suffering mankind the most effectual cure for Gout and Rheumatism.—In unhealthy state of the blood, attended with bad digestion, lassitude, and great debility, tendency to these diseases, arises from the want of a proper circulation of the fluid, and that impurity of the blood greatly aggravates these disorders. Holloway's Pills are of so purifying a nature that a few doses taken in time are an effectual preventive against gout and rheumatism, but anyone that has an attack of either should use Holloway's Ointment also, the powerful properties of which, combined with the effects of the Pills, ensure rapid relief. The Ointment should be thoroughly rubbed into the parts affected at least twice a day, after they have been sufficiently fomented with warm flannels to open the pores in order to facilitate the absorption of the Ointment.

ROTHWELL TIMES—FRIDAY, FEB. 1, 1884.

THE NEW VALUATION SCHEME ABANDONED.

A meeting of the Assessment Committee was held on Monday, at the Union Offices, Mr. James Hargreaves in the chair; Mr. Simpson, solicitor appearing on behalf of ten Hunslet firms against the proposal, and Mr. Hedley Jury, in support of his firm's mode of valuing.

Mr Pearson proposed—

That this Committee does not feel inclined to test the principle of rating Quarries, and that Messrs. Hedley be instructed to prepare a valuation on the principle of £4 horse power.

Mr. Aaron urged an amendment, striking out tools not fixed by bolts, &c., and other loose machinery driven by steam or hydraulic power supplied by a pipe, and certain other specially described machines, but retaining the heavy and fixed machines.

Mr. Butterworth, though in favour of Messrs. Hedley's system, thought that in consideration of the opposition public opinion, and the large quantity of property now standing empty in Hunslet, they ought to continue on the old lines.

In reply to the chairman, Mr. Hedley expressed his strong opinion in favor of the new plan, and said he should certainly rather have to make a valuation on what he believed to be an illegal principle.

After further conversation on the Laing case, it was stated by Mr. Pearson, that when the Committee engaged Messrs. Hedley they had not the slightest idea that they would introduce such a system of valuation.

After some further discussion, the proposition of Mr. Pearson was put to the meeting, when Messrs. Butterworth, Greaves, Aaron, Sutcliffe, and Pearson (5) voted for it, and against it the Chairman, Messrs. Maude, Graveley, and Sanderson (4). The motion was therefore carried.

LOFTHOUSE SCHOOL BOARD.

The monthly meeting of this board was held on Wednesday night, the members present being Messrs. T. Oliver (chairman), J. Hammill, J. Armitage, T. Hargreaves, and H. Hall.

The minutes of a special meeting held on the 18th inst. were read; at that meeting the question of the attendance at Robin Hood School was discussed and it was fact that the attendance would either have to be reduced, or they must provide more room; otherwise at the next inspection the school would have the grant reduced. It had been suggested that children coming from Lofthouse should be told to attend the Church school there, but this the Board considered would not be right. all ratepayers in the parish being entitled to send their children to the Board schools, if they choose. The Education Department had written saying they would be prepared to consider plans for additional accommodation. It was ultimately resolved that an additional class room be built to accommodate fifty children. Mr Richardson, of Rothwell, was appointed architect. The clerk stated that the following amounts had been paid into the Bank during the month:—Kent of Carlton school, 10s.; Robin Hood, school fees, £8 6s. 2d., books sold, £2 2s.; Carlton, school fees, £6 6s. 4d., books sold, 8s. 6d.; overseers of Thorpe precept, £59 3s. 2d; overseers of Lofthouse-with-Carlton, £238 7s. 10d.

Cheques were signed for £69 12s. 10d., being for the month's salaries, and two small accounts. The returning officer's bill of charges, £28 4s. 1d., for conducting the recent election, was laid before the Board, and a cheque was signed for the same.

SUPPOSED ATTEMPTED MURDER AT ROTHWELL HAIGH.

On Monday night last, a dastardly attack was made on a young woman at Rothwell Haigh, which has filled the breasts of all with great indignation on alarm. The victim of the would-be murderer is Miss Fanny Emily Craven, aged 19, who lives near "Jack Bones," with her father, Mr. John Biron Craven, and the outrage was committed on the Wakefield Road, about one hundred yards off the Railway Bridge. It appears that the young girl purchased in some time was in Leeds, and walk to and from her work morning and night. On the evening in question she was passing over the bridge, when it struck seven o'clock, and, when about midway between it and the cottages near she heard footsteps behind, and was immediately struck in the head with some sharp instrument, and screamed for help; this she appears to have become unconscious; several persons heard her screams, and proceeded to the place, where they found her lying in an unconscious state, and thinking she was in a fit of some sort, removed her to one of the cottages, and sent for her parents, who immediately had her conveyed home and laid on a couch. Her parents, also thinking she had been attacked with some temporary prostration, allowed her to remain with the whole of her walking attire on for some time, but on taking off her jacket they found the back portion saturated with blood, and the real nature of her illness was discovered. Dr. Glaister was sent for, and the girl got to bed; when the doctor arrived he found that seven stab wounds were discovered, 2 in the back, 4 in the body, and 1 in the thigh, besides a severe kick in the side; judging from the punctured clothing, it would seem that the wounds have been made with a pointed instrument, having a pinch blade, the wounds are not very deep, and the young lady is progressing favourably, but is very weak from loss of blood, which was considerable. No clue has been secured to the offender, although his footprints may be traced across a field close to the road, but it is earnestly to be hoped he will be discovered and severely punished. A few weeks ago another young woman was attacked about the same place by an unknown man, and was stabbed in the arm, and the occurrence seems enveloped in mystery. These daring assaults render it dangerous for young women to travel on the road at night without an escort, and parents will do well to attend to this, and the police will keep a strict vigilance to prevent a repetition of these alarming and unpleasant experiences.

CHURCH CHOIR CONCERT.

On Tuesday evening, the annual concert on behalf of the Rothwell Church was given in the Mechanics' Hall, and secured a large patronage both of those who belong to our leading families, and of others who, from the love of good music or desire to assist the choir funds, or both, filled up every available place in the second seats, many members of other churches recipr-cating by their presence the hearty feeling manifested at the concert given the previous week for the Wesleyan choir.

As usual a number of ladies and gentlemen had willingly responded to the invitation of the principal supporters of the church, and gave valuable assistance in the programme of the evening. Most of the artistes were strangers to the audience, but the manner in which they acquitted themselves was evidently gratifying to the hearers.

At half-past seven, the choir (which by-the-bye did not represent anything like the full strength of the ordinary choir) opened the programme by singing "See the chariot at hand," which, having considerable 'go' in it, was well chosen as a first piece, and reflected credit on both singers and conductor. Mr. Smith followed with the fantasia, Gungl's "Kreuger's Last March," a pianoforte duet of great diversity, both in execution and description, and which was played in a master-ly manner, though its extreme length rather took away from the pleasure afforded. Mr. Dent, Stephenson then sang "Elly Mavourneen," he has evidently cultivated his voice to a delicate degree, although perhaps the clever 'tremulant' was sometimes too pronounced in this ease and song fresh which greatly advanced the pleasures of the song. The Church Choir Glee Party then varied the programme by the lively glee, "What shall he have that killed the deer," and went through the rather difficult music with correctness and verve. The appearance of Mrs. Campbell was looked forward to with some expectation, and her singing of "I love my love" was done with much taste and beauty of expression. The advent of Mr. Day, the comic, gave the opportunity of relieving oneself by a hearty laugh, while "The Doctor's Boy" told of his varied experiences, and his resolution to stick to 'cod-liver oil, castor oil, opodeldoc, syrup of squills, &c. The tun was all the merrier, as it happened that several gentlemen of the profession were present, and enjoyed it as much as anyone. Notwithstanding the request by the Vicar, that no encores be demanded in the first part, it was useless resisting the recall of Mr. Day, and the well-worn "Josh-u-a" was given. Mr. Bapty and Mrs. Campbell then delighted their hearers by a vocal duet, the name of which has unfortunately fled, but which was very pretty indeed, and well rendered. It was with evident trepidation that Fraulein Pflucker, a young German lady, mounted the platform, and sang "Weigenlied," in voice which, though hardly strong enough for a large room, was exceedingly sweet and elastic, and most tastefully modulated. The first part concluded with the fine glee "When winds breathe soft," very capitally rendered by the choir.

After the interval, the choir gave with taste and effect a glee from "Chron," fully maintaining their previous successes. Mrs. Campbell scored a good mark in the touching manner in which she sang "R-gret," and was warmly applauded. In "The Rivals," the Rev. T. Stephenson appeared to advantage in his voice and his fuller accents, and further pleasing his listeners. An agreeable change followed by the playing of the duet "Grande Marche Heroique," by Miss Fawkes and Fraulein Pflucker, which was much appreciated. Mr. Dent succeeded with "The Frenchman," narrating the troubles following on his listening to the 'tra-la-la' of his lady friend; as a recall was loudly re-quired, he soon re-appeared as "Old Ch" When Bob Acres" a character he has not previously essayed in Rothwell, but which he carries out in a thoroughly first-rate manner. A little story was sung by Mrs Wilmot, of "The devoted apple," and the clear enunciation of the words, combined with the full, round notes of the lady's voice, together afforded cause for one of the most enjoyable moments of the evening, and it was not to be wondered at that an attempt was made to get another 'bite.' "Foresters sound the cheerful horn" is always a favorite glee, and in the hands of the party, it lost none of its old attraction, and was taken up well and strongly by the several parts. Another German song, "Weigenlied," was then given by Fraulein Pflucker, in which her carefully trained powers were allowed more play, and considerable pleasure was given to those who appreciate the singing of an accomplished artiste. Mr. Bapty next came on with his favourite song, (we presume) "Good night beloved," which was as well done as ever, and as usual, a little more was asked, to which "Friend Grigs" reminded one of former times. Perhaps the best and most popular number of the second part was the duet "Maying," in which Mrs. Wilmot and the Rev. T. Stephenson appeared and their best, and seemed to throw all their energies and interest into its beautifully intertwining music. Had it not been getting late, this must certainly have been repeated. Mr. Day, however, must bring up the rear, and when we mention "Muffins," those who have once heard him, will recall at once, all the contortions, the troubles which 'Don't I love muffins, well buttered for tea,' brought to the simple young man. The National Anthem closed the concert, which, though not what is termed a popular one, was nevertheless an opportunity for hearing examples of first-class playing, and carefully regulated and finished singing, by the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly emerged from their private homes, on to a public platform, to further so good and deserving an object as the support and advancement of our excellent church choir.

DR. GLAISTER'S LECTURE.

On Monday evening, the second half of Dr. Glaister's course of lectures on the 'Human Body' was commenced, and speaking of its merit, it is only necessary to say that the style and nature of the address was equal to the five preceding lectures.

The lecture was given in the Large Hall of the Mechanics' Institute, and the subject selected for this and the next lecture, was 'The Lungs and Respiration.'

The Doctor in a clear and pleasing tone of voice pointed out the position of the lungs in the Human Body, and explained at great length their wonderful construction, and also dwelt on the ingenious marvellous movements made in every breath taken from birth to the latest moments of life. The action of the oxygen in the blood was distinctly demonstrated, and the scientific explanations of coughing, sneezing, laughing, crying, hiccuping, sighing, &c., were clearly stated.

At the close, the complete lung of a man was exhibited, as was also the gullet and miner's lung, all of which were very interesting, and served to illustrate and confirm the remarks of the Doctor in no useful and instructive lecture, which should be a means of drawing a large audience on the next and concluding more full the delicate mechanism of the human lungs, and show one to protect and care for that essential part of the human frame.

ROTHWELL DEBATING SOCIETY.

On Wednesday evening this society met in the Mechanics Institute, and spent the time in a social sessi and on the question being brought before pursuit was for each gentleman to write on a slip of paper some subject for discourse, and place it in a hat, and when the evening arrive the hat was to be passed round to speak to five minutes on the subject falling to him. Messrs. J. Turner, B Batty, R. Batty, A. Irvine, C. Brear, T. Whitehead, A. Varley and G. H. Armitage, took part in the proceedings, and each manifested a credit able knowledge of the several subjects, especially so when it came up without the slightest preparation.

CARLTON TEMPERANCE HALL.

On Saturday evening last in the above hall, a service of song entitled 'Musica Robinson Crusoe' was given by the choir connected with the Society, and proved to be a very creditable performance, especially when it is borned upon what their first attempt in the same direction. A very fair au lence assembled, who appeared to appreciate the various musical selections, the readings also serving to amuse and interest. Mr. S. Gelsthorpe ably wielded the baton, Mr John Lunn did duty at the plan, while Mr. T. Stephenson gave the connective readings in a clear, steady, and distinct manner.

STOURTON.

ACCIDENT.—A serious accident occurred in Atkinson St., Stourton, on January 28th, about 1 o'clock. A man named Howell Newell, was engaged in repairing the roof of a house which had been damaged by the storm. He had reared a ladder up to the spouting and was using it to mend it, when the spout gave way, and he slipped and fell, carrying him with it. He caught at the spouting, and for a short time kept his hold, but efforts were made to get it up again, but before this could be done the men lost his hold, and fell to the ground; happily a doctor was passing at the time of the accident, and his attention was quickly drawn to the unfortunate man. The doctor pronounced his injuries of so severe a nature that he advised his removal to the infirmary. A cart was however procured and the injured man conveyed home.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We regret to say that on Friday evening, January 25th, Mrs. Musgrave of Stourton Hetel, was seized with sudden illness and died immediately.

BOY MISSING.—On Friday, January 25th, some evil disposed person or persons effected an entrance into the Stourton Wesleyan Chapel, and stole a large quantity of goods, that had been prepared by the ladies connected with the above place, for a Bazaar which they intend holding.

WESLEY-N SUNDAY SCHOOL.—On Saturday, January 26th, a public meeting was held in the above Sunday School. During the two or three weeks preceding the tea, the young men were actively engaged in collecting promises of subscriptions, and we glad to say that success has attended their efforts. About 200 par-ook of the good things provided. After tea a Service of Song entitled "Little Dot" was very efficiently rendered by the Robinet Temperance Choir, conducted with great skill and credit by Mr. T. Blackburn; consecutive readings were admirably given by Mr. R. Wa kin; Mr. W. Steel presided at the Harmonium. The chair was taken at 7 o'ck by Mr. W Branson, and after a few appropriate remarks, he call-d upon Mr. Webber, who on behalf of the teachers and scholars presented a small testimonial, in the shape of a writing case to the superintendent. Mr. Webber said in the course of his duty, and also that Mr. F. Faikin would in the course of his life no doubt receive many presents but he could have none which had been won in a nobler and better cause than that he was now receiving, and that was for love, zeal, devotion, and labour on in the Sabbath School. Mr. Faikin in returning thanks said he would always highly prize the present, and should make it a point to always be at his post in the future as he had been in the past. Votes of thanks to the Rothwell friends, and the choir, brought to a successful evening to a close about nine o'clock. A collection was made after the service, which together with the proceeds of the tea meeting realised £6 10s., which will be devoted towards the teachers and scholars stall at the forthcoming bazaar.

ST. ANDREW'S MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.—A capital lecture was given before this society on Wednesday evening, by Mr. S. A. Adamson, F.S.S., on 'Our Eastern Cathedrals'. The lecturer described his visits to the fine Minsters of Lincoln, Norwich, Ely and Peterborough, and gave brief accounts of the history and architecture in each case. The symbolism of the mediæval architect in their design was dwelt upon, and a short sketch of Gothic architecture given. The lecture was illustrated by views. The chair was occupied by the Rev. E. R. Hutchinson. There was a good and very appreciative audience.

MARKETS.

WAKEFIELD CATTLE, Wednesday.—The decreasing numbers at this market for some time past, owing to the restrictions, have arrived at a point seldom reached since the holiday market after the Christmas show. The fat cattle were generally of good quality. Sheep were also less in number, but a fair business was effected.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THEFT BY A ROTHWELL LAD.—We are sorry again to have to chronicle the evil courses of a lad sadly too well known in Rothwell. On Monday last, Albert Hopkinson Hartley, labourer, of Rothwell, was brought up under the charge of P.C. Tuck, before Mr. Bruer, at the Leeds Town Hall, charged with obtaining by false pretences, a watch and chain from William Richards, a watchmaking in Woodhouse Lane. He was remanded, till Wednesday last, when it appeared from the evidence that Hartley met Richards in the Midland Station, on Thursday, the 24th of January, and after a king him what o'clock it was, enquired the price of his watch, and bought it for 12s., promising to pay for it the same evening, or at 9 next morning. Hartley however did not turn up as agreed, and Richards came over to Rothwell, where his son Hartley, was denied all knowledge of the affair. Richards thereupon informed the police, who took Hartley into custody, and on his way to the police station, he admitted having got the watch, which he pawned the same night. Mr. Sayer, of 9, Lea Road, Hunslet, stated that Hartley left the watch and chain to him on Thursday evening, and represented that his mother, a poor widow, had sent it, in order to buy bread, and he gave him 5s. for it. The magistrates committed him for trial at the assizes.

BELL RINGING AT ROTHWELL.—Tuesday last, January 29th, being the 40th anniversary of the bells being put in use, it was decided to keep up the good old times, and have a supper, and try a peal after. A peal, composed of 1884 changes, which was rung in very good style to within 160 changes, in 58 minutes, by the following persons:—Treble, Jas. Haigh; 2, Wm. Haigh; 3, Jas Haigh, (conductor); 4, Joseph Haigh; 5, John Chapman; treble, A. W. Chadwick. Afterwards they adjourned to the White Swan, where a most excellent supper was provided by Mrs Judson. When each one got to his place, the conductor called on one of the company that he thought if they had made a mistake in the peal in the bells, they would be able to ring a more correct peal this time, to endeavour to make his bell come round, and finish in his place, which was done to the satisfaction of all present. After the clock had been rung, a very pleasant evening was spent in hand-bell ringing, and the musical hand-bell gentlemen, which rather confused the unlearned in those matters.

LEEDS GENERAL INFIRMARY.—We are pleased to record that the sum of £41 12 3d has recently been handed over to the treasurer of the Leeds General Infirmary by Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, on behalf of the workpeople engaged on Messrs. Charlesworth's Rothwell Haigh Colliery.

WOODLESFORD CONCERT.—We beg to draw the attention of our readers to the Minstrel concert announced for Monday and Tuesday, which will no doubt prove very entertaining.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We would particularly urge our friends to send in their letters and news, as early as possible, as we cannot accept contributions later than Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, except in the case of matters occurring on Wednesday or Thursday, which should be forwarded within a short period after. Advertisements may be sent as late as Friday morning.

HUNSLET TIT BITS
By Punch and Judy.

I am afraid that the majority of the Assessment Committee of Hunslet Board were somewhat panic stricken in coming to their precipitate decision on Monday, touching the question of the rating of machinery in the large workshops in the Hunslet Union. But I appreh-nd that this act n by no means disposes of the question. Not that I should be sorry to favour any course that would prejudicially militate against the prosperity of Hunslet. For otherwise I should be a fool, and that I am not, they will have (Jonahlike) been unceremoniously thrown overboard to propitiate the somewhat unreasoning element that has been feared of late. But this not I. I believe there will be no more acting with haste and repenting at leisure.

LORD Byron, in one of his most celebrated pieces work, addressing the Greeks before their independence,—

"Trust not for freedom to the Franks,
They have a king who buys and sells;
In native swords and native ranks,
The only hope of freedom dwells."

I will venture a very great parody on those lines, and will afterwards explain the reason why.

"Trust not to beggar's scrip or purse,
To the sad wretch in rags and dirt,
Whose prayer oft hides a hidden curse,
Who'll rob you while he seeks relief."

A short time ago, a 'trump' from a shop not far from Hunslet, and solicited relief. A penny was given to help him on his way; but having got a penny he thought he would have a drink, and he actually lifted a pair of boots from the door! The rascal was, however, caught, and 'got a month' in 'Hascaldens Palace.'

HERE is material for any her Beggar's Opera,' and for the benefit of which I can vouch. Seventeen miles south of Hunslet, resides a respectable young woman, a native of Leeds. Lately she came over to Hunslet to see her friend, amongst whom was a lady married to a 'gentleman in blue.' The young woman having a desire to visit a church in the town where she had formerly frequented, proceeded thither alone. On entering the precincts of the sacred edifice she was accosted by a seeming Lazarus, by whom she charitably bestowed several coppers. But she was stealthily followed inside the house of prayer, and whilst she was engaged in devotion, (having in the meantime laid on one side her satchel, containing her purse) the 'beggar' seized the favourable opportunity, and when the simple and kind-hearted girl was ready to leave, she found herself minus her satchel!

I MORE there are no 'bran pies' in Hunslet. If there are, let the malefactors be aware; there are lynx-eyed policemen about, and they will not hesitate to bring magistrates sitting inside the Town Hall of Leeds. The little shopkeeper, Thomas Plowith, of Seacroft, who was recently fined £5 by the Leeds magistrates, formerly found a genuine sympathiser in Aldermen Emsley, who denounced in no sparing terms the severity of the fine, which meant ruin to the family. The worthy Alderman also sent a substantial subscription towards raising the amount of the fine. A carnellian cliff Cooke also handsomely subscribed, and poor Plowith, who is an invalid, has had a great load of anxiety lifted off his mind. There are yet to be found Samaritans—not least in Hunslet. But couldn't each of the magistrates concerned be presented, by subscription, with a bran new dunce cap?

THE strike is happily over at the Steam Plough Works. It is well that it is so. The balance sheets issued by the strikers were beginning to be too, too, striking. When objectionable people were beginning to be all but named by the committee, and a not very circumlocutory method of 'boycotting' was advocated in the case of a small property owner in Hunslet, it was carrying matters a little too far. But "All's well that ends well."

ALL fear of Hun let 'going to the dogs' should now be at an end, even by the timid, for we learn that a Dog Show is actually to be held in Hunslet! At the Elephant and Castle, Hunslet Lane, there was a very successful show, and amongst the prizes awarded were the 'Duke of Argyle.' Your readers will perceive that the affair was quite aristocratic. When last the Duke visited Hunslet, Mr. Greaves was chairman of a big Liberal demonstration held in the Steam Plough Works. Since then he has been a Cabinet Minister, but has now seemingly 'gone to the dogs.' "Alas! poor"—Campbell!

'Coming events' for next week include the very popular Service of Song 'Daisy,' at St. Jude's School room, on Monday evening; also entertainment entitled 'The people's William' at Bower Road Chapel, the same evening; and also a tea meeting at the Congregational Chapel, South Accommodation Road. On Tuesday evening Dr. Cinder will preach at the latter place. On Wednesday night the members of the Debating Society of the East Hunslet Liberal Association meet, and on Thursday night there is to be a concert at St. Joseph's School room, Joseph St.

TOWN TALK.

THE RAILWAY.—One's eyes begin to ache searching each morning and evening the columns of the morning papers for some indication of progress in this all important undertaking. When may we expect to see a prospectus? Without a doubt, a number of persons in Rothwell, inspired by a sense of patriotism, have stored away little sums of money waiting to invest in the shares of the Fast and West Yorkshire Union Railway, and this money is now rusting. Will some of the active gentlemen on the Rothwell Committee dig-n give an expectant public some news respecting the progress of the undertaking.

THE clerk of the weather, who is supposed to be responsible for our changeable climate, has had a hand in the last few days and given us stop for weather. How the mind turns back with loving yearning to a fortnight since, when we had mild, dry days, interspersed with sunshine, decking out nature in cheerful and happy garb.

We sigh for the days of spring.

When the sun shall shine and the lark will sing.

TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—Our temperance friends appear at times slightly intemperate. If what I hear be correct, a number of members lately left the committee-room of the Temperance Society a short time ago and proceeded in giving a resolution passed evening the Bazaar Committee, by making punishment "drop-ty at the Hunslet" and giving orders away from a cer ain stash-bum-ent, altogether ignoring the hard work and self-denial of the ladies, and the good intentions of the 'set bazar. This narrow spirit is lamentable. The Temperance Society gets support from all sides, and it is but right that members should exercise a free-walk on a hill side is the best antidote for such fancies.

WESLEYAN CHOIR.—Accidents will happen in the best regulated famili s, but still it struck one as being slightly peculiar on Monday morning last to find so many of the choir absent from duty.

GOSSIP.

ROTHWELL ROADS AND THE ROTHWELL LOCAL BOARD

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Sir,

Many of your readers may already be aware that for the last 18 months I have been continually raising my voice in protest at the Rothwell Local Board with regard to the proper construction and maintenance of our macadamised roads.

I have always condemned the use of road scrapings for the purpose of binding and consolidating freshly laid metal, considering that the proper course was to remove the detritus (which is simply artificially produced soil) from the road altogether, and to deposit it on ploughed land in manner to the objection that roads will not consolidate without some material to fill up the interstices between the broken metal, I have urged the use of gra el, and also of the smaller material produced by machine stone-breaking. On our best roads, I believe we might go so far as to use a finely-pick ime with advantage, mixing this with the gravel or other fuels broken material.

I have also condemned the use of ashes on our roads. By ashes I do not mean well-burned slag, but the refuse from boiler fires, which, though it contains some portion of hard clinker, contains also such a percentage of soft friable matter as to make the whole or only thoroughly worthless, but exceedingly injurious.

I have also opposed the insertion of flagged or paved crossings over our macadamised roads. My reasons are,—1. It is impossible to avoid their being broken up were cut were quickly by traction engines, steam rollers, and similar heavy traffic. 2. When worn to any extent, as they must do, except when quite new, they are positively worse than second-rate macadam. 3. A great difficulty arises in keeping the macadam on each side exactly on a level with the flags, level with the crossing. it is generally either higher or lower, and consequently damage ensues to the springs of vehicles passing over it. 4. Crossings are an absolute unnecessary expense. 5. They interrupt the course of the macadam; a well-constructed road of macadam, which I maintain, presents a very neat and pleasing appearance. 6. People do not in their walks describe right angles or move about as if they were traversing lines of a mathematical figure. They do not hesitate to cross anywhere.

Well Sir, what was the verdict of the Commissioner appointed at the last meeting of the points I have raised?

1. When I pointed out how scrapings were being served at the bottom of Selthin's Street, he used these words,—"You might as well try to bind your road with marmalade."

2. With regard to the question to him in the boardroom as to using ashes, he condemned in the most sweeping terms setting fire to a heap of ashes on the highway, especially the mischief done by pieces of coal.

3. With regard to the crossings, he expressed his opinion thus,—"Well, paved crossings are better than flagged ones, but it is far better still to have none at all."

Besides the opinion of the government engineer, I may say that the Web field Co-operation are at this present moment engaged in macadamising, and in addition to metal, they expressly state that they require gravel along with it.

In fact, I fully believe that although the people of Rothwell do not see any very startling change in their roads, yet the Local Board have greatly improved the (BREAKFAST).—Epps's Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Also Epps's Chocolate Essence for afternoon use.

BE WARE of PACKAGES of INJURIOUS STUFF purporting to make genuine HOP BITTERS; also preparations with Hops in their name or similar. The genuine is only put up in very large square panelled bottles, Dr. Soule's name blown in the glass, white label on yellow and green buff wrapper and green hop cluster; the other side yellow label with directions in English and German. Manufactured only by HOP BITTER COMPANY.

"RUSH OR RATE."—The thing desired found at last. Ask chemists, grocers, or oilmen, for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, beetles, roaches, flies, bedbugs, insects ground moles, &c. 7½d. and 1s. boxes.

AS a safe, permanent and warranted cure of Pimples Scrofula, Scurvy, Salt Rheum, Blood Taint, Skin and Blood Disease and Sores of all kinds, we can unhesitatingly recommend CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE.—Sold by Chemists everywhere.

WHAT SHALL I DRINK? is a question often asked. The Lancet says:—"We counsel the public to drink their Lime Juice whenever they require a drink, and that the Montserrat is purest. As a rule, Lime Juice is, particularly during the summer, a far more wholesome drink than alcohol in any form of alcohol." We have subjected the samples of the 'Lime fruit Juice' of the Montserrat Company to full analysis, and to its purity and purity. We have found it to be in a perfect condition, and entirely free from adulteration." MONTSERRAT Lime-Fruit Juice and Cordials. Limeita or Concentrated Lime Juice Cordial, Montserrat Clover, Strawberry, Raspberry, Sarsaparilla, Pineapple, Jargonelle, Peppermint, Quinine, &c.

HOW MANY PEOPLE SUFFER.

It is often remarked how many more people than formerly complain of feeling unwell. It is not that there is a greater amount of contagious diseases afloat, for there is proof that the extent and strength of such are far less than of yore, because of better sanitary arrangements and greater attention to cleanliness and other matters. The enormous prevalence cannot be doubted of pains in the back, side, and chest; enervated and languid feelings; loss of energy; distress and fulness of the stomach, with often a sense of deadly faintness at its pit, which eating does not stay; sick-head-ache, so called biliousness; unpleasant breath; a sense of weariness when rising in the morning, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, and loss of appetite, or non-enjoyment of food. These are but the mildest effects of "feeling unwell," and yet how great is the distress and suffering, with hindrance to business and pleasure, they give rise to. The cause is not far to seek; it lies in the stomach and digestive organs, which have become deranged, in the disarrest of nearly all the other functions of the body. Assuredly could the stomach always be kept in a wholesome condition through life, a second end to far greater longevity than is now the case. The stomach is a wheel within wheels; and just as an irregular tendency on the part of a small but important wheel of a clock leads to the disarrangement of its whole fun tion as a time keeper, so does the failure of so important a wheel as the digestive organ in the mechanism of the human frame the whole machine-power and function, all the parts depending on them—and they are legion—out of gear. Just as the wheel of the clock will require to be adjusted that it may again be kept, so must the disordered organs of the stomach be restored to their original vigour. Hig h-class medicine proved by its long-continued use in thousands of families, and this "Seigel's Curative Syrup" will effectually do. It will impart strength to the stomach, invigorate the liver, and thus cause a functional change to the better, a restoyment of life and health of all who use it; and that it is so may be tested by a perusal of the Testimonials to an illness which will be furnished free of charge to any applicant by the proprietors, A. J. White (limited), 17, Farringdon road, London, E.C. The book can not be obtained from any chemist or medicine vendor.

CHEAP ADVERTISING.—The cheapest way of advertising articles wanted or for sale, houses to let or required, situations wanted or vacant, is to put a notice to that effect in the columns of this journal, such advertising only costs 3d a line.

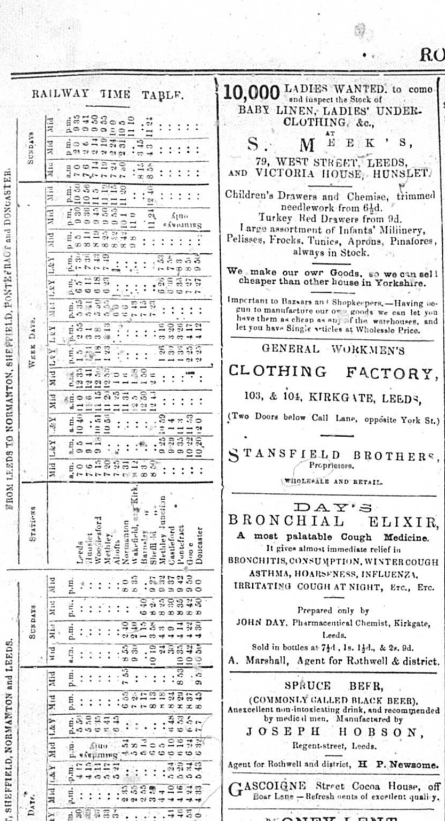
ADVICE TO MOTHERS!—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste. It produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now so in the most respectable chemists in the country at 1s. 1½d. per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, should try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box.—Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS, Boston, U.S. Purchased Depôt removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.



VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will restore in every case Grey or White hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere at 3s. 6d. per Bottle. Wholesale depôt removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Floriline" sprinkled on a wet tooth brush, produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, leaves the gums healthy and firm, and deep, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly whiteness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco smoke. "The Fragrant Floriline" being composed entirely of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of this age. Price 2s. 6d. per bottle. Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depôt removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

TO REINVIGORATE CURABLES You, if you take WOODCOCK'S ANTIRHEUMATIC MIXTURE, speedily cure Rheumatic Pains in the Limbs, Rheumatic Pains in the Head, Rheumatic Pains in the Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica, Bronchitis, Gout, Rheumatic Swellings and Stiffness in fact, every phase of Rheumatism and Neuralgia disappears, and disease never fails. Friday, February 8, 1884.

SEVERAL matters of great importance are just now in that critical state, that a turn one way or the other may be for the weal or woe of our entire future.

It is useless denying that considerable anxiety and uneasiness is felt by many, that there are yet no tangible signs of the vitality and advancement of the East and West Yorkshire Union Railway, and while we still maintain our unbounded confidence in those who have the management of the matter, and feel certain of ultimate success, yet "hope deferred maketh the heart sick," and we cannot but join in the wish that some sign of activity may be manifested, and that the issue of shares may very shortly be commenced. Our isolation can no longer be tolerated, and while we feel our disadvantages by reason of want of railway accommodation, we trust that our people, both well-to-do and working men, will stick to their railway, and help it on with their cash.

Another important matter is the proposed amalgamation of Hunslet and other Unions with Leeds. We are constantly becoming more closely identified with Hunslet, and this connection will be drawn very much nearer as our means of communication are increased, as for instance by tram or rail. It is therefore for our authorities to keep their eyes wide open, as to what is the best for us as a township, and as out-townships. We do not in the least disguise from ourselves and others the belief that whatever may be the pros and cons of Hunslet, (which is indeed a part of Leeds), that it will be very much against us to be worked from Leeds, as being so much more distant, and also, labouring under the disadvantage of being 'country town,' and with a very small representation. Our plan is to hold fast to the Hunslet Union, as we have there a fair representation, and as guardians out of the eighteen being out-township men, who can stand shoulder to shoulder with the Hunslet Guardians. In a large body such as the Leeds Central Union would be, we should have no hearing at all. Then again, as we have already stated, we are becoming more and more intimately joined with Hunslet, our boundaries join here, our interests are nearest to here, and when, as we anticipate, by and bye, Hunslet is incorporated, we should rejoice with her, and feel a sisterly pride in her advancement. Whether the result is that the scheme is entirely abandoned, leaving the four Unions as they are, or Hunslet and Holbeck become one Union, and Bramley goes to Leeds, whichever way it goes, we vote dead against being joined with Leeds, and submerged amid the citizens of the great town. This is another point which must be carefully watched.

A third scheme which greatly concerns us is the idea propounded a short time ago, of extending the boundaries of the Rothwell Local Board, so as to include Oulton and Woodlesford. Carlton and Lofthouse, and Middleton, with proportionate representation, and fair valuations, etc. It is our opinion that with our complete organization both for maintenance and administration of roads, water, drainage, and street improvements, the public works could be carried on in the several parts of the extended district much more economically and successfully than at present. Especially would the representatives from the two Rural Sanitary Authorities find their experience and wishes more fully and attentively observed in such a Board, than they can possibly have in a comparatively mixed assembly. We certainly think that the question is worth serious consideration to all concerned, and that steps should be taken to bring about a conference on the subject.

Our first desire is that this Rothwell and district should advance and become more forward among the people of the West Riding, and there is nothing like union for securing the proper objects sought after.

MINSTREL ENTERTAINMENT AT WOODLESFORD.

The Woodlesford Choral Society has once more appealed for public support, through the medium of a minstrel entertainment, which (as it has been necessary to explain in notices of previous concerts of the kind), while it is no part of the regular work of the Society, being voluntarily got up by the male members, with the sanction and support of the committee, has year by year proved a valuable aid to the funds, and by its variety of character attractive annual entertainment to the public of the district. The concert for the present year was given on Monday evening last, in the boys' room of the Woodlesford Board Schools, and was repeated on Tuesday evening, because the limited space afforded by the school-room would not permit the usual large attendance, if the entertainment was confined to one night. For similar reasons the free concert has had to be abandoned this year.

Our remarks will have reference to the first and principal night's performance, and we will begin by saying that a considerable number of people were waiting for admission some time before the doors were opened, and the room was soon filled. The programme seemed in every respect a good one, and likely to please. The songs comprising the first part showed on the whole good judgment in selection, and although the character of the second part was only partially defined in the programme, and left the audience in expectation, it seemed to promise a fair contribution to the evening's pleasure, and to be none the less enjoyable by contrast with the more serious complexion of the first part. The "black list" (we use the term in this case in the most complimentary sense) was as follows:—Masters A. Little, J. Hartley, and C. Heath, (soprani); Messrs. R. J. Smith and S. Idle, (alti); Messrs. G. Atkinson, W. H. Little, and C. Umpleby, (tenori); Messrs. J. Craven, W. Hirst, and R. Wood, (bassi); Mr. T. West, (bones); Mr. F. C. Teale, (tambourine); "Mr. Johnson," Mr. R. J. Smith. There were also two other performers who had not put on the dark 'enamel,' and had they been in the circle, would have violated the unity of colour. These were the active and very zealous pianist and musical director, Mr. Walter Lockwood, and the harmoniumist, Mr. W. H. Flockton, who, curtained off, did their useful work of accompanying without the stimulus of observation by the audience, but with no less care and effect.

It will be noticed that several prominent figures of previous years were absent this time, notably Messrs. Jeffreys, T. D. Jackson, and Flockton, the original "Johnson," "bones," and "tambourine" of the Woodlesford minstrel entertainments. Another change this year was the absence of drawn curtains in front of the platform, and of footlights. This alteration was a necessity arising out of the difficulties of the room arrangements, and the wonted effect of the 'circle' being suddenly exposed to view in their places had to give way to the less dramatic entrance in single file. Punctuality in commencing has never been a prominent virtue at these minstrel concerts, and consequently the start ten minutes behind the time was no surprise to most of the audience.

The members having taken their places, however, at once commenced with the opening chorus, 'Come lasses and lads,' and sang it with vigour and a fair amount of precision. This was followed by Mr. Atkinson's song, 'Only a pansy blossom,' a pleasing one, but he appeared to be hampered by partial hoarseness, which prevented him doing full justice to it. The first comic song came next, when Mr. F. C. Teale, in doleful tones and in an appropriate minor key, explained why 'It's hard to love.' After this, Master Little, the principal junior, sang 'Little Maggie Dale,' a pleasingly pathetic little song, both as regards sentiment and music, but unfortunately through a little 'nervousness—perhaps felt rather than shewn—he forgot the latter part of the second verse, and had to relapse into the first stanza, with necessarily diminished expression. [Parenthetically we may remark that the words of this song were written for this occasion by the now retired member of the company, Mr. Flockton, who has thus pleasantly, if passively, associated himself with his old colleagues again this year.—Ed.] Mr. Bones' turn now came, and another comic ditty was very effectively given, in which we are told how his young woman lived with her 'ma, and her cristy dads, on the banks of the silvery Thames.' The next song was the popular pantomime ditty, 'Wait till the clouds roll by,' which was assigned to Mr. W. H. Little, who has from the first been a very useful and willing member of the troupe. He, however, sang the song too slowly, and in consequence parly of this, and partly because it is getting overdone, it went rather tamely. Another opportunity was now given to 'George,' who gave in good style 'A raspberry tart in a little poke bonnet,' in place of 'The Hen Convention,' which was put down for him on the programme. Following this was perhaps the best sentimental song on the list, 'Sweet Genevieve,' sung by Mr. Idle, who has a nice voice, but through nervousness we presume, rather failed to do justice either to his voice or the song, for he was not well heard, even in the middle of the room. A little more force and self-possession would make his singing of this song very acceptable. The spirited old English song, 'A-hunting we will go,' by Mr. W. Hirst, followed, which with its cheery chorus, was given with considerable vigour. Mr. W. H. Little should have followed with 'Keep the churn a-turning,' but for some unexplained reason it was passed over, and Mr. R. J. Smith (in place of Mr. Atkinson) sang with care and expression 'Call me back again.' The next item was 'Bones'' second comic song, 'The Parade on St. Patrick's day,' which finished with a march round by the troupe, as the prelude to their march off of the room, and completed the first part. Between the songs the usual 'patter' of joke, extravagant narrative, conundrum, and banter, passed freely between the three 'corner-men,' and some laughable things were propounded and launched for the amusement of the audience, who however, were rather slow sometimes in taking in the point of the joke, or the essence of the fun. 'Mr. Johnson' and 'Bones' appeared in their usual characters for the first time, and though naturally a little nervous at first, they soon acquired the necessary self-possession, and both they and 'George' did their work creditably. At times, however, there seemed a want of finish, and a little abruptness in closing the argument, but experience will correct these very natural and pardonable faults. We are also bound to say that just one or two of the sallies were in rather questionable taste, and would have been better omitted.

After a short interval, the second part opened with what is described as a 'Comic Sketch' called "The Wonderful servant," but the sketch is scarcely applicable, as the 'business' consists simply in the servant 'Joe' (Mr. T. C. Teale) interpreting his orders and requests of his master 'Sheepskins' (Mr. R. J. Smith), too literally, and carrying them out in the most practical, or we may say impracticable manner, and at considerable physical inconvenience, the result being lighting the candle at both ends, deliberately throwing down the cruet on the floor when asked to turn over, and setting on fire a letter which his master is reading while he (Joe) holds the candle for him. It was however, made the best of, and was funny in its way though slight and rather monotonous. The concluding item was "An eccentric finale", comprising plantation songs, dances, etc., by Messrs. Rhodes and Dixon, of Leeds, who shewed considerable talent in their work, and disported themselves in good 'nigger' style. Their singing and humorous conversation were well done, and proved a very appropriate conclusion of the evening's entertainment. We must not omit to mention with praise, the rendering of the harmonized choruses to the songs in the first part. Musically these are among the most enjoyable features of a Minstrel concert.

The performance was repeated on Tuesday evening to another numerous audience. There was more vigour and elasticity in the whole performance, as might be expected on a repetition, the hesitation and occasional lack of smartness in some points apparent on the first night, being less discernible in the second performance. We hope the Choral Society will again derive a substantial pecuniary benefit from the efforts of its minstrel members and their friends.

ROTHWELL DEBATING SOCIETY.

On Wednesday evening, this society met to hear the debate as to whether the Stateshould interfere in reference to the hours of employment of shop assistants. The leaders on the two sides were Messrs. G. H. Armitage, (affirmative) and Richard Battey, (negative), while Dr. Nowell supported the former, and Messrs. B. Batty, C. Brears, and A. Drew, the latter.

The discussion, as might be expected rested on the point, as to whether the end to be desired, namely, a system of shorter working hours was to be best secured by legislative interference or not, the affirmative side believing that it would never be accomplished by any other means than by act of parliament, because of the jealousy existing between the several shopkeepers in the various trades and of the keen competition everywhere to be found. The negative party devot-d much time to pointing out the inconveniences which would inevitably arise from having shops closed at an early hour similar to a factory, and suggested other means such as gaining integrat and sympathy of the people in the matter as the best means of putting the shopassistants into a better position as regards hours for recreation and enjoyment. At the close, Mr. Harms, the chairman, summed up, and took the vote on the question which resulted in a majority of one for the negative.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

ENTERTAINMENT.—On Saturday evening the members of the Stourton Band of Hope gave an entertainment in the Rothwell Wesleyan School room, consisting of melodies, part songs, duetts, solos, recitations and dialogues. Recitation ... 'A Pen Shop' ...
Master J. BLACKLEY.

Mr. S. SMITH occupied the chair, and expressed his pleasure in presiding at the Band of Hope held to Rothwell. A vote of thanks was heartily accorded to the Stourton Band of Hope for their kindness in giving this entertainment, which is to form the benefit of the fund now being raised for painting and otherwise improving the School room; to which Mr. J. Go-dall, seconded by Mr. Abbiehaw. There was a moderate attendance, and those present were much pleased.

We are authorised to announce that Mr. Turner purposes beginning his Lectures on "Chemistry" in the Methodist Institute, on February 18th, at 7.30 instead of 6 o'clock.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.—On Saturday last a Magic Lantern entertainment was given in the above hall, by Mr. Gerbutt, of Leeds, entitled 'Friendless Baby.' To us was a good entertainer and the entertainment was in every respect a well-ordered success.

ALLEGED ASSAULT AND ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.—At the borough Police court on Tuesday, before Messrs. Bruce, John Greenwood, and Thomas Hunslet, was charged with having assaulted and attempted to rob Mr. John Jackson, printer and paper merchant, Spring Grove House, Thwaite-gate, Hunslet. On the night of the 21st ult., the prosecutor was walking up the carriage drive to his house, and had arrived within a few yards of the house, when he was suddenly attacked by two men, who knocked him down and otherwise ill treated him. He screamed for assistance, and his cries were heard by a servant, who came up, and the men were disturbed while attempting to rifle his pockets, and had to decamp without securing anything. Mr. Jackson had in his possession £15 10s. in money and four watches. He gave a description of the men to the police, and detectives officer Futter arrested Greenwood, whom Mr. Jackson at once identified as one of his assailants. The prisoner, in defence, set up an alibi, and the case was adjourned to enable him to call witnesses in support of his defence.

AN ADJUDICATION DISPUTE.—At the Leeds County Court, on Monday, before Mr. T. Greenhow, judge—Mr. John Wiley, farmer, Royds Green, brought an action to recover £50 12s. 6d. from Mr. Wm. Lawton, Badinell Haigh, farmer and auctioneer, for agistment of horses from October 1881, to July 30th, 1883. Mr. E Tindal Atkinson (instructed by Messrs. Teal and Barrett) appeares for the plaintiff, and Mr. C. L. Atkinson, (instructed by Mr. Wright,) for the defendant. The defendant paid £22 11s. 7d. into court. The sum claimed being above £50, an action was entered in the superior court, and after the amount had been reduced below £50 by the payment into court, it was sent down from the superior court to be tried in Leeds. The plaintiff entered into an agreement to give credit for bulls and two calves belonging to the defendant for the summer previous to October, 1881, for a lump sum of £20, and as the defendant did not take them away in the fall of the period he charged 3s. 3s 6d., and 3s. 10½d. a piece a week for the horses, and 2s. to 3s. for the calves, for the subsequent period, the average for the horses being 3s the animals grew older. The defendant pleaded that the price was unreasonable, and also disputed the time over which the agistment extended. His Honour gave a verdict for the plaintiff.

ROYDS GREEN.—On Wednesday last, the inhabitants of Royds Green were invited to the Royds Farm house to the present tenant—Mr Wiley, to about vacating the farm; and on that account invited the neighbours to a friendly tea-drinking, which proved to be of a substantial and elegant nature, and was very much enjoyed by all. After tea, Mr. Sanderson made a very appropriate speech, and had pleasure in presenting to Miss Wiley a silver bracelet, brooch, and earrings, on behalf of a number of friends who had subscribed and purchased the articles named as a token of respect and good feeling to the young lady who had been so kind and neighbourly to them. This pleasing ceremony ended, dancing commenced, which in the small hours the party broke up, everyone expressing themselves highly pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

LECTURE ON CHEMISTRY.

On Monday evening last, Mr. John Turner, B.A. of this town, gave a lecture on 'Chemistry' in the Mechanics' Institute, the Chairman of which was very well filled with a respectable and appreciative audience.

This lecture is one of those arranged by the Mechanics' Institute Committee for the winter half-year, and is the first of two to be delivered by Mr. Turner this session.

At eight o'clock Mr. Turner commenced his lecture. After explaining the meaning of the word element as used in Chemistry, and pointing out that according to the present state of chemical knowledge every living or dead globule is formed out of some 64 or 65 elements or simple kinds of matter, the lecturer defined Chemistry to be the science which deals with the combinations of these elements with one another and the laws under which these combinations take place. He next proceeded to give a more scientific definition of Chemistry. Though matter may be divided by mechanical means into exceedingly small particles, yet it is almost certain that there is a limit to this division, which is reached when the molecule is arrived at. Thus the molecule of kitchen salt is the smallest particle which is capable of actual separate existence, and is itself a compound body consisting of the elements Sodium and Chorine. The molecule is therefore a compound body, and it is compounded of atoms which are the ultimate measure of separate independent existence. Chemical phenomena are distinguished from Physical phenomena by the—in the former the force decomposes the molecules, in the latter it does not.

No doubt the fact that the lecture was to be illustrated by experiments, gave it an additional attraction to many people, and a good part of the time was occupied in carrying out and explaining this part of the programme, all of which succeeded to the entire satisfaction of the lecturer and his audience.

The first two experiments consisted in burning a piece of steel wire and a piece of phosphorus in globes filled with oxygen: in the two along with the fourth, which was similar to the phosphorus experiment, but on a larger scale, serve to show how oxygen provok d and assisted combustion, and the brilliancy o. the phosphorus as also the consumption of the steel was very much increased. Two other experiments, one to combine the two elements phosphorus and hydrogen and allow it to escape into the atmosphere through a thin layer of wax or wiil immediately ignite; and the other to decompose the oxygen in water by placing a piece of potassium in it, and then the liberated hydrogen will ignite and burn on the top of the remaining water. All these experiments passed off with wonderful success, and no doubt would reward how'ever many repetitions, one to combine the two elements phosphorus and hydrogen and allow it to escape into the atmosphere through a thin layer of wax or will

WESLEYAN CHAPEL ANNIVERSARY

The fourth anniversary of the Rothwell Weslc an Chapel was celebrated on Sunday and Monday last, with very satisfactory results. The Rev. Thos. Hind, of Hastingden, (formerly of this circuit) preached two sermons on Sunday morning and evening the congregation on each occasion being much larger than usual The choir was augmented for the occasion and rendered two of Bridgewater's anthems very credably. In the afternoon, a children's service was also conducted by Mr Hind.

On Monday afternoon, the annual public tea was provided in the school-room, when the new china, of which the Ladies' Sewing Committee have purchased a complete set, was used for the first time, and very much admired.

The meeting commenced at half-past six o'clock, when Councillor Pickersgill, of Hunslet, and formerly of Rothwell, occupied the chair. After singing a hymn, and prayer by the Rev. Mr. Collingwood, the chairman expressed his pleasure in occupying so honourable a position at a meeting in his native village, and was delighted to see such a large and suitable chapel in a country town; he stated that it was twenty-five years since he left Rothwell, and in reviewing his experience of those days at the old Sunday school, and by the use of familiar names and places made a very interesting speech.

Mr. J. R. Seanor then read the report and balance sheet which showed the funds to be in a favourable condition, there being a balance in the hands of the stewards, and the only debt now remaining was £100 without interest, repayable at £10 per year.

Mr. S. Batty also commented on the report and was looking forward to the time when they should be entirely out of debt.

The Rev. C. A. Collingwood next addressed the meeting and in a well delivered speech expressed his pleasure at meeting the chairman and also his former colleague Mr. Hind and thought the Rothwell Weslevans had much to be thankful for, and should take courage to go on to further successes.

After the singing of another hymn, the Rev. T. Hind followed with a stirring and eloquent speech, and after referring to the inconvenient old chapel, he described the joyful circumstances of the laying of the foundation stones and erection of this new and beautiful house and rejoiced in continued success at Rothwell, hoping that all would adhere to their Christian principles until a better system was introduced, and work on with steady persistent zeal to the end of life.

A vote of thanks to the chairman, proposed by Mr. Morton, seconded by Mr. Goodall, also one to the ladies and Mr. Hind on the motion of Messrs. S. Seanor and Wm. Deuton, were unanimously passed, and the doxology closed the meeting.

ROTHWELL DEBATING SOCIETY.

The monthly social meeting of this society was held on Wednesday evening last; the readings were, as a rule, well rendered, and suitable for the occasion. Mr. C. Brears began with "Ode to Time," in the Lancashire dialect, followed by "The dream of Eugene Aram," by the secretary, then the chairman (Mr. Harms) rendered in good style "The first problem," being some rhyme written as a satire on accepted Christian ideas in a street form, a number of which were distributed in this district a few years ago by Lady Lowther; Mr. A. Drew read one of Bacon's essays; and Mr. R. Batty, Hood's poem, "To my son, aged 3 years;" Dr. Newell gave an extract from "The Charity Dinner," the part selected being the speech of 'Monsieur' when making the toast to the ladies;' this piece was well read and equally well received. The doctor also read a piece entitled "Nursery Nonsense," which brought to a close a most enjoyable meeting.

OULTON-WITH-WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION.

We are informed that the following gentlemen were yesterday nominated candidates for the five seats on the new School Board: those marked with a asterisk (*) being members of the present board:— Messrs. J. Farrer, W. Flockton, R. H. Hamilton, B. W. Higgins, J. Holdsworth, *C. Hoyle, *A. J. Irvin, J. Nichols, *J. Nowell, and E. Stead. Mr. E. A. Flint and Mr. T. Inman were also nominated, but not in conformity with the requirements of the law.

STOURTON.

LEEDS SMALLPOX HOSPITAL.—A meeting of the ratepayers of Stourton took place on Monday evening, under the presidency of Mr J. Simpson, to protest against a smallpox hospital for Leeds being erected in a field adjoining Wakefield-road, at Stourton. A resolution was passed to the effect that a sub-committee consisting of the Rev. Mr Manners and Messrs. Swales, Park r, Simpson, and the secretary, wait upon the Rothwell Local Board, asking that body to use their utmost endeavours to prevent the Leeds Corporation utilising the proposed site for such a purpose.

MARKETS.

LEEDS CORN, TUESDAY.—We have an average attendance of millers at this morning's market, and wheat moves slowly at unchanged prices. Maize is very steady, and other articles at unaltered prices experience a moderate demand.—Mr. Wm. Means's Report.

WAKEFIELD CATTLE, Wednesday.—There were large supplies of stock on offer to-day, but only a thin attendance of buyers. Twenty-five pens were filled with foreign beasts, and the remainder were Scotch, Lincolnshire, and northerns. Sheep had a moderate sale at about last weeks prices. The store market is still closed.

CONCERT AT STOURTON.

The annual concert and distribution of prizes in connection with the Rothwell Haigh Board Schools took place on Wednesday evening, at the Wesleyan Sunday School, York field Road. The chairman, (W. Hargreaves, Esq.) Mr. J. R. Seanor and Mr. W. Lawton were present. The room was crowded to its utmost some time before the commencement. The concert was opened by a hymn called 'Up in Heaven.' The chairman then addressed the parents and friends who were present. He expressed his great pleasure in seeing that so many should take an interest in the education of their children. He said the only drawback was the smallness of accommodation but he trusted that they would enjoy themselves and that the concert would prove a success. This was followed a song by boys and girls entitled 'A happy new year,' which was well received by the audience. The girls then came on with the 'Bears crow maid,' which they sang with great freedom and vigor. The next on the programme was a song by Mr. James Johnson, whose voice powers are well known. This song produced such an effect that a repetition was demanded, and the last verse was repeated. The boys then sang 'The Farmer's Song,' which was followed by an action song. The children, in costume, who were applied to most freely, to which they responded by another such song. Again the girls gave a song of the Winds,' in which all the children took part which were very fairly hit-ted. This was encored and they then sang 'The Brook' Mr. Arthur Batty came next upon the scene, and gave the funny song 'Mother, Aunt and Tennis.' He was also encored, and the last very resting. An agreeable variation was made by Miss Nicholson giving a pianoforte solo, which was executed at the same time being carefully sustained throughout the piece, and which drew the applause she received, gave great pleasure to the audience. After Mrs. Jackson and Miss Fieldhouse had sung the duett 'Wons are the wild waves saying' th first part of the programme was concluded. The interval was filled up by the chairman distributing the prizes, of which there were a large number. Mr Hargreaves eulogised and complimented the teachers on their success at the recent examination, the results of which were second to none, in said, in the country. After the receipt of the prize, the boys and girls sang 'God bless the boys of Stourton.' The concert concluded with the 'Robin Link,' which was well rendered. A solo 'Wanderlead' came next, which was pathetically given by Master Charlie Lawton. As the little fellow seemed to get tired, it was a rang-d that the infants should come on with their song instead of later on. This was highly appr-ciated judging from the applause, and the next song 'A-Tommy was walking.' Miss Holmes and Miss Falkin then played the 'Gipsy Quadrille,' duet, which was very prettily rendered, several well-known favourite English airs. This was followed by another song from Mr. J. Dobson. The song 'Ivy Green' was next rendered by a girls and boys singing 'God bless the Master of Rothwell

THE PROPOSED AMALGAMATION OF THE UNIONS.

IMPORTANT MEETING AT HUNSLET.

On Tuesday evening, the ratepayers of Hunslet met in the Mechanics' Institute, to consider what steps should be taken in the interests of the Union at the forthcoming Inquiry respecting the proposal to dissolve the Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley Unions and add them to the Leeds Union.

Mr. James Hargreaves, of Rothwell, (chairman of the Guardians) presided, and was accompanied on the platform by Alderman Emsley, Councillor Alf Cooke, Councillor Pickersgill, Guardians Gravely, Dixon, Sutcliffe, Pearson, Graves and Aaron, Mr. Schofield (Clerk to the Union) and others.

The chairman, who was applauded, (after a passing reference to the small attendance, which was afterwards considerably increased) said that if the proposal to merge the four Unions of Leeds, Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley, into one was carried out, it would result in a very great injustice to the ratepayers of that Union as also to a great injury to the poor people whose necessities compelled them to apply for parish relief. (Hear hear.) The proposed Union would if carried out, include 35,852 acres, and an estimated population of 338,000. It would then be the largest with one exception, of any Poor Law Union in the Country. The exception was that of West Derby, and efforts were now being made to have the latter Union divided. The extreme points of the proposed Unions would cover about 15 miles and would be very unmanageable. (Hear hear.) He considered that the proposal was an altogether untenable one, both from a ratepayers' point of view, and having regard to the humane treatment which the poor should receive. (Applause.) No gain whatever would accrue to the ratepayers of Hunslet by the proposed change, but on the other hand it would be a decided financial loss for them to be annexed to the Leeds Union. (Hear hear.)

Mr. Pearson moved—"That in the opinion of this meeting the proposal to dissolve the Bramley, Holbeck, and Hunslet Unions, and amalgamate all the townships comprised in those unions with the Leeds Union, is unwise, and would be prejudicial to the interests of the ratepayers and the welfare of the poor." He maintained that inasmuch as the management of the Leeds Workhouse cost £2 11s. per head of the number of inmates, while the charge upon the rates at Hunslet was only £1 18s. 6d., they could not put much trust in the statement that amalgamation would result in a more economical control. It would be well, however, if the unions could have properly-defined boundaries. But as for the river Aire being the boundary, he did not see that it was at all necessary they should have a river for a boundary; a road such as Hunslet Road for instance, was quite as good.

Mr. Dixon briefly but pithily seconded the resolution.

Ald. Emsley, who supported the motion, said that the members of the Leeds Board of Guardians were not united on the subject. The Hunslet and Holbeck Boards were at one in opposing it; though the latter had danced about a little on the question (laughter); but they were now all right he thought; and were dancing, if at all, to the right tune, (Jocularly alluding to the arrival of Mr. Ellis, the chairman of the Holbeck Board, who just then took his seat in the body of the hall. Mr. Emsley repeated his observations concerning the Holbeck Board.) He was glad, he said, resuming, that on the Leeds Board there were those who were now opposed to the amalgamation scheme (hear). At the last meeting of that body, the chairman hoped that members would not be guilty of the "assinine" proceeding of reversing their former views. Dr. Johnson said that the word 'assinine' meant of the quality of a 'jackass' (laughter). He did not know how the members of the Leeds Board referred to, relished the application of the term applied to them by their Chairman (laughter). The Leeds Guardians were isolated on this question (hear, hear). He thought the clerk and the chairman had had most to do with the initiation of the proposal for amalgamation Mr. Cockburn had gone up to London to the Local Government Board, and made a long speech to Sir Charles Dilke of a most militant kind. If the scheme of uniting the four Unions were carried out, certain of the clerk would become the most aristocratic person in Leeds, though he was already a very important individual indeed (laughter). But it would be an act of very gross injustice to the people of Hunslet, and tend to make many poor people believe that they would have to end their days in the workhouse, and they knew there were those who would almost die, sooner than do so. (hear, hear.)

Councillor Atha, who spoke from the body of the hall, was persuaded that the promoters of amalgamation did not care one jot for the Hunslet ratepayers. What they had in view was to reduce the rates in Leeds. But he asked, how would it affect the poor of the Hunslet Union? He looked upon centralization as a curse, and he urged the Hunslet people to oppose the scheme.

Mr. Williamson, from the body of the meeting, asked if there was a minute on the books of the Guardians to the effect that £220,000 might be expended in the erection of a new workhouse?

Mr. Schofield, (clerk to the Guardians)—There is not.

Mr. Pearson said there was a good deal of misconception as to this matter. He might state that there was no likelihood that for some time to come any further workhouse accommodation would be required.

Mr. Williamson did not, he said, want Mr. Pearson's opinion, which simply represented himself, but an authoritative statement from the clerk on behalf of the Guardians as a whole.

Mr. Schofield again intimated that no minute existed in regard to the erection of a new workhouse. But the Guardians were no doubt, if it was found necessary, prepared to sell the present structure and erect a new one on some other site. No such necessity, however, at present existed.

After a few words more from Mr. Pearson, the resolution was adopted without a dissentient.

Mr. Aaron proposed and Mr. Sutcliffe seconded, "That a memorial to the Local Government Board, in opposition to the proposed amalgamation, be prepared, and submitted to the ratepayers of Hunslet for signature."

Some formal discussion followed as to the most efficacious method of proceeding in obtaining signatures, and the proposition was eventually, on the motion of Mr. Swales, seconded by Mr. Heathwaite, altered to read so that the clerk to the Guardians be empowered to draw up the memorial, and also to engage a few persons to obtain the signatures of the ratepayers.

Councillor Alf Cooke, who supported the proposal, said that on the ground of administrative detail, no less than on those of efficiency, economy, and humanity he was opposed to the scheme of amalgamation. (Cheers.) The people of Hunslet should bind and bond themselves together to maintain the independence of their own Union. (Applause.)

A vote of thanks to the chairman, proposed in complimentary terms by Alderman Emsley, cordially seconded by Councillor Pickersgill, and passed with acclamation by the meeting, closed the proceedings.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

A special meeting of the Rothwell Local Board was held on Monday evening, present —Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman) J. Hargreaves, J. Holmes, J. Sanderson, and H. P. Newsome, with the clerk, collector, and surveyor.

The object of the meeting was to receive a deputation from Stourton respecting the possible proposal to erect a small pox hospital near that hamlet, and to take such steps as might be considered necessary to prevent such an event.

The deputation consisted of the Rev.' R. Manners, Messrs. Simpson, Swales, and A. T. Parker, (secretary.) Mr. Simpson, in stating their case, said the gentlemen present represented the Stourton Ratepayers' Association, and were delegated by a meeting of ratepayers to approach the Board on this important subject. He then related that the the Sanitary Committee of the Leeds Corporation had advertised for sites suitable for the erection of a small pox hospital, and about a week previously, it had come to their knowledge that among others, Mr. Whiteley had offered some land belonging to him immediately adjoining the Wakefield Road, at Thwaite Gate, and opposite the numerous houses occupied by the people at Stourton in the Board's district.

After other remarks pointing out the probable mode which would be adopted in deciding on the site for the proposed hospital, Mr. Simpson, with the other members of the deputation urged the necessity for immediate action on the part of the Board to prevent the Sanitary Committee from fixing on that piece of land to the great nuisance and disadvantage of the entire hamlet. Such an erection would entail a serious loss to the Board by reason of the depreciation of rateable value which would at once follow ; many individuals who had laid out large sums of money on their houses and gardens would be compelled to remove at great personal loss ; besides these losses to the Board and to residents, the town itself would seriously suffer by having a small pox hospital so near to the road on which so considerable a traffic was conducted. In conclusion, the deputation urged immediate and decided action by the Board, so as to prevent such a catastrophe.

During the conversation it transpired that there are at least three other sites offered, one of which is near the cemetery, one on Dewsbury Road, and a very suitable site at Osmondthorpe, formerly intended for a cattle market.

In reply to Mr. J. Hargreaves, Mr. Simpson said that he believed the Thwaite Gate people were rather offended that they had not been asked to join in the action taken, but he shewed them that, their action would have to be separate, as being in the borough, while Stourton is under the Local Board.

The Rev Mr. Manners also pointed out that the population was likely to increase in the vicinity of the site. He believed that many in Hunslet were strongly opposed to the project.

The chairman remarked that by all means, everything must be done to prevent such a building being erected near Stourton. The Board had succeeded in saving the district from having the contemplated gas works at Pontefract Road, and in thanking the deputation for their attendance, assured them that the Board would do all in their power, also to prevent the erection of a small pox hospital on that site.

It was afterwards resolved on the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. Holmes, that the clerk write the Sanitary Committee of the Town Council stating that it had been reported to the Board that Mr. Whitely's property at Thwaite Gate had been offered to and inspected by them, as a site for the erection of a small pox hospital, and it is the intention of the Board to oppose such a decision, and if provided it will apply for an injunction in Chancery.

It was also agreed that Messrs. W. Hargraves, J. Holmes, J. Hargreaves, and H. P. Newsome form a committee to watch the matter, and that the clerk call them together at once, if any further action is needed.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

On Monday evening, the monthly meeting of the above Board took place, present.—Messrs. J. G. Turner, J. R. Senior, Jas. Batty, W. Lawton, and the clerk and attendance officer.

Mr. Turner in conclusion hoped that what he had said and exhibited would not only serve to feed one and interest, but that the few facts demonstrated, would be a means of causing some of his audience to interest themselves in the scientific world more than they had previously done, and thereby gain a knowledge which must be of use to them in their daily life.

The Rev. F. Lawson proposed and the Rev. J. C Lees seconded a vote of thanks to Mr. Turner, which was approved by the usual applause.

STOURTON

SERVICE OF SONG.—On Saturday, Feb. 16th, the Stourton Wesleyan Band of Hope gave their service of song entitled "Grandfather's Legacy," in the Board School, Pontefract Road, in aid of the Primitive Methodist Society. The connective readings were given by Mrs. Wetherill, to whom much praise is due, for the able manner in which she rendered her services. The chairman appointed not having arrived, Mr. Weber kindly occupied that position. There was a good attendance, and the collection at the close came to about 19s. 3d. Mr. T. Kale conducted the singing. Before this it was provided, to which a good number sat down.

CONVERSATION.—On Monday evening, the members of the Stourton Harriers gave their first annual conversazione, in the Mechanics' Institute, Hunslet. The evening commenced with a promenade concert given by several talented artistes, who were well received, several of the songs being encored. The concert being concluded, after a short interval dancing commenced ; cards were also provided. Thorough enjoyment prevailed, and the various amusements continued until the small hours of the morning. Mr. J. Bamford acted as master of ceremonies ; and Mr. R. Barker, of Hunslet, supplied the refreshments.

ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday last, an accident occurred at the Midland Pit, better known as "Bullock Yard," to a youth named John Gillings, who resides at Stourton. It appears that whilst at work a stone fell upon his legs ; he was taken home, and it was found that his ankle was cut and severely bruised.

"THE SORROWS OF CHILDHOOD." "TEETHING." Mrs. Johnson's Soothing Syrup" rubbed on the gums will allay irritation, and give rest to the sufferer by assisting the Teeth to appear. It is guaranteed to be harmless and pleasant to taste. Of all Chemists at 2s. 9d. per bottle.

OULTON-WITH-WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION.

A crowded meeting was held last night in the Oulton National School-room, the ostensible object of which was to endeavour to prevent a contested election for the School Board.

The Rev. R. H. Hamilton occupied the chair, and nearly all the principal ratepayers were present.

A motion was introduced by Mr. Whitehead one of the Guardians, to protest against the proposed amalgamation scheme, and adducing a number of facts and figures in support. Mr. Sanderson, his colleauge, held a neutral position, not being desirous of being joined with either Hunslet or Leeds, but favouring the idea of a small Union with Rothwell in the centre. After considerable discussion, the matter was adjourned till Tuesday.

The proceedings which followed, were intended to have resulted in the withdrawal of some of the candidates, and thereby avoid a contest, but as Tuesday was the last day for withdrawals, it was very clearly stated that the election must now go forward, and the poll be taken and declared on Monday.

Addresses were given by the following candidates, some of whom had to submit to rather rough handling by their constituents. The principal speakers were the Rev. R. H. Hamilton, Rev. A. J. Irvin, Dr. Jewison, Mr. Jno. Mir. Hoyle, Mr. Holdsworth. Mr. Higgins, and Mr. Flockton, who, being candidates, expressed their several opinions on School Board matters. Mr. Smith, clerk to the Board, answered a number of questions Dr. Jewison, Mr. White, Mr. Robinson, and other gentlemen also took part in the meeting Mr. E. Stead wrote, declining to stand, The meeting was of a warmer and more excited character than has been known in Oulton for years past, and did not close till after ten o'clock, when the usual vote of thanks was accorded to the chairman.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.

Last Friday and Saturday, Miss L. H. Moore, & Mr. A. W. Herrig, (Freed slaves from the Southern States of America,) visited the above hall, and gave two very interesting and profitable entertainments. Mr. J. Naylor very generously proffered his services, and rendered valuable assistance, taking as he did the post of pianist. The entertainment opened with a pianoforte solo by Mr. Naylor, entitled 'The Bath of Tel-el-kebir,' which is dedicated to Sir Garnet Wolsely; this is a very descriptive piece, and requires considerable practice before the different shades of expression can be rendered effectively ; yet notwithstanding, Mr. Naylor seemed well up to the task, and acquitted himself most creditably. Miss Moore and Mr. Harris next rendered three or four negro melodies, all of which were more or less pleasing; after which they gave a camp meeting illustration.' I'm going away to see my mother, which caused considerable amusement, Mr. Harris next gave a short address, relating the history of his life as a slave, and the sufferings and privations he had had to endure, until the great emancipators of America trod underfoot the yoke, and he was allowed to go free. Miss Moore accupied a few minutes at intervals, and dwelt chiefly on the same strain, finishing up with an exhoration that they would help them by their prayers to walk circumspectly before God, that they might at last gain that glorious kingdom, where black and white, bond and free, are alike treated by God as one. Mr. Herrig rendered very effectively, the song 'Poor old Joe,' followed by a solo from Miss Moore 'Roll, Jordan roll.' Four more melodies being sung, the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

LECTURE ON CHEMISTRY.

Mr. John Turner, B.A., delivered his second lecture on 'Chemistry' in the Large Hall of the Mechanics' Institute on Monday evening last, to a large audience than on the previous well attended lecture.

The experiments were numerous, and occupied by fair the principal part of the time, and were in every way successful; the first experiment was to suspend a coal gas bubble in hydrogen, which was prepared in a glass bell jar suspended from one of the gas pendants, the bubble was blown immediately under the jar, and coal gas being lighter than the ordinary atmosphere it rose into the jar, but by this means came into contact with the hydrogen, (the lightest of all substances,) it ceased to rise, and remained suspended, perfectly still. The next was to show that water, only the bubble was blown with the breath expired from the human lungs, and falling into a vessel filled with carbonic acid gas, which is much heavier than the bubble, it floated on which, the bubble was most successful of all the experiments, and the bubble lasted for an exceptionally long time. The minor experiments were all of a very interesting nature, but we cannot give space for an enumeration.

Mr. Turner, in conclusion hoped that what he had said and exhibited would not only serve to feed one and interest, but that the few facts demonstrated, would be a means of causing some of his audience to interest themselves in the scientific world more than they had previously done, and thereby gain a knowledge which must be of use to them in their daily life.

The Rev. F. Lawson proposed and the Rev. J. C Lees seconded a vote of thanks to Mr. Turner, which was approved by the usual applause.

LOFTHOUSE CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the members of this association was held in the National School, Lofthouse, on Thursday evening, Feb. 14th, when the president, J. Charlesworth, Esq., occupied the chair. The report for the past year stated that during that time 9 general meetings of the association had been held, at each of which a paper on some political subject had been read and discussed. The expenditure had been less than the income, and the small amount of debt remaining from the previous year was paid in the room. The chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, gave a review of the political situation, and exhorted the members to be on their guard against the spread of the pernicious doctrines advocated by the Radical party. In conclusion, Mr. Charlesworth moved a vote of thanks to the retiring officers, whom he complimented on the way in which the affairs of the Association had been conducted.

The election of officers then took place as follows :—President, J. Charlesworth, Esq.; vice-presidents, Messrs. Wm. Hargreaves, J. Appleyard, Thos. Hargreaves, Thos. Wilson, Wm. Lunn, junr., H. Moorhouse, J. J. Dunne; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Wm. Webster. The retiring members of the committee were re-elected.

Mr. J. J. Dunne then moved the following resolution :—" That this meeting is of opinion that the course pursued by Her Majesty's ministers both at home and abroad has been contrary to the best interests of the country ; and that their policy in the Soudan is especially disastrous. This meeting further desires to place on record its unabated confidence in Lord Salisbury and Sir Stafford Northcote."

The motion was seconded by Mr. Charlesworth, and carried unanimously.

Mr. J. Shuttleworth then addressed the meeting on the new arrangements for the Rothwell polling district, rendered necessary by the new Bribery Act.

A vote of thanks to the chairman brought the proceedings to a close.

In reply to the resolution, the secretary, Mr. Webster, has received the following letter :—

20, Arlington St., S.W.,
Feb. 10th, 1884.

Sir,—I am much obliged to you for the good wishes expressed in your letter of the 15th inst., and for the resolution passed at the Conservative meeting held in Lofthouse on the 14th inst. I am requested to receive the kind assurance of the Conservatives of Lofthouse in the leaders of the Conservative party at this critical period.

Yours faithfully,
SALISBURY.

W. Webster, Esq.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH, HUNSLET.—Yesterday afternoon, the Right Rev. Robert Cornthwaite, D.D., the Roman Catholic Bishop of Leeds, opened a bazaar in the Club Room, St. Joseph's, Hunslet. There was a large gathering at the opening ceremony. The object of the bazaar is to clear off a debt of £250 which at present exists on the St. Joseph's Schools and Church. The room is tastefully decorated, and the stalls are well supplied with useful and ornamental articles, by the sale of which it is hoped to raise the required sum. Many attractions were provided in the shape of entertainments of vocal and instrumental music, &c. The band from St. Mary's Richmond Hill, was in attendance and played selections at intervals.

THE AMALGAMATION SCHEME.—A meeting of ratepayers is to be held in the Board School to-night, at half past six o'clock. The hour is fixed early, so as not to interfere with the attendance of those who may wish to be present at the Mechanics' Hall, at half-past seven. As it is a very important matter to all ratepayers, we look for a large muster.

It will be observed by the advertisement columns that the Parochial Tea in connection with the Rothwell Parish Church is to be held at half-past five instead of six o'clock as at present.

By an advertisement in another column, and the posters distributed through the district, it will have become well known that a Dramatic Performance is to be given on Saturday next, at the Hall. The fact that the moving spirits are Dr. Purdy, and Mr. Wright, assisted by several efficient ladies and gentlemen of the neighbourhood, is the sufficient guarantee for the character and execution of the pieces taken, and we do not doubt but a very large audience will be attracted by the programme.

PONY STEALING.—Yesterday week, Mr. Bleasby had a pony stolen from a field of his at Rothwell Haigh, which has now been recovered by P.C. Wilson. The theft was traced to a lad named Thomas Costello, living in the Bank, Leeds, who it appears had exchanged the pony for another and £5 to boot. The pony was found in Woodhouse Lane, in the hands of the person to whom it had been sold by Costello, The delinquent will be brought up to-morrow for stealing the pony.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT WOODLESFORD.—Last Tuesday, Major Taylor held an inquest at the Two Painters' Inn, Woodlesford, on the body of William Wright, aged 73 years, coal miner, of Methley, who was killed on the Sunday previous. It appears the deceased had been visiting his daughter, who lives at Woodlesford, and was intending to return home by the 9.30 train. He secured their first goal, and soon after half-time was called. With the wind in their favour, the home team restarted the game, and kept pressing on the visitors' goal, but without good defence and for some time succeeded in repelling all attacks, but ultimately a rush made the score equal. The visitors now shewed a decided falling off, and the home team taking advantage of it, put on two more goals and shewed a well finished game by four goals to two, thus again upholding their title of the premier club of the Leeds district.

HARRIERS.

HARRIERS.—The Stourton Harriers met at headquarters last Saturday. The hares, (S Ross and W Hickmott) were out at 3.30, having following 10 minutes later. The trail led across the Railway Bridge and up to Woodhouse Hill Cemetery, then by a footpath to South Accommodation Road, across to Dewsbury Road, past the Woodman Inn, to Middleton Church From here the trail led to Ardsley, then back towards Stourton, crossing the Wakefield Road at the Half-way House ; from here the road, and the finish found at the 'Angel,' Tingley, a commencement about a mile from Ardsley. O Sheard claiming first place by a yard from J W Weatherhead, J F Simpson, third. Hares arrived at 4.55, a pack at 5.7. Distance 10 miles. H Atkinson acted as pace, and F Jones as whip. Timekeeper, A H Simpson.

HEAL ALL !—For Chilblains, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Bruises, &c., 'Dredge's Heal All' surpasses everything. Prepared only by BARCLAY & SONS, 95, Farringdon Street, London. Of all Chemists in Bottles, at 1s. 1½d.

HUNSLET TIT BITS

By Punch and Judy.

The public meeting of ratepayers at the Mechanics' Institute, on Tuesday night, was a thorough reflex of the views of the Hunslet Guardians on the question of amalgamation with the Kingdom of Leeds. What the Hunslet ratepayers want is to be severely let alone by the monarch of the Leeds Guardians and his too obsequious subjects. Judy says there are few among the Leeds Guardians who care two rows of pins about annexing Hunslet, Holbeck and Bramley, with the exception of "that king,' and the 'assinine' chairman of the Board.

The chairman's speech at the Hunslet meeting was as remarkable for its unpretentiousness as for its lucidity. He put the case before the audience (at first a small one, but afterwards of fair dimensions) in a nutshell. He demonstrated that the result of annexation to Leeds would entail injustice to the ratepayers, and injury to the poor who required relief. The Hunslet ratepayers are to be congratulated on possessing such a spokesman as Mr. Hargreaves.

Mr. Pearson, who moved the first resolution, made a good point by showing that whilst the Leeds Union expended, on an average, £2 10s. per head in the maintenance of the poor, Hunslet only spent £1 18s. 6d. The cry that amalgamation would tend to economy was, he proved, an absurd one. Referring to the 'boundary' question, he did not think that rivers were necessarily superior to roads. My own impression, I must state, is otherwise. But there are exceptions, and very often good and justifiable ones, as all rules. Mr. Pearson, however, spoke on the rule of the road, but I favour the bend of the river.

Mr. Dixon—who seconded the first resolution, to the effect that the proposed annexation would be unwise, and prejudicial to the interests of the poor—I have known for many years as a 'crasher' of our local Guardians. There are times when there is eloquence in silence, and wisdom in brevity. Certainly the few words said by Mr. Dixon were apropos. They gentle man pointed out that even now some of the aged poor who came from Woodlesford and Oulton to Glasshouse St., in Hunslet, had difficulty in walking there and back again, but that if they had 40 journey all the way to Leeds, it would be cruel in the extreme. There is evidently a copious fountain of the 'milk' of human kindness in Mr. Dixon's bosom. May it continue to bubble up!

Alderman Emsley, 'who is to the manner born,' never either slights or neglects his duty to the place where he was 'brought up.' His speech in support of that resolution was caustic, cultured and conclusive. The Leeds municipal magnate made short meat of the pretentious and presumptuous chairman of the Leeds Board of Guardians. Referring to Mr. Cockburn's elegant epithet when he hoped that the ratepayers would not be guilty of the 'asinine' proceeding of changing their views, he pointed out that, according to Johnson, 'asinine' was 'pertaining to Jackasses.' 'By George,' interposes Judy (and she is not accustomed to such an expression) 'Jackasses sounds very vulgar, why not Johnasses ?'

Councillor Atha spoke from the body of the hall, and was not at all complimentary to the Leeds Union officials. He was persuaded that the object of the wire-pullers of amalgamation was a purely selfish one. Centralisation was, he maintained a curse ; and the present attempt should be vigorously opposed by the Hunslet ratepayers. Atha is always, if not wrong always, on the right side, but he suffers slightly from a redundancy of rhetoric. 'Then let him for the future,' says Judy, 'boil it down.' 'Leather mixed metaphor,' I ventured to observe. 'Mixed fiddlesticks,' she answered, 'Hath a man no end to his tongue.'

* * *

Mr. Williamson, who rose from the body of the hall, where he was sitting side by side with his colleague Atha, asked a question of the clerk to the Guardians, which he evidently meant for a poser. But that dignified official did not suffer from fear. He answered with his serene composure. Mr. Schofield calmly informed his interrogator that there was not a minute on the books of the Guardians in favour of spending £20,000 in the erection of a new workhouse. It was admitted that the Board were prepared, should the necessity arise, to dispose of the present building and erect a new one.

A slight passage-at-arms subsequently took place between Mr. Williamson and Mr. Pearson on the question alluded to in the previous 'Tit Bit.' I thought I perceived (I hope I was wrong) a slight tinge of personal animus by the former against the latter gentleman. Mr. Williamson is apparently a man of intellectual metal, but is suspected of being, on the question of amalgamation, something of an Adullamite.

Guardians Aaron and Sutcliffe 'briefly' spoke in proposing and seconding a resolution, but though they can both 'say something when they open their mouths,' neither of them added anything very noteworthy to what other speakers had previously given utterance to. Both speakers were stinted in a high key of opposition to amalgamation.

Councillor Cooke ('Alf' Cooke sounds, as yet, more familiar) made a neat speech towards the finish in supporting an amended resolution, but though they Mr. Swales, seconded by Mr. Heathwaite, in favour of the memorial to the Local Government Board against amalgamation. The junior councillor for East Hunslet, is an adept in the art of saying multum in parvo. On the score of efficiency, economy, and humanity he was opposed to the proposal of annexation to Leeds, and he urged the Hunslet people to 'bind and bond' themselves together to resist the attempts to break up their Union.

A meeting took place on Thursday night in the Methodist New Connexion School Room, Dewsbury Road, presider over by Councillor Pinkersgill, when the scheme of amalgamation was condemned. Able speeches were made by the chairman, Alderman Emsley, and Guardians Dixon, Aaron and others.

Coming Events include a football match, Hunslet v. Halifax, to-morrow, (Saturday,) on the ground of the latter. Tea party and entertainment at the Methodist New Connexion Sunday School, Dewsbury Road, on Tuesday ; also the same evening, St Cuthbert's Church, Beeston Road; Annual Soiree, at the Beverley St., Board School; and a tea and after proceedings at the Primitive Methodist Chapel School, Joseph St. On Wednesday, a 'lecture on 'The Two Political Parties,' previously announced by the South Ward Conservative Association, at St. Jude's School, Lustliley Road.

TOWN TALK.

SMALL POX CASES.—I have had a subscription card put into my hand this week, headed "Subscription towards the Guardians' Fund to defray the payments made to isolated workmen, and for compensation during the late small pox epidemic." Every one acquainted with the case will admit it is time the liabilities incurred during the small-pox epidemic last year were discharged, and it will perhaps be useful to explain why subscriptions are needed. Rothwell had a smart attack of small-pox last May, June and July, and persons suffered from it. Dr. Glaister had to cope with the cases as they arose, and in many instances supplied wine, milk, butcher's meat, and other articles of sustenance to families during the period of isolation. In addition to this expense, it was deemed advisable in one or two cases to destroy bedding and clothes used by infected persons, and grant compensation where healthy members of an infected family had been restrained from following their usual occupations. The Hunslet Board of Guardians will not entertain these charges, and the Local Government Board in London interdict the Rothwell Local Board from paying the money out of the rates. There is nothing for it, therefore, but a voluntary subscription. Lists can be had of Mr. Marshall, at the office of the Rothwell Times; of Mr. John Turner; or at Mr. Newsome's shop in Butcher Lane. I am asked to say that subscriptions. The object is a laudable one : a small community facing its own difficulties, and coping with them in a patriotic spirit is worthy commendation and support.

The Leeds Corporation appear to have a decided animosity against our Stourton brethren. That angest body established some years ago vast works at Knostrop, opposite to Stourton, for the utilization of their sewage; and thither in this day are gathered the odious odours of their sewage, and in the treatment of it the olfactory nerves of the Stourton householder are grievously offended when the wind happens to be his way. Not satisfied with having placed the Stourton property owner and the Scavenger, the Corporation is preparing for another assault on their peace. This time it is the erection of a small-pox hospital on the vacant land opposite to Stourton Lodge and facing the 'Crooked Billet.' If this merciful scheme be carried out by the Elect who sit and legislate beneath the dome of the Leeds Town Hall, then the fate of poor Stourton is sealed. I have heard of a case of small-pox being engendered by a person cleaning windows on the opposite side of the road to a small-pox hospital; if that is so, what must be the sensations of the residents along the Wakefield road between the Stourton Lodge and the Queen Hotel, at the prospect of a small-pox hospital opposite to them ? At least a deputation from Stourton waited on the Local Board at Rothwell a few days ago, and laid the impending grievance before that body, who have, if I am rightly informed, threatened the Corporation with an injunction in chancery if it persists in carrying out the scheme. Bravo Rothwell!

BYE-WAY JOTTINGS.

An Occasional Paper.

The Board School election seems to be the subject of most interest just now, no doubt chiefly from there being a contest and a poll to take place. Still I can't say much for the eligibility of some of the reported candidates, and perhaps the best and surest that may be said is that the School Board would lose rather than gain in intelligence and weight, and in some other respects if the names of these, I will here be expressed concurrence in the fairness of three churchmen and two dissenters, and I think both of the latter gentlemen would be elected. I trust that the dissenters would, if united, stand some chance of getting three of their party returned, and they would only result from it. I do not, however, see how the matter can be arranged now that the last day for withdrawals is past. However, if a contest is to be, we wish hope the most suitable gentlemen will be chosen.

In village contests for public offices, however, the voting chiefly depends upon good fellowship, and I must confess I am not much of a fitness.

Woodlesford Church matters are not unfrequently disturbed by some untoward circumstances. Not long ago the singers 'went out,' and just recently the ringers 'struck work.' Unfortunately the dissentients are the boy singers, whose services are by no means the least important. I have noticed an advertisement in the 'Mercury' during the last few weeks for other boys to take the places of the 'seceders,' but know not whether the hoped for success has been the result. I am told also that these little fellows are going to be admitted to the choir. This will give variety at least, and their more genial outpourings will be welcome after the dirge-like wailings of the men. I shall also have two sets of bells, the 'bells,' that ring, and the 'belles' that sing. I hope, however, matters will reassume their wonted condition again soon.

We are getting through this winter comfortably. With the exception of a cold day now and then, and an occasional fog, the weather has been exceedingly fine, and there are indications of genuine 'sunshine 'and renewing storms.' While storms prevailed for some time the snowdrop and crocuses have been shewing themselves, and reminding us of 'spring's delights,' now so near.

The storms have deprived us of trees here and there, the absence of some of which is to be regretted, as their vacant places shew a void which 'mocks to wish for their return. Some of the trees at the corner of the roads at the top of the 'Croft' at Oulton. The loafers and idlers, and such-like have no occupation for their hours of leisure, will miss their trees and have to find another shelter from heat and from rain, while endeavouring to pass the time 'in to nothing doubtless.

I understand the 'Woodlesford Minstrels' have this week been holding their annual at the place where glass bottles are made, and I am told, with fair success. The noise of wheels in motion and of voices uttered in harmony somewhat irregular and rather boisterous, fall upon the ears of the sleeping villagers during the small hours of Tuesday morning, which is being interpreted into the return of the 'Minstrels' in a waggonette. I think there were none 'missing,' nor the worse for the visit, which in formate, consequence of the 'Minstrels' and the 'bottle' are in favour at Castleford. Taking into account, too, the number of 'big pots' there, the audience should have been first-class.

OUTLOOK-WITH-WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Sir,

Will you give me an opportunity to offer to those concerned some considerations which I think should be taken into account, in electing a School Board of 9 qualified gentlemen, from the 10 or 11 candidates who are aspiring to rule the destinies of our rising generation for the next three years. I am not personally concerned in the success of any particular candidate. As a ratepayer I have much sympathy with those who are seeking, by justifiable means, to reduce the expense of carrying on the work of the schools ; but on the other hand, as one interested in the quality and tone of the education given to the children, I am totally opposed to any unwise economising experiments which would have a tendency to impair the efficiency of the work done there.

I take it that the paramount duty of the School Board, is to provide for the sound and thorough education of the children whom they compel to attend the school ; and after that comes the duty of carefully preventing needless extravagances in expending the money they have such unlimited power of levying.

The first consideration is in danger of being lost sight of ; the immediate pecuniary interest of ratepayers seems to be the only cause of serious anxiety.

We have heard enough from some of the candidates on the score of economy. One or two announce, as their only qualification for office, their determination to take short steps to the reduction of expenses by the lopping off a portion of the salaries paid to the teachers and other officials connected with the school all round. This plan is very simple and direct, it is easily understood and finds much favor with a large unthinking portion of the ratepayers. But a little examination exposes the unwisdom of those who advocate such a short-sighted policy. To pay which is likely, or rather certain, to defeat its own object, and prove most costly in the end ; besides injuring the usefulness and reputation of the schools during the period of isolation. In addition to this expense, it was deemed advisable in one or two cases to destroy bedding and clothes used by infected persons, and grant compensation where healthy members of an infected family had been restrained from following their usual occupations. The Hunslet Board of Guardians will not entertain these charges, and the Local Government Board in London interdict the Rothwell Local Board from paying the money out of the rates. There is nothing for it, therefore, but a voluntary subscription. Lists can be had of Mr. Marshall, at the office of the Rothwell Times; of Mr. John Turner ; or at Mr. Newsome's shop in Butcher Lane. I am asked to say that subscriptions. The object is a laudable one : a small community facing its own difficulties, and coping with them in a patriotic spirit is worthy commendation and support.

The Leeds Corporation appear to have a decided animosity against our Stourton brethren. That angest body established some years ago vast works at Knostrop, opposite to Stourton, for the utilization of their sewage; and thither in this day are gathered the odious odours of their sewage, and in the treatment of it the olfactory nerves of the Stourton householder are grievously offended when the wind happens to be his way. Not satisfied with having placed the Stourton property owner and the Scavenger, the Corporation is preparing for another assault on their peace. This time it is the erection of a small-pox hospital on the vacant land opposite to Stourton Lodge and facing the 'Crooked Billet.' If this merciful scheme be carried out by the Elect who sit and legislate beneath the dome of the Leeds Town Hall, then the fate of poor Stourton is sealed. I have heard of a case of small-pox being engendered by a person cleaning windows on the opposite side of the road to a small-pox hospital; if that is so, what must be the sensations of the residents along the Wakefield road between the Stourton Lodge and the Queen Hotel, at the prospect of a small-pox hospital opposite to them ? At least a deputation from Stourton waited on the Local Board at Rothwell a few days ago, and laid the impending grievance before that body, who have, if I am rightly informed, threatened the Corporation with an injunction in chancery if it persists in carrying out the scheme. Bravo Rothwell!

BYE-WAY JOTTINGS.

An Occasional Paper.

The Board School election seems to be the subject of most interest just now, no doubt chiefly from there being a contest and a poll to take place. Still I can't say much for the eligibility of some of the reported candidates, and perhaps the best and surest that may be said is that the School Board would lose rather than gain in intelligence and weight, and in some other respects if the names of these, I will here be expressed concurrence in the fairness of three churchmen and two dissenters, and I think both of the latter gentlemen would be elected. I trust that the dissenters would, if united, stand some chance of getting three of their party returned, and they would only result from it. I do not, however, see how the matter can be arranged now that the last day for withdrawals is past. However, if a contest is to be, we wish hope the most suitable gentlemen will be chosen.

In village contests for public offices, however, the voting chiefly depends upon good fellowship, and I must confess I am not much of a fitness.

Woodlesford Church matters are not unfrequently disturbed by some untoward circumstances. Not long ago the singers 'went out,' and just recently the ringers 'struck work.' Unfortunately the dissentients are the boy singers, whose services are by no means the least important. I have noticed an advertisement in the 'Mercury' during the last few weeks for other boys to take the places of the 'seceders,' but know not whether the hoped for success has been the result. I am told also that these little fellows are going to be admitted to the choir. This will give variety at least, and their more genial outpourings will be welcome after the dirge-like wailings of the men. I shall also have two sets of bells, the 'bells,' that ring, and the 'belles' that sing. I hope, however, matters will reassume their wonted condition again soon.

We are getting through this winter comfortably. With the exception of a cold day now and then, and an occasional fog, the weather has been exceedingly fine, and there are indications of genuine 'sunshine 'and renewing storms.' While storms prevailed for some time the snowdrop and crocuses have been shewing themselves, and reminding us of 'spring's delights,' now so near.

* * *

The storms have deprived us of trees here and there, the absence of some of which is to be regretted, as their vacant places shew a void which 'mocks to wish for their return. Some of the trees at the corner of the roads at the top of the 'Croft' at Oulton. The loafers and idlers, and such-like have no occupation for their hours of leisure, will miss their trees and have to find another shelter from heat and from rain, while endeavouring to pass the time 'in to nothing doubtless.

WOODLESFORD AND OULTON SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION.
I BEG to thank very heartily those Electors who by their votes on Monday last placed me in the position of one of the successful candidates. This result is to me for various reasons most gratifying, and I shall sincerely endeavour to discharge the duties entrusted to me alike in the interests of education and of the ratepayers in this township, believing that these interests have a very close relationship.

LOCAL AMALGAMATION.

It is all very well and very natural for gentelmen whose interests are centred in the town, and who, in securing great advantages incur heavy rates, to endeavour to reduce these burdens as far as possible, by connecting with themselves the landowners and country people, thereby increasing the rateable value and reducing the general rate; but it is not for us to sit down quietly and accept the dictum of these men, without a protest and an effort to relieve ourselves.

We go in heartily against the amalgamation of Hunslet with Leeds, because we see that the only result will be advanced rates and diminished hold on the expenditure of such public monies, besides the increased hardship and isolation of the poor. Hunslet would certainly have to be content with a very diminished representation on such a United Board as is suggested in the Leeds scheme, and her voice would hardly be heard, or if heard, lost in the loud majority of Leeds. There is no very great attraction either in the probability of having to pay 2/9 rate instead of 2/2, as at present. We go dead against such an amalgamation and trust that during the Inquiry the feeling of the people on the subject will be demonstrated, and save us from such a calamity.

But we go further. The arguments which we use against amalgamation with Leeds, may also be accepted in a more selfish and local sense. Referring to a letter published to-day by Mr. Lawton, why, we ask, should the out-townships so largely assist Hunslet. There may be some explanation to the figures, which stand out so strongly in that short epistle, but taken as they appear, where, we may ask with Mr. Turner, does the £598 go. Granted, the expenses of administration and our proportion of other costs, still there must be a heavy amount go to help the Hunslet rates. These are ugly facts, and as we say, there may be some reasons why, but we leave others to answer.

Whether it be possible or not, we cannot say, but if it is not directly impossible, we must go with those who hold that a Union of which Rothwell would be the centre, would form a compact little Board, which we are quite sure, could be worked at a much cheaper rate than that we pay at present. The effort is worth making anyhow, and if we can reduce our present heavy rates, both highway and poor, by a local Union, we trust our fellow-ratepayers, on either side of us, at the Woodlesford Rate, and at Carlton also, will join heartily in a mutual attempt to gain our own independence and relief from other peoples' burdens.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The fortnightly meeting of the above Board was held on Wednesday, present:—Mr. Jas. Hargreaves (chairman), Mr. J. Graveley (vice chairman), Messrs. Lawton, Whitehead, Sutcliffe, Bickerdike, Butterworth, Gowland, Pearson, Aaron, Dixon, Greaves, Pickersgill, Jepson, Sanderson, and the clerk.

The relief cases were unusually numerous and difficult, the ordinary business of the meeting not being commenced till 7 o'clock.

The minutes of last meeting having been read by the clerk, were duly signed as correct.

AMALGAMATION SCHEME.—The principal part of the meeting was occupied by matters relating to this all absorbing question, on the details of which there is not perfect unanimity.

One matter introduced by the clerk, was the necessity that, in the forthcoming Inquiry, there should be a verbatim short-hand writer engaged, so as to have a report of every word spoken, for future reference. He stated that the clerks to the Bramley and Holbeck Boards had expressed their willingness to join in the expense of having three complete copies of the entire Inquiry. In reply to a question, it was stated that the total cost would not be more than £20, but this figure was considered by the Guardians to be very much above the mark. It was however resolved on the motion of Mr. Butterworth, that a shorthand writer be engaged, to provide three complete copies of the report of the Inquiry, for the three Boards concerned; six voted for the report, Mr. Dixon against, the remainder being neutral.

Mr. Sutcliffe wished to know what the Amalgamation Scheme Committee had to report. It transpired that a meeting was held on Thursday, but only Mr. Butterworth was present, and that he, with the clerk, selected and appointed fourteen men to make a house to house canvas of Hunslet, for signatures to the memorial against amalgamation with Leeds.

It was also agreed on the suggestion of the clerk, that two persons be deputed specially to wait on the various firms in Hunslet, to obtain their signatures on the leading sheet of the petition.

Mr. Graveley thought it right to inform the Board, that the ratepayers of Temple Newsam had held a meeting on this subject, and that they had instructed Mr. Appleton, solicitor, to watch the Inquiry on behalf of the overseers.

A long discussion took place as to what instructions should be given by Mr. Emsley to counsel, on behalf of the Board.

The gist of the matter resolved into two proposals. Mr. Aaron moved that having gone to the ratepayers with the simple question, are we to oppose the dissolution of the Union, and its amalgamation with Leeds, they could only do as they had been told, to oppose the Leeds scheme. In this Mr. Dixon agreed, and seconded the motion. Mr. R. Whitehead moved, as an amendment, that counsel not only be instructed to oppose the Leeds scheme, but any other which might be brought forward. The chairman thought if any other proposal came up, they might obtain a short adjournment for consultation. After further remarks by Mr. Lawton, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Sutcliffe, and the clerk, the amendment, seconded by Mr. Greaves, was put. Messrs. Whitehead, Greaves, Lawton, and Bickerdyke voting for it; and Messrs. Aaron, Dixon, Graveley, Butterworth, and Pearson, voting for the resolution, which was carried.

COUNTY RATE. A Precept will have to be presented at next meeting for £843 5s. 9d. towards the county rate, for the half-year.

A letter was read from Mrs. Fawkes, of Farnley Hall, as Lady President and Secretary of the Society for Boarding-out pauper children, asking if the Board had any such children, to be communicated with on the subject. As there are no children requiring such accommodation outside the Union, the clerk will return a respectful answer to that effect. The usual formal business was then gone into.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are excited by the act of sucking, the Glycerine in these agreeable confections relaxes relieves actively heals. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—In many a strange interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They soften and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The usual meeting of the Rothwell Local Board took place on Monday evening, present:—Messrs. W. Hargreaves (chairman), J. Oliver, J. Holmes, J. Sanderson, J. Hargreaves, S. Bramley, J. Turner, H. P. Newsome, and the clerk, medical officer, collector, and surveyor.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

HEALTH REPORT.—Dr. Glaister reported that for the four weeks ended February 25th, there had been 17 births (8 male and 9 female) and 4 deaths. The causes of deaths are stated to be, 1 male 6 years, diphtheria; 1 female, 60 years, nephritis; 1 male, 9 hours, atelectasis pulmonum; 1 male, 30 years, phthisis. There have been no cases of diphtheria, or other infectious disease, and the one referred to at last meeting is now nearly convalescent.. Some conversation ensued as to the matter of enforced isolation, in which Mr. Bramley asked whether such persons could not be assisted by the Guardians, Mr. Turner also remarking on the strange law which seemed to prevent them. Mr. J. Hargreaves referred to his previous statement that the Guardians are precluded by law from relieving any person not in distress, and able to work. If the man was afflicted, then they could assist him and his family, but not where the family were affected and the man prevented from working by order of the Board.

HIGHWAYS.—The chairman of the Highway Committee reported that the committee had inspected the streets and roads under Mr. Bulmer and Mr. Nichols, and expressed great dissatisfaction with them. Rothwell streets being in a disgraceful condition, and they urged that something must be done in the matter. Other members joined in the same opinion, and it was resolved that Mr. Farrer be asked to test and value the roads, in order to see what condition they are in as compared with their state when contracted for.

The clerk read a letter from Mr. Terry the Commissioner in the late Inquiry, suggesting certain alterations in the plan of the proposed engine and store house, with an estimated cost and specifications.

The clerk also drew attention to the Inquiry about to be held (as advertised last week) respecting the Divided Parishes Act. The chairman stated that he had attended a large meeting of Carlton ratepayers and it was agreed to send two overseers to represent Carlton and Lofthouse at the Inquiry on Monday. He stated that the yearly rate at Carlton amounted only to 3/2 and at Lofthouse to 3/6 in the £. (Mr. Sanderson inquired if the Carlton roads were very good?) Mr. Holmes thought that Monday would be a favourable time to broach the proposal for extending the Local Board's boundary, after the Inquiry respecting this Divided Parishes Act was concluded, and previous to the Inquiry at Leeds respecting the amalgamation scheme. Mr. Newsome heartily concurred in the suggestion. The chairman feared there would be some opposition from Carlton and Lofthouse Mr. Sanderson thought there was greater probability of Rothwell and the two neighbouring townships being formed into a compact Union. Mr. Turner urged that they might at any rate enter into the matter of enlarging the Local Board district, which could not do any harm at all. It was then resolved on the motion of the chairman and Mr. Bramley —That Messrs. Holmes, Oliver, and Turner, represent the Local Board at the Inquiry on Monday, along with the three overseers.

It being thought desirable that a local man be employed as engine driver, the chairman proposed that the Board advertise in the Rothwell Times for a driver for the steam roller at 4/8 a day, and 1/6 extra when absent from home; seconded by Mr. Newsome and carried.

WATER.—It was resolved that steps be taken for ascertaining what houses, if any, are still unsupplied with water, with a view to taking such action as may be necessary. Mr. Turner remarked on this matter, that the public were left without water for some time last Thursday, to their great inconvenience. The chairman stated that unfortunately the Inspector was taken ill at the time, and a mistake occured. Mr. J. Turner urged that when it was necessary at any time to turn off the water, the intention should be advertised in the Rothwell Times so as to give everyone an opportunity of laying in a supply. Mr. Bramley also mentioned the inconvenience of property owners not having stop taps, and it was resolved on the motion of Mr. J. Hargreaves and Mr. Bramley, that stop taps be attached to all property connected to the water.

ABSTRACTS.—Of the several tenders received for the removal of ashpit contents, Mr. Blessby's estimate was accepted for Stourton at £48, the Board to find disinfectants, moved by Mr. Bramley, seconded by Mr. J. Hargreaves. The offers for the Rothwell portion being unsatisfactory, it was resolved to advertise again. Mr. Turner being neutral.

The clerk having written to the Leeds Corporation against the acquisition of a site near Thwaite Gate for the erection of a small pox hospital, read a reply, simply acknowledging its receipt by the Town Clerk.

FINANCE.—The collector reported having received and paid to the treasurer the following amounts during the last fortnight:—

Water Rents	36	7	0
Miscellaneous	9	19	4
	£132	1	9½

ROTHWELL TIMES---FRIDAY, FEB 29, 1884

AMALGAMATION SCHEME.

The scheme propounded by Leeds for the dissolution of Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley Unions, and the formation of one large Leeds Union for all, has been so long and so often before the public that we need scarcely go very fully into it. The meeting held last Friday, in the Rothwell Board school-room.

Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, chairman of the Board, presided, and there were also present, Guardians Parker, Aaron, 'Pickersgill, Lawton, Sutcliffe, Sanderson, and Mr. Schofield, the clerk.

The audience was not large, owing partly to the short notice given, and also because of the dramatic entertainment on the same evening.

The chairman remarked that their object was to secure the approval of the ratepayers in their opposition as a Union to the Leeds proposal, which they considered as unjustly and unworkable, as injurious to the interests of the ratepayers, and a hardship to the poor. By the Leeds proposal, the different descriptions of poor would be separated into Hunslet, Burmantofts, Bramley or Holbeck workhouses, without regard to family relationship, and the relief would be administered by guardians who were utterly unacquainted with the persons who applied for assistance. The poor rate in Leeds is 8d., whereas in Hunslet it is only 7d; the cost per head in Leeds is 2/9, in Hunslet it is 2/2, and altogether it was directly to our disadvantage to accede to the proposed scheme.

Mr. Lawton then proposed the resolution "That in the opinion of this meeting, the proposal to dissolve the Bramley, Holbeck, and Hunslet Unions, and amalgamate all the townships comprised in those Unions with Leeds is unwise, and would be prejudicial to the interests of the poor." He remarked on the fact, that in Leeds the cost per inmate is £2 10s. 0d. per head, and in Hunslet £1 18s. 6d., showing that it would not be economical to go to Leeds, and he also felt, that three miles for a poor person to walk was plenty, without having to go nearly 6 miles to a Leeds workhouse. Although the Hunslet people get a very nice thing out of Rothwell, it would be still worse if we went to Leeds.

Mr. Aaron seconded the resolution, and suggested that a relief section might be arranged for the out-townships, so as to reduce the hardships of applicants as much as possible.

Mr. T. Hargreaves supported the resolution. He was quite sure this district could not bear anything more in the shape of rates. He thought the Leeds Board could hardly manage their own affairs, let alone other peoples'

Mr. Sanderson while not desirous of going to Leeds, was not very well satisfied to remain where they were, and preferred, if it could be, to have a small rural union of our own. He thought only about one fourth of the poor rate really went to the relief of the poor.

Mr. J. R. Seanor expressed his pleasure in seeing the Hunslet Guardians, and would be glad to see them more frequently. He hoped the proposal of Leeds would not be adopted, and echoed the suggestion of Mr. Aaron to have a relief section at Rothwell.

The chairman replied that the Guardians visited the poor in the out-townships twice a year, and that the old people who regularly receive assistance are not expected to come to Hunslet.

Mr. Turner, jun., would like to know how much Rothwell contributed to the poor rate, how much goes to the poor, and what becomes of the balance? The chairman believed Mr. Turner would be able to get the information if he applied for it.

Mr. W. Hargreaves, as an ex-guardian of Wortley, had often been pained for old or sick people to walk 5 or 6 miles. He opposed going to Leeds, though he was not very well satisfied with their present state. If Rothwell can get a Union of her own—well, but at any rate we must oppose the scheme for going into Leeds. He would like the Guardians to come over four times a year instead of twice. The motion was put and carried.

Mr. Councillor Pickersgill said that if he could see that they would gain anything by going to Leeds, he would go, but it was all the other way. No doubt the Union got a good slice out of Rothwell, but if they went to Leeds they would lose still more. He also reminded the Rothwell people that they had large works at Hunslet, and a numerous population requiring their coal, their stone, &c., so that it was not all disadvantageous to be near a large town. He proposed that a memorial be prepared and forwarded for signature by all the ratepayers in the district, against the dissolution of the Union and its amalgamation with Leeds. Mr. Sutcliffe seconded the resolution, and took occasion to remark on the excellent chairman that Rothwell had sent to the Board, considering it was a credit to them to send such representatives and they ought to be proud of him. The resolution was put and carried.

A vote of thanks to the chairman was then proposed by Mr. Dixon, seconded by Mr. Lawton and carried.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence in thousands of cases, because it contains more nutritious and health-forming elements than any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa usually sold. OUTLON-WITH-WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

The last meeting of the Board prior to the triennial election was held on Friday evening last, the members present being Mr. Jackson the chairman, the Rev. A. J. Irvin, Messrs. C. E. Hoyle and J. Nowell. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the clerk read his monthly financial statement which was as follows:

Balance from last month		72	14 4
School Fees for three weeks		5	6 7
Bank Interest	..	5	5 3
Rent of School for Work class	..	0	14 0
Grant	..	110	0 5
Balance in hand on 21st Feb., 1884.		£197	10 6

Cheques amounting to £52 0s. 11d. were drawn for teachers' and officials' salaries and accounts.

Mr. Parkin had an interview with the Board relative to school matters. It was resolved that boards shewing the daily attendance at the schools be supplied to each department.

The clerk produced a report of the work of the Board during the past three years which he had prepared. The report was adopted and ordered to be published for circulation amongst the ratepayers. It is now in the hands of the printer and will shortly be ready for distribution. Any ratepayer who is wishful to obtain a copy can do so on application to the clerk.

Mr. Nowell moved that the thanks of the Board be given to the chairman for the impartial and courteous manner in which he had always discharged the duties of his office. Mr. A. J. Irvin seconded the motion, which was unanimously carried. Mr. Jackson thanked the members of the Board for their expressions of goodwill, also for the amicable manner in which they had always supported him in the chair. The proceedings then terminated.

PARISH TEA & ENTERTAINMENT.

The parish tea and entertainment held in the Mechanics' Hall on Tuesday was somewhat of an innovation for Rothwell church people, but was eminently successful in every way.

The tea, which was a most excellent one, was provided by Miss Abbishaw, and reflected great credit on her ability in that direction. Towards the cost, the following ladies and gentlemen subscribed 5s. or 10s. each, so that the entire profits £13 10s. is devoted to the re-furnishing of the National Schools:—Mrs. Rawkes, Mrs Arkwright, Miss Glover, Mr. Sanderson, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Tennant, Mrs. Armitage, Mrs. Nicholls, Mrs. Thos. Smith, Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. Drew, Mrs. T. Hargreaves, Mrs. Oliver, (Carlton,) Mrs. Appleyard, Mr. Oliver, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. J. Breen, Mr. Jowsen, Mrs. J. Wright, Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Alsop, Mrs. Dobson, Mrs. T. Armitage, Mrs. R. Batty, Mrs. S. Hargreaves, Mr. Harrison, Mrs. Webster, Mr. Craven, Mrs. Clayton.

The entertainment, which was included in the charge for the tea, commenced at 7 o'clock, the hall being crowded in every part, all present being immensely gratified with the programme provided.

The Rev. F. Fawkes, the Vicar, made a few suitable remarks previous to the concert, expressing his pleasure in meeting so many friends at this first "parish tea," and also referring in friendly terms to the presence of many who were not members of his congregation.

The programme was opened by Misses Stead, in a pianoforte duet "Le jet d'eau," which was very well played. The Rothwell Choir Glee Party contributed two glees in their usual creditable manner, "The winds whistle cold" and "Comrades in Arms." Mr. Wood assisted in his two songs, "The skipper and "The storm fiend," the latter of which was warmly re-demanded. "The gauntlet" being presented in its place. Mrs. Gilstrop kindly undertook "The arrow and the song" and "Love, I love you ever," and Miss Nicholls also contributed "Oliver," and "Mr. Bankes, &c.," which she sang very sweetly and tastefully. Masters Harnes introduced a pleasurable variety into the programme by their very interesting of "We are two roving minstrels," and well deserved the praise they received. This may be said to bring to a conclusion the more serious and sentimental songs, in which list should be placed, however, the well delivered recitations by Mr. W. Wright; "The wounded Scout's Head" and "Parted for Lynch;" the latter being given on a recall, and both rendered with touching emphasis. Mrs. Audsley sang "King Cophetua" with effect, and joined Mr. Harnes in the comic duet "Love and Pride," which they scored a decided 'hit,' and were loudly encored, delighting the audience with the sweet "Gipsy Countess." Mrs. Harnes joined her husband at a later stage in rendering the duet "Very suspicious," fully maintaining their previous successes, and giving as an encore "When ye gang awa." Mr. A. Batty, who is always a welcome visitor to Rothwell audiences, also gave two or three of his comicalities including "Mrs. Jones' musical party," "For goodness sake don't say I told you," which were most loudly applauded. The cleverly enumerated Yorkshire witticisms given by Mr. G. H. Pitt bristling with sharp wit and broad humour, will be vividly remembered. Others who contributed were "Poolts," "Trew Railroad" and "Old Daudles" and no small portion of the amusement provided is due to Mr. Pitt's readings on this occasion.

After a vote of thanks had been given to the performers, on the motion of Rev. A. J. Irvin, seconded by Mr. T. Hargreaves, the National Anthem was sung, and the people dispersed.

WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

Triennial Election.

The usually calm and placid village of Woodlesford was on Monday last the scene of unwonted excitement and bustle, and it was abundantly evident even to the casual wayfarer, that something unusual was taking place. Our readers are of course aware that this something was the election of the third School Board for the township of Outlon-with-Woodlesford. "For this occasion only," as theatrical folk would have it, the villagers were to be provided with "the very best," event of a modified kind, and a very spiritedly contested el ction too. On the two previous occasions when it had been necessary to elect the Board, matters had been so arranged between the two parties generally supposed to constitute the body of the ratepayers, namely, Churchmen and Dissenters, that the turmoil and excitement of contest had been avoided, the church being represented by three members, and the chapel by two, such being regarded as an equitable proportion. This time, however, the fates (or the ambition of certain parties) willed otherwise, and after a series of meetings, convened ostensibly for the purpose of selecting five candidates and thereby avoiding a contest, were held. As might have been anticipated from the nature in which the meetings were got up, they one and all failed in their object, the result being that no less than fourteen gentlemen were nominated to fill the five seats on the Board; the following being the names of the several candidates: the Revs. R. H. Hamilton and A. J. Irvin, Messrs. C. E. Hoyle, Jas. Flockton, S. W. Higgins, W. Holdsworth, C. F. Hoyle, J. Nowell, E. Stead, W. Thompson, S. Dalton, J. Nicholls, T. A. Flint, and D. Farrer, by some inadvertency in the nomination papers of Messrs. Dalton and Nicholls, these gentlemen were rendered ineligible, and the nominations of Messrs. Nowell and Inman were in too late to be of service. Mr. Stead afterwards retired from the contest, thus reducing the number of candidates to nine.

The campaign having once been opened, several of the candidates set to work in a vigorous manner to canvass the electors, which was continued up to the afternoon of the day of election.

The principal question at the time, and upon which the electors were asked, was the alleged extravagant policy of the retiring Board, it having been freely stated that the cost of the schools was unnecessarily high, and that the salaries of the teachers and officials were greatly in excess of the amounts which might with advantage be expended.

The voting took place in the boys' department of the Woodlesford Board School, Mr. Hamilton being the clerk to the election, and Mr. Hunslet Nelson, being the returning officer, who was assisted by Mr. John Cockerham, the collector, and Mr. H. Parkin, master of the boys' school. The polling commenced at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and continued with varying degrees of briskness until five in the afternoon, when, several of the candidates put in an appearance at the polling booth from time to time during the day, and were evidently watching the result with interest and probably suspense, the progress of the battle.

Speculation was of course very rife as to the probable issue; the candidates apparently most favoured being Messrs. Hoyle, Holdsworth, Nowell, and Farrer, and the Rev. A. J. Irvin, while Mr. Flockton was thought by some to possess a fair chance.

Much uncertainty was expressed as to the effect of the candidature of the Rev. R. H. Hamilton upon the chances of the Rev. A. J. Irvin, who was admitted on all hands to be one of the most eligible candidates, but it was generally thought that the presence of two clerical candidates in the field would prove dangerous, if not fatal to the prospect of both.

Immediately after 5 p.m., the counting of the votes was commenced, and was continued without intermission until the whole of the papers had been gone through. The counting took place in the presence of Messrs. Flockton, Higgins, Holdsworth, Hoyle, and Nowell, and the Rev. A. J. Irvin, and was completed about a quarter past six o'clock, when the result was announced and announced to those present by Mr. Nelson, who afterwards declared the result of the poll to be as follows, the number of votes recorded for each was as follows:—

J. Nowell	..	367
C. E. Hoyle	.. ..	230
Rev. A. J. Irvin	..	219
W. Holdsworth	.. ..	175
W. Thompson	.. ..	124
J. Farrer	.. ..	109
Rev. R. H. Hamilton	..	100
S. W. Higgins	..	95
W. Thompson	..	95

It will thus be seen that the three members of the retiring Board who offered themselves for re-election were returned at the head of the poll, while the two gentlemen who had been proclaimed the successful nominees of economy, and who had been most lavish in their promises of retrenchment, found their positions at the bottom of the list, the result showing that the great majority of the electors have confidence in the ability of the retiring members to conduct the affairs of the Board and the management of the schools with that happy combination of economy and efficiency which can alone secure a lasting success, and in this work they will receive the hearty co-operation of their newly elected colleagues, Messrs. Holdsworth and Flockton.

Out of a register of considerably over 500 voters, only 293 went to the poll, a circumstance due in a great measure no doubt, to the inclement weather which prevailed during the day. It is to be hoped that in case of future elections the carelessness of the voters will be more manifest than on the late occasion. One very gratifying feature of the election, and which reflects credit upon the intelligence of the voters, is the small proportion of papers (only 7 in number) which were out of 293 were rendered invalid by the imperfect knowledge of the method of voting possessed by the electors, a fact which, in the case of the first one with which mistakes may be made, coupled with the novelty of the proceeding, must afford much satisfaction to all concerned.

The public will doubtless watch with interest the proceedings of the new Board, and we take this opportunity of assuring the members that we are making arrangements by which reports of the meetings will appear regularly in our columns.

LOFTHOUSE.

Sacred Concert.—On Wednesday the 13th inst, a concert of Sacred Music was given in the Wesleyan Chapel by the Lofthouse Church Choir, assisted by Mrs. Crawford, (the Vicarage, and Master Hardaker, (Solo Chorister of Leeds Parish Church). The Choir sang "Hail the Glory." For unto us," "Lift up your heads," "Worthy is the Lamb," "Hallelujah," (taken from Handel's Messiah,) and the Anthems, "Sing unto the Lord," (Dr. Roberts,) and "O taste and see," (Sir John Goss,) were given with telling effect by the choir, consisting of 38 voices. Mr. B. Marshall (organist and choirmaster) accompanied the solos with great taste, and Mr. George Goodair, (organist at Outwood Church,) accompanied the choruses in a most efficient manner. Mrs. Crawford pleased the audience by her splendid rendering of "Angels ever bright and fair" and "He shall feed his flock," both of which were encored, and Master Hardaker sang "The Chorister," "How beautiful are the feet," and "I know that my Redeemer liveth," with a full rich voice and good taste, giving great satisfaction to all present, especially was this the case in his last solo, when the boy sang with an evident grasp of the beauty and meaning of the words. Mr. John Irving took the tenor solos, "Comfort ye," "Every Valley," and "But thou did'st not leave," all of which he sang with great taste and feeling, and Mr. Samuel Gold-thorpe sang the alto solo "O thou that tellest" very well indeed. The concert was concluded with Sir Michael Costa's arrangement of "God save the King," Mr. Crawford taking the first verse so solo, the second verse being taken in unison by the whole choir, and the third verse being taken chorus. Undoubtedly the choir is one of the best in the district, and contains material wherewith with practice and perseverance a good sound organisation for the execution of Church music may be created.

DRAMATIC PERFORMANCE.

Last Friday evening, the large hall of the Rothwell Mechanics' Institute was well filled with a fashionably dressed audience, to witness one of those efforts of amateur dramatists, which prove so successful and entertaining in the past.

The programme presented on the night in question, was quite up to the mark, if not beyond, anything which has preceded it, and although several of the performers were new to the work, all went smoothly as a marriage bell.

The opening play was Theyre Smith's Comedietta, 'A Happy Pair,' representing Mr. and Mrs. Honeyton, (Dr. Purdy and Miss Wilson,) two young people who being very fond of each other, get married. Before the honeymoon is well over, Mr. H. begins to tire of the constant endearments of his wife, and treats her in a very rude and harsh manner. Jealousy and discontent, despondency and revenge follow, but eventually the imaginary cause is explained, and love resumes her place in both hearts, on which happy termination the curtain drops.

The second portion of the entertainment was the representation of the late Tom Taylor's Comedy 'Nine Points of the Law.' Being in one act, the scenery and surroundings remained the same throughout, pourtraying a room in the house occupied by Mrs. Smylie, (Miss Wilson,) who how perhaps the heaviest part in the play and acquitted herself remarkably well. Mrs. Smylie explains to her niece Kate (Miss Stead) and the young lady's lover, John Brinton, (Mr. W. Lees,) a young solicitor, that the charming little cottage in which she has spent so many happy years now belongs to a Mr Ironsides, (Mr W. Wright,) a harsh and hard Lancashire cotton spinner, who having sent two very peremptory notice by letter for her to leave, has now announced his intention of coming in person to see about her giving up possession. During the interview, Joseph Ironsides, who hides a sterling heart under a rough and brusque exterior, is played upon by Mrs. Smylie, who affects the meek and disconsolate widow so well, that Joseph sides after a vain endeavour to be hard and firm in his purpose of immediate ejectment, finally gives her 3 months longer to prepare for it. In an interview with Cunningham, Mr. Ironside's lawyer, (Mr A Batty,) Mrs Smylie overhears the lawyer, and goes to inform him on to make love to her, and promises to play his employer's case into her hands. Mrs. Smylie has another suitor, one Hodsmont (Dr Purdy,) an alcoholic who has spent a long time in Mexico, and is a thorough Texan in manner, and believes the charming widow to be a good catch. Ironsides meets Hollingstone in the widow's house, and recognises him as a man who tried some time before to worm himself into a trade connection, but sees through his designs on Mrs. Smylie, which he determines to try and frustrate. Mr Ironsides, accidentally overheard this scene, comes forward, declares his love, and is accepted: Miss Lees very nicely represented the 'maid.'

The third part of the programme consists of H A Jones' Comedietta, 'A Bed of Roses,' laid principally in the villa of Mr Peter Vellacott, situate on the Higher Thames. Mr Vellacott, (Mr W Wright) is a city merchant, of a most cross-grained temper, which is mostly expended on Bailey, (Mr A Batty) his valet, but also finds an object in George Dalyson, his medical attendant, (Dr Purdy.) Dora Vellacott, his daughter (Miss Wilson) carefully tends her crotchetty sire, and is frequently found in company with Amy Brendon, (Miss Stead), and on one occasion it leaks out that more than friendship exists in the heart of Dora towards Dalyson. By reason of Vellacott's ill manners and discontent, Dalyson resolves to leave his patient, and the announcement reveals to the two, their unspoken attachment. Just previous to the final parting, Chas. Vellacott, (Mr W Lees,) son of the old man, returns to the precincts of the homestead, having been forbidden three years ago, ever entering the house again, and after the re-kindling of his love formerly existing between Charles Vellacott and Amy, an effort is made by Amy to reconcile the father by his prodigal son, and after the re-kindling of love between Charles and Dora, the old man accepts the inevitable. The acting was most effective, and was equally creditable to all concerned.

The scenery for the occasion was well painted, the work, we understand, of Mr Wright and Mr W Lees, the management of the stage resting on Dr Purdy, who carried all off with great success.

When all did their parts so well, it is both unwise and unnecessary to single out any one performer, and each according to his or her part, fully earned all praise.

Mr. Goodair, of Outwood, pianist, Mr. J. Wormald, violinist, and Mr. T. Wormald, flautist, formed an agreeable little orchestra, and most enjoyably filled up the intervals between each part.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Primitive Methodist Chapel Anniversary.—The annual sermons in connection with the Rothwell Primitives were preached on Sunday last, by Alderman Baker, to good congregations, on Shrove-Tuesday, a public tea was provided, to which a good number sat down, followed by the annual meeting, when Mr. J. R. Seanor occupied the chair. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. F. Smith and Mr. Hall, and other friends. Collections were taken on each occasion towards the Trust Fund.

Carlton Temperance Hall.—On Saturday last, a public tea was provided, to which a large company sat down. After tea, a concert was given; and a very good audience was present, the principal vocalists being the Misses Day, Birstall; Miss E. A. Hargreaves, Gildersome; Mr. D. Tilley; Mr. W. Varley, and others. Mr. J. Naylor was the pianist, and Mr. S. Goldthorpe conductor. Dr. Sewell presided over the meeting. The concert is also on Monday, Feb. 25th, a public meeting was held, the chair being occupied by Mr. E. Hampson, of Rothwell, when addresses were delivered by the Messrs. Judge and Hodgson, of Leeds, the room being nicely filled.

Messrs Charlesworth's Collieries.—On Tuesday last a Gaiful Ventilating Fan for ventilating the workings of the Beeston Pit, Rothwell Haigh Collieries was started about 10.30, a.m. The fan and engines have been constructed by Messrs Bradley & Craven, engineers, Wakefield, the fan being 40 feet in diameter, and capable of drawing 200,000 cubic feet of air per minute. There were several gentlemen present at the start, amongst whom were Jos. Charlesworth Esq J. W. Embleton Esq. John Craven Esq and Messrs A. Rickards, T W Embleton Junr H Embleton, W Hargreaves J Hargreaves and Walter Hargreaves The fan gave great satisfaction in running, and no doubt will continue to do so: this is the sixth fan of the Guibal type which has been erected at Messrs Charlesworth's Collieries.

Dr. Glaister's Lecture.—The eighth lecture by Dr. Glaister on the 'Human Body,' was delivered on Monday evening, in the Rothwell Mechanics' Institute. The last of the subjects to be taken up in the course was opened, viz., 'the stomach and digestive organs.' The various sorts of food were first explained, and the processes of digestion accomplished in the mouth demonstrated, and, having seen the food prepared for the stomach, and carried to the involuntary portion of the tongue, it was left there, and its further treatment will be explained in the two succeeding lectures.

STOURTON.

Shrove-tide Tea at Stourton.—A very successful tea and concert was held in the Board School, on Shrove Tuesday, in aid of the St. Andrew's Sunday School. Over 150 sat down to tea; the room was crowded for the concert, which was very enjoyable. The local artistes were assisted by friends from Leeds, Silsil, Hunslet, and St. Stephens', Burmantofts, &c. Over £3 will be cleared for the Sunday School Fund; the teachers undertook the management of the tea. After an address by the vicar, the concert commenced, and consisted of glees by the choir, songs and duets by Misses Neshaw, Alsop, Weslaw, and Smith, and Messrs. A. Charlesworth, Day, Smith, Kirby, and Leary, and a pianoforte duet by Miss Holmes and Mr. Atkinson. The performance concluded with the National Anthem.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.

On Saturday last, a Dioramic Entertainment was given in the above hall, by Mr. R. Turley, by the aid of his Oxy-hydrogen Lime-light Apparatus, the views being principally illustrative of "Christ's Old Origin." The story is very beautiful, and from it many lessons can be learnt. Old Treffy, through this instrumentality of a mere child, being pointed to the cross of Christ, is sufficient to encourage even the most faint-hearted. The entertainment concluded with a few moving views, all of which were very good, and reflect great credit upon Mr. Turley for the successful working of the apparatus.

On Sunday, the Yeadon Life Boat Crew visited the hall, and held services in the afternoon and evening, which were very well attended, and we trust that their efforts may not have been without avail.

FOOTBALL.

Rothwell B. S. v. Doncaster Temperance.—This, the return match between the above clubs, was played off at Doncaster on Saturday last, and resulted in a win for the home team by 3 goals to 1. The home captain won the toss, and chose to play with the wind at his back. Rothwell kicked off, and soon fast play started the game, the ball travelling all over the field, but ultimately settling down in the visitors' quarters, a goal was eventually obtained by Dora. From the kick-off Rothwell made a fair run, but the good defensive play of the home backs prevented their scoring. After some give and take play, the home forwards scored their 'second point. Half-time was called, and a regular downpour of rain commenced, which had the effect of settling the wind. The game now became more even, and some smart runs were made by the Rothwell forwards, A. Ward and Harrison, in particular distinguishing themselves in this respect, and one or two capital shys made, which proved unsuccessful. A good run by the home forwards followed their lines, and a splendid run again lowered the visitors, colors. After the kick-off Rothwell seemed determined to score, and shys were again made, but without success, until from a fine pass by Harrison, Lewis did the needful, which proved to be the only goal scored by the visitors, and so the result of the game was declared in favour of Doncaster as stated above.

Oulton v. Sheffield Wallby.—Played at Sheffield, and resulted in a win for the home team by 2 goals to 1.

Hunslet Wesleyans v. Yorkshire Rovers.—Played on the ground of the former last Saturday, and at the close of the game victory rested with the home team by 5 goals to none.

HARRIERS.

Harriers.—These harriers met at the Rose and Crown Hotel, Methley, on Saturday last. The hares, J F Simpson and J W A Horn, set out at 3.55. The pack, led by Rose, soon got on to sixteen hares, passing the Church, to Methley Junction, then along the turnpike to Cutsyke, from here to Glasshoughton, where a sharp turn to the right soon minutes later, brought the pack to what is known as the 'Sandholes,' where the trail led underground for about 50 yards, then out again, coming to Red Hill. From here the pack passed through Castleford, along Lock Lane, taking the fields to Allerton Bywater, and along a footpath to Methley Stanton, then to the Royal Oak Inn, where the finish was found. A good half mile home. The whole run, 6 miles, having given the word to race, Fathin went to the front, but was quickly passed by Wood and Rose. A. H Simpson, of Hunslet, and F Jones, who came in as named, the rest arriving at intervals. The hares reached home at 5.30, and the pack at 6.00. A good quick pace was kept the whole of the run, which was about 13 miles.

HUNSLET TIT BITS
By Punch and Judy.

I am glad to chronicle that a genuine 'Tit bit,' in the shape of a gold medal, the highest award that was ever conferred upon a firm by Messrs. Kitson and Co., of Airedale Foundry, for their tramway engines, has at last found the finger of some justice to point at. Not only are these engines running in the United Kingdom, principal among which is the Hunslet Company, but in New Zealand, New South Wales, Queensland, and Victoria, they are also doing duty. It is to be hoped that this enterprising firm, whose works are just opposite the Hunsletotffice of the Rothwell Times, will be largely patronised by the Australian colonies throughout our Indian empire, as well as by those in the Australian provinces.

What is this I have heard? Is it true, Mr. Editor, that the 'out-townships' of Hunslet are kicking up their heels and turning up their noses, not only against annexation to Leeds, but continued amalgamation with Hunslet. Hunslet is just now playing a trump card, and I should say, shuffle for 'Home Rule,' and surely the out-townships will not desert her in her hour of need. "Those who are not with us are against us," is an old proverb, 'What does Shakespeare say apropos of this amalgamation scheme,' asks Judy. I confessed I could not for the moment remember. Judy knew the ills we have, than fly to others that we know not of," she said. Out-townships, please note.

I understand that there will be a big political demonstration in Hunslet in Easter week. The political purpose to again show to the world the faith that is in them, and to pledge their undying fealty to the 'grand old man.' Mr. Barran has already promised to orate on the occasion, and young Herbert will also probably put in an appearance and say a few words in favour of "Pa's" Government. Will that blessed time ever arrive again spoken of by some poet or another, when 'few were the parties, and all were the same.' "The sooner the better, say I. This without pronouncing pro or con as to the merits of Liberalism v. Conservatism.

I paid an unexpected visit last week to the Hunslet Workmen's Institute, and was glad to look round. I was very courteously granted the privilege. I must congratulate the Guardians as to the manner in which the place is conducted. Everywhere was perfect cleanliness and order, together with an air of apparent cheerful submission to the duties imposed upon the inmates. From a minute examination I made, I am convinced that the present building is quite ample in accommodation for years to come. Mr. Williamson may sleep in peace on this question.

... ...

Thena is a paper printed somewhere in Leeds which professes to be strongly opposed to the amalgamation scheme. This same print assumes to itself the championship of the cause of the people 'south of the river.' Its leaders lately, though rather incomprehensible, have evidently aimed at strongly opposing the amalgamation. But singular to state the proprietor, who chances to be a Leeds Guardian, spoke and voted in favour of amalgamation at the Leeds Board meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Has Peter one face for Leeds, and another for Hunslet and Holbeck?

Coming Events for next week include the fourth and last of the Popular Concerts, which take place in the Mechanics' Institute on Tuesday evening, when Signor Foli (or Foley), the Irish Italian, will be the principal star.

ROTHWELL & THE HUNSLET UNION.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Sir,

Being wishful to ascertain to what extent Hunslet is benefited by connection with the out-townships, I some time ago moved for a return of receipts and payments for the half year ending Michaelmas 1883, which after some opposition from the Hunslet members I succeeded in obtaining, and as they may perhaps be interesting to some of your readers, I send you the particulars applying to Rothwell, which are as follows:—

Contribution to Common Charges	£369
Amount of Out-door Relief	199
Cost of Maintenance in Workhouse	21
Total Relief, exclusive of establishment charges	£311

Yours truly,

The First SCHOOL BOARD and the Building of the WOODLESFORD SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

During the past fortnight various statements, more or less incorrect, have been in circulation with reference to the action of the first School Board for this district in the letting of the building of the Schools. Will you permit me through your columns to give publicity to the following facts, which will probably do much to remove the misapprehensions which exist in the minds of many of the ratepayers on this matter.

It will doubtless be remembered that tenders were asked for the execution of the masonwork in both local and Idle stone, it being the opinion that the superior durability of the latter would justify the additional outlay, providing the difference between the two was not too great.

After considerable discussion and revision of estimates on the part of contractors, the final tenders were as follows.

T. Flows,	do.	1686 0 0
Appleyard Bros.	do.	1663 0 0
do.	Idle Stone.	1843 0 0
T Flows.	do.	1887 0 0

Mr. Higgins did not give an estimate for Idle-Stone, but I may say that he informed me at the time, although it may since have escaped his recollection, that had he done so, he should have added £500 to his estimate, such being the difference, in his opinion of the relative cost of the two classes of stone.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant.
ROBERT J. SMITH

LINES TO A. B.

Your performance last night was to me a delight,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you;
Your good witticisms pleased the audience quite,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.
Your rap at old Gladstone did not so well take,
He can make your true Blues in their shoes to shake;
At their mutterings & spluterings he never will quake,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.

The Liberals in Rothwell are not going down,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you;
They have now got the finest club room in the town,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.
The club it is now in a prosperous state,
If you'd like to join now's the time, do not wait;
If you'd like to join forr a leader Old Gladstone the great,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.

Your musical party was quite a success,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you;
Your hit at the Railway may make the time less,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.
Your properties and bookstall are at Leeds we can buy,
Our Groceries too at new masts we can try,
Old Roddill is trade and then bid good bye,
But for goodness sake don't say I told you.

"TOWN TALK" AND THE TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Dear Sir,

I shall feel much obliged to you if you will allow me a short space in your next issue to make a few remarks as regards the Rev. N. Y. Z.'s letter relating to the late Temperance bazaar. He begins by stating that it would have been better if the temperance people had kept their pen still, and not let the public know all our grievances. I think, Sir, no one has more right to know these points than the public, as the bazaar money from the public is buy material for the bazaar; the public came and bought out our bazaar; the public support us in all we do; why should they not know how we have been treated. I for one, Sir, feel glad that you have given the public a chance to judge for themselves whether they have treated us with respect or not. I should just like to ask your correspondent to take it home, and see whether he would have written in the same manner in which he has, if his wife had been working hard for twelve months, and then this generous Mr. Issues a ticket at a rate of censure to have been passed on her because she went where the majority told her to go. If his wife had the finger of scorn pointed after her as we have had, and the huffs and snuffs to take that we have had, I fancy he would have written to all the papers round. I say, Sir, that the men who took on the Bazaar Committee and turned their backs on us are not worthy the name of men; they would have treated their dogs a great

Friday, March 7, 1884.

An important statement was made by the Inspector yesterday morning, on taking his seat at the inquiry now proceeding in Leeds. He intimated that the Local Government Board might possibly consider from his report whether it would be possible to secure a union co-terminous with the borough. This idea, as was at once shewn by counsel, could not be entertained in the present inquiry, as the out-townships would be very seriously affected by any alternative scheme As will be seen, on a moment's consideration, if this suggestion were carried out, the whole of Hunslet, Holbeck, and other places now in the borough would become one Union, while Rothwell, Temple-newsam, and other out-townships now connected with one of the four Unions would be severed, and joined to one or other of the surrounding Unions. The further progress of events will be watched with considerable interest by all concerned. It behoves our overseers especially, to use every means in their power, to obtain all necessary information respecting adjacent Unions, so that if such a scheme is finally decided upon, we shall be prepared to take such action as may be deemed most conducive to the general welfare of the several places.

GOVERNMENT ENQUIRY.

On Monday afternoon James Stewart Davy, Esq., barrister at law, one of the Inspectors of the Local Government Board, held an inquiry at the Local Board Office, Rothwell, in the presence of Mr. James Hargreaves and Mr. H. P. Newsome, overseers of Rothwell; Mr. Thos. Harrison and Mr. J. Armitage, overseers of Lofthouse with Carlton; Mr. Wm. Lunn, a member of the Wakefield Board of Guardians; Mr. Wm. Lawton, a member of the Hunslet Board of Guardians; Mr. Wilson, clerk of the Wakefield Sanitary Authority; Mr. J. Farrar, agent to Mr. Calverley, of Oulton Hall; Mr. T. Hargreaves, who appeared for Messrs. J. and J. Charlesworth, colliery proprietors, the largest ratepayers in the district; Messrs. Joseph Holmes and John Turner, jun., who represented the Rothwell Local Board; the following officials connected with the Local Board, Mr. J. Tennant, solicitor, Mr. S. Hargreaves, clerk, Mr. A. Marshall, collector, and Mr. Starkie, surveyor; Mr. B. Marshall, assistant overseer for Lofthouse and Carlton, and Mr. Parker, assistant overseer for Rothwell.

The enquiry commenced promptly at half-past two, when Mr. Davy briefly stated his object in holding the enquiry to be, to consider the proposals issued in a provisional order by the Local Government Board "to extend the district of Rothwell by the inclusion of all those parts of that township which are not at present included in the Local Government district, and to hand over to the Rural Sanitary District of Wakefield Union that part of Lofthouse and Carlton which is at present included in the Rothwell Local Government district." There was no opposition to the proposal to add six parts of Oulton, which are surrounded by Rothwell, to the Local Government District.

There are two or three small pieces of land belonging to Rothwell which are now included in Lofthouse with Carlton, but as certain formalities had not been complied with, this re-arrangement could not be completed.

Two pieces in Lofthouse with Carlton which are now included in Rothwell Local Government district, are also intended to be transferred to the Wakefield Union, but Mr. Wilson objected to the proposal until he had consulted with the authorities. He said that he did not apprehend any opposition. The proposal would be considered at the next meeting of the Rural Sanitary Committee, and their decision would be at once communicated to the Local Government Board. Mr. Davy intimated that he would recommend the alteration. On the motion of Mr. James Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. James Armitage, the Inspector was thanked for his courtesy and attention during the enquiry. The enquiry which only lasted half an hour, then terminated.

"AMALGAMATION."

RATEPAYERS' MEETING.

A meeting was held on Friday evening in the Mechanics' Hall, Rothwell, to further consider what action should be taken by Rothwell and the sister townships at the inquiry which was to be held in Leeds on the following Tuesday, as regards the re-arrangement of the union boundaries.

The meeting was an excellent representative one, there being prominent ratepayers from Temple Newsam, Oulton, Woodlesford, Stourton, Carlton, Lofthouse, Thorp and Rothwell Haigh, besides a large number of Rothwell people.

After considerable delay, occasioned by the non-arrival of Mr. Swales, who, it was expected would take the chair, the promoters prevailed on the Rev. F. Fawkes, the vicar, to occupy the chair.

Mr. Fawkes expressed his reluctance to take the chair on this occasion, as he was entirely unacquainted with the purposes of the meeting, although he was always ready to do anything he could for the good of Rothwell. So far as he was concerned, he would, however, gladly welcome any scheme whereby the rates would be reduced.

Mr. J Turner, June, as one of the promoters, said that this meeting was in no sense antagonistic to the previous meeting. The speakers at that meeting were interested in the preservation of Hunslet Union; they wished now to consider the best course for the out-townships to pursue. He further spoke in favour of taking this opportunity of getting away from Hunslet, and either joining some other agricultural Union, or endeavouring to form a new Union with Rothwell as the centre. If by exerting themselves at this time, they could improve their position, or lighten their burdens, it was their bounden duty to do so, and not to let any opportunity slip.

After a call for Mr. Sanderson, another promoter and overseer, who, however, was not then prepared to speak on the subject, Mr. Lawton was asked to address the meeting.

Mr. Lawton, referring to the object of the meeting, said that if ever there was an opportunity of getting away from Hunslet, during the last 15 years, it was now, when Leeds was trying to annex the smaller unions near her. He said that there were only two inmates in the Hunslet workhouse from Rothwell just now, and that if the other townships were added, they would only number six or seven. He gave the following statistics:—

	Amount contributed for rates	Cost of relief.
Hunslet	£267	33 0 0
Oulton & Woodlesford	360	116 0 0
Rothwell	209	211 0 0
Temple Newsam	563	139 0 0
Thorp Stapleton	11

He complained that the out-townships have been re-valued and the new basis has to stand, but when Hunslet is re-valued, a number of the large firms hand together, and obtain its overthrow. These twelve firms were up at £36,000, and there were 10 others ought to have been, but the thing has been stopped, and the Union had lost £100,000 rateable value, which would have made a great difference in the rates throughout the Union. He thought it was quite time the out-townships tried to go somewhere else. They were getting £2400 a year from Rothwell, and only about £400 came back again in relief; surely they might do better than that, but they were not going to Leeds for it.

Mr. T. Hargreaves, as representing Messrs. J. & J. Charlesworth, quite agreed as to the hardships under which they laboured, but he would like to know how they were to get out of the difficulty.

Mr. Graveley, of Temple Newsam, in reply to a call, stated that they were trying to get out of it, and would be glad to be attached to Tadcaster, which Union they joined. The overseers had instructed Mr. Appleton, solicitor, to watch the inquiry on their behalf. Although the Temple Newsam people would not see their way to go with Rothwell in the proposal of the bill, they were very wishful to get out of Hunslet, but on no account did they desire to be attached to Leeds. He very much feared the Local Government Board would not listen to a proposal for a separate small Union.

Mr. Batty further pressed the question as to the best way to get out of the difficulty.

Mr. Lawton suggested that the overseers might withhold a portion of the rate, and thus force an enquiry. Rothwell had no right to pay on a new valuation which Hunslet would not accept. Let Leeds and Hunslet act within their own boundaries, and let the out townships keep their own poor. They did not like to pay 2/7 when 7d. will do.

The chairman having to leave at this moment, intimated his opinion that they should memoralise the Local Government Board on the subject, and ask for relief. He then proposed that Mr. Sanderson take the chair, seconded by Mr. Oliver, and carried.

Mr. Sanderson recapitulated a good deal of what had gone before, urging the injustice of calling on the out-townships to pay so much more than they benefitted, but also expressing fears as to the probability of being able to form a separate Union.

Mr. Lawton believed the overseers of Rothwell had a perfect right to appoint a solicitor to watch the interests of the ratepayers at the Inquiry, and to pay the cost out of the rates.

Mr. T. Hargreaves expressed his great disappointment with the meeting, as he had hoped some plan would have been submitted by the promoters for getting out of the difficulty.

Mr. J. Oliver, as one of the promoters, said that their object in calling the meeting, was to get the other townships to join Rothwell, in considering what would be the best means of getting out of this grievance, and for the benefit of the poor of the different parishes.

In reply to Mr. B. Batty, Mr. Graveley said that any gentleman representing a body of ratepayers might speak at the inquiry.

Dr. Nowell, replying to Mr. W. Abbishaw, said that the out-townships had been forced into the Union with Hunslet, and he thought it probable we should be compelled to go into Leeds eventually.

Mr. J. Hargreaves said that the out townships, with Messrs. Charlesworth, protested strongly against being compelled to go with Hunslet, one gentleman in the room having been on a deputation to London to urge arguments against it.

It was finally proposed that the overseers of Rothwell be asked to instruct some solicitor to watch the inquiry in the interests of the ratepayers. Mr. T. Hargreaves seconded The chairman, as an overseer put the motion after some delay, and it was unanimously carried. After the best thanks of the meeting were then given to the Rev. F. Fawkes and Mr. Sanderson for acting as chairman; moved by Mr. Lawton, seconded by Mr. Jas. Hargreaves.

OUTLOOK WITH WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

The first meeting of the Board after the triennial election was held on Tuesday evening, the members present being the Rev. A. J. Irvin, Messrs. W. Flockton, W. Holdsworth, C. F. Hoyle, and J. Nowell. The clerk opened the proceedings by reading the returning officer's certificate of election, and then called upon the members to appoint their chairman and vice-chairman.

Mr. Hoyle proposed that the Rev. A. J. E. Irvin be elected chairman of the Board. Mr. Holdsworth proposed as an amendment that Mr. Nowell be elected chairman, and Mr. Flockton seconded the amendment. After some conversation on the subject, Mr. Nowell stated that he would rather not be chairman and therefore would second Mr. Hoyle's proposition. A division being taken Messrs. Holdsworth and Flockton voted for the amendment, and Messrs. Hoyle and Nowell and the Rev. A. J. Irvin for the proposition. The clerk declared the proposition carried, and the Rev. A. J. Irvin duly elected.

Mr. Hoyle proposed and Mr. Flockton seconded, that Mr. Nowell be elected vice-chairman of the Board; carried unanimously. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. It was resolved that the ordinary meetings should be held on the last Friday in every month at 6 o'clock p.m.

Mr. Nowell gave notice that at the next meeting he would move the following resolution:—"That the salaries of Miss Castle and Miss Abbey be reduced after due notice to that effect; and that the offices and duties of the clerk and attendance officer be performed by one person, he receiving a salary for the two duties.

The clerk raised the question of the reports of the proceedings which had hitherto been forwarded by him to the Rothwell Times, and stated that he had occasionally been prevented by other business from sending reports in time to appear in the current issue of the paper, thus causing irregularity in the appearance. After some discussion, it was resolved that Mr. Marshall should be requested to attend the meetings and report proceedings.

The clerk produced the returning officer's account for expenses incurred during the recent election. The amount was £20 12s. 7d., which was ordered to be paid.

Mr. Hoyle wished that a return of the quantity and price of coal supplied to the schools during the past 12 months might be laid before the Board. The clerk undertook to have it in readiness for the next meeting.

LECTURE ON ELECTRICITY.

The last of Mr. Seanor's lectures on Electricity this session, was given on Monday evening last, in the large hall of the Mechanics' Institute, and although the weather was considered unfavorable, a good audience assembled, who were, we think, well repaid for their effort by the very entertaining lecture provided for them.

Mr. Seanor's remarks in the first part of his lecture, were devoted to electro-magnetism, and afterwards to the various ways in which electricity is used as a motive power.

The experiments, as usual, attracted much attention, and were of a very interesting nature, especially those with the electric bells, which were shewn to advantage as a means of 'calling,' and also as a capital thief detector, as they may be fixed to any door, window, or even under the woodwork of the stairs; this was well illustrated when the lecturer opened an old wooden desk as though he required its contents, and in another part of the room an electric bell was started in full force. The construction of the telephone and microphone, with the process of producing motive and illuminating power for domestic purposes was well described and heartily appreciated; while the minor illustrations and some of those given at previous lectures were well received.

At the close, the Rev. C. A. Collingwood proposed in a few well chosen words, that the best thanks of the meeting be given to Mr. Seanor for his lectures during the winter, which being suitably seconded by Mr. W. Wright, was carried with applause.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. ROTHWELL TIMES---FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1884.

THE PROPOSED AMALGAMATION OF THE UNIONS.

THE INQUIRY AT LEEDS.

The above important inquiry was opened on Tuesday in the Civil Court of the Leeds Town Hall. There was as might have been expected, a good attendance of the Leeds, Rothwell, Holbeck and Bramley Guardians; together with the gentlemen learned in the law, who had been specially retained to look to and after the interests of their respective clients. The Leeds Union had secured the services of that very able "limb of the law," Mr. Lawrence Kane, of whom it may be truly asserted that he has a luminous mind, ready wit, and remarkable power of speech. The Hunslet Guardians are represented by Mr. Shaw, barrister, an elderly gentleman with a leonine expression of countenance that betokens a massive intellect and an iron will. Though Mr. Shaw has many years ago passed the meridian of life, he is hale and hearty, and a doughty champion of Hunslet interests. He has an able and diligent junior in Mr. Emsley, solicitor to the Board, who is presenting or posing on his senior as to the various 'points' in favour of his clients. Mr. Simpson appears for Holbeck, and he is certainly a gentleman who is 'all there.' Holbeck has secured an admirable champion in this gentleman, who is no novice at the business, a thorough legal bull dog. In examining, Mr. Simpson (of course figuratively) seizes his victim, and holds him between his teeth till the exercising wires whistle and wriggle in mental agony, while he (Mr. S.) remains as cool as a cucumber. Mr. Warren, the legal gentleman employed by the Bramley Board, bears a name that is a household one in Leeds. He has many of the attributes of an excellent counsel, but suffers at times slightly, by allowing his temper to bubble to the surface. Nevertheless he is an admirable advocate, and in his hands the case of the Bramley Guardians will not suffer for want of an astute defender of their vested interests. There are also a number of other legal gentlemen present, including Mr. Malcolm, who represented the Leeds overseers; Mr. Tetnant, the overseers of "otherwell; Mr. Child, the overseers of Bramley and Armley; Mr. Balmer, Armley overseers; Mr. Appleton, Temple Newsam overseers; Mr. Bowling, Wortley overseers, and Mr. Greenwood Teale, the overseers of Gildersome; so that the Local Government Board Inspector, Mr. Dare, had quite an imposing array of legal talent surrounding him when he came to commence proceedings.

Mr. Dare's opening statement was a calm, cool, and collected resume of the events that had led up to the inquiry—from his point of view. It was in brief as follows:—In 1880 he had considerable attention to the inadequate state of the Holbeck Workhouse, and recommended amalgamation with Hunslet. The Holbeck Guardians strongly opposed, and obstructively were allowed to borrow and expend £10,000 in extending workhouse accommodation. Subsequently Holbeck wished to acquire Littleton Pool, Hunslet, to which the latter objected, and made an application to the Local Government Board asking that one of the Local Government Board Inspectors should be sent to examine into the boundaries of Hunslet and Leeds, and Hunslet and Holbeck. On the second of March, 1883, he held an informal inquiry, and the result was that the Board decided nothing could be done to carry out the definite proposals of the Hunslet Guardians. Now comes the proposal of the Leeds Guardians to amalgamate the four Unions.

Mr. L. Gane stated the case of his clients with that fitfulness that he is a master of, and the skill of which he is an adept. The four Unions as they now exist, were founded in 1869. But the Leeds Guardians though conscious of certain disadvantages, did not stir until Hunslet presented its memorial. He went on to argue that the whole district was 'one family,' and that no special member of that family should reap the advantages of light, or suffer the burden of extra heavy rates. He said it was admitted that a change was necessary, and of course he considered that submitted by his clients was the best.

Mr. John King, the Clerk to the Leeds Union, was the first witness called. This gentleman is a study; he poses with an air of nonchalance, as if the question to him at least, was of comparatively little consequence. Of course under the clerkenship of Mr. Bairstow (Mr. Gane's junior), the witness would uphold the proposed amalgamation as one for the best interests of the ratepayers at large. He himself had not the slightest interest in advocating it—therefore he! Personally he was opposed to it, but as a ratepayer he thought it would be for the public good. This remark provoked a ripple of titters from some apparently incredulous people present. The most striking point about Mr. King's examination by Mr. Shaw, was not the wonderful deal of things he did know, but the very many things he did not know. He did not know that four out of the six townships of Hunslet were out of the borough of Leeds. He did not know that the establishment expenses in Leeds were £2466; he had counted them up the previous night and had only made them £1000; he did not know what was paid in Hunslet; he did not know that while Leeds paid 2s. per head of the population, Hunslet paid 1s 4d. or 1s 5d. per head.

On Wednesday morning, Mr. Rowley, civil engineer, was the first witness. His evidence dealt more particularly with the mineral wealth of the different Unions. Being the official valuer of the Leeds Union, his evidence was, as might be expected, of a decidedly partizan kind. He affirmed that the minerals of Leeds were being rapidly exhausted. But in Hunslet there were 850,000 tons of coal raised every year by five firms; in Holbeck 85,000 tons by two firms; and in the Union of Bramley, 180,000 tons by five firms. A well-question was going into the area of the proposed Union this mineral wealth, which he considered would be a matter of great value. Mr. Tennant, the acknowledged that the men employed in the Rothwell pits resided in the district, whereas many resided at Scarton some were Rothwell and others employed by Leeds firms. He added, in reply to Mr. Shaw, that two of the seams at Rothwell had been worked out, while that of the Main was almost so. The impression conveyed by Mr Rowley was that the principal portion of Rothwell Haigh Coal goes into Leeds; this, as Mr. Tennant showed, is per fectly incorrect, perhaps only about one-fourth of the thousands of tons raised per week, going into the town, the greater portion being carried to various other districts.

Mr. Kinz, the Leeds Union Clerk, at noon again submitted himself for cross examination. As on the first day, he essayed to appear supremely unconcerned. His answers were, repeatedly, of an Hibernian kind—namely, by asking other questions; so much so indeed that, once or twice he had to listen to rebukes from counsel. Mr. Shaw asked him, good humouredly, if he would undertake, as Clerk, the management of the proposed new Union. He carefully replied it would not depend on his position. "I did not say you that," pursued Mr. Shaw. "Do you mean," said Mr. King, "if I had the opportunity?" "Yes, I might." "At the present moment you have full work on your hands" queried Mr. Shaw. "I have plenty to do" rejoined the clerk. "The addition of these three Unions would overweight them" remarked Mr. Shaw. "I don't know that it would!" quickly replied Mr. King.

Mr. Simpson, on behalf of Bramley, examined Mr. King. He had no doubt but what it would considerably increase the poor rate, but possibly would be "levelled out." But he did not think that Leeds would be "levelled down." He was one of the deputation that had waited on Sir Charles Dilke, president of the Local Government Board. Sir Charles had not pointed to West Derby as a large Unionthat there was an application to have it divided. A good deal of argument and contention sprung out of this question.

Mr. Warren produced the newspaper report of the speech of the president of the Local Government Board; and Mr. King did not dispute its correctness, though it most decidedly told against his contention. But he affected to think otherwise. Mr. Warren pursued his examination relentlessly, and as Mr. King showed signs of levity occasionally, he remarked to him "Answer the questions, Mr. King; you are a witness, not a performer." And such a performer!

The Rev. Charles Bagshaw followed the Clerk as a witness. He is Hon. Sec. of the Leeds Charity Organisation Society, but his evidence was of little importance.

Mr. Joseph Lupton, J.P., of "The Elms," Potternewton, an ex-officio Guardian of the Leeds Union, was the next witness. His principal point was that amalgamation would induce "men of intelligence and standing" to become candidates for the position of Guardians. He had however a very bad quarter of an hour of it with Messrs. Shaw, Simpson, and Warren. Mr. Warren plied the cross-examination with such questions which soon proved that his practical knowledge was simply nil. He was in conclusion asked if he was present at the meeting when Mr. Cockburn said that the Leeds Guardians would be "asses" except they assented to a certain view? Mr. Lupton said that he was. "Well then," said Mr. Shaw, "that their conduct would be assinine." Mr. Lupton was'nt aware. "Who made that remark" asked Mr. Shaw. "The Inspector, "Does it much matter?" Great Laughter followed from everybody except Mr. Cockburn, who could'n see where the joke came in.

A Mr. W. S. Shepherd was the next witness. He is "a woollen rag merchant," and occupies a house at New Wortley rated at £11. His "warehouse" or "warehouses" are the Leeds Railway Stations. He has been a Guardian for Bramley, but had not sat his full time. He has suffer'd for three years and nine months and then had to resign. Mr. Simpson said he would not press him for the reason why. Had he ever entered an action against the Bramley Board of Guardians? "Yes." "For how much?" "Five shillings." "For what?" For bill distributing at an election." Much laughter followed this statement which was referred when in reply to a further question that he was nonquited! He further acknowledged that he was the author of the anonymous letters which had appeared in the Leeds papers in favour of amalgamation.

Mr. John Hall Thorp, who followed, is certainly a man of standing, and presumably of intelligence also. He gave his evidence without the least degree of reluctance—a trait of the smallest possible kind. On general principles he considered that it would be an advantage all round for the various Unions to be merged into one.

The chief witness for the Leeds Union on Thursday was the chairman of the Board of Guardians, Mr. Cockburn, and he did not figure to much advantage. He had, he said, carefully considered the Amalgamation scheme, and was in favour of it. He even went so far as to declare that he 'emphatically' believed that Hunslet and Holbeck would benefit by its adoption. I personally attended over the seven examination to the witness's wife, and all over the seven examination to Mr. Cockburn, and he did not figure to much advantage. He had, he said, carefully considered the Amalgamation scheme, and was in favour of it. He even went so far as to declare that he 'emphatically' believed that Hunslet and Holbeck would benefit by its adoption. I personally attended

Rothwell Times,

Friday, March 14, 1884.

THE time of election is at hand. On all sides we hear the sound of coming conflict and the distant hum of war-cries.

As regards the election of members to the Board of Guardians, no doubt the crucial point will be the assessment business, and especially is this subject interesting and important to out-townships, remembering the figures given at last Wednesday's meeting, where out of £7,000 advance on the rateable value of the entire Union, Rothwell is mulcted in £5,000 of it. Our present Guardians are Mr. Jas. Hargreaves (chairman), Mr. J. Parker, (vice-chairman), and Mr. Lawton, and a more active and highly esteemed representation we could hardly have. Nominations may now be made as directed by the bills, and returned before the 26th March. We hear the possibility of having a contest for this post, an occurrence which has not taken place for many a year.

Closely associated with this Board, is the ancient office of overseer, the three gentlemen honoured with that post have the pleasure (?) of laying the poor rate, but have no say in the distribution of it. Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, Mr. J. Sanderson, and Mr. J. P. Newsome are the present overseers, and represent the several portions of the district. By the active part taken at the late inquiry in securing a hearing for Rothwell through their able solicitor, Mr. Tennant, they have at any rate done one useful and far-reaching good deed, and in face of the enormous payments we are called to make to the Board of Guardians and to the School Board, our future overseers should have all their wits about them.

With the matter of Local Board elections we are now pretty well conversant, and need say little more than that the retiring members are Messrs. Jos. Holmes, J. Sanderson, and S. Bramley, three very useful members, each in his way, and representing respectively Stourton, Royds Green, and Rothwell. Everybody takes it for granted that there will be a contest, and we suppose there will. Any voter may obtain a nomination paper from the clerk to the Board, such papers to be returned before four o'clock on March 26th. Voting papers will be delivered on 31st March, and collected on the 4th April, the counting up and declaration taking place on the 5th April.

EGYPT AND THE SOUDAN.

DEFEAT OF OSMAN DIGNA.

Telegrams were received yesterday from Suakim, announcing that the anticipated battle between the British forces and Osman Digna commenced at daybreak. It was a severe and even desperate engagement. The Arabs fought with an utter recklessness of life, and great bravery By overwhelming numbers, they for a time checked the advance of the Second Brigade, some of the English guns being left in their hands. Ultimately, however, they were repulsed with great slaughter. The guns were recaptured, and Osman Digna's camp was occupied. The English loss is officially stated to be 70 killed and 100 wounded. The Arab loss is estimated at 3,000 killed. The Queen has telegraphed to General Graham her congratulations on his success.

THROAT IRRITATION & COUGH.—Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation. Give the cough and effort to the voice. For these symptoms use Epps' Glycerine Jujubes. In contact with the glands at the moment they are excited, the silt of sucking the Glycerine in these agreeable confections becomes actively healing. Sold only in boxes, 7½d., tins 1s 1½d., labelled "JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London." A letter received: "Gentlemen,—It may perhaps interest you to know that, after an extended trial, I have found your Glycerine Jujubes of considerable benefit (with or without medical treatment) in almost all forms of throat disease. They relieve and clear the voice.—Yours faithfully, GORDON HOLMES, M.D., Senior Physician to the Municipal Throat and Ear Infirmary."

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The ordinary meeting of the above Board took place on Wednesday afternoon, present —Mr. Jas. Hargreaves (chairman), Messrs. J. Graveley and J. Parker, (vice-chairmen), and Messrs. W. Lawton, W. Sutcliffe, G. Butterworth, G. Jepson, J. Pearson, R. Pickersgill, B. Aaron, G. Sheard, J. Dixon, and G. Greaves, with Mr. Schofield, clerk to the Guardians.

The relief subjects and settlement cases occupied the time of the Board from two o'clock, far into the evening, and it was not until nearly eight o'clock that the more public business of the Board was brought forward.

AMALGAMATION INQUIRY.—As soon as this subject was mentioned, it was evident that most of the members had got thoroughly satisfied with the large slice of their last week's time, which was occupied by this question, and although one gentleman jokingly moved that the clerk give an exhaustive report of the four days' inquiry, it was with evident gratification that the Board saw this really important question passed over in comparative silence. A slight discussion, however, arose on a collateral matter. The clerk intimated that the Leeds Board had expressed perfect willingness to join the other three Unions in the expense of securing verbatim copies of the entire inquiry, information which was, of course, gratifying to all the members. Mr. Dixon thought the report should be printed for the general public benefit, and proposed that the other Unions should be asked if they would agree to have a number of the reports printed. Mr. Parker agreed with the idea, and seconded the motion. Mr. Pearson and Mr. Lawton did not see the need for it, especially as was stated by some members, that the cost would be rather heavy. The clerk concurred in the item of expense, and doubted whether they could be printed and ready for circulation, before the present Board went out of office. Mr. Dixon, after this statement, expressed a wish to withdraw his proposal, but as his seconder declined to do so, the motion was put and lost, five guardians voting for it, seven against.

CONTRACTS.—The clerk having reported that the contracts are nearly run out, it was proposed by Mr. Aaron, seconded by Mr. Pearson and carried,—that tenders for provisions, &c., no advertised for; also cost per thousand for printing voting papers. It was also resolved on the motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Graveley,—that the advertisement be inserted in the Leeds Mercury, Yorkshire Post, Rothwell Times, and Hunslet and Holbeck News.

ELECTION OF GUARDIANS.—Mr. Schofield stated that for the convenience of Rothwell ratepayers, he had asked Mr. Marshall if he would receive the nominations for guardians, as Mr. Parker lived away from the bulk of inhabitants, and that he (Mr. Marshall) had agreed to do so.

BOARDING OUT.—The relieving officers presented reports of the seven children boarded out with foster parents, all of which were very satisfactory.

RATEPAYERS' MEETING AT ROTHWELL.—Mr. Pearson drew attention to a bill, the contents of which he read, which referred to a meeting held at Rothwell on Friday week. It had been agreed that the Board should hold meetings at Hunslet and Rothwell for protesting against the Leeds Amalgamation scheme, and so far as he could gather, such a meeting had been held, properly called, and sufficiently well attended. when a resolution against the Leeds proposal was passed. Another meeting had been held (as per the bill before him) on the following Friday, which seemed to be antagonistic to the resolution passed at the previous one; he wished to know if any Guardians had assisted in calling the meeting, and who had spoken at it.

Mr. Lawton rather warmly replied that he had not had anything to do with calling the meeting, nor had he intended speaking, but finding the promoters had nothing to bring before the people, he spoke on certain matters, but had not said anything contrary to the resolution against joining Leeds.

The chairman said he was present in the audience, and believed the meeting was convened by individual ratepayers, and that nothing was done against the resolution passed at the previous meeting.

Mr. Lawton further replied that no guardians were responsible for the bill, it was not a matter for Hunslet ratepayers. If a number of Rothwell ratepayers wished to meet on any subject, he supposed they had a perfect right to do so.

Mr. Aaron wished to know how he (Mr. Lawton) had been led to the meeting; Mr. Lawton, of course replied, by the bills, and that until he saw the bills he had no knowledge of the matter.

Mr. Pearson thought that if any Guardian had to do with the bill, or had spoken against the Hunslet resolution, that faith had been broken with the other Guardians. On being asked why he brought this subject forward, (the ratepayer) to attend this meeting. Mr. Lawton, who said he had thought only of the Guardians who were present, wished to qualify his remarks as regards the bill, by speaking only for himself, Mr. Graveley and the chairman The matter then dropped.

STONE BREAKING.—Mr. Lawton having understood that the test men had no stone to break, urged that some means should be taken at once to provide work for them. The chairman said the Local Board was using a great deal, and some arrangement might be come to with them. It was then proposed by Mr. Lawton, seconded by Mr. Butterworth and carried, that the clerk write the Rothwell Local Board and the Aireside Co. as to having their road material broken at their workhouse.

NEW COUNTY RATE.—Mr. Lawton referred to the fact of other Unions opposing the excessive rateable value put down by the County Authority, and thought that this Board should also oppose. Although this suggestion was, after discussion, not carried out, the following figures were given during the conversation. The county rate basis for Hunslet Union in 1884 is £209,147 while in 1881 it was 201,333 but as the chairman remarked, nearly £5000 of this is in the Rothwell township. The county rate charges on the out-townships for the half-year is £846 5s. 9d., an advance of about £250 on the previous one, mostly caused by the heavy amounts required for highway maintenance, repairs of bridges, &c. We lean also that the following items are comprised this heavy charge.

an advance of 7,814

	General Rating Rate.	Police District B	Total
Oulton & W.	128 3 2	50 14 5	178 17 7
Rothwell	263 7 9	104 4 1	367 12 7
T. Newsam	103 15 7	57 7 0	161 3 7
T. Stapleton	5 1 10	2 16 3	7 18 1
	£504 1 2	£252 4 7	£846 5 9

Bitter complaints were made by Mr. Lawton, that so much should be paid by Rothwell to the County Rate, and still no benefit be received for our roads.

ASSESSMENT REPORT— Mr. Lawton wished to raise another question A new rate would shortly have to be made, and so far as he knew, the Assessment Committee were just where they were a year ago, no report having been made, while out-townships (and 'in' too, perhaps) were paying heavy rates. Mr. Pearson rose to order, and rebutted the charge of shilly shallying, and thought Mr. Lawton should wait till the Committee had made their report etc. Mr. Lawton held to his remarks and proposed that the Assessment Committee be requested to report to the Board the present position of the new valuation. After some delay, Mr. Aaron seconded the motion. The chairman then put the resolution which was carried, Mr. Lawton, Mr. Aaron, and Mr. Sheard voting in favour, Mr. Dixon against, the majority remaining neutral.

Mr. Schofield promised to have the report ready for next meeting.

TREAT.—Mr. Greaves having assisted the master in looking after the children and old people on Saturday afternoon, when the manager of the Grand Theatre gave a free invitation to the inmates of the workhouse to attend a performance at the pantomime, said that all had enjoyed themselves greatly.

The usual returns and lists of wants were then passed.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

A special meeting was held on Friday last in the Board Room, present—Messrs. W. Hargreaves (chairman), J. G. Turner, J. R. Senior, J. Batty, and the clerk.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL.—There being no replies to an advertisement for an assistant master at this school, the clerk was instructed to advertise again for male or female assistant at £65 and £40 respectively.

It was also decided to accept Miss E. Langstaff, of Woodlesford, as a candidate pupil teacher (on trial for a month.)

ROTHWELL HAIGH SCHOOL.—The report on this school is eminently satisfactory in all three departments, the girls' and infants' having gained the highest "merit" grant possible, while the results in the boys' school are very gratifying.

BOYS' SCHOOL.—Of 119 presented, 110 passed in reading, 102 in writing and 99 in arithmetic, an average of 87 per cent; the earnings are £113 3s. 0d, being 18s 3d per head.

GIRLS' SCHOOL.—There were 134 presented, and 124 passed in reading and writing, and 111 in arithmetic, or 89 per cent; the total grant is £110 13s. 6d., or 19/5 per head.

INFANTS' SCHOOL.—Here Mrs. Dobson still retains her high character as a teacher, and presented 99 competent infants, realising a grant of £81 13s. 6d. or 16/6 per head within 6d. of the maximum grant per head possible.

The following pupil teachers have earned a second class grant, Miss Fieldhouse, Miss Holmes, Miss Gill, and Master Parkin. Miss Fieldhouse has also successfully completed her apprenticeship, has been accepted as an assistant in the infants' school. Miss H. E. Holmes having passed her candidate's examination is accepted as a pupil teacher for four years.

STOURTON.

ENTERTAINMENT.—On Saturday last, the young men of the Stourton Wesleyan Sunday School gave their first entertainment in aid of the Band of Hope funds. The place was well filled at the commencement. After the chairman, Mr. Fieldhouse, had made a few remarks, the young men were called upon to give their 'Joybells.' After some few songs, to give their 'Joybells.' After some few songs, recitations, &c., the 'Great unknown' subject came on. About 12 young men retired into a vestry, and were called in their turn to give two reasons why they were called 'scholars and elgars.' Mr. Kale 'young men smile at the mention of love,' was accepted as judge. In the second part of the programme a dialogue entitled "Mrs. Meiggs' last trouble" was rendered very well, and fairly brought down the house. The total amount realized is about £5. Mr. F. Parkin accompanied the singing, while Mr. A. Smith conducted.

RATEPAYERS' MEETING.—At a large and influential meeting of ratepayers of Stourton and Rothwell Haigh, held at the Queen Hotel last night, Mr. J. Swales in the chair, unanimous vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Joseph Holmes for his valuable services rendered to the district in the past three years on the Rothwell Local Board, and he was unanimously selected as the candidate at the forthcoming election. A sub committee was also appointed to arrange for a series of meetings at Stourton and Rothwell, to secure the re-election of Mr. Holmes. At the same meeting a vote of thanks was unanimously passed to Mr. John Parker for his services on the Board of Guardians, and he was again asked, and consented to allow himself to be nominated for re election in April next.

STOURTON HARRIERS.—These harriers met at the Midland Hotel, Woodlesford, on Saturday last. The 'trail' was dispensed with, owing to the small accommodation. The route taken was past the Brewery to Astley, Stanley, then along the park side to Astley, from here to Allerton, across the ferry, through Micklemoor and Methley, then across country to Woodlesford. The run was about eight miles, and the time one hour. R Hill made the pace, and A. E Simpson, (capt.) officiated as 'whip.'

Holloways Pills.—The greatest Boon of Modern Times.—These searching Pills act directly on the liver, correct the bile, purify the system, renovate the blood, strengthen the stomach, increase the debilitated, strengthen the nerves, and reinstate the weak to an ardour of feeling never before experienced. The sale of these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, convincing the most sceptical that there is no Medicine equal to Holloways Pills for removing the complaints which are incidental to the human frame. They are indeed a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to those who suffer from any disorder, internal or external. Thousands of persons have testified

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The fortnightly meeting was held on Monday evening, present:—Messrs. W. Hargreaves, (chairman) J. Holmes, J. Sanderson, J. Oliver, J. Hargreaves, S. Bramley, J. Turner, H. P. Newsome, and the clerk, collector and surveyor.

The minutes of last meeting were read, and also of several Committee meetings, which before being confirmed, gave rise to some discussion.

The Building Committee drew attention to the practice of submitting incomplete plans, one of which was specially referred to at this meeting, which was characterised as little short of an insult to the Board, and it was eventually ordered to be returned for correction.

The Highway Committee, acting as the Highway Authority for John o' Gaunts (the new piece just added to the Board's district) recommended the repair of the road included in this addition, at a cost not exceeding £35

The ordinary business of the Board then proceeded.

ENGINE DRIVER.—For this post there were seven applicants, most of which were generally suitable, and after considerable discussion, it was agreed, that four men selected, be requested to attend at the next meeting of the Board.

It was also resolved that the cover for the engine be purchased of Messrs Brown and Rintoul, of Leeds.

BOARD'S DEPOT.—A plan was submitted for a warehouse for storing engine and other road apparatus, to be erected on the reservoir ground; the size of the building will be 24 ft. by 36 ft., and 14 ft. high. Mr. Turner was rather in favour of the engine roller and stores being kept in the town, while Mr. Bramley demurred to the cost of a brick building, and suggested wood. The chairman felt sure that the department would not lend money on a wood shed; he also pointed out to Mr. Turner, the inconvenience, danger, and unpleasantness of having the engine steaming through the town morning and evening, and believed their own land near the reservoir was on all accounts the most suitable and central. Mr. Newsome seconded the motion proposed by the chairman, that the plan, with estimated cost (£100) be sent to the Department for approval. Carried; Mr. Turner neutral.

CHURCH STREET.—Mr. Turner introduced the subject of completing the flagging of Church Street, as well as to go on with other flagging which was greatly needed in the town. The chairman while agreeing with the great need there was for considerable outlay in the town, urged Mr. Turner to delay his proposal till after the new Board is formed, and a new estimate made. The clerk also intimated that the Board's funds for these purposes are already exhausted, and as this work was not included in the previous estimate, it would be well to leave all extra expenses, and consider them when preparing the next estimate. In reply to a remark by Mr. Holmes, Mr. Newsome said that crossings were now being put in the causeway in Carlton Lane, with pavers already in hand.

NUISANCE REMOVAL.—In reply to the advertisement asking for tenders, the Board resolved on the motion of Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Newsome, to accept that of Mr. A. Nichols for £98 19s. 0d., the lowest tender.

TELL TALE.—On the motion of Mr. J. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. Turner, it was agreed that the clerk prepare a statement of attendances of members during the year ending March 25th next, and present the same at next meeting. Mr. Holmes and Mr. Bramley remained neutral, considering that a resolution of this description ought to be proposed at the commencement of the term, and not at the close.

FINANCE.—The collector reported having received and paid into bank during the last fortnight, the following amount:—

General District Rate	107	7	0½
Water Rents	16	14	5
Miscellaneous	26	18	6
	£147	0	5½

As the auditor is now very rigid about all rates being paid in before the close of the half year, a resolution was unanimously passed empowering the collector to summon any persons in arrear—for rates or water rents. All out-standing accounts ought therefore to be paid in at once, so that, if possible, legal proceedings may be averted.

DRAINAGE.—Mr. Holmes remarked on the evident purpose of the Leeds Corporation draining from the cemetery into the main in Leeds and Wakefield Road, at Stourton, and enquired whether the Board has any power to prevent them. The clerk promised to look further into the subject.

It was agreed, while on the drainage question that the Sanitary and Sewage Committee arrange for a visit to the outfall works at Lemonrood.

WATER.—Mr. Holmes also referred to the disadvantage under which the tenant at the 'blanket house' labours, in being unable to get a supply of water. The clerk remarked that there was a distinct understanding at the Oulton and Woodlesford inquiry, that the Rural Sanitary Authority would supply water to the property on their line of water mains. It was also stated that taking water out of the main on the road, seriously injures the supply at the terminus. It is hoped, however, that an amicable arrangement will be come to.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence (unthickened) of cases, because it contains more nutritious and flesh-forming elements than any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa usually sold. When you ask for Cadbury's Cocoa Essence be sure that you get it, as shopkeepers often push imitations for the sake of extra profits. Makers to the Queen. Paris depôt, 90 Faubourg St. Honore.

"ROUGH ON RATS."—The thing desired found at last. Ask chemists, grocers, or oilmen, for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, beetles, roaches, flies, bugs, insects, ground moles, &c. 1s., 2s. 6d., and 5s. boxes.

THE AMALGAMATION INQUIRY.

The inquiry respecting the dissolution of the present four Unions, and the formation of a new large Union for the district now covered by the Leeds, Hunslet, Holbeck, and Bramley Boards, was continued on Friday morning before Mr. Davy, the Government Inspector, and in the presence of a large number of legal gentlemen, and members of various Boards of Guardians, overseers, officials, etc.

Mr. Wylie and Mr. Plaxton, clerks respectively to the Bramley and Holbeck Boards, having given evidence against the amalgamation scheme, the several counsel replied on the case, Mr. Shaw for Hunslet, Mr. Simpson for Bramley, and Mr. Warren for Holbeck.

Mr. Tennant said having obtained permission to address the Inspector, said, "On behalf of the overseers of Rothwell I propose to lay before you a few facts in opposition to this scheme of amalgamation as proposed by the Leeds Guardians. Rothwell, as you are aware, forms part of the Hunslet Union, and their case, as part of that Union, has been most fully and ably placed before you by the learned counsel for Hunslet; and as part of the Hunslet Union, we entirely concur in his opposition, but the Rothwell overseers feel that they have a separate and independent interest in opposing the scheme, and therefore desire to carry the case further. The evidence which I purpose calling is very short, and in order not to labor the case, I propose adopting the same course as that which the learned counsel who have preceded me, and call my evidence first and then comment upon it."

Mr. Simpson (interposing). "I thought we had concluded with the evidence.'

Mr. Tennant.—No, I intimated to the learned counsel for Leeds that on the part of the one that I intended to address the Inspector, and call witnesses in support of my statements."

The Inspector.—"As this inquiry has lasted longer than was anticipated, and it is desirable to close it as early as convenient. What is the nature of the evidence you wish to call?'

Mr. Tennant, (continuing).—It was stated, Sir, in the speech of the Leeds case that Rothwell and the other out-townships received considerable benefit and advantages from the borough of Leeds, and that as they received that benefit they ought not to object to the borough rates. I wish to point out that it is a minimum benefit that Rothwell receives, and that Rothwell return in favour of the borough of Leeds, shall call two witnesses, and only a king them two or three questions each, hope to dispose of them in a few minutes."

Mr. Tennant was then proceeding to call his first witness, when Mr. Simpson and Mr. Shaw suggested that to save time he should give his facts without calling witnesses. Mr. Gane not objecting, the Inspector assented to this course.

Mr. Tennant, (continuing).—"Then, Sir, I will state as shortly as possible a few facts and figures on our independent interest, and in the event of their being questioned by my learned friends, I will call my witnesses (who are here) to support them.

It was given in evidence that the coal raised in the Rothwell district found a market in Leeds. I now propose to prove that less than one-fourth of the coal raised in the Rothwell parish is consumed in the borough of Leeds, and that more than three-fourths is sent to a distance of 4 miles outside the borough. I also propose to prove that Rothwell and district is not at all a residential area for people carrying on business in Leeds. A considerable number of workmen residing at Stourton, which is near the borough boundary, but in Rothwell parish, work in Leeds, and it is the event of their being thrown upon the parish would become chargeable to the Hunslet Union. Rothwell is a Local Board and School Board district, Rothwell takes the Leeds water, out of which they Corporation no doubt gets a considerable profit. During the last twelve months the Local Board has paid to the Leeds Corporation £504 for water, and has also paid the Corporation £115 per annum for taking and disposing of the Stourton sewage. There are also two main roads one between Leeds and Wakefield, and the other between Leeds and Pontefract running through the district, which roads Rothwell repairs at a very considerable expense, and they are also used by Leeds manufacturers and firms to a great extent.

Rothwell is also liberally rated as compared with Leeds in other respects. For instance, a shop in Rothwell is 3s. 9d. per 1000 feet, although in Leeds it is less than half, viz., 1s. 6d. per 1000 feet. The Rothwell Local Board are paying to the Rural Sanitary Authority for Hunslet £206 per annum.

Rothwell is also a considerable loser by the Union much more than the other townships in proportion to the amount of relief its poor receive; and I propose to put in a return, and the learned counsel who is cross-examining will see by my entering into it at this inquiry. This is what I hinted at, Sir, when applying for permission to cross-examine Mr. Dowell. I stated that before you closed the inquiry I might prove to be an Ishmaelite.'

The Inspector.—It seems to me at present that Wakefield would be the Union to which you would most probably be placed. How far are you from Wakefield?'

Mr. Tennant.—'Five miles.'

Inspector.—'Are you near railway at Rothwell,'

Mr. Tennant.—'No, the nearest station (Woodlesford) is 2 miles, and the nearest station for Wakefield (Stanley) between 2 and 3 miles.'

Mr. Appleton, representing the overseers of Temple Newsam, presented a petition adverse to amalgamation, and suggesting that the new charge should take place the township might be annexed to Tadcaster.

Mr. J. C. Malcolm remarked that as nothing had been said in the course of the inquiry which affected the overseers of Leeds, for whom he appeared, he did not propose to offer any observations

Mr. Gane having briefly summed up the case on behalf of the Leeds Guardians, the inquiry closed.

HOW MANY PEOPLE SUFFER.

It is often remarked how many more people than formerly complain of feeling unwell. It is not that there is a greater prevalence of contagious diseases afloat, for there is proof that the extent and strength of such are far less than of yore, because of better sanitary arrangements and greater attention to cleanliness and other matters. The enormous prevalence of dyspepsia and indigestion; in the back, side, and chest; enervated and languid feelings; loss of energy; distress and fulness of the stomach, with often a sense of deadly faintness at its pit, which eating does not stay; sick-headsone, so called billiousness; unpleasant breath; a sense of weariness when rising in the morning, with an unpleasant taste in the mouth, and loss of appetite, or non-enjoyment of food. These are but the mildest effects of "feeling unwell," and yet how great is the distress and suffering, with hindrance to business and pleasure, they give rise to. The cause is not far to seek; it lies in the stomach and digestive organs, which have become impaired, to the distress of nearly all the other functions of the body. Assembly could the stomach always be kept in well-regulated condition through life, it would tend to far greater longevity than is now the case. The stomach is a wonderfully sensitive organ, and just as an erratic tendency on the part of a small but still important wheel of a clock leads to the dis-arrangement of its whole function at a time-keeper, so does the failure of so important a wheel as the digestive organs in the mechanism of the human frame throw, by their impaired vigour or inaction, all the parts depending on them—and they are legion—out of gear. Just as the wheel of the clock will require to be adjusted that accurate time may be kept, so must the impaired organs of the stomach be restored to their original vigour and healthy action, by increasing the flow and strength of the gastric juice, and this "Seigel's Curative Syrup" will effectually do. It will impart strength to the stomach, invigorate the liver, and impart tone to the bowels, to the greater enjoyment of life and health of all who use it; and that it is so may be testedby a perusal of the Testimonials in an Almanac, which will be furnished free of charge to any applicant by the proprietors, A. J. White (limited), 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C. The syrup can be obtained from any chemist or medicine vendor.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

ASSAULT AT ROTHWELL.—Another cowardly assault has been committed in our district this week, this time on Miss Clara Ellen Seanor, daughter of Mr. J. R. Seanor, by a young man at present unknown. It appears that on Tuesday afternoon Miss Seanor was visiting her sister, who resides at Rothwell Haigh, and when returning at six o'clock in the evening by way of Whiteley's quarries and across the fields, she noticed a young man following close behind her, and when she was about half way home, the fellow seized her as she was getting over a stile, and placing his hand over her mouth, with the words "I must hold o' you," a struggle ensued, and she succeeded in biting his fingers severely, and called loudly for assistance; whether the man was frightened or not is not known, but he ran off again into the hedge-bottom and ran away as fast as possible. The police have the matter in hand, and it is to be hoped the fellow will be arrested, and a stop put to these cowardly and alarming attacks.

PRESENTATION TO MR. S. ABBEY.—A large gathering of members of the Oulton F. C. and other friends took place on Monday evening at the New Manor Arms, Oulton. The occasion was the presentation of a splendid solid leather portmanteau to Mr. Silas Abbey, youngest son of Jabez Abbey, Esq., Oulton, who sailed yesterday from Plymouth in the 'British King,' bound for Auckland, New Zealand. Mr. R. J. Smith, in a very appropriate speech, made the presentation. He said he felt glad to do so, yet in its course there was fully mingled pain, inasmuch as the club would lose one of the best players that ever stepped on to a football field. He further referred to the very high esteem in which Mr. Abbey was held, and to the unfeigned sorrow many would feel at his departure. Mr. Abbey, who was visibly affected, returned suitable thanks. He wished every one present a life of happiness and prosperity, and begged them to accept his heartfelt thanks, which would come from the bottom of his heart. The only words wishing him a speedy and prosperous voyage, and God-speed in his new home. The remainder of the evening was convivially spent. On leaving Woodlesford station on Tuesday, a crowd had gathered to bid him good-bye, and wish him good luck on his long journey.

ROTHWELL MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—On Monday evening Dr. Glaister delivered his second lecture on the 'Stomach and digestive organs,' and although not a very lengthy discourse, it proved to be an interesting and useful one. The treatment of the food after leaving the stomach was fully explained, and in view of many useful directions and opinions thrown out by the doctor, we think the series of lectures must answer their desired end. Dr. Glaister's next lecture is the last of this winter's series, the whole of which have been so much more successful than any previous efforts.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We would particularly urge our friends to send in their letters and news, always as possible, as we cannot accept contributions later than Thursday morning at o'clock, except in the case of matters occurring on Wednesday or Thursday, which should be forwarded within a short period after. HUNSLET TIT BITS
By Punch and Judy.

An apology, or rather explanation is due to customary readers for the omission of 'Tit Bits' in last week's issue, and the reason is that I had a little touching the proposed amalgamation of the quarter of Unions, was the primary cause.

The fate of Beaconsfield, now, is like Mahomet's coffin, in a state of suspense. What will the decision of the Local Government Board be on the vital question? Will its future be swallowed up in annexation to Leeds, or will it have in the future a history of its own? Will it like Salford become a separate Parliamentary division sending its representative or representatives to the House of Commons? Why should it not?

The River Aire is a natural boundary between, and ought to be recognised as such, but there is much that 'no (outside) fellow can understand' in the decisions that are made in matters of this kind. Cabinet Ministers like Sir Charles Dilke are not gifted with sufficient brain power, and he is necessarily led by the advice of those who have his ear.

My own impression, and I was an attentive observer of the proceedings at the inquiry, is that some alteration is sure to be made. What it may fully be I dont like to guess at. But there is little doubt in my mind that when Holbeck Urban will be doomed to annihilation. Whether it will be added to the Kingdom of Leeds, or be added to that of Hunslet is as yet an insoluble problem. I certainly have a strong opinion that Bramley will remain in statu quo.

That the four Unions will be amalgamated is 'out of the running.' There was nothing whatever of any force said in support of that outrageous proposal. 'But bless,' says Judy, if that King gets his own way, in a little time we shall have a proposal to annex Bradford and Wakefield. But he won't, for Sir Charles is said to be a Republican, and consequently no lover of Kings.

I was present in the Council Chamber, in Leeds, when the big discussion took place, anent Roundhay Park and the granting of the license to the same. There was a 'crisis.' The gallery was full to overflowing. There were jolly publicans,—some rather too jolly—and lank fellowers, each and all intent on the struggle going on below.

Hunslet representatives were considerably to the front. Councillor Gilson was the first speaker who opposed the motion prohibiting the license, was present, calm, but resolute. By his side was 'Ald' who was going to vote on the opposite side to 'Peter,' so he was Councillor Atha.

Councillor Gelson, (who is a very distant relation of General Gordon), having 'delivered himself,' (that is Alderman Scarr's phrase, not mine,) and Alderman Tatham having awaken, there was another 'Peter' rose. He was for the time the observed of all observers. For a time he was rather feeble, but warming up, he got hold of Temperance v. Drink. Fate however was against him.

There was a peace and war discussion on Tuesday night, in the Friends Meeting House, Great Wilson Street, Hunslet. A Mr. Pollard, of Manchester, took the lead, and was ably followed on the Anglo side by a Mr. Lloyd, a young man with a glib utterance and a considerable amount of skill as a debater. Councillor Posty presided. As might have been expected most of the 'debaters' favoured the 'peace' theory.

It is not often that one firm has the distinction of having connected with it three presidents of important Conservative Associations. In the case with Messrs. Fowler & Co., Steam Plough Works. Mr. Reginald Wigram, one of the partners, is president of the Conservative Association of Leeds; Mr. Gosney, one of their commercial representatives, is president of the Leeds Land Nationalisation Society; and Mr. Thomas Wilberforce, a bookkeeper in the firm, is president of the Leeds Co-operative Society. It may be added that Mr. James Kitson, Jun. of the Airedale Foundry, is president of the Leeds Liberal Association, and also president of the National Federation of Liberal Associations; and Mr. James Pearson, of Hunslet, is president of the Leeds Tudes Council. So much for Hunslet!

Coming Events include a lecture on 'Tom Hood, the monarch of pun-land, in the Mechanics Institute, on Monday night, by the Town Clerk of Leeds, Mr. Morrison. To those who can enjoy an intellectual entertainment, and who are sensible enough to be present, Mr. Morrison will provide a rich treat. Hood was something more than a punster, he was a moralist, as his 'Song of the Shirt,' and 'The Bridge of Sighs,' testify.

TOWN TALK.

ELECTION OF GUARDIANS.—The question again comes up, who are to represent the ratepayers of this locality at the board-room in Glasshouse Street, at Hunslet. In Messrs. Jas. Hargreaves, Lawton, and Parker we have men of ability and force of character. There is a general opinion we could not be better represented.

.. .. ..

The Oulton and Woodlesford ratepayers may fairly lay claim to be represented by gentlemen residing in the work at the Board meetings.

.. .. ..

RAILWAY.—Much quizzing—small wit—and some doleful head-shaking is the result of the continued public inactivity of the promoters of the East and West Yorkshire Railway. Gentlemen of a slightly bilious turn express with great confidence the opinion that the line will be abandoned. This is the dyspeptic view. The sound one I hope, is that our railway will be built. The present is not perhaps, a favourable time to issue the prospectus, in face of the recent financial troubles of the Hull and Barnsley Line. I am prepared to risk my reputation as a prophet that the line will be built.

OVERSEERS.—The ratepayers will be called upon in a short time to say who shall represent them for the coming year as overseers of the poor. The three gentlemen who retire are Messrs. Jas. Hargreaves, J. Sanderson, and H. P. Newsome. The business of the overseers has been very well attended to during the past year. Mr. Fred Parker is the assistant overseer, and his office is a permanent one. The mode of election is by show of hands at the Board-room, Churchfield, at the time fixed by notices at the church and chapel doors, some time in March.

LOCAL BOARD ELECTION.—Now then ye candidates for Parliamentary honours, the field is open again. The retiring members are Mr. Holmes, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Bramley. It is freely asserted Mr. Holmes will not stand another contest. The place from his residence at Stourton, and the fact that the Board's meetings are held at night, coupled with his advancing years, are given as reasons for his retirement. Mr. Holmes is a wise counsellor, a man well versed in affairs, and a power in the deliberations of the Board would be a distinct loss. Mr. Sanderson and Mr. Bramley possibly will stand again. If all strangers stand aside like a flock of sheep, as Mr. Bramley does, double the business could be got through in any given period. His sturdy good sense invariably keeps him on the right track of policy; he is emphatically a good member. Mr. Sanderson always defends the farmers' interests, and sometimes the people. Mr. Lawton is certain to be contested. Dr. Nowell is talked about, and he has been seen to flaunt the premises of the Liberal Club. Our friends Messrs. James Hall and George Rawling, who fought so gallantly last year, we may calculate on seeing to the front again. The air is full of rumours which only time can fix. One thing is certain, there is going to be a battle.

THE UNION.—Anent the amalgamation scheme, supposing the 'stern parient' in London desires to force the proposed union, amid the tears and protestations of Hunslet and her sisters, what about Rothwell and the other out-townships? In Rothwell there is a strong feeling amongst some that we should join the Tadcaster for poor-law purposes. No doubt we should have less to pay in poor rate, but the inconveniences of getting to Tadcaster are so serious as to shut it out of consideration in the minds of many who have experience of such things.

NEXT week, we purpose publishing a letter just received from Mr. Jonathan Bramley, of Nanaimo, Vancouver's Island, late of Rothwell.

.. .. ..

"FORTUNES MADE IN BUSINESS" is the title of two important Volumes which Messrs Sampson Low & Co., will publish this month. The names represent Mercantile Celebrities, Famous Shipowners, Merchant Princes, Metallurgists, Chemists and Brewers. The prime feature of the work is that it will present a mass of Information and Anecdote, not gathered from books, but from the lips of the living and out-of-the-way sources. It includes Chapters on 'The Fortunes of the Gladstone Family.' 'The Brand Family,' and a most interesting narrative of the rise and progress of 'The Low-Moor Iron Company'—so closely associated with the Gathorne-Hardy Family.

CHEAP ADVERTISING.—The cheapest way of advertising articles wanted or for sale, houses to let or required, situations wanted or vacant, is to put a notice to that effect in the columns of this journal, such advertising only costs 3d a line.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS!—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

FLORILINE!—For the TEETH and BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Floriline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly whiteness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco smoke. "The Fragrant Floriline" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All sufferers from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now sold by most respectable chemists in this country at 1s. 1½d. per box. If you are troubled with a "hacking cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box.—Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS, Boston, U.S. American depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White hair to its original colour, without the slightest disagreeable smell of "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the same on bald spots, where the roots are not killed. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER." Sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere at 3s. 6d. per Bottle. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

WILLIAM M. HUTCHISON'S SOONER OR LATER, or "DREAM FACES" or "ECHOES," it is published in F. G. A. & Co.'s Musical Albums, Nos. 1 to 6, each 2s. 6d. net. Boosey & Co., 295, Regent Street, Oxford Street, W.

WILLIAM M. HUTCHISON'S SOONER OR LATER.

My heart hath its memories of the past, love,
It lives in the present, and hopes for the future,
The days when your love was my haven,
The light of my life, my treasure,
I fold you once more to my heart, love,
And kiss you a thousand times.
Sooner or later, sooner or later,
Till time shall be no more, and hearts again.
Sooner or later, sooner or later,
We shall live once more together.
Soon we never leave you,
Soon we never more shall live again,
Love for ever and ever.
Oh love, my love, come to my heart,
Come, come, while life is young,
The last to bless what death shall part,
The first to be blessed in heaven.
If not on earth—in Paradise,
Where angels dwell, and God,
Worship alone in each other's eyes,
Sooner or later, sooner or later,
Sooner or later, &c.

VERY IMPORTANT to HOUSEWIVES. If your washings are heavy, and you are wishful to make them lighter, send your address to W. HORNER, who will supply you with a STEAM WASHER from one of the best makers, which not only does its work quickly and well, but is a thorough disinfector, besides making the clothes a better colour, and soon saves its cost in not rubbing them to pieces, to say nothing of the saving in effects in soap, time and labour. This kind are so safe, portable, and easy to manage, can be adapted alike to mansion or cottage, that it is a universal favourite wherever it goes. One good lady says "That she would not part with anything in the house sooner than her machine." A gentleman also writes "That he would not be without it for double its cost."

No risk, because it not approved of and returned within fourteen days, the full amount will be allowed. Prices and particulars on application to William Hornor, Lofthouse, near Wakefield.

THE ELECTIONS.

To all ratepayers, the next two weeks are, or ought to be, most important, as affecting the conduct, more or less, of our entire public business.

While our succeeding remarks will apply most fully to the country; where Local Boards and Rural Sanitary Authorities are elected at this season, they also come with considerable force to those of our readers who reside in the borough.

In the hands of our Guardians and Local Authorities are placed the purse strings of the public, and the anxiety of all electors should be to send men to these Boards, who feeling the pinch of rates themselves, are pretty certain to use the large sums of money to the very best advantage, inasmuch as whatever they save is a benefit to themselves, and whatever is spent, comes proportionately out of their own pockets.

It is needless to point out to any commonsense business man, that the article for which he pays the lowest price is not necessarily the cheapest, that the work which he gets done at the minimum rate is not a certain saving, or that by doing little and spending little money he is most economical. We are learning the truth of these facts just now, both in regard to public works, and commercial matters. It is true in political economy as well as in mental, moral, and religious questions, that 'as we sow, so shall we reap.'

But for the ever-to-be-regretted parsimony and selfishness of our forefathers, we should have had a railway years ago, mills would have dotted the face of our district, and throngs of busy workers would have multiplied our population tenfold. Had we boldly undertaken the repair and maintenance of our roads half-a dozen years ago, we should now have both the pleasure and the honour of receiving a good round sum from the County Board in reduction of our rates. As was remarked at a late meeting, the £800 required for the County Board from the Guardians, would have been counterbalanced by some hundreds of pounds handed over to the Local Highway Authorities, and thus our highway rates would have been lessened.

The same remarks will apply to our School Board. Where the staff and appliances are ground down to the lowest possible figure, small and unsatisfactory results appear, but where sufficient and efficient machinery is used, the extra expenditure is more than counterbalanced.

It is gratifying to observe that in all our public bodies, these truths are coming to be acknowledged and acted on, and while they must, for a selfish reason, get as much as they can for the money, our legislators also consider what will be the ultimate benefit of their decisions.

Bearing in mind these hypotheses, let us consider well, in electing our representatives, how far each candidate is personally financially interested, what are his business qualifications for the particular post he aspires to, and his opportunities for constant and careful attention to his duties. All these gentlemen have to do their work gratuitously, and it is but fair when once elected, that they should receive that generous support and well merited honour, honestly due to those who work for the public good.

LECTURE ON "TOM HOOD."

The large lecture hall of the Hunslet Mechanics' Institute was densely crowded on Monday evening to hear a lecture on "Tom Hood," the father of punsters, by G. W. Morrison, Esq., the esteemed Town Clerk of Leeds. The promoters of the lecture were specially fortunate in also securing Edwin Woodhouse, Esq., the well-known Mayor of Leeds, as chairman, so that with the presence of several members of the Council, the chairman of the Board of Guardians, and other gentlemen, the platform presented quite an imposing sight

On taking the chair at eight o'clock, his worship was very cordially welcomed, and on silence being obtained, he referred to the fact that this was the third time he had presided during his mayoralty, and on looking round the room, he complimented the executive on the improved bright and cleanly appearance of the hall. He said he had presided several times when Mr. Morrison had delivered his lecture on "Longfellow," and had been joking him that if he was requested to go with him again for the same lecture, that they should exchange places, and he (Mr. Woodhouse) would give the lecture while the Town Clerk acted as chairman. (Laughter.) He had only once, however, had the pleasure of hearing the lecture on "Thomas Hood" and could promise them a great treat. Speaking of the writings of Hood, he rejoiced that there were such works, by the reading of which men were relieved for a while from the hum-drum of life, and lifted up into a lighter and brighter state. He vigorously denounced those well-conducted citizens who could not tolerate in themselves or in others a hearty good laugh, or a clever sally of wit and humour. He very gladly introduced the Town Clerk to give his lecture on "Thomas Hood." (Applause.)

The Town Clerk, in commencing his address, complimented his Hunslet friends on the large company assembled, and was sure that hard workers as they were, they could do with all the counter weights they could get. Man was the only being God has made having the power to laugh, and against such people as his worship had referred to, who thought it almost a sin to laugh, he brought up "Thomas Hood," who, although struggling all his life through with financial difficulties, with bodily weakness and affliction, still held to his resolution always to look on the bright side of everything, and even in the croak of the raven to imagine he heard the song of the nightingale.

The life of Hood commenced May 23rd, 1799, he being born in the Poultry, within sound of Bow Bells. His father, a bookseller and publisher, was himself an author, and one of Hood's jokes was that having a drop of ink in his veins, he had inherited an inkling for literature. At 15 he was apprenticed to an engraver, and not long after commenced writing, being a contributor to the Dundee Advertiser for several years. In 1824, he married Jane Reynolds, sister of a friend of his, and the union was remarkably happy and fortunate, finding in her a true helpmeet both in his literary efforts, and during his frequent illnesses. Many stories are told of the harmless jokes he played on his wife, who was generally a willing subject, so long as it gave him amusement. His "Lines to his wife," when well on in their married life, was referred to as replete with tenderness and beauty. In 1826, he published his first 'whims and oddities,' and in 1843, after many other publications, regular and irregular, appeared the world-famed "Song of the shirt," in the Christmas number of Punch. Amid all the praise and encomiums drawn forth by this remarkable poem, the poor needlewomen for whose benefit it was written made it their own song, and their gratification and improved condition was reckoned by Hood as his highest reward. Speaking on the complaint that this poem had become 'hackneyed,' the lecturer agreed with Miss Oliphant, who wrote 'that hackneyed effusions are those only that go straight to the popular heart." Mr. Morrison then gave with much dramatic effect and clear enunciation the pathetic story with which the name of Hood is so closely associated. One great sentiment and object of Hood's life was to draw more closely together the opposite poles of society, the poor and the rich. He died May 3rd, 1845, after enduring intense and long continued pain, and was interred at Kensal Green Cemetery, where years afterwards, a number of friends raised a stone to mark his resting place, bearing the inscription, "He sang the song of the shirt."

The latter part of the lecture was occupied with characteristic examples of the great writer's productions, comic, serio-comic, and serious, among the numbers rendered being, 'The Bridge of Sighs,' 'Faithless Sally Brown,' 'Miss Kilmansegg,' 'Lines to my wife,' 'Song of the shirt,' etc., interspersed with puns and jokes, of which no large a number bristle in his published works. Throughout the lecture the utmost attention was given, and its delivery was frequently interrupted by unrestrained laughter or warm applause, testifying how richly the audience appreciated the Town Clerk's kindness and ability.

His Worship called on Mr. J. Hargreaves, chairman of the Board of Guardians, to move a resolution of thanks to the Town Clerk for giving his interesting and able lecture. In a few short but well-chosen sentences, Mr. Hargreaves expressed his own obligation and that of the meeting for the pleasure they had enjoyed in listening to the lecturer, and was sure that Mr. Morrison was in his right place to-night. Mr. Councillor Aths cordially seconded the vote of thanks, assuring the Town Clerk that the Hunslet people were well able to appreciate anything good. His Worship then put the resolution, which was carried with acclamation. The Town Clerk responded in a most felicitous manner, assuring his friends that he had felt himself thoroughly at home, and had had pleasure in giving the lecture; he had never spoken to an audience displaying greater attention, and who caught the points of the puns more quickly.

Mr. Councillor Gilston then moved a vote of thanks to his Worship the Mayor, who had so kindly and willingly taken the chair. As soon as ever they asked him to do this favor, he consented to come and they were very pleased indeed to see him. He was glad to hear the Town Clerk recognise the fact, that Hunslet people were as sharp as most folks at catching the point of a joke.

He concluded a cheery address with other characteristic remarks.

Mr. Councillor Pickersgill heartily seconded the vote of thanks to his Worship, who was always ready to do anything to further the interests of a good cause.

The proposition was then put, and carried most vociferously, after which the Mayor returned thanks, and the meeting dissolved.

EGYPT AND THE SOUDAN.

FLIGHT OF OSMAN DIGNA.

WITHDRAWAL OF THE PROCLAMATION.

(Reuter's Telegram.)

SUAKIN, Thursday.—Spies from the British camp report that Osman Digna has fled into the interior, but in what direction is not known. His slaves have deserted him, and he now has few followers. Osman Digna's flight is stated to be due to the reward offered for his capture.

SUAKIN, Thursday, 11 a.m.—A soldier, who was one of the few spared at the massacre of the Sinkat garrison, has escaped from Osman's camp, and came in this morning. He was at the camp on the day of the fight, and was taken by Osman, with the women, into the hills. He did not witness the battle, though he saw the smoke and heard the noise of the firing. He says that Osman has not more than two hundred men with him, many of whom are wounded. The whole of the rest of his followers were either killed or have dispersed, but many of the Sheikhs still remain with him, and avow continued faith in his pretensions. The women are very violent against Osman, and curse him as the slayer of their husbands and brothers. They say that our proceedings at El Teb show that it is not true that the English are bad, for we buried their dead, and did not destroy the stores of grain.

The following proclamation has just been issued:—"The reward of 5,000 dollars for Osman Digna has been withdrawn; no reward will be offered."

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets labelled JAMES EPPS & Co. Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Safely and Securely.—When the severities of winter have yielded to the genial spring, invalids should make a determined effort to regain their lost health; when through confinement indoors, want of appetite, and disturbed sleep, the entire system has been weakened, and the spirits have been broken down. Holloway's remedies are equal to the occasion. The Ointment rubbed over the regions of the stomach and liver, aided by the internal administration of his pills, will rectify the digestion, regulate the bile, and purify the blood—three sanatory actions which will speedily confer renewed vigour, brace up the failing nerves, confirm the flaccid muscles, and restore to the ailing cheerfulness, that great charm of existence.

WILD FLOWERS IN ROTHWELL AND DISTRICT.

By Mr. G. Roberts, of Lofthouse.

No. XIII.

Dodder.—A curious parasite which grows mostly in our neighbourhood on red clover. It consists of numerous red or yellowish thread-like stems, which are rooted on the closer stems, and twine and spread all over the clover like a net. The plants usually radiate over the clover in a circle like the fairy-rings in pastures. The bell-shaped flowers are pink, and clustered 5 or 6 together on the threads. These are no noticed, or stalks to the flowers, and there are no leaves at all on the plant. In the south of England it is common and very injurious on the farm; in Yorkshire it is less common. In our own district it has been very frequently noticed, but not in such quantity as to be very injurious. The seeds of the Dodder are introduced with the clover seed. (For methods of extirpation and other particulars see "Topography and Natural History of Lofthouse.")

Corn Gromwell.—A common weed amongst the corn. The flowers are small and not attractive. Lithospermum arvense.

Field Scorpion Grass, or Forget-me-not.—An annual with narrow hairy leaves and small blue flowers. It grows about a foot high and is found in nearly every garden. By the older herbalists the young shoots were thought to resemble the scorpion, and were held as a remedy against the bite of that insect. The scientific name is Myositis arvensis.

Creeping Scorpion Grass.—A smaller plant than the above, but similar with its narrow hairy foliage. The small flower is at first pale yellow, and then fades to blue. Myositis versicolor.

Water Forget-me-not.—A rather taller plant than the others, but sometimes creeping. The flowers are rather large and of a brilliant blue colour with a small circular golden eye. It grows generally by ditches and streams and marshy places. It occurs by the edge of the rivulet at Rothwell, but it is often discoloured by smoke and is not well grown. This is the true Forget-me-not. It is a poets' flower, and has long been invested with a classic interest. The German legend connected with it is beautiful and poetic, but far more exquisite is the Persian fable of Hafiz, telling us how the Forget-me-nots were planted.

Hafiz resided at Shiraz and was one of the most celebrated of the imaginative poets of Persia. His fable of the flower is as follows:—"It was in the golden morning of the early world when an angel sat weeping outside the closed gates of Eden, for he had fallen from his high estate through a loving daughter of earth, nor was he permitted to enter again until she whom he loved had planted the flowers of the Forget-me-not in every corner of the earth. So the angel returned to the earth and assisted her, and they went hand in hand over the world planting the Forget-me-not, and when their task was ended entered Eden together, for she, without tasting the bitterness of death, became immortal like the angel whose love her beauty had won, when she sat by the river twining her hair with the Forget-me-not.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Death of an Old Townsman.—On Monday afternoon, the last remains of Mr. Thomas Young, of Rothwell, were laid to rest in the parish churchyard, being followed by a large concourse of friends and relatives.

The deceased was born at Lofthouse Gate in 1803, and having been apprenticed to the trade of joiners, served with them till the year 1828, when he entered the employ of Messrs. J. & J. Chippendale as sawyer and wood-cutter, continuing in the firm some 44 years, when he became too old to do his full share of work, and virtually gave up altogether. For several years after, he "toddled" about until about twelve months ago, he found his infirmities grow heavier, and gradually retired to his home, to his room in his bed. Though sometimes in much pain, he a blessed age sufficiently accounted for his ultimate death, and on Saturday last he was followed by his wife and family, he gradually sank away. Of his two children, six remain, aged whom live in Rothwell or its vicinity; there are also twenty grand-children, and three great grand-children.

Thomas Young was one of those quiet, steady-going country workmen, whose worth might be depended upon, whose work was always as well and fully done in the master's absence as in his presence, and whose rigid standard of truth and honesty in dealing with men closely adhered to all through his life. He had nevertheless, a touch of the dry humour, which, though seldom seen, in all the more sparkling and potent when exhibited. For 55 years he was a firm and consistent member of the Wesleyan Society, and had the joy of seeing his children growing up and following in his footsteps. His death, as his life, was marked by a quiet, unswerving trust in his only Saviour. His funeral was attended by the Rev. C. A. Collingwood, who conducted a short service at the house, and by a numerous procession of members of the Wesleyan congregation.

Ouzlewell Green.—On Monday evening last, the Rev. C. A. Collingwood gave a magic lantern entertainment at the chapel. The views consisted of Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress' and 'Scenes in the Holy Land,' all of which were very good. Following these came the 'Tale of the Tub,' which gave great satisfaction to all parties, both the old and young. A series of comic pictures were shown, which caused great merriment. At the conclusion, a very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the exhibitor, and to those who kindly assisted him. The room was well filled, and a collection amounting to 12s. was made, which will be handed over to the Trust Fund.

Temperance Hall.—On Sunday last, special religious services were conducted in the above hall, by Miss L. H. Moore, a freed slave from the Southern States of America. There was a good attendance both afternoon and evening.

'Bosco's' Entertainment.—Signor Bosco, assisted by Madame Bosco, who have been performing in the town during the last week, gave their last entertainment in the Mechanics' Hall on Monday evening, to a large audience. Judging from the programme, before us, we think those who attended would get sixpennyworth for sixpence, and have the pleasure of witnessing a large number of remarkably good tricks by one of the greatest wonder workers of the day. Bosco says he had the honour of displaying his skill before the Prince and Princess of Wales, and a long list of Royalty and the nobility, and certainly the tricks as exhibited on Monday evening deserved the highest commendation. Although the performer volunteered to give a benefit for any local public institution, no one came forward to accept the offer. The entertainment closed about 10 o'clock, and the audience dispersed, with various opinions as to the source of Bosco's power.

Cheap Advertising.—The cheapest way of advertising articles wanted or for sale, houses to let or required, situations wanted or vacant, is to put a notice to that effect in the columns of this journal, such advertising only costs 6d a line.

LOFTHOUSE CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.

(Communicated.)

A lecture was delivered under the auspices of the above Association, in the National Schools, Lofthouse, on Thursday evening, March 13th, by Mr. J. J Dunne, one of the vice-presidents. The subject of the lecture was 'Liberal Mistleaders.' Mr. Thomas Hargreaves presided, and there was a good attendance. The lecturer in a long and interesting address, successfully disposed of the illusive theory that the present government are the friends of either Peace or Retrenchment, and said that their measure of Reform was only introduced at the present time to distract attention from their disastrous policy abroad. Their Egyptian policy especially was severely criticised, while the grievous burdens imposed upon the shoulders of the present ministry was alluded to in connection with the alluring promises as to reduced expenditure made by Mr. Gladstone in 1880. It was shown that these promises had not only remained unfulfilled, but that under a ministry that had gained office by pledging itself to economy, the expenditure had gone up by leaps and bounds, and that notwithstanding the increase in population, the taxation was now 13d. per head more than under the Beaconsfield Government. Questions were invited at the close, and those having any bearing on the subject matter of the lecture were answered by the lecturer. A vote of thanks to the lecturer, and a similar compliment to the chairman brought the proceedings to a close.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We would particularly urge our friends to send in their letters and news, as early as possible, as we cannot accept contributions later than Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, except in the case of events occurring on Wednesday or Thursday, which should be forwarded within a short period after. Advertisements may be sent in up to Friday morning.

HUNSLET TIT BITS

By Punch and Judy.

'Morrison 'on 'Hood' on Monday night at the Mechanics' Institute was a treat. The Town Clerk of Leeds is now rapidly coming to the front, has already come to the front as one of the foremost local litterers of the day. He seems to be at home alike with Longfellow as with Hood. Unlike many of the 'lecturers of the period,' Mr. Morrison is no literary fraud, but rather an accomplished and highly cultivated literateur. Let us hope that ere long another opportunity may be afforded of listening to a third lecture of equal ability and interest to that given last Monday night. Such treats are intellectual fountains in the wilderness of mediocrity through which we are so often travelling.

It will be learnt with regret that the legal expenses incurred in connection with the trial of Mitchell v. Holdsworth are very heavy. Though Mrs. Mitchell was triumphant, it is melancholy to learn that the expenses incurred more than cover the amount of the award which she had previously been awarded, but not received. The Trades Council have, I believe, the matter in hand, and there is much dissatisfaction with the lawyers. It is, I think, Otway the poet, who asks, 'Why were laws made, but that we're rogues by nature?' "Topics" says 'Why, Mitchell, 'twas indubitable force to the lawyers, for they mystify law by such cunning and skilful cobwebs of legal phraseology, as to puzzle ordinary people by their technical jargon and all to put money into their purse.' Out on them!

It is with extreme satisfaction the people of Hunslet, and indeed of Leeds, have learned that Mr. James Pearson has been appointed an Inspector of factories and workshops, by the Home Secretary. Sir William Harcourt. Mr. Pearson has for several years had a seat on the Hunslet Board of Guardians, and his enforced retirement will, I am sure, be much regretted by each and all of his colleagues. He has also for a considerable period held the important position of chairman of the Leeds Trades Council, and the members of that important organisation, at a special meeting held on Monday night, decided to present him with a testimonial, as a recognition of their worth and farther as an appreciation of the services he has rendered to them. To those who know Mr. Pearson intimately, and who are aware of that between employers and employed he has ever "steered an even keel."

.. .. ..

'Coming events cast their shadows before' is an ancient proverb, which like most of such has a deal of truth in it. Already there are rumours of many candidates for the posts of honour on the Board of Guardians. There are on the present Board some who have served it for so long as is simply not possible. There always were and always will be grumblers and critics. Everyone may not be disposed, as a writer, even if he have the ability, to wield Junius's trenchant pen, and no more eloquence than a poll parrot, be considers time-table fit to sit in the judgment seat to sit over his fellow men, and to launch forth adverse opinions against him.

Such shimsters I scorn as base, and yet also 'tis true, There are as mad, abandoned, critics too.

We often hear that the 'schoolmaster is abroad.' I, Punch, was performing my peregrinations through Hunslet the other night, and passing an apparent house and window of the same, was thoroughly low spirited couple. I overheard the following remark from Juliet :— 'Ah wunder ah fowks can sit with ther mooths shut and not be mizzable, and be tripping along the surface of mother earth as though this poor planet was too feeble for too vulger to support her.' I had of course unwittingly overheard a fitting response to Romeo's remark, which in my younger days would have been

On such a night as this,
Trollus, methinks, mounted the Trojan wall,
And sighed his soul toward the Grecian tent,
Where Cressid lay that night.

TOWN TALK.

Post Office.—How very peculiar that no announcement is made on the outside of the letter box, as to the time of the dispatch of letters. Many are the enquiries made, and much uncertainty prevails in the minds of the majority of the public on this matter. Sensley closing is the greatest stumbling block with most people. Is the hour the same as on week days? "No, answers the next door neighbour, "it is five minutes to three on Sunday." "You're wrong, it's five minutes past three, and 7.20 on week days." "Nay, its twenty minutes to three," the lodger replies. All this uncertainty would be removed by a simple announcement pasted on the outside of the letter box. Will the postmaster move in the matter?

Time.—The church clock is on strike. It has stopped work,—or rather its works are stopped. One hand points to near twelve, and the other twenty minutes to, and there it stands, its use arrested and altogether out of time, save at one brief interval of the day. While the world moves, the church clock stands still. Sergeant Whitehead is requested to order it to 'move on.' Have its inwards gone to Pott's).

The Elections.—The Local Board election is close at hand. Next Wednesday is the last day on which nomination papers may be sent in to the Board Room. As far as there is any manifestation of interest, there is not much stir in Rothwell, but under the quiet surface there is a great determination on the part of certain sections. The farmers intend to return two men, I believe, Mr. Sanderson and Mr. Lawton; if these gentlemen are elected, the agricultural interest will be well represented, for be it remembered Mr. Oliver is a farmer. I do not wish it to be understood that I am opposed to the landed interest; on the contrary, all economists must be glad to see farmers and their friends on the Board. They have as much concern as anybody in curtailing expenses, and although they only pay a quarter of the full Local Board rate, they are none the less anxious on that account to keep the rates down. While on the subject it may be as well to point out that farmers are not likely to be very enthusiastic about increasing the number of street lamps, seeing they have to contribute to the rate and get the benefit of the light only when they approach the village. The question of repaving the sidewalks, recurbing and channelling, and making new side walks, in and about Rothwell, is not exactly a thing farmers would take up of themselves. The cost has to be considered; how much farmers would be benefitted, and the charge to them. Dr. Nowell is the nominee of the Liberal club. At a meeting of that restless body recently, he got the show of hands, and in case of a contest will be supported by the whole force of the organisation. The club cannot afford a repetition of last year's disaster, and may be expected to fight 'blood and to the hilt' for any man they select. Mr. Bramley will not stand this year, he has resolved to take a 'years' rest. After six year's faithful service he is entitled to have his wish gratified, and is deserving our thanks. There is some talk of Mr. John Dobson coming forward as a candidate, but as yet nothing certain is known, and Mr. Lockwood makes no sign.

Guardians.—Mr. Swales, I hear, is nominated as a guardian, so that if he stands, we shall have a contest, unless some of the old guardians retire. Mr. Swales has had experience, and while the rating question remains unsettled, would make a good guardian.

.. .. ..

Outmembers.—The election takes place at 6 p.m at the Board Room, next Tuesday evening.

NEWS FROM AN EMIGRANT.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Nanaimo, Vancouver's Island, B.C.
Feb. 2nd, 1884.

Dear Sir,

I have had the pleasure of reading your interesting paper to-day, and was rather amused on seeing two short articles about Chinamen, and having had to do with them about 9 months, I ask the privilege of giving your readers a little about John who is certainly a very strange character; one feature is, he thinks he is Mr. Somebody, and cannot see that he only occupies a subordinate position. Which he certainly does; here they have tried to make them into coal-diggers, but they are a failure. About their handiness as washers I know a little, having employed them 4 months to wash my shirts, etc., they could make them stiff and shiney, but they have been a great deal better washed since my return. Besides this John can keep a few little things for his hussey. He lives on rice cooked with water, besides a little pork and chicken, which they eat as some sort of a way of shipping ceremony. It was John's New Year's Day last Sunday, Jan. 27th; they make a lot to do about it, and on Sunday morning people could hear them at 8 o'clock, half a mile away, discharging fireworks to frighten away bad spirits, I suppose they do, but do not succeed. John is an awful sweater, which he can do both in Chinese and English. You have to master him in a very lonely place on the prairie in the States; I asked him what sort of workers they were, and he said he had to kick the whole of them, and then they would do, but not otherwise. There are very few of them who can understand being treated equally and kindly; if you do so, they will 'chow' you, and in almost every instance they will only do the work they are forced to do. They like to work to pairs or in gangs, they soon say 'one man no can do,' and you are aware that men who live mostly on rice water, tobacco and opium, and lay on a board cannot work like an Englishman who lives properly. I have quite seen two women among them on Vancouver's Island and British Columbia, besides one on a sloop that fished and traded in the gulf. John comes here to make money; they all clan together and presegue their country's customs as far as possible, but when working for white men he has to wear boots, which his head shaved all round and his pig tail tied up with a white clout; when abroad (if his shanty deserves the name) he dresses in his own fashion with his tail hanging down his back, and the longer it is the prouder he is of it. But what about his moral character or his idea of chastity, it is not decent to put it in print. There are Indians here who have adopted the views of white men but he is a heathen at heart, preferable to John's. He is an inveterate gambler, and pays no regard whatever to the Sabbath day; in fact, he rather seems to make more gambling, building or repairing his shanty, or going about buying chickens, and will laugh at you if you say anything to him; if you try to impress on him the idea 'My God watching him, he gets out of everything that he does not want to do or learn with 'I no Savvy.' I have conversed with John for hours at a time about John's conduct for about 25 years here and in Australia, who say John is no benefit to any country, if he can get a few hundred dollars together, he goes home again. If John had a window to his shanty a foot square, he would have a wooden shutter with a hole in, except he kept a store and always had his door shut. They won't lend a helping hand to their own countrymen when they meet with misfortune, but when forced; they will crowd out of their huts to laugh at a funeral passing along the road. LOCAL BOARD ELECTION.

At the time of publication last week, we had to state that there was little sign of the impending contest for the three seats on our Local Board, shortly to be vacated by Messrs. Bramley, Holmes, and Sanderson. At that time only Mr. Nowell's address had appeared, but before twenty-hours had passed, manifestoes had been issued by three other gentlemen, Mr. Batty, Mr. Holmes, and Mr. Dobson, and shortly after, Mr. Lawton and Mr. Sanderson completed the six candidates, whose addresses adorn the walls of the posting stations in the district.

There have been no large public gatherings in behalf of any of the candidates in Rothwell, though smaller meetings have been held in various club-rooms and in the open air.

We have already stated the names and some characteristics of the gentlemen seeking public favour, and perhaps at no election has there been such a choice of able, suitable, and experienced men, some of them possessing special qualifications.

There has been more than the usual amount of interest thrown into the struggle, and handbills, squibs, and cartoons have played a more prominent part in the battle than ever before. While public men are thick-skinned enough to join in the general laugh at innocent caricatures, we object to direct personal attack, and have little doubt but what, when the smoke of battle is cleared away, any jokes or jibes which may have been used will also vanish from the minds of the candidates.

The collection of papers takes place to-day, and the counting will be conducted to-morrow and be declared in the afternoon, by Mr. Jos. Charlesworth, the returning officer.

LOFTHOUSE SCHOOL BOARD.

The usual monthly meeting of this Board was held at Carlton School on Wednesday, all the members were present, viz :—Messrs. T. Oliver, (chairman,) T. Hargreaves, J. Armitage, H. Hall and J. Hammill, with the clerk, (Mr. J. H. Lee,) Mr. Denton, school warden, and the headteachers.

The clerk stated that £21 18s. 10d. had been paid into the bank, for school fees and use of school rooms. Cheques were signed for £46 9s. 4d, for officers' and teachers' salaries, and £18 18s. for books, &c. The books had been recently audited, and were reported to be well kept. A letter, to an application from Mr. Denton for an advance of salary, the Board informed him they could not make any increase on the present salary, viz £12 per year. The Board instructed the clerk to advertise for an ex-pupil teacher for three or four months for Carlton school, salary to be at the rate of £40 per year. The Board next proceeded to discuss the tenders sent in for the class-room at Robin Hood school, and ultimately accepted tenders for a cost of £197 16s. The work is distributed as follows :—Mr. T. Stainer, bricklayer and masons ; Mr. R. Calam, joiner ; Mr. J. Season, slater ; Mr. J. Wright, plumber ; and glazier ; Mr. R. Brantom, plasterer, and Messrs. A. & G. Barker, painters.

A precept was made upon the overseers being equal to a rate of 2d. in the £. Miss J. North was appointed monitor for Carlton school. Minor business concluded the meeting.

WOODLESFORD SCHOOL BOARD.

The ordinary meeting of the Board was held on Friday evening in the Board-room, Woodlesford, present—Rev. A. J. Irvin, (chairman), Messrs. Nowell, Hoyle, Holdsworth, Flockton, and the clerk and attendance officer.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

A number of cases of irregular attendance were enquired into, the parents or guardians in most instances, promising an improvement. In one case an attendance order not having been complied with, it was resolved to summon the boy again with the probability of his being sent to a reformatory. The attendance officer intimated, that generally posed by Mr. Hoyle, seconded by Mr. Holdsworth, and carried—That a copy of the list of defaulters be placed in the hands of each member previous to the meeting.

FINANCE.—The clerk reported that last month there was a balance in hand of £3 5s. 1d., since which he had received precept £100, school fees £7 11s. 0d., and rent from Woodlesford Choral Society £1 10s. 0d., making a total of 112 11s. 1d. Cheques were required for £29 6s 9d., leaving a balance of £83 4s. 4d. The several cheques were ordered to be signed, on the motion of the chairman and Mr. Nowell.

COALS.—The clerk supplied an account of coal used during the year, as desired by Mr. Hoyle, and it was agreed that in the ensuing season, the Board order a truck load, sufficient to serve through the winter, thereby saving a considerable sum.

PRECEPT.—The clerk presented an estimated account of income and expenditure for the ensuing nine months, shewing that he would require £250 from the overseers. He explained that he had estimated for nine months, so as to have a balance at the bank and save interest. On the proposal of Mr Flockton and Mr. Nowell, the precept was issued.

TEACHERS' REPORTS.—The attendance in all three departments is reported as better. Miss Abbey suggests that more scholars should be in attendance between 3 and 5 years of age.

It was agreed that the stock and store book for each school, be presented at next meeting.

SALARIES.—According to notice given last meeting, Dr. Nowell referred to the salaries of the mistresses of the schools, arguing that seeing that the number of children was so diminished since the remuneration was first fixed, that £75 a year was too large a sum to pay for present requirements. He also referred to the large reduction of rateable value in collieries, quarries, and houses which are now unoccupied. He moved that the girls' mistress be reduced to £70 and the infants' to £65.

Mr. Hoyle, Mr. Flockton, and the chairman each expressed opinions as to the inadvisability of making any alteration, especially at this period of the year, and pointing out the possibility of reducing the efficiency and examination results of the school, should they have to get other and cheaper teachers. Mr. Holdsworth thought that the best plan was to pay by salary and proportion of grant. For a short time there was no seconder to the motion, but Mr. Holdsworth eventually seconded it for the sake of trying it, and on being put, it was lost.

The second part of Dr. Nowell's notice referred to the combination of clerk and attendance officer in one person. The Education Department had replied to his enquiry on the subject, and stated that there was no objection, provided they found some one able and willing to undertake the work. As it was evident, both from what the doctor and his colleagues said, that this was not probable, the matter fell through. The clerk presented a list of work and time occupied, shewing the amount of labour discharged by him during the year.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL BOARD.

There being only two members present (Messrs. Hargreaves and Batty) at the ordinary meeting on Friday week, a quorum could not be obtained, and an adjourned meeting was held on Monday last, at four o'clock, when all the members were present, with the clerk and attendance officer.

The minutes of the previous meetings were read and confirmed, including a Committee meeting at the Rothwell school, when various alterations were suggested.

ROTHWELL SCHOOL.—The clerk read replies to the advertisement for assistant, and it was proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. Turner, and carried, That Mr. J. T. Whitaker be appointed assistant master at Rothwell schools at £45 a year. In consequence of Miss Clemson remaining another year before obtaining her indenture, the Board agreed to pay her 3s. a week.

ROTHWELL HAIGH SCHOOLS.—An alteration is suggested in the junior teachers, so as to meet the convenience of those interested. On the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. Seanor, it was resolved that Miss Fieldhouse's appointment as assistant at Rothwell Haigh Infants' school be confirmed.

Applications for advance of salary from the head masters were not entertained at present.

The clerk reported that the Drawing grant had been received for the boys' and girls' schools, being £2 18s. 4d. and £2 8s. 11s. respectively, several boys having obtained the 'excellent' mark, which also carries with it a prize from the department.

The following is the list of successful students :—

Alfred Ambler, G; Walter Hallas, E; Tom Hodgate E ; J. W. Parkin, E ; Ralph Smart, G ; Jim Swift, G ; H. H. Weatherell, G. Eliza E. Bedford, G ; Harriet Womack, G.

The amounts above mentioned were ordered to be paid to the head teachers concerned.

SUNDAY CLOSING.—A petition in favour of Sunday closing was signed by the members.

FINANCE.—Cheques were signed for teachers' salaries, Rothwell Haigh, £51 5s. 8d., Rothwell, £28 10s. 2d. ; P. T.'s grants, £6 ; drawing grants, £5 7s. 3d. ; officers' salaries, £11 5s. ; petty cash, £5 ; insurance, £1 16s. School fees for February have been received from Rothwell Haigh £16 19s. 9d., and Rothwell £11 12s. 5d.

ATTENDANCE.—The parents of six scholars were noticed to send their children to school more regularly, or they will be summoned.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.

On Wednesday, the annual festival of the Society and Band of Hope was held in the above hall. A public tea was provided at the above hour, and a public meeting in the evening, the meeting being presided over by Dr. Nowell. After prayer, the chairman called upon the two secretaries to read their reports. Mr. Tilley read the Society's report which shows that it is still in a state of prosperity. The Society commenced the year with a balance in hand of £34 2s. 1½d, the income has been £124 17s. 11d, and the expenditure £158 4s. 7d, leaving a balance of 15s. 5½d ; it must also be understood that the Band has paid £55 towards the building debt. Mr. Ineson's report of the Band of Hope is equally encouraging. The income has been £8. 11½, expenditure £13 18s. 4½d, leaving a balance of £5 8s. 7d. The chairman in his address referred to the great pleasure which it gave him in being amongst them ; and trusted that the success which had attended their efforts in the past, would be a stimulant in the future. Speaking of himself as a medical man, he had found in his experience that the drink could be easily dispensed with, as it was neither meat nor drink in any shape or form, and he hoped that he might live to see its downfall. The chairman then introduced Mr. T. Troughton, (Agent of the Yorkshire Band of Hope Union,) who delivered a most interesting and able address, in the course of which he referred to the progress which temperance is making everywhere. He briefly dwelt on the granting of the Roundhay Park licenses, shewing that every one who contributed to the Leeds rates was thereby made a publican. He could not understand how a christian could call drink one of the good gifts of God, a theory which many Church of England clergymen strongly support. While referring to the lamented death of the Rev. John Stamp, and some of the noble traits of his character, he gave an extract from one of his speeches, in which he said that England, christian England, had only one terrible enemy to fear, and that was the drink ; the chief source of degradation, misery and crime. He hoped that the members of the Union which he represented, would grow up to be sober men and women, and help to eradicate the cause of drunkenness, ever remembering that " there is one little house we all can close,

And that's the one below the nose."

The usual votes of thanks were presented. At intervals the choir rendered selections, which gave general satisfaction. A collection was made at the close in aid of the funds.

ERRATA.—Owing to the negligence of our compositor, the name of Mr. Hampson, treasurer, was overlooked in our report of last week's meeting.

ROTHWELL TIMES--FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1884.

NEWS FROM AUSTRALIA.

The following is part of a letter received on Tuesday morning from Mr. Hedley Lunn, formerly foreman at this office, but now foreman in the office of the Tamworth Observer, Queensland, which he underlook after being in the Government Printing Office, Sydney.

"Although the New Year has got good foothold now, I feel constrained to wish you all a happy and prosperous New Year and future. I was sorry to hear of the waning of the star of the R. F. C., but hope they succeeded in retrieving their fortunes later in the season. I will now endeavour to give you an account of the place in which I live. First, however, I must give you an account of my journey. Having arranged for the situation at Tamworth, I embarked on board the 'Morpeth,' by which boat I was to travel to Newcastle, and thence by train to Tamworth. Eleven o'clock struck, and we were out in the harbour, passing the vessels at anchor, and brilliantly lighted Sydney is quickly left behind. I turn into my bunk and sleep pretty well until we are withinsight of Newcastle, and at 6.30 a.m. we are alongside the wharf. Away I rush for breakfast, and at last cops an old woman in an oyster shop to give me a feed of ham and eggs, which I polished off in a scientific manner, and then rushed off for the train, as it would not do to miss it or I should have to wait until next day. Just before we start, two unmistakable Yorkshiremen make a rush for our carriage, and with the guard's assistance carry it by storm. After a time I find that they are 'new chums' just arrived by the 'Orient.' I accordingly enter into being a 'Yorky,' and he replied 'That's reight lad, I'm come three near Wakefield. It was then that I made a slight mistake, and asked him 'if it was East Moor.' I knew I'd made a mistake the next minute, but I hastened to reply that I thought he had worked at the collieries there, but he gave me to understand that he 'were no colyer,' but that he kept a 'pub' at Horbury, and had just come over here for the trip. After these explanations we smoked the 'pipe of peace,' (at least I smoked cigarettes) and talked Yorkshire sporting news, football included. 'Did I know Regan Wade?' of course I did, and the time passed along very fair, but the day was very hot, and the numerous bush fires we had to pass through in no manner quenched our desire for a 'sensation.' 'The longest lane has a turn,' and a little past four in the afternoon we reached Tamworth, where I parted with the Horbury man, who was going on to Armidale, 80 miles distant. Tamworth is situated on a plain, but entirely surrounded by mountains, a river runs through the town, but at present it is nearly dry. In winter, however, it will be full of water, and plenty of the fancy tribe will inhabit its waters. The streets are very wide, main street 2 chains, all others 1½ chains, but such streets as would delight the heart of a—(never, (I don't think I would a bicyclist) as grass grows very luxuriantly in the middle, and one day after a slight rain I saw a team of bullocks (20 of them) stuckfast with a load of wheat. They use a great many bullocks here for draught purposes. There are 4 churches in the place, Catholic, Church of England, Wesleyan, and Presbyterian. There are also 30 'pubs,' and lively places they appear at a instance, as the inhabitan very often come here, 'knock down their cheques.' I saw one the other day at that game; his modus operandi was to take a large bell and ring it in the middle of the house which was honoured by his presence, and invite everybody who passed to step in and drink. As all drinks are shipped each he would quickly get rid of the cheque of perhaps 18 months or two years. There are also in the place three newspapers. As you may imagine, up in this wild part there is a great amount of shooting, kangaroo, wallaby, wallaroos, drakes, wild turkeys, cranes, parrots, and other birds innumerable. I was out shooting, on Anniversary Day, and as I was creeping towards some ducks, pop up a pair of pelicans within shot, but poor although to shoot within shot, were too far away; they are very scarce, and it is owing to the dry season that they are about. I went out 'possums shooting the other night, but got lost in a vineyard; result, no 'possums—lot of grapes. Coming home strayed into a Chinaman's garden, but was out of it was. the biggest old Celestial appeared before we could find the water melons, and we had to clear. Went out again a few nights after, when we had better luck from a shooting point of view, killing 7 'possums, a large hawk, (which measured nearly 4 feet from tip to tip of wings) and a good sized bear; the latter took 3 shots before we got him, and we placed 6 shots into another, but as they did not seem to take any effect, left him in the tree. There are a good many Chinamen about here, and sometimes it nearly poisons me to pass their dens when they are opium smoking. They are splendid gardeners though, and grow plenty of fruit and vegetables. The mosquitoes and heat here are frightful, the former especially are demons; they did not disturb me in Sydney, but here they fetch pieces out. They tell a yarn here about two Irishmen who were sleeping together, and being 'new chums' they received special attention. At last Pat told Mike to put out the light and then they would not be able to see them. Mike did as he was told, but in a few minutes he exclaimed despairingly, 'Sure Pat, it's no use, the craturs are bringing lanthorns to seek us.' Mike had mistaken the fire flies for lanterns.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

WESLEYAN SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING.—The annual meeting in connection with the Rothwell Wesleyan Sunday School was held on Monday, preceded by a tea in the school-room. The meeting in the chapel was presided over by the Rev. C. A Collingwood, the two superintendents (Mr. J. H. Seaner and Mr. J. Goodall) with other friends being on the platform. After singing and prayer, the minister addressed the meeting in kindly and suitable words. He then called on Mr. S. Morton to read the report, which, while gratifying in its contents, also reflected great credit on himself in its compilation. There are 260 scholars and 56 teachers connected with the school; the library contains some 600 volumes, though the readers are few; the general conduct and attendance is good. During the year the school-room has been fitted with a warming apparatus and seated round, and a commodious room has been entered into for cleaning and painting the walls; the cost of all this extra work is in a great measure defrayed already by means of subscriptions, entertainments, and specially by a grant of £14 10s. from the Caristmas Tree lately held by the Ladies' Sewing Meeting. Addresses were afterwards delivered by Messrs. Goodall, Morton, Varley, Seanor, and Butterick; a vote of thanks was also passed to the Ladies' Meeting at the tea, by Messrs. J. Abbishaw and J. W. Gibson. The Wesleyan Musical Society sang several new hymns during the evening, the doxology having also been pronounced, the meeting dispersed about nine o'clock.

APPOINTMENT OF OVERSEERS.—On Monday last, Mr. S. Parker, assistant overseer, attended at the Wakefield Court-house, and presented to the magistrates the list of names agreed on the week previously, viz., Messrs. J. Hargreaves, J. Sanderson, H. F. Newsome, W. Lawton, and J. Batty. Mr. Sanderson had intimated his wish to withdraw in favour of Mr. Lawton. The magistrates, however, decided to strike out both these names, and appointed Messrs. Jas. Hargreaves, H. F. Newsome, and J. Batty, as overseers for the present year.

THE HOLY CITY.
A SACRED CANTATA BY ALFRED R. GAUL.

A brief notice of the leading features of this work which is to be given very shortly as a special musical service in Woodlesford Church may be interesting to our musical readers.

The Cantata is comparatively a new work, having been composed for the last Birmingham Musical Festival, (1883) the birthplace of many noble examples of musical art.

It met with a very favourable reception on its production, and has since become enormously popular, about 25 thousand copies of the various editions having been already disposed of by the publishers.

The composer modestly states in a preface, that he has purposely avoided setting the more dramatic parts of the book from which the numbers are taken, viz. The vision of St. John, which have already been treated in so masterly a manner by the great German composer Louis Spohr in his oratorio the "Last Judgment."

The treatment of the subject is therefore almost entirely reflective, which gives much opportunity for sympathetic colouring of the sacred text.

The instrumental introduction "Contemplation" commences with a phrase which prevails, according to the custom of modern composers throughout the cantata, and this appropriately placed movement is followed by the first narrative setting of Bonar's beautiful hymn "No shadows yonder." The voices open with a florid simple subject, interrupted by a tenor solo, which is then repeated as a quartette accompanied, then as a chorus in unison with a harp accompaniment and a few additional bars at the conclusion.

The next No. a tenor solo "My soul is athirst for God" is effectively set up to by an enharmonic modulation from A flat to E major, and this is succeeded by an unaccompanied trio for female voices "At evening it shall be light."

The pastoral chorus which follows is an exceedingly effective No., the glowing subject in 6-8 time being followed by a well contrasted unaccompanied choral movement in common time happily expressive of the words "For God so loved the world." The theme already mentioned, which commences the introduction to the cantata now precedes a melodious unaccompanied trio "He hath not seen:" the voice part opening with a reminiscence of this subject in another time; and the first part concludes with two choruses, the first in fugal form, the latter a setting of Neale's hymn "For thee, oh dear, dear country." The first verse is given to the treble and alto voices in three parts, and responded to the tenors and bass, and the third by the full choir. The second Chorus "Thine is the kingdom" contains a fugue, though not developing any great extent is well written and appropriate to the words.

Part II commences with an instrumental movement "Adoration" in B major, which has an attractive subject, the effect of which is aided by a pretty figure in the accompaniment which prevails almost throughout.

The bass solo "A new heaven and a new earth" which follows is one of the most important movements in the cantata. This number, also, has a most grateful task, and one which, if he is possessed of the requisite musical instinct, and voice to give effect to it, he must revel in.

Considerable effect is derived from the introduction of a Choral Sanctus sung pianissimo by the choir to the typical theme of the work. The temporary interruptions of the solo by the choral phrases; and the conclusion of the number by the Sanctus for the bass voices in unison, the movement dying off in arpeggios for the accompaniment; may be cited in proof of the very effective way in which the composer has worked to colour his subject with fidelity which displays the influence of innate religious feeling.

That power is certainly not wanting, is evidenced by the following chorus for a double choir. "Let the Heavens rejoice" which contains much good solid writing. Of course the well known soprano solo which follow ("Come ye blessed" and "These are they which came") the former will be generally preferred but both are very effective and thoroughly vocal. In the later editions, a short but striking and effective unaccompanied chorus "The living put is for ever" has been interpolated before the soprano solo.

The duett, "They shall hunger no more," an attractive theme for tenor and soprano, is followed by a quartett and chorus for female voices, leading to a bass solo, which is afterwards combined effectively with the chorus. A recitative and short aria precedes which a long sustained A flat forms a prominent feature, adding much to the interest of the movement.

The last chorus, "Great and marvellous are Thy works," is an effective finale to the work; a polat which will commend itself to the careful listener, being the introduction of the solo voices at interval's unaccompanied, to verses from the Te Deum. The Sanctus being again sung to the theme so often heard in the course of the work.

It is stated that the first part of "The Holy City" was suggested by the passages of scripture "Here we have no continuing city," "They kingdom come," and sets forth the desire for a higher life, as expressed in the words "My soul is athirst for God," which desire is followed by other passages expressive of the perfection of the higher life, such as "Eye hath not seen."

The second part was suggested by the words, "I saw a new heaven and a new earth &c.," thus realising the desire and the promise contained in the first part.

This music throughout is bright, tuneful, melodious and winning, and "The Holy City," along with works of similar character, such as "Ruth," the "Passion Music" &c., by Mr. Gaul, has been at once accepted as a valuable addition to the somewhat limited stock of music available for performance by fairly advanced and advancing societies.

STOURTON.

LOCAL BOARD ELECTION.—On Friday the 28th ult., no open air meeting was held to further the candidature of Mr. Abraham Batty. Mr. H. P. Newsome presided, and was ably supported by Mr. S. Bramley, a member of the Board, and a few friends from Rothwell. The meeting, though not been long held before Mr. Lawton appeared on the scene, and the proceedings were soon very much enlivened. A body of electors from Rothwell Haigh soon arrived and mounted speakers, and the meeting was closed after a show of hands had been asked on behalf of Mr. Batty, only some 3 or 4 were observed. On the call, but a crowd being called from a working man in the crowd to 'plump for Holmes,' nearly every hand was raised on that gentleman's behalf. The proceedings then terminated. On Saturday an open air meeting was held at Stourton to support the candidature of Mr. Holmes and Mr. Dobson; Mr. Swales presided, and very stirring addresses were given by Messrs. W. Hargreaves, J. Simpson, and Parkes, on behalf of the above named gentlemen. Although the meeting was poorly attended, yet the feeling was unanimous that the above named gentlemen should stand, both having had considerable experience respecting highways, &c.

"FORTUNES MADE IN BUSINESS" is the title of two interesting books, which Messrs. Ward Lock & Co., will publish this month. The names represent Mercantile Celebrities, Famous Shipowners, Successful Financiers, Metallurgists, and Brewers. The prime feature of the work is that it will present a mass of Information and Anecdote, not gathered from books, but from the lips of the living and out-of-the-way sources. It includes Chapters on 'The Fortunes of the Gladstone Family,' 'The Bright Family,' and a host of other Leading Men. Meeting narrative of the rise and progress of 'The Low-Moor Iron Company'—so closely associated with the Gathorne-Hardy Family.

TOWN TALK.

This has been a week of unusual interest at Rothwell. The normal intellectual dormancy has been quickened by the addresses of the six candidates for Local Board honours, posted on the walls throughout the district; handbills also have been scattered broadcast, probably no single house in the village but has received its half-dozen copies of these manifestos. In addition to the addresses of the candidates, another, and perhaps smarter type of literature has been profusely distributed during the week, viz., skits and bits of a more of less amusing character. The first of these pietces appeared on Monday, the writer boldly set out the merits of each particular candidate, and their demerits too. He gave advice to the voters 'like a father' as to how they should vote, and recommended the first three seconds in order. This little production was regarded as a slasher for a beginning, and the laughter it excited was immense. This was followed later in the day by a skit or early on Tuesday, in a second squib signed 'A Ratepayer,' This fire lanes dashed at the leading candidates, and sought to prove that two of the candidates who were seeking election had increased the rateable and taxable value of Rothwell while they were in office, and warns the ratepayers against placing such men in power again. The next effusion was from the Liberal club, and here matters are rendered facetious, the effect being comical in the extreme. This club it appears had endeavoured to impose the canons on its members, but one of them would not stand the 'jerks of their whip.' He is consequently denounced in vigorous style; the cursing in the shape of Mr. Herring is a fool to the cursing of some liberal denunciators. "This production is replied to in a few terse sentences by one signing himself 'a member of the club,' who says he also pleases vote for the puppet of the Liberal Club, II will not,' cries this servant of all work, whose bill seems to aim at the Doctor and Mr. Lawton. The latest of these squibs is in verse, and more or less in rhyme. It is child in tone but racy in matter, and taken altogether, rather above the run of its predecessors. Cartoons are not so plentiful at this election as last, I have only seen two so far. They are fairly well up in merit, and appear to have attracted considerable attention, and created much amusement.

Several caricatures have been exhibited during the week, creating the greatest mirth and interest among onlookers.

One depicts the several members and officials of the old Board; the principal picture being a rough outline of the steam roller, with Mr. Clerk Charlesworth astride of the boiler, and a pair of reins in his hand, while Mr. Jas. Hargreaves sits behind as stoker, and Mr. W. Hargreaves stands in front holding a danger flag. In one corner, Mr. Oliver is seen trying to stretch the water main so as to reach Mr. Lawton's garden beyond the pavement, while Mr. Sanctus fans the ashpits, and considers the new plan of cleansing them a great improvement, although it does cost twice as much. Mr. J. Turner is represented as pick in hand, taking up the crossings to which he is so opposed, while a jar of non-marmalade cement stands by, which would make a most perfect road. A scene is next pourtrayed in which the doctor has just been to Clapp's' during the recent epidemic, with a quantity of clothes for Mrs. C., who is examining one of the garments to include the fashionable 'bussle,' and the following skit story to Mr. Bramley, that gentleman thanks the doctor, but complains that the fire never kept from work during the time the disease was in their houses. Next comes a caricature of Mr. Sanderson (before) and Mr. Newsome (behind) trying to get a water barrel up to Royds Green. The collector, with rate-book in one hand, and a pen in the other, sternly demands 'your money or your life.' The clerk at a desk in the Board-room makes desperate efforts to reduce the charge in the rates, but confesses

'I'll have to be a 1s. 10d. rate this half-year, I can't make it less; I don't know what the deuce they'll say.'

A former scene is pourtrayed in the surveyor's office, who, pointing to the church clock, is in the act of selling the time of day to Mr. Lawton's men, who has arrived at his work five minutes late.

In a second cartoon, there are two portions, the first depicting the fifteen members 'shuffling off' the old Board. The 'board' is resting on trestles, making as inclined plane; Mr. Bramley, who does not offer himself again, has just got to the bottom, bidding 'Good-bye, sweethearts, good-bye'; his vanishment is expedited by Mr. Sanderson, who is slipping down immediately behind with his leg outstretched against Mr. Bramley's back; Mr. Sanderson anticipates being back soon, and asks Mr. Oliver (his next friend) to keep his coat warm. Mr. Oliver, in the seated figure, is comfortably sliding down, leaving his hat in his chair, and singing 'I love my love, my Stourton dear, you'll put me on a new rate fear.'

'Scrambling on,' the second portion of the picture, makes more protestations to the prophetic, the 'doctor' of a similar character, such as 'Ruth,' the 'Passing Music' &c., by Mr. Gaul, has been at once accepted as a valuable addition to the somewhat limited stock of music available for performance by fairly advanced and advancing societies.

Throat Affections and Hoarseness.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now sold by per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. LISTEN TO YOUR WIFE.

THE Manchester Guardian, June 9, 1883, says:—"At one of the Manchester Police Courts, last week, with clumps of rhododendrons and great masses of Rhododendrons and great masses of Rhododendrons, it included one who had been a cotton spinner, but was now a 'hawker and pedlar.' He told the Bench that he could only bear to be in a receiving position.

This refers to my case at the Home for Incurables. I was first attacked with Rheumatism in the right arm—a paralytic disease of nerve fibre rarely ever cured—and for six or seven years my arm was useless, and for the last five years not able to attend to my business. I was told by the doctors that I must go into the Home for Incurables, and I hesitated to keep myself for so long, two years ago. I was voted into the Home for Incurables, Mr. Alfred Hall, Hanson Mower, near Manchester, in May, 1st, a home that ought to be more widely known, where every comfort is provided for, with kindness and attention.

I had not been there long before anything in the shape of patent medicine, and I made many objections to my friends when I contract urging to try Holloway's Pills and Ointment, but finally, to please them, I did so. I had not been taking the pills a month before I felt a change come over me. This was Saturday, November 24, in the Incurables Infirmary. I was then told, so changed was my face, I said to my bedroom companion, 'I am going to get well.' I was then able to walk about the floor, and took a bath to show how to undress myself. I was all over the house. After finishing the box of pills, I had four more to suit the case, and by the time it came I had fallen back considerably. Two days after I began taking the second my walking powers left me. I was, in the Infirmary, fearing the worst, for my face, hands, and arms were swollen, and I can walk quite well, and can dress myself, and go out when I can now at my own house, and hope soon to be able to earn my own living, and am a Member of the Manchester Royal Exchange for nearly thirty years, and was much respected by my friends before going to the Home on Thursday last.—Very gratefully yours, JOHN BLACKBURN, 50, Tetford Street, Moss Side, Manchester, December 24, 1883.

THE Manchester Guardian, June 9, 1883, says:—"At one of the Manchester Police Courts, last week, with clumps of rhododendrons and great masses of Rhododendrons and great masses of Rhododendrons, it included one who had been a cotton spinner, but was now a 'hawker and pedlar.' He told the Bench that he could only bear to be in a receiving position.

This refers to my case at the Home for Incurables. I was first attacked with Rheumatism in the right arm—a paralytic disease of nerve fibre rarely ever cured—and for six or seven years my arm was useless, and for the last five years not able to attend to my business. I was told by the doctors that I must go into the Home for Incurables, and I hesitated to keep myself for so long, two years ago. I was voted into the Home for Incurables, Mr. Alfred Hall, Hanson Mower, near Manchester, in May, 1st, a home that ought to be more widely known, where every comfort is provided for, with kindness and attention.

I had not been there long before anything in the shape of patent medicine, and I made many objections to my friends when I contract urging to try Holloway's Pills and Ointment, but finally, to please them, I did so. I had not been taking the pills a month before I felt a change come over me. This was Saturday, November 24, in the Incurables Infirmary. I was then told, so changed was my face, I said to my bedroom companion, 'I am going to get well.' I was then able to walk about the floor, and took a bath to show how to undress myself. I was all over the house. After finishing the box of pills, I had four more to suit the case, and by the time it came I had fallen back considerably. Two days after I began taking the second my walking powers left me. I was, in the Infirmary, fearing the worst, for my face, hands, and arms were swollen, and I can walk quite well, and can dress myself, and go out when I can now at my own house, and hope soon to be able to earn my own living, and am a Member of the Manchester Royal Exchange for nearly thirty years, and was much respected by my friends before going to the Home on Thursday last.—Very gratefully yours, JOHN BLACKBURN, 50, Tetford Street, Moss Side, Manchester, December 24, 1883.

To Hop Bitters Co., Rochester, N.Y.

P.S.—You will gather much respecting my case from the enclosed cutting.

NORTHERN COUNTIES HOSPITAL FOR INCURABLES.

May Election, 1883.

Your votes and interest are most respectfully solicited on behalf of aged forty-seven years, who for eleven years has been afflicted with Rheumatism, and for the last three years quite unable to attend to business.

Signed, Rev. Canon Hornby, Rector of St. James's, Higher Broughton.

The above testimonial is from among thousands received.

Hop Bitters cure dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney complaints, derangements of various kinds, and as a general family medicine have met with such genuine appreciation as Hop Bitters. Introduced to the public only a few months since, they have already attained a popularity unprecedented, and which will question the most popular and valuable medicine known.

Composed of simple materials, it is a marvel of delicate and wonderful combination. Every ingredient gives strength to the mark at which it is aimed, and the result is a perfect cure of the most delicate disease, attended by no unpleasant symptoms, but such as arise from relief of the confidence of all.

There is not a case of the large London hospitals, and similar institutions throughout the world, in which Hop Bitters have not been used.

Sold by Druggists and Medicine Dealers.

LOCAL BOARD ELECTION, 1884.

To the Ratepayers of Rothwell, Rothwell Haigh, and Royds Green.

Ladies & Gentlemen,

I have to offer to those of you who honoured me with votes at this Election my most cordial thanks.

Yours Truly,

WM. LAWTON.

ROTHWELL LOCAL BOARD ELECTION.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

I have again to thank you for the indulgence you have shown to my most cordial thanks, me as a member of the Rothwell Local Board for the third time. I assure you I return you my sincere thanks, especially to those 344 voters in Rothwell and district, who supported and voted for me; also to my Stourton friends I present many many thanks, for the manner in which you have stood by me in this election, feeling proud to say that out of the 260 voters at Stourton, 220 have recorded their votes in my favour. Having so triumphantly returned me, it will now be my duty and pleasure to again serve all my constituents, and to carefully attend to the business that may come before the Board, exercising due economy with efficiency. I hope by my attention and assistance that the whole of the ratepayers in the district will have no just cause to complain. To all those who have so kindly and independently assisted and worked for me during this great struggle I cordially return my best thanks.

I am, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOSEPH HOLMES.

ROTHWELL LOCAL BOARD ELECTION, 1884.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Allow me very sincerely to tender my warmest thanks for the great distinction you have conferred upon me at the late election by placing me at the head of the poll. As it is by your kindly suffrages that I have been returned in this proud position, I desire to thank you one and all, and beg to assure you that no effort shall be spared on my part, to devote my experience and time to your service on the Board. I trust that my conduct in regard to the various matters which may engage our attention, will command your approval.

I am,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Yours obediently,

JOHN DOBSON.

LOCAL BOARD ELECTION.

The Local Board Election of 1884 was settled on Saturday, when, perhaps the most keenly contested struggle we have ever had, came to an end.

Precisely at twelve o'clock on Saturday, Mr. Jos. Charlesworth took his seat in the Board-room as returning officer, being assisted by Mr. S. Hargreaves, (the clerk) Mr. Marshall. (collector) and Mr. J. T. Gurney. The candidates were all either present or represented, viz:—Mr. J. Batty, Mr. John Dobson, Mr. Jos. Holmes, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. J. Turner for Dr. Nowell, Mr. Lawton, Junr, for Mr. Lawton. During the early part of the counting up, there were two or three disputed points came up; certain papers were disqualified by the witness to a voter's mark failing to write the voter's name; several papers were admitted which, though evidently not written by the voter, were as evidently done by his direction; one or two papers came in after twelve which were declined.

About 1130 papers were sent out, a larger number than ever previous. The total number received was 1065, several persons having either left the neighbourhood or for other reasons had not returned their voting paper. Of this 1065, 48 were returned unfilled up, and 13 were spoilt, several of these being filled up as if for School Board election, giving two or more votes to one candidate.

The declaration of the poll took place a little after six o'clock, when Mr. Charlesworth stated that the following were the numbers polled by each candidate:—

Mr. James Batty	254
,, John Dobson	671
,, Joseph Holmes	580
,, Wm. Lawton	393
,, Jas. Nowell	478
,, John Sanderson	364

Mr. Dobson, Mr. Holmes and Mr. Nowell being declared duly elected.

Mr. Holmes moved a cordial vote of thanks to Jos. Charlesworth, Esq. for his courtesy and impartiality as returning officer, which in suitable terms was seconded by Mr. Dobson, and supported by Mr. Turner.

The motion having been carried, Mr. Charlesworth expressed his thanks for the resolution, and after expressing his regret at losing old faces, trusted that the infusion of new blood into the Board would be for the general benefit of the ratepayers.

The news of the result soon spread, and though considerable disappointment was felt by some, there was a general feeling that a good selection had been made.

It may be interesting to state two or three facts gleaned from the numbers. Mr. Batty was supported proportionately throughout the district, the north side of Rothwell and Rothwell Haigh giving the most help.

Mr. Dobson took the highest numbers in every district except Stourton, where he was next to Mr. Holmes, though about 80 less.

Mr. Holmes got good support in Rothwell, running next to Mr. Dobson on the Haigh, but far surpassing any other candidate at Stourton, as out of the 237 papers accepted from that district, he received no fewer than 236 votes.

Mr. Lawton received help from all sides, and his name was found associated with each of the others, his principal partner, however, being Mr. Sanderson.

Mr. Nowell found his strongest power in the Woodlesford district, nearly as many as Mr. Dobson. He also had some help from Stourton and Royds Green.

Mr. Sanderson ran up splendidly in the early part of the race, the voters including Royds Green and that side of Rothwell, but fell to a unit figure at Stourton

The Board will now consist of three actual town men, two from Wood Lane way, two from the Haigh, one from Stourton, and the chairman. Reckoning Mr. Jas. Hargreaves and Mr. Dobson as town men, Rothwell has never been so largely represented before.

HUNSLET GUARDIANS' ELECTION.

The election for the seventeen seats on the Hunslet Board of Guardians was decided yesterday evening, when the result was declared by Mr. Schofield, returning officer.

Contests took place in only two of the divisions of the North Ward, (Hunslet), where four gentlemen polled for three seats, and the East Ward, (Hunslet) where there were six candidates for three chairs. Four names also appeared for the three seats for Rothwell, but at a late period, Mr. Swales withdrew, thus saving a contest.

The following is the complete return:—

Retiring Guardians.

HUNSLET BOARD OF GUARDIANS.

The meeting of the above Board took place on Wednesday; there were present Mr. J. Hargreaves, (chairman), Messrs. J. Graveley and J. Parker, (vice-chairmen), and Messrs. Lawton, Sheard, Pickersgill, Greaves, Jepson, Dixon, Aaron, Sutcliffe, Butterworth, and Whitehead, with Mr. Schofield, (clerk), and Mr. Keight, (assistant clerk).

After the numerous relief cases had been gone through, the minutes were read and confirmed, and the ordinary business proceeded with.

A letter was read from John Barran, Esq., M.P., acknowledging the receipt of a petition against the sale of intoxicating liquors on Sundays, from the Guardians.

Several settlement cases between Hunslet and other Unions were then brought forward and decisions arrived at.

BOARDING OUT.—The committee on this matter recommended that a boy named Daniel Savage, who was a short time ago sent to a Mr. Marshall, be transferred to Mr. Fitter, Woodhouse Hill; that John R. Cooper be boarded out with Mr. Samuel Wood; and that John Hopkins, a boy of the Roman Catholic faith, be sent to a Mr. Curwin; these were agreed to with the exception of Hopkins, who is under medical treatment.

It was resolved that two amounts for the necessary outfit be granted.

Mr. Huntley, of Wortley, wrote asking the Board if they had a girl suitable for a nurse girl, which he desired to take into his family, but as there is not a suitable girl in the house, this request cannot be granted.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.—The present school attendance officer at Middleton having resigned his office, the committee who have this matter to manage asked for permission to advertise for another at ten pounds a-year, and it was resolved to advertise accordingly in the local newspapers.

OLD RENT.—The master reported that the tenant of a cottage, the property of the Guardians, had allowed a debt of 4 guineas to accumulate; and asked what means should be taken for its recovery. It was resolved unanimously that the clerk write to the person requesting payment, and informing him that the amounts would be collected by the relieving officer from time to time.

TESTMEN.—Good Friday being a holiday, the testmen requested that they should have pay on that occasion, which was readily granted.

RELIEVING OFFICERS' REPORT.—This report was read, and in several cases where persons are in arrears to a considerable amount for the support of relatives in the House, it was decided to enforce payment; one man, Thomas Lawson, was especially prominent in this list, and very severe measures are to be adopted in this case.

WORKHOUSE REQUIREMENTS.—Mr. Lawton reported that he, along with Mr. Pickersgill, had visited Leeds Market, and had decided to buy the potatoes required for the House of Messrs. Robinson and Sons, at seven pence per score, these being of excellent quality.

VERBATIM REPORT.—The other Unions not being agreeable to share in the cost of printing the verbatim report, the clerk suggested that the manuscript be bound in 4 volumes; this was agreed to.

The chairman declared the business finished, and with the end of that meeting they arrived at the end of the year.

Mr. Pickersgill then rose to propose that the thanks of the meeting be given to Mr. Hargreaves for his valuable and impartial services as chairman during the year. This was seconded by Mr. Dixon, and supported by Mr. Whitehead, and carried with applause.

Mr. Hargreaves said he was obliged to the members of the Board for the thanks so well expressed, and said that his duties at the Hunslet Board of Guardians had ever been to him a source of pleasure, and he hoped he had done fair all round, not shewing partiality to any one.

Thanks were then given to Mr. Graveley, the first vice-chairman, on the motion of Mr. Dixon and Mr. Greaves, and to Mr. Parker, the second vice-chairman, on the motion of Messrs. Sutcliffe and Aaron, both gentlemen in a few suitable remarks responding.

Mr. Hargreaves proposed a vote of thanks not usual in this Union, but one which he thought would not be out of place, but on the contrary, was in his opinion due, he meant to Mr. Schofield, who he thought was one of the best clerks he had ever met with, and who by his valuable advice and suggestions, had saved them often from legal expenses and trouble.

Mr. Whitehead seconded this, and after being supported by Mr. Pickersgill, was carried unanimously.

Mr. Schofield thought it was usual for paid officials to have remuneration enough in their salaries, and not to expect thanks; however, he was obliged to them, and hoped he would continue to merit their thanks, and give them the full benefit of any knowledge and experience that he possessed, which he thought had been well tested during the past year.

This concluded the business.

EPPS COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled, 'JAMES EPPS & Co, Homœopathic Chemists, London.' Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence in thousands of cases, because it contains more nutritious and flesh-forming elements than any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa generally sold. When you ask for Cadbury's Cocoa Essence be sure that you get it, as shopkeepers often push imitations for the sake of extra profits. Makers to the Queen. Paris depôt, 90 Faubourg St. Honore.

WHEN in Leeds, you should visit the Golden Cup Cocoa House, 157, Briggate, or the Borough Arms Cocoa House, Kirkgate.—Private Rooms for ladies at both houses.

LOCAL BOARD MEETING.

The last meeting of the present Board was held on Monday, present:—J. Charlesworth, Esq., (chairman), Messrs. W. Hargreaves, J. Holmes, J. Hargreaves, sen. Bramley, J. Turner, H. P. Newsome, and the clerk, collector and surveyor.

The minutes of past meetings having been read, their confirmation was proposed by Mr. W. Hargreaves, seconded by Mr. S. Bramley. Previous to this motion being put, Mr. Turner wished to draw attention to the disgraceful state of Rothwell streets, and the Board's position as regards the present contractors. The chairman of the Highway Committee remarked that this would come up in the report to be presented, and the minutes were then confirmed, Mr. Turner being neutral.

TELL TALE.—In conformity with his notice, Mr. Bramley moved the rescinding of the resolutions to publish a "tell tale" of attendances; although he thought he should stand as well as most, he held that it was not the proper time to move for such a report just before the close of the year, it ought to be decided on at the beginning of the year. The chairman acknowledged that he had been a very bad attender, and seconded Mr. Bramley's motion, as he could not see what good could result from it now. Mr. Holmes and Mr. Newsome, although in favour of having one at the proper time, thought it would be very foolish to publish now when the election was over. Mr. Turner moved an amendment in favour of the resolution standing, which Mr. W. Hargreaves seconded. But on being put, only those two gentlemen upheld the tell tale at present.

HIGHWAYS.—The chairman of the Highway Committee reported that he had to congratulate the Board on the fact that the Leeds and Wakefield road had now been placed on the list of county roads, and in due course half the cost of its maintenance, will be paid to the Board.

From Mr. Farrer's report, it appeared that Mr. Bulmer's roads are more metal on, but they are not in good form; the Committee therefore felt they could not ask him to break the contract, but must get him to carry out its provisions more satisfactorily. Mr. Nichols' roads are reported as worse than when he took them, and the Committee urge greater attention on his part. Mr. Hargreaves mentioned also, that the cost of the testing and report would be getting on to £20, a very serious sum, if the Board has it all to pay. He also referred to the question of having their material broken by the Hunslet testmen; while the Board was very anxious to assist the Hunslet Union, the Committee feared that the cost of carting to and from the Union depôt, would make the scheme too costly; if the Guardians could arrange to have the stone broken at a depôt near Thwaite Gate, possibly it might be worth while for the Board to entertain it. Mr. J. Hargreaves was afraid the difficulties in the way of such an arrangement could not be got over, especially as regards bringing the test men out to do it. They were now cutting wood, but the Government regulations are not sufficiently strong, and the Guardians find the number of tramps increasing. Mr. Holmes thought the best way would be for the Guardians to purchase stone, break it themselves, and sell it broken to Highway Authorities. Some further conversation followed, but no definite plan was adopted.

As regards Mr. Farrer's report, Mr. Bramley could not see that Bulmer ought to pay any part of the new road. The chairman remarked on the wretched paving in Butcher Lane, but felt that Bulmer had had a bad time of it, what with the sewage scheme and the connections. Mr. Newsome also complained of the trouble and expense to Bulmer caused by other contractors making connections, and leaving the road badly finished. Mr. Turner was anxious to have the streets into the Board's own hands by one means or another. It was finally resolved on the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. W. Hargreaves, to adopt the Highway Committee's report so far as regards stone breaking.

The clerk reported that the Leeds and Wakefield highway had been made that day into a main road, the county surveyor reporting that it is in good repair and could be recommended. The chairman stated that he had had an interview with the Surveyor, who urged that the Board should keep the road in good repair during the year. The cost of maintenance would be reckoned from March 25th, 1884, up to the same date next year, and the accounts having been audited, half the cost would be allowed by the County Board, and also one quarter of the cost by the Government. Mr. W. Hargreaves thought such an amount would certainly ease the rates considerably. Mr J. Hargreaves (to Mr. Bramley) "You will be out of that happy condition." Mr. Bramley.—"Oh, perhaps I shall just be getting on again."

The surveyor said that Bulmer was wishing to cover the lower portion of Commercial Street, but that it wants putting into better form first; referred to the Highway Committee.

ENGINE HOUSE, &c.—The clerk said he had received the sanction of the Local Government Board to the erection of engine house, &c., according to plan, with permission to borrow £310 for 10 years. Mr W. Hargreaves moved—that offers of loans for this amount be advertised in the Rothwell Times. In reply to Mr. J. Hargreaves, the clerk said the Board's present liabilities are over £10,000. Mr. Holmes seconded the proposal, which was carried.

SEWAGE.—Mr. Holmes directed attention to Queen's Place at Stourton, which is not connected with the main sewer, and proposed that it should at once be done. Mr. J. Hargreaves seconded the motion, which was carried; notice will be given.

Mr. Holmes also remarked that it is nearly two years since the main holes were cleansed, and proposed they should be done. Mr. Newsome seconded the motion, which was carried.

In reply to Mr. Turner's question, Mr. Holmes stated that he believed all the property at Stourton is connected.

In answer to a letter from the clerk, as regards the drainage of Hunslet Cemetery into the main drain at Stourton, the Town Clerk of Leeds states that he is instructed to reply that it is perfectly competent for the Corporation to direct this sewage into the main on Wakefield road. The chairman maintained that this could not be considered sewage, as it was simply water draining from the cemetery, and he proposed that the clerk reply to that effect, and ask for an appointment to meet and discuss the matter. Mr. W. Hargreaves seconded the proposal, referring to the fact that the drainage's opinion is strongly against allowing it, and the danger which it may involve to the health of Stourton inhabitants.

ASHPITS.—Mr. Turner intimated that he was intending to visit Keighley, and as he understood they had a very superior method of cleansing ashpits, he should like to have a letter of introduction from the clerk. After some conversation, both jocular and serious, it was agreed that the matter was of sufficient importance to lend the official sanction of the Board to the visit.

WATER.—A complaint having been made against a person giving away water at Stourton, the clerk was instructed to write a warning letter.

Mr. Holmes again introduced the very hard case of the tenants of the Blanket house, who (eleven in family) have no supply of water. All the members agreed on the propriety of their having water (the difficulty is that the termination of the main is 70 yards away, whereas the Oulton and Woodlesford main is only 40 yards), the contention is, that this Authority should supply this house, as they have done to several other properties on the road, in the Board's district. On the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. Hargreaves, it was resolved again to ask the Hunslet Rural Sanitary Authority to supply this house.

Mr. Holmes recommended the surveyor to use water for the roads from the hydrants at the top of stevenes, as often some water almost stagnant at these places.

SCARLET FEVER.—Mr. W. Hargreaves drew attention to the serious outbreak of this disease in Leeds, and trusted that every precaution will be taken by the medical officer and the inspector to guard our district from its introduction.

FINANCE.—The collector had received the following sums up to the 25th March :—

General District Rate	...	30	12 2
Water Rent ...	...	5	1 1
Miscellaneous	...	4	7
	£35	17	10

It was gratifying to learn that only two or three small amounts were owing to the District Account, on closing the books.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.

Last Saturday, a party of Red Indians, (who have previously visited the town,) accompanied by their chief, gave an exhibition of their various powers, before a very good audience. The programme consisted of Songs, Solos, War dances, Scalping scene, &c., every portion of which was gone through in a creditable manner.

Miss L. H. Moore, (a freed slave,) who has several times visited the hall, on Sunday gave two very interesting services, both of which were very well attended.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE numerous members of the various cricket organisations in the district and our readers generally will be pleased to know that Mr. Wm. Hirst, of Woodlesford, a member of the Woodlesford Cricket Club, but now a professional engaged by the Rothwell C. C., and Mr. Albert Ward, a member of the Rothwell team, have been accepted by the Yorkshire Colts as candidates for the County team during the coming season. We heartily congratulate our young friends who have been so successful in their play on our local fields that they have been thought worthy of this distinguished position, and hope that their names will appear figuring prominently in the reports of the County team's work. Should this take place, (and there is every reason for thinking it will) the club of Rothwell and Woodlesford may take to themselves the greatest credit, and look forward to a still brighter future.

WOODLESFORD SEWING CLASS.—It appears that during last summer, two young ladies, Miss Castle and Miss Abbey, conducted a juvenile sewing class at Woodlesford, and the result of their quiet but successful efforts have just reached our ears. The garments having been sold, the nett balance of £7 10s. 6d. was handed over to the Leeds Infirmary. We are sure everyone will applaud the unobtrusive work of all those who have assisted in gaining this result, and we very cordially thank them for this example of benevolence.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We would particularly urge our friends to send in their letters and news, as early as possible, as we cannot accept contributions later than Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, except in the case of matters occurring on Wednesday or Thursday, which should be forwarded within a short period after. Advertisements may be sent as late as Friday morning.

CORRESPONDENCE.

By PUNCH AND JUDY.

'Egypt the Land of the Nile' was the subject of a very interesting lecture delivered on Monday night in the Mechanics' Institute, Hunslet Road. Mr. James Kinson was announced to take the chair the lecturer, (the Rev. Charles Hargrove, Minister of the Unitarian Chapel, Park Row,) but that gentleman was unable owing to a slight affection of the throat to fulfil his engagement. In his absence, Councillor Gilston made, as he usually does, an excellent chairman.

* * * *

The lecture was an exceedingly interesting one and showed that the Rev. lecturer was 'well up' in the land of the Pharoahs. At this particular juncture when the affairs of Egypt are absorbing so much attention, peculiar interest attached to Mr. Hargrove's account of 'The land of the Nile, and the waters of the Crocodile river,

* * * *

On Monday night's lecture was given in St. Jude's School-room, Eastmoor, on 'The failures of the Gladstone Government.' The lecturer was Mr. J. Croston, J.P., of Manchester, and was under the auspices of the South Ward and East Hunslet Conservative Association. The chairman, Mr F. W. Walker, (of the firm of Messrs. Tennant, Walker & Co.,) briefly introduced the lecturer, who was heartily received. He delivered a sweeping indictment against the Gladstone Government, in which that whilst we were promised peace, retrenchment and reform, we had war, an increased annual expenditure of £6000000, and as yet at all events, no reform of any kind.

* * * *

An instance of newspaper depravity, happily rare, lately came under my notice. Some time ago a writer for a certain print, notorious for its obscurity, made an underhand attack on a local gentleman, whom he had a personal animus against. The gentleman referred to, though he well knew his underhand assailant, treated him with contempt. Recently the gentleman has been appointed to a lucrative public position, and the print which gave a limited circulation to the shabby innendoes against the character of the gentleman alluded to, hastens to publish a biographical sketch of the man they had before slandered, and indulges in the most fulsome adulation of the man. Another illustration 'that nothing succeeds like success.'

* * * *

Next week Mr. Herbert Gladstone and Mr. John Barran are to hold forth in Hunslet, and there will be something in the nature of a genuine liberals of East Hunslet. To give them their due, there are a few 'good men and true' among the East Hunslet liberals, and especially some of them I know personally and esteem very much, they are not only honest politicians, but good and sound citizens; they are not like too many of the professed agitators of the day, simply political marionettes, prepared to dance to any tune set them. Master Herbert or 'Young Impudence' is worth listening to, and as for Mr. Barran, he has this week electrified the House by his eloquence. So much for No. 1.—Not Tyrus, but Barran.

* * * *

The Tories are also on the alert, and have secured the services of the ablest man in their ranks to deliver an address in the Albert Hall, Leeds, on Friday night, April 18th, The Right Hon. E. Gibson is an Irish orator of the first rank in Parliament, he is senior member for the University of Dublin, he can present a formidable charge of 'Blundering and Plundering' against Her Majesty's government, and persuade a sympathetic audience that Mr. Gladstone is the greatest politician of the nineteenth century. The 'grand' old man however, little heeds him.

TOWN TALK.

LOCAL BOARD ELECTION.—Now that the election is over, and the feelings excited by that event have more or less subsided, it may be useful to offer a few remarks on the change of personnel. Mr. Sanderson disappears as a public servant in Local Board affairs, at least for a year, he will be missed, and I think his absence regretted by the whole of the members of the Board. Mr. Sanderson's conduct proved him to be a sincere and well meaning man, honest in his opinion, and at all times anxious to discharge his duties. Mr. Bramley is another old member whose absence will be felt and regretted. As a public servant, Mr. Bramley was most useful. There is a tendency rather to waste the time of the Board by aimless talk of late, and the meetings are prolonged, while the business is hardly got through. Mr. Bramley had a very desirable influence on the too much talk, talker. His short, abrupt method often put the matter into shape and disposed of, when otherwise but for him the Board would have stuck fast in the quagmire of too much jaw. Mr. Nowell the Board will no doubt miss and greatly, as a ratepayer, there is some danger of the Board becoming too critical and visionary. The necessary ballast may be provided in the person of Mr. Dobson; if so, my fears will be dissipated. Mr. Holmes, I hear, takes his defeat rather hard; however, he must hope on There will be another election next year for those who live to see it. At present the ratepayers have a long respite, and I am told he is certain to be in the field again. Mr. Batty is to be congratulated on the gallant stand he made against the enemy set up by Whitehead, Turner and Co., at the Liberal Club; and Mr. Holmes on his re election.

* * * *

REALLY, to say we are only at the fore-end of April, we are having charming weather. The trees and hedges are getting in full leaf, and the fruit bushes are crowded with promise of fruit, while the pear and cherry trees are white with bloom. So long as Mr. Black Frost keeps off we have promise of an abundant fruit year.

* * * *

I am pleased to record that the breach at the Temperance Hall is apparently in course of being repaired. I understand a committee meeting was held one evening this week, and the resolution censuring the Bazaar Committee was withdrawn, on the motion of Mr. Iveson and Mr. Smith. Note: These were the gentlemen who moved and got the censure first in place, and were the persons to re-record it. Let us hope the members of the Bazaar Committee will become reconciled to the past, and that the work of temperance in our town will be carried on in unity and love. One can't help thinking Mr. Iveson and his friend would get more fitting employment than they were proposed as a deputation to wait on the members who had been treated with such ingratitude as their hands to express their contrition for moving such a resolution.

LOCAL BOARD ELECTION.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

DEAR SIR,

As my address intimated, the fact of the voting not being by ballot, caused me to have very little doubt as to the result of the election, more especially as I knew that the tactics of a certain party would be of the most complete kind. However, I must confess, I never expected that such self landing virtue and greatness, would have resorted to such mean abusing practices as they did. Flagrant misrepresentation I leave on record, but unfair influence is surely beneath the dignity of these lofty ones.

With regard to the mis-representation, the old false story of the fire once was trotted out once more. If anyone can prove one word of truth in that statement, I will give £5 to any charity that persons thinks fit to name. Here is a chance for the Leeds Infirmary, or ones to prove their public benefaction in the most public manner. Who will accept?

As to the charge of raising the rates, this again is capable of complete denial. When I first became an overseer the rate was 9d. in the £, it was soon reduced to 8d., and it the overseers lived it might be 9d. to day, for they have £350 in the bank, the overplus from the 8d. rate, and of the imposition of a heavier rate than is needful. But further, if the Hunslet rateable value is properly raised, as I have been striving with might and main to effect, the poor rate will be reduced to 6d.

If this is raising the rates, more power to the rates. These are the words of the opposition, but a statement let those in authority deny it. It would not do at such a critical moment as an election to admit that I have done anything but injury, so of course all this is put out of sight.

However, though beaten, I am not subdued, I shall continue to fight these gentlemen (save the mark) on their own ground as long as I remain in the district, and this, whether they fight themselves, or through their jackal of spoil-seeking fame.

Yours obediently,
WILLIAM LAWTON.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Coughs, Influenza, —The soothing, penetrating properties of these medicaments render them well worthy of trial in all diseases of the lungs. In common colds and influenza the Pills taken internally and the Ointment rubbed externally are exceedingly efficacious. When influenza is epidemic this treatment is recommended, safest, and surest. Holloway's Pills and Ointment purify the blood, remove all obstructions to its free circulation through the lungs, relieve the overgorged air cubes, and render respiration free without reducing the strength, irritating the nerves, or depressing the spirits. Such are the ready means of saving suffering when afflicted with colds, coughs, bronchitis, and other complaints by which so many are seriously and permanently afflicted in most countries.

AN ALARMING DISEASE AFFLICTING A NUMEROUS CLASS.

The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, it in time involves the whole frame, embracing the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and, in fact, the entire glandular system, and the afflicted drags out a miserable existence until death gives relief from suffering. The disease is often mistaken for other complaints; but if the reader will ask himself the following questions, there will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted:—Have I distress, pain, or difficulty in breathing after eating? Is my appetite poor, heavy feeling attended by drowsiness? Have the eyes a yellow tinge? Does a thick, sticky mucous gather about the gums and teeth in the morning? Sometimes only a disagreeable taste? Is the tongue coated? Is there pain in the side and back? Is there a fullness about the right side as if the liver were enlarging? Is there extreme dizziness? Is there vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from a horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidneys scanty and highly coloured, with a deposit after standing? Does food ferment soon after eating, accompanied by flatulence or a belching of gas from the stomach? Is there frequent palpitation of the heart? These various symptoms may not be present at one time, but they torment the sufferer in turn as the dreadful disease progresses. If the case be one of long standing, there will be a dry, hacking cough, attended after a time by expectoration. In very advanced stages the skin assumes a dry, parchment appearance, and the hands and feet are covered by a cold, sticky perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become more and more diseased, irritating poisons appear, and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailing against this latter agonising disorder. The origin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsia, and a medicine capable of the proper medicine will remove the disease if taken in its inception. It is most important that the disease should be promptly and properly treated in its first stages, when a little medicine will effect a cure, and even when it has obtained a firm hold on the system it should be persevered in until every vestige of the disease is eradicated, until the appetite has returned, and the digestive organs resume a healthy condition. The surest and most effectual remedy for this distressing complaint is "Seigel's Curative Syrup," a vegetable preparation sold by Chemists and Medicine Vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. WHITE, Limited, 17, Farringdon Road, London, E.C. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system.

THE Golden Cup Cocoa House, 157, Briggate.—The new premises are now complete, and the accommodation greatly improved.

"THE SORROWS OF CHILDHOOD." TEETHING. Mrs. Johnson's Soothing Syrup "rubbed on the gums will allay irritation, and give rest on the sufferer by assisting the Teeth to appear. It is guaranteed to be harmless and pleasant to taste. Of all Chemists at 2s. 9d. per bottle.

CHEAP ADVERTISING.—The cheapest way of advertising articles wanted or for sale, houses to let or required, situations wanted or vacant, is to put a notice to that effect in the columns of this journal, such advertising only costs 3d a line.

DAN MACKIE'S EDINA WATCHES. Ladies', 25s.) In Sterling Silver Cases.
We can supply Watches at 12s. 6d. and upwards, but I charge persons who wish a cheap and reliable article, we recommend the Edinas, which are certain to give satisfaction.

DAN MACKIE & Co.,
35, Cockburn Street, Edinburgh.

AS a safe, permanent and warranted cure of Pimples Scrofula, Scurvy, Boils, Ringworm, Skin and Scalp Disease and Sores of all kinds, we can with confidence recommend CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE.—Sold by Chemists everywhere.

THE Borough Arms Cocoa House, Kirkgate.—Dinner from the joint 12.0 to 2.30

LADIES and Gentlemen of Conservative views can, while promoting the Conservative cause, find means of adding to their comforts in a highly honorable and thoroughly legitimate manner by enclosing addressed envelope to 'V. R.' 21, Grosvenor Mansions, Victoria Street, London, S.W.

FLORILINE!—FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH.—A few drops of the liquid "Floriline" sprinkled on a wet tooth-brush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all traces of impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly white-ness, and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant colour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco smoke. "The Fragrant Floriline" being composed in part of Honey and sweet herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest luxury discovery of the age. Price 2s. 6d., of all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale depôt removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost instantaneous relief afforded by the use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." These famous "lozenges" are now sold by most respectable chemists in this country at 1s. 1½d. per box. People troubled with a "hacking cough," a "slight cold," or bronchial affections, cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious Pulmonary and Asthmatic affections. See that the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are on the Government Stamp around each box.—Prepared by JOHN I. BROWN & SONS, Boston, U.S. European depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

HOW THE COMPLEXION IS RUINED.—It is well known to the medical faculty that the majority of skin diseases are caused, and consequently originate in a state of impure and irritant soaps. The more delicate the skin the quicker its pain. The Albion Milk and Almond Soap is the purest, the mildest, and most emollient of all the purest PERFUMED SOAPS recommended to the entire medical profession. Beautifully white. Delicately perfumed. It is a boon to sensitive skins. As a shaving soap it is unequalled. Sold in Tablets by all Chemists.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Is your rest broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste. It produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. MRS. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere at 1s. 1½d. per bottle.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore to every case Grey or White hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere at 3s. 6d. per Bottle. Wholesale depot removed to 33, Farringdon Road, London.

TOMLINSON & GO.'S BUTTER POWDER Brings the Butter quickly, concrete and golden flavour of Turnips, Lake, Mangolds, Wild Garlic, Sour Grass, Locks, Dead Leaves, &c., increases the quantity and improves the quality of Butter. By its use farmers and dairymen may charge good, firm, and sweet Butter all the year round.

Butter made with this Powder invariably takes the FIRST PRIZES at the Agricultural Shows throughout the kingdom. Sold everywhere, by Chemists and Grocers, in Boxes, 6d., 2s. 6d., and 5s. 6d., and by the Sole Manufacturers, POMLID-SOYA & HAYWARD, LEEDS, and 33, Farringdon Road, London.

LISTEN TO YOUR WIFE.

THE Manchester Guardian, June 9, 1883, says:—"At one of the windows looking on the workland ways, with glimpse of rhododendrons and great masses of May blossom, there was an interesting group. It consisted of those who had been a cotton spinner, but was now a paralytic; and that he could only bear to lie in a reclining position."

This refers to my case as the Home for Incurables. I was first attacked twelve years ago with locomotor ataxy—paralytic disease of nerve fibre rarely ever cured—and for the last five years have been able to get about, and for the last few years could walk to attend to my business as cotton agent, although much against the wish of my doctor for me, the last attendance being nine months ago, two years ago. I was voted into the Home for Incurables, Manfield Hall, Heaton Mersey, near Manchester, in May, 1881, a house that ought to be more widely known, and to which deserved cases have every solicitude and attention.

I am no advocate for anything in the shape of patent medicine, but will say that since my entrance here a constant urging to try HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS, I have quite finished the first bottle of the Pills which I began to take on the 9th of March, and was most heartily congratulated on going into the room on Thursday last by my fellow-patients.

JOHN BLACKBURN.

10, Turnpike-stile, Higher Broughton, Manchester, December 24, 1883.

To Mr. Holloway, 533, Oxford-street, London, W.

P.S.—I feel with earher much respecting my case from the enclosed cutting.

(Copy of Cutting.)

SECOND APPLICATION.

NORTHERN COUNTIES HOSPITAL FOR INCURABLES.

May Election, 1883.

Votes and Interest are most respectfully solicited on behalf of aged forty-seven years, who for eleven years has been afflicted with paralysis, and for the last three years quite unable to attend to his business.

This case is recommended by

Revd. Arthur Hall, M.A., Rector of Bolton.
The Revd. C. E. Stewart, Rector of St. James's, Higher Broughton.
Mrs. Hall, Bolton.
Mr. John Heywood, Publisher, &c., Manchester.
Mrs. Wilkinson, Wood Mead, Higher Broughton.
Mrs. Wimer, Woodland-terrace, Higher Broughton.
Henry Simon, Esq., M.Inst. Mech. Engs., Engineer to the Manchester Steel Company.
Alfred Neild, Esq., J.P., Assistant Physician to the Manchester Infirmary.
Alex. Hodgkinson, Esq., M.B., 36, King-street, Manchester.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Coughs, Influenza, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Asthma, Colds, and as a general family medicine, none have met with such genuine appreciation as Holloway's. Throughout this country but a comparatively short time since, they were unknown, but their value is now so widely appreciated that they are considered invaluable medicine known.

Composed of simple materials, it is a marvel of delicate and successful combination. Every ingredient goes straight to the blood, and by its use the worst constitution is toned, pleasant to the palate, agreeable to the taste, and thoroughly efficacious. Whatever it is, it will be found to be the best from one of the best makers, which not only does its work quickly and well, but is a thorough disinfector, besides making the clothes a better colour, and soon saves its cost in not rubbing them to pieces, to say nothing of the saving it effects in soap, time and labour. This kind are so safe, portable, and easy to manage, can be adapted alike to mansion or cottage, that it is a universal favourite wherever it goes. One good lady says "That she would part with anything in the house sooner than her machine." A gentleman also writes "That he would not be without it for double its cost."

EASTER.

The mention of Easter-tide always brings with it bright and fragrant associations, whether considered from the religious or the work-a-day aspect. After the long penitential weeks of Lent, closing with the thoughts of our blessed Saviour's passion and death, we joyfully hail the advent of Easter Sunday on which we celebrate that 'first day of the week' which found the 'stone rolled away' and the 'Redeemer of the world' risen from the embrace of death and hell, conqueror over both, and earnest of the resurrection of every soul of man. Well may our services on that day partake of the joyous and cheery.

To the constant toiler, the genial holiday proclaimed during these days is most grateful. Spring is just coming forth in all her loveliness, the winter is over and gone, 'and the time of the singing of birds is come,' and all creation invites the labourer to come and join in the universal pæan of gladsome hallelujah. Visits of friends, trips to distant places, holiday rambles, and other recreative pursuits are heartily enjoyed, and the first holiday of the year is always welcomed.

The Leeds Municipal Buildings, which will be used for Corporation and Free Library purposes, were formally opened yesterday by the Mayor (Mr. E Woodhouse) in the presence of the members of the Corporation, Sir Andrew Fairbairn, M.P., Mr. J. Barran, M.P., Mr. Herbert J. Gladstone, M.P., and a number of ladies and gentlemen, who were admitted by ticket The new buildings, when completed, will have cost, it is computed, £120,000. The Mayor, in the course of his address, traced the progress of Leeds as a commercial centre, and pointed out that as trade and population had increased municipal business had expanded, and the splendid new offices would afford ample accommodation for the public requirements. In the afternoon Sir. William Harcourt, M.P., arrived in Leeds from Derby, and in company of the Mayor and other gentlemen inspected the new building.

The Mayor entertained some 400 gentlemen at a banquet in the evening in the Victoria Hall, and among those present were the Home Secretary (Sir William Harcourt), the Right Hon. W. E Forster, M.P., the Right Hon. G. J. Goschen, M.P., Mr. Barran, M.P., and Mr. Herbert Gladstone, M.P. Speeches were delivered by these gentlemen. We also observed several gentlemen in whom our readers are specially interested, including Councillors Cook, Gilston, and Pickersgill, and Mr. Jas. Hargreaves, chairman of the Hunslet Board of Guardians. In the course of his address, Mr Forster suggested, with the view of getting rid of unnecessary questions in the House of Commons, that there should be a question night, and that Tuesday night should be selected for the purpose. Sir William Harcourt said one of the besetting sins, and the greatest danger of democracy, was the attack it made upon local self-government, and its attempt to centralise power in a form which might be most injurious.

Lord Randolph Churchill and Colonel Burnaby, the Conservative candidates for Birmingham, received an enthusiastic reception in that borough on Tuesday afternoon, and addressed a large meeting in the Town Hall in the evening. Lord Randolph, as president of the Midland Conservative Club, also addressed a monstre meeting in Birmingham on Wednesday evening. Yesterday evening, he was entertained at a banquet by the Midland Conservative Club.

Mr. Parnell, M.P., delivered a speech to the Drogheda Town Council on Tuesday; he was ably supported by Mr. Timothy Sullivan.

Sir William Harcourt addressed his constituents at Derby on Wednesday evening, and entered on a lengthy criticism of the attitude assumed by the Opposition during the present session. His remarks dealt with the way in which the Tories had treated the Franchise Bill, and refused to believe until he knew it, that the House of Lords would throw out the Bill at the bidding of Lord Salisbury. Yesterday, he attended the Mayor's banquet at Leeds.

Mr. George Howard, M.P., addressed a Liberal meeting at Malton on Wednesday evening in support of the Franchise Bill.

Lord Salisbury visited Manchester on Wednesday, and delivered a speech to a large meeting in the Free Trade Hall. He spoke of the depressed condition of our industries, and of the Egyptian policy of the Government. Yesterday His Lordship was feted at a grand banquet in the same Hall, and replied to the Home Secretary's Derby speech.

At a meeting of shipowners held in Newcastle on Wednesday, Mr. C. M. Palmer, M.P., referred to the Merchant Shipping Bill. He had had an interview with Mr. Chamberlain on the question, and he said he would appeal to the country rather than sacrifice the principles of the Bill. Mr. Palmer thought the Right Hon. gentleman had made a mistake in basing his measure on the assumed loss of life at sea, and was of opinion that the measure would be condemned more and more as the facts became known.

THE LATE DUKE OF ALBANY.

LETTER FROM THE QUEEN.

WHITEHALL, Wednesday.

Secretary Sir William Harcourt, by command of the Queen, forwards the enclosed letter from Her Majesty for publication :—

"WINDSOR CASTLE, Monday.

"I have on several previous occasions given personal expression to my deep sense of the loving sympathy and loyalty of my subjects in all parts of my empire. I wish, therefore, in my present grievous bereavement to thank them most warmly for the very gratifying manner in which they have shown, not only their sympathy with me and my dear and so deeply afflicted daughter-in-law and my other children, but also their high appreciation of my beloved son's great qualities of head and heart, and of the loss he is to the country and to me.

"The affectionate sympathy of my loyal people, which has never failed me in weal or woe, is very soothing to my heart. Though much shaken and sorely afflicted by the many sorrows and trials which have fallen upon me during these past years, I will not lose courage; and with the help of Him who has never forsaken me, will strive to labour on for the sake of my children, and for the good of the country I love so well, as long as I can.

"My dear daughter-in-law, the Duchess of Albany, who bears her terrible misfortune with the most admirable, touching, and unmurmuring resignation to the will of God, is also deeply gratified by the universal sympathy and kind feeling evinced towards her.

"I would wish, in conclusion, to express my gratitude to all other countries for their sympathy; above all, to the neighbouring one, where my beloved son breathed his last, and for the great respect and kindness shown on that mournful occasion.

"VICTORIA R & I."

DEATH OF THE DUKE OF BUCCLEUCH.

A Selkirk correspondent telegraphed that the Duke of Buccleuch died at Bowhill, Selkirkshire, at a quarter past twelve o'clock on Wednesday morning. His Grace was born in 1806: succeeded his father, the fourth Duke, in 1819: and married in 1829 the youngest daughter of the second Marquess of Bath. He is succeeded by his son, the Earl of Dalkeith.

DEATH OF THE BISHOP OF RIPON.

The announcement of the death of the Right Rev. Robert Bickersteth, D.D., Bishop of Ripon, will be received by men of all shades of religious opinion and by all parties, not only in Yorkshire, but far beyond the boundaries of the county, with a feeling of profound regret. After nearly three years' partial retirement from the more laborious duties of his high position—a partial retirement necessitated by gradually failing health—the Bishop died on Tuesday afternoon at the Palace, Ripon, at the age of 68. Early on Tuesday morning, Mr. R. M. Bowman, his Lordship's local medical attendant, was summoned, and found him suffering from an attack of epilepsy. Mr. Bowman remained with him until his death, which took place at half-past one.

Though the face once so familiar to all churchmen in the diocese has for so long a time been missed from the scene where he was so welcome, and where he exercised so quiet yet so deep an influence, it is difficult for those who have had long experience of the once active life which Dr. Bickersteth led, to comprehend that his work is at an end, and that never again will Yorkshire Churchmen listen to that voice which for a quarter of a century was so often heard wherever the church's interests and the interests of religion were to be furthered. Before his illness the Bishop was with us directing the affairs of his great diocese with energy and vigour. For something like twenty-four years he was the active soul and centre of the great work which has been and is still going on in the diocese; and though for about three years more he has been partially laid aside, his influence continued to the last as potent as ever. It was hoped by his numerous friends and well-wishers that his partial withdrawal from the heavier portion of his duties might only be temporary. But this was not to be. It has seemed fit to the Divine Head of the Church to close Dr. Bickersteth's work on earth, and to-day we lament the death of a prelate loved and respected wherever he was known.

Bishop Bickersteth was the second occupant of the See established at Ripon under the Commissioners nominated by Act of Parliament 6 and 7, William IV., c. 77, the announcement of which appeared in the Gazette of October 7th, 1836. Dr. (now Dr.) Longley was gazetted first bishop in the same month, and was shortly afterwards consecrated in York Minster. Twenty years afterwards this prelate was translated to Durham, and the Rev. Robert Bickersteth was appointed in his place. Twenty-eight years more have passed, and with regret we announce the vacant See.

WOODLESFORD CHURCH.

It has become an annual custom at this church to render, in its entirety, some important musical work; with all the effect that specially trained voices, aided by organ and orchestral accompaniment can give. The custom is a good one, and one which should become more general in village churches where such musical services could be effectively organised.

It is true that here and there narrow-minded objections will have to be combated and overcome. There are always people to be found who strongly oppose everything which they themselves cannot understand and appreciate; much in the spirit of the antiquated old fossils who in some Scottish churches still oppose the introduction of that abominable contrivance of the evil one, the "Kist o' whistles" as an adjunct to Divine worship. But the last lingering traces of this feeling must soon disappear and we may then hope to have more frequent opportunities of enjoying such a service as was given in Woodlesford Church on Wednesday evening. The leading features of "The Holy City" have been already noticed and analysed in these columns, it is therefore only necessary to add that the performance of the work left little to be desired. The executants approached their task in the devotional spirit which is so fully realised in the music, the result being a performance characterised more for refinement and expression, than noisy heartiness.

The chorus as usual was made up of members of the Woodlesford Choral Society assisted by members of the kindred society at Methley. The solo music was carefully and most effectively rendered by Misses Brame and Davis (sopranos), Miss Teale (contralto), and Mr. T. West (bass), members of the choral societies; the tenor solos being sung by Mr. Longbottom, of Leeds. Mr. Atkinson conducted the service, and Mr. Walter Lockwood officiated at the organ, receiving valuable assistance from a small orchestra chiefly members of the Leeds Amateur Orchestral Society, the local additions being Mr. B. Walker (cornet) and Mr. Amos Ward ('cello).

The Easter hymn was sung during the collection of the offertory—which is to be devoted to the purchase of new music for the choir—and the service was concluded with a spirited performance of Handel's Hallelujah from the Messiah.

Between the parts a short address was given by the Rev. A. J. Irvin, B.A., Vicar.

SUDDEN DEATH AT ROTHWELL TO-DAY.

To-day, at about half past twelve (noon) a sudden and alarming death took place in Rothwell, which caused great consternation to the inhabitants of the vicinity in which it occurred.

The deceased person's name is Emma Cromack, wife of Joshua Cromack, miner, Gaol Field. It appears that Mrs. Cromack had been in her sister's house (which is in the same field) for some time before dinner, and at half-past twelve left to prepare the children's dinner, but while she was in the act of crossing the yard she fell, and immediately life was extinct. The body was at once removed to her house, and Mr. H. R. Peare (Dr. Gleaser's assistant) called, who found the woman to be quite dead, but could not say what is the cause of death. The poor woman (whose age is 29) leaves a family of four or five children, the oldest being only about 10 years old.

STOURTON.

WESLEYAN BAZAAR.—For a considerable time the Wesleyans at Stourton have felt the want of a new chapel, the present building being used for the Sunday School as well as the ordinary public services, and strong and united efforts have been put forth in various ways. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in this week a bazaar has taken place which has been in course of preparation for some months, and one which was a credit to the place and promoters. We enter the chapel in which the bazaar was held at the north end, and the general stalls were arranged on either side of the room, while the refreshment and toy stalls occupied the south end; an earthenware stall well filled occupied a corner near the door. The stalls were covered with curtains and various other draperies, and presented a very pleasing aspect They were attended to by the following ladies and gentlemen, who were quite at home in their novel occupation of shopkeeper :—Sewing meeting stall, Mrs. Cliff, Mrs. Parkin, Miss Ward, and Miss Fairlie; teachers' and scholars' stall, Miss Wormald and Miss A. Wormald; refreshment stall, Mrs. Butterfield, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Gratner, Mrs. J. A. Calverley, and Mrs. Batty; gentlemen's stall, Mr. Nash and several others; toy stall, Miss Marshall, Miss Clemson, Miss Illingworth, and Miss Ellis; earthenware stall, Mrs. Grace Cliff and Miss A. Fowler. A galvanic battery was provided in a cle ir-room, and singing at intervals was rendered by the choir and friends. The usual "bran pie" was "all there," and received a large amount of support. After four o'clock a good tea might be obtained, which was attended to by Mrs. Brandon, Ainsworth, Mrs. Illingworth, and Mrs. Ambler. The opening ceremony commenced at 2.30, a good number of friends having assembled from Stourton, Hunslet, Rothwell, and other places. The Rev. W. G. Dicken gave out a suitable hymn, and called upon the Rev. J. Woodenden to pray, after which the Rev. C. A. Collingwood delivered a few appropriate remarks, expressing his opinion that Bazaars were the best means for selling, rather than speechifying, and hoped they would have a very successful sale; after which two others had spoken, Mr. J. Nash, of Chapeltown, was called upon to open the bazaar. Mr. Flitch, in a somewhat lengthy speech, referred to the industry of the ladies, the desirability of a new chapel, and wellnigh every other topic directly or remotely connected with bazaars and bazaar work, and in declaring the Bazaar open, presented £10 to the treasurer for the Bazaar Fund. The sales then commenced, and were carried on with varying success all the evening. On Tuesday and Wednesday the bazaar continued, with a fair attendance, although the visitors were less in number. The total takings amounted to a tidy sum for so small a village as Stourton, and the amount will help the building fund considerably.

WHEN in Leeds, you should visit the Golden Cup Cocoa House, 157, Briggate, or the Borough Arms Cocoa House, Kirkgate.—Private Rooms for ladies at both houses.

ROTHWELL TIMES---FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1884.

WESLEYAN SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

The annual assembly of the teachers connected with the various Wesleyan Sunday Schools in the Wakefield circuit took place this year at Rothwell on Good Friday. There was a large muster present from Wakefield, Lofthouse, Alverthorpe, Stanley, Woodlesford, Carlton and other places, and the proceedings were under the presidency of the superintendent minister, the Rev. A. B. Gardiner, with whom were also the Revs. G. W. Russell and C. A. Collingwood.

The afternoon was occupied in the usual manner by the reading and discussion of papers bearing on Sunday school work, and the evening by addresses from the representatives of different schools.

The conference commenced at half-past two with singing and prayer, after which the chairman addressed the audience. He said that he had read with pleasure and interest the report of their last year's proceedings as given in the Rothwell Times, and was now glad to find himself associated with them in the great work of Sunday schools. After a few other suitable remarks, Mr. Gardiner called on Mr. Collingwood to read a paper.

The Rev. C. A. Collingwood in introducing his subject said, "The benefits derived by being connected with the Circuit Union," enlarged on the objects and benefits to be set forth in the rules, enabling each school to obtain the advantages and improved methods used by others, giving impetus and sympathy in the several schools associated by visits, and shewing thoughtful teachers any irregularities or grievances which may require remedying. As an incentive to greater individual effort and fidelity, this association was also valuable, and the knowledge of united action was always productive of greater energy in work, and greater joy in success. In concluding, the speaker urged that teachers, should always bear in mind the great aim of teaching, bringing scholars to Christ.

Mr. Hall (Lofthouse) expressed his doubts as to the benefits of the Union, somewhat ridiculing it as so much smoke. Several gentlemen warmly and conclusively set forth the advantages which they and their schools had gained, and Mr. Collingwood having replied, the discussion closed.

After a hymn had been sung, Mr. J. H. Wice, of Wakefield, read a paper on "Church membership, and the importance of the Sunday school in relation to it." From statistics which he gave, it appears that the major part of the increase in the number of members of society is due to the Sunday school; in 1875 there were 384,000 members of the society, of which over 50,000 were Sunday scholars, but in 1883 out of 478,000 members, the proportion of Sunday scholars had risen to over 100,000. Mr. Wice gave several pleasing and striking examples of youthful piety, as proving the blessing and advantage of early conversion. With so large a number of young Christians, there was the more need for intelligent, godly teachers and leaders. Referring to Mr. W. Hartley's statistics as given in that morning's Mercury, he remarked on the considerable increase that had taken place in the attendances at Sunday schools, since the passing of the Education Act, and from that fact, urged the importance of attention to Sunday school matters. Mr. Wice further pointed out the value of young people in all works of aggression and advancement, and urged upon all that their sympathy should be enlisted in every good work, after remarks of approval and further illustration by Mr. Skinner, the Rev. G. W. Russell added some statistics shewing the position of Wesleyans as compared with other bodies, as a cause for thankfulness on our part, while in no way depreciating others. Mr. Collingwood having expressed his pleasure in listening to Mr. Wice's paper, the conference came to a close about half-past four.

In preparation for a large assemblage at tea, the ladies' sewing meeting had very kindly purchased, to be used that day for the first time, new table cloths costing over £4, which, with the newly painted tea urns and the valuable new and complete sets of china, presented a very gratifying and inviting appearance. Tea was commenced just after half-past four, for visitors, and a second sitting down for Rothwell friends at five, the whole being well finished within little before six, great credit being due to the committee and the ladies who had arranged the matter.

The evening meeting commenced at six o'clock, with singing and prayer, after which Mr. T. P. Brithwaite, the secretary, read a short report, shewing that there are in the several schools connected with the union, 554 teachers, a decrease of 6, of whom 80 per cent. are members; 3594 scholars, an increase of 100, a good proportion of which are members. The removal of Mr. Sugden from Wakefield, the secretary and moving spirit of the union, was feelingly referred to, and the regrets expressed were warmly reciprocated. A brief digest of the reports on the condition of each school was then read, concluding the secretary's work.

The Rev. Mr. Gardiner then addressed the meeting on the close and necessary connection between the church and school, and their relative importance to each other, and concluded with a reference to the advantages now possessed by Sunday scholars as compared with his own experiences.

Mr. Morton, (Rothwell,) who had been educated in a Church of England Sunday School with two Methodist class leaders as teachers, was also glad of the advancement all round. He remarked on God's interest in children all through the world's history, and while the teacher is a great means of good to the child, upheld the deep responsibility of all parents to train their children in the right way.

The Rev. G. W. Russell, after expressing his pleasure in a few words, made touching allusion to the sudden death of Mr. Joseph Wainwright, of Wakefield, who had in so many kindly ways, shewn his interest in Sunnay School work. He attended service, and took the sacrament the previous Sabbath, and died on Thursday. (All present seemed deeply affected by the announcement.)

Mr. Marland, (Stanley,) argued the necessity for intelligent, Christian teachers, to counteract the tide of infidelity and socialism, which was so strong, and warmly recommended the use of the Wesleyan catechism.

Mr. Allcock, (Alverthorpe,) recalled his own youthful days, when they had a splendid Sunday School 40 years ago; the children were seldom absent, and every scholar leaving the school was presented with a pocket bible. Comparing the school as a nursery for the church, he pressed on all to use greater diligence, pointing to the all-important results to be obtained.

A vote of thanks was then proposed by Mr. G. T. Pawson, and seconded by Mr. Skinner, to the Rev. C. A. Collingwood, Mr. Wice and to the ladies, for their several services during the day.

Mr. Collingwood replied, after which the proceedings were brought to a close in the ordinary way.

ROTHWELL TEMPERANCE HALL.

Last Saturday, the frequenters of this place had the pleasure of once more hearing Mr. Solomon, of Leeds, the well-known comic, who along with Mr. Slater, of Morley, pianist and violinist, and a few friends, made up a very excellent concert. The programme throughout was listened to with the keenest interest, and the combined efforts of the performers were well deserving the attention bestowed upon them. The concert opened with a pianoforte solo by Mr. Slater, which production gave an excellent foretaste of the good things in store. Mr. J. Wade, of Morley, next contributed 'The Wolf' in fine style. 'Ah! never dream my love can change' is a very pretty song, and full justice was done to it by Miss Day, of Birstall Father impatiently the audience waited for the appearance of Mr. Nicholson, and how their greatest anticipations were realized in the song 'The boy can say Papa,' yet, this alone failed to stifle the craving for more, 'the blighted husband' was given as an encore. Miss R. J. Day next rendered very nicely 'A country gipsy girl,' following which came a violin-and pianoforte duett, by Mr. Slater and Master J. T. Stockwell; this contribution was the best of its kind, and put to a practical test the long held theory of Mr. Slater's superiority as a violinist; being recalled, they repeated the last movement. Mr. D. Tilley sang 'The Holy Friar,' followed by the duett 'I know a bank' by Misses Day. Mr. Nicholson next gave a characteristic impersonation of 'The wandering minstrel,' which evoked considerable amusement, and being recalled he gave 'The hens' convention,' Mr. Wade concluding the first part with 'For company and fair.' After the interval, Mr. Slater's pupil, Master Stockwell, rendered very creditably a pianoforte solo. The time honoured song 'The village Blacksmith' was next rendered by Mr. Wade, after which Miss Day sang 'Love was once a little boy.' 'Those girls at school' was the next contribution Mr. Solomon's, and being encored he sang 'As long as the wheel of my mill turns round.' Miss Day and Mr. J. Naylor here rendered the 'A B C' duett, (by request), succeeded by Mr. Slater and pupil in a violin and pianoforte duett. The two sings 'I cannot mind my wheel, mother,' and 'The anchor's weighed,' by Miss R. J. Day and Mr. Tilley, were very successfully rendered. The female impersonation by Mr. Nicholson was exceptionally fine, and richly deserved the encore which it received. The encore 'Go to bed Tom' only increased the frenzy of glee, and the audience were not content until he again favoured them with another contribution. Mr. Wade brought up the rear with a very pretty and pleasing song, well rendered.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Salvation Army.—On Good Friday, the Salvation Army held services afternoon and evening in their barracks in Church-street, which were reopened a week ago after undergoing several alterations, being considerably enlarged and newly painted, and the hall was crowded at both services. Also on Tuesday in Easter week, a public tea was provided in the barracks, when there was a hearty response to the call. Quite a number of visitors are now to take charge of the force at Rothwell. There was a good number present at tea, and the result was no doubt very gratifying to the many friends who had gratuitously given their help. In the evening the usual meeting was held when the "Hallelujah Lad" and lassie from Castleford, assisted by the beautiful lines of Tennyson in 'The May Queen. Hunslet men somehow lead the way as the pioneers both of political and social progress in Leeds.

I am glad that the recent elections for the Hunslet Board of Guardians went off so satisfactory. There has not been much of 'a slaughter of the innocents.' But in Holbeck—my own village, Mr. Ellis, the chairman, has been returned with a rattle. That is, he has been returned 'home.' Poor Mr.—Ellis!—Well, well, he is more grateful to the Tories now than he has been a chance of speaking to Sir Charles Dilke on behalf of Holbeck.

Leeds is this week to be honoured with a swarm of celebrities. Sir William Harcourt, W. E. Forster, G. J. Goschen, Sir Charles, and H. J. Gladstone, is itself a formidable list. But in addition there are to be all the mayors of the Yorkshire Ridings, together with some half dozen other M.P.'s of lesser note than those above mentioned. Leeds still leads the way in Yorkshire. Thanks, in some respects at least, to Hunslet.

Speaking of Hunslet Guardians, I saw or heard a silly hint somewhere about the election of the new Relieving Officer. Dr. Hargreaves as chairman this year. Although an out township man, he appears to me to be the most intelligent, sensibly impartial and successful manner during this most eventful year, and so far as I can gather, the Hunslet guardians are not prepared to have any one else. Mr. Ellis, as chairman, has been received with a rattle. That is he has been received 'home.' Poor Mr.—Ellis!—Well, well, he is more grateful to the Tories now than he has been a chance of speaking to Sir Charles Dilke on behalf of Holbeck.

Rothwell Feast.—The annual feast at Rothwell has taken place, and has been of a busier and livelier nature than for many years. There were unfurls of caravans began on Good Friday, and lasted more or less till Monday noon. Whirligigs, flyboat, swings, bowling alleys, and all the numerous stalls &c., have adorned (?) the lower end of the town, while short trips have been made to the waggonettes; ponies and donkies for considerable numbers carried their brothers and others 'round the lamppost and back' for a penny. We've seen nothing since the last annual breakaway which has taken place in the village, two fellows, the notorious 'Jake' and his brother Arthur being landed in Wakefield Gool while in a state of inebriation.

Church warden's Meeting.—The usual Easter vestry meeting was held on Monday at Rothwell, but the business was by no means of a pressing nature, and that the meeting was adjourned till Monday next. We may note, however, that Mr. Gould is again selected as vicar's warden, the other gentlemen being Mr. J. Oliver for Rothwell Haigh; Mr. T. Harrison for Carlton; Mr. H. Roberts for Lofthouse; Mr. Henderson for Royds Green; and Mr. Appleyard for Thorp.

Rothwell Parish Church.—Special musical attentions were rendered for the Easter Sunday services, consisting of Tallis's responses and Mendelssohn's Kyrie in the morning; and in the evening Bridgewater's Magnificat and Deus, and Elvey's anthem, 'Christ is risen.'

Epps Cocoa.—Gratefule and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in Packets, labelled, "James Epps & Co, Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also makers of Epps' Chocolate Essence.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Safely and Secretly.—When the secretaries of winter have yielded to the genial spring, invalids should make a determined effort to regain their lost health; when through confinement indoors, want of appetite, and disturbed sleep, the entire system has been weakened, and the spirits have been broken down, Holloway's remedies are equal to the occasion. The Ointment rubbed over the regions of the stomach and liver, aided by the internal administration of his pills, will rectify the digestion, regulate the bile, and purify the blood—three sanatory actions which will speedily confer renewed vigour, brace up the failing nerves, soothe the flaccid muscles, and restore to the ailing cheerfulness, that great charm of existence.

The medical profession are now ordering Cadbury's Cocoa Essence in thousands of cases, because it contains pure nutritive and flesh-forming elements that any other beverage, and is preferable to the thick starchy cocoa ordinarily sold. When you ask for Cadbury's Cocoa Essence be sure that you get it, as shopkeepers often push imitations for the sake of extra profits. Makers to the Queen. Paris depôt, 90 Faubourg St. Honore.

THE Golden Cup Cocoa House, 157, Briggate.—The new premises are now complete, and the accommodation greatly improved.

HUNSLET TIT BITS

By Punch and Judy.

A few years ago, and John De Morgan was undoubtedly the most popular man in Hunslet. Nay, not only in Hunslet, but in most parts of Leeds where the 'residuum of society' exists,—to use Mr. Bright's celebrated phrase—'John' was the democratic model for one and all. Men, his political success was due when he headed the poll as a candidate for the School Board, was indubitable evidence of his popularity with the proletarian class.

I wonder if the whilom Hunslet favourite was to visit Leeds now, after publishing his incendiary letter in the New York Irish World, what sort of a reception would he receive? More than one has John been in 'durance vile' for hearding the legalised authorities in this country; but few, even amongst those who were separated from him by a gulf of thought and sympathy, could think of him openly defending and attempting to justify the dynamitards. Probably if the gentleman from New York of him now he might 'head the poll' with a vengeance.

In De Morgan's epistle he quotes, or professes to quote, 'Lord Beaconsfield' as an advocate and pleader of prejudice. In one line there were written by 'Benjamin Disraeli,' but long before that personage even entered Parliament. They were simply the ravings of the literary puberty of young Disraeli, who in the dawn of manhood was a theoretical republican. But Benjamin Disraeli went up-stairs and 'put away childish things' long older. How far down is John going before he stops?

It will be interesting to hear what the son of the Prime Minister has to say on Friday night in answer to Lord Randolph Churchill's Birmingham speech and the Marquis of Salisbury's manifesto at Manchester Somewhat singular to state whilst Herbert will be answering Randolph, Lord Hartington, the successor of Mr. Gibson, at the same time, will be annihilating them with his brilliant Hibernian invective. Such is the changes and chances of politics. Only time exclaims with the author of the national anthem 'confound their politics.'

Bazaars, tea parties, muffin fights, and tart engagements were the order of the day on Easter Monday of this week and Good Friday of last. There is one passage of scripture that has certainly not been overlooked by a deal of the religious sects, and that is to 'eat, drink, and be merry.' It is a great stride in advance however from the bacchanalian orgies that in the past, and too often in the present, in some districts were and are the chief characteristics of Eastertide and Whitsuntide.

'May Day' is to be celebrated in Leeds this year with something of the rest of former times, thanks to a committee. All Cooke and a little of other lesser magnates that are co-operating with him. There is to be a grand procession of decorated horses, and numerous and valuable prizes are to be given on the occasion. The procession will be a sight to be remembered, and many will on retiring to rest on the evening of the 30th of April, sing to the beautiful lines of Tennyson in 'The May Queen. Hunslet men somehow lead the way as the pioneers both of political and social progress in Leeds.

I am glad that the recent elections for the Hunslet Board of Guardians went off so satisfactory. There has not been much of 'a slaughter of the innocents.' But in Holbeck—my own village, Mr. Ellis, the chairman, has been received with a rattle. That is, he has been received 'home.' Poor Mr.—Ellis!—Well, well, he is more grateful to the Tories now than he has been a chance of speaking to Sir Charles Dilke on behalf of Holbeck.

Leeds is this week to be honoured with a swarm of celebrities. Sir William Harcourt, W. E. Forster, G. J. Goschen, Sir Charles, and H. J. Gladstone, is itself a formidable list. But in addition there are to be all the mayors of the Yorkshire Ridings, together with some half dozen other M.P.'s of lesser note than those above mentioned. Leeds still leads the way in Yorkshire. Thanks, in some respects at least, to Hunslet.

Speaking of Hunslet Guardians, I saw or heard a silly hint somewhere about the election of the new Relieving Officer. Dr. Hargreaves as chairman this year. Although an out township man, he appears to me to be the most intelligent, sensibly impartial and successful manner during this most eventful year, and so far as I can gather, the Hunslet guardians are not prepared to have any one else. Mr. Ellis, as chairman, has been received with a rattle. That is, he has been received 'home.' Poor Mr.—Ellis!—Well, well, he is more grateful to the Tories now than he has been a chance of speaking to Sir Charles Dilke on behalf of Holbeck.

TOWN TALK.

The Feast.—What an enormous number of stray pennies and halfpence are available for such occasions as Monday night last, and with what rapidity they change hands. After the halfpenny preference is ride round the village in a waggonette, and the scores of youngsters who were provided for in this way of getting rid of their corper is wonderful. The elders, with juvenile ideas, readily shell out their bawbees for a shot up a bowling alley, the ringing of a bell, a mark and ringing a bell. There are a many misses; but we have a few good shots in Rothwell. The steam roundabouts are patronised by lipsels of all ages, and the copper coin hauled by the enterprising individuals who run them, must be immense. A many more ingenious methods are resorted to for the object, namely, to amuse and draw coppers. The main street was crowded, nearly everybody appeared in good humour and enjoyment. The fairmen were not over the saw opposite the Gas Works, in Commercial Street, the police were there engaged endeavouring to restrain the effect of Bass Harbygreen's ale bar. The ordinarily quiet Rothwell young men having imbibed too freely, lost their balance, and will have to endeavour to regain it before magistrates at Wakefield to day. Surely this should be a warning to them, and an incentive to our Temperance friends to draw them in.

Confirmation.—'To the pure all things are pure.' That is a quotation I have heard our worthy vicar use on more than one occasion, it is evidently a favourite saying with him. If the lady consider in those seven words is to be accepted as sound, I see no reason why such an arrangement should be made with respect to the training and preparing candidates for the forthcoming Confirmation at Holy Trinity Church, Rothwell. I am open to correction if what I say in this connection is any incorrect, but I have good reasons for asserting that the female candidates for this confirmation have been divided into two sections, viz:—the pure and the common people; the former meet at the vicarage, and are rapidly developing into a fair degree of proficiency under the careful attentions of the Vicar and Mrs. Fawkes, while the commonality are met by the curate at the National School-room. This is wrong, inconsistent, and contrary to the spirit of the founder of our most holy religion, and I am astonished that such a procedure can be tolerated in an independant community like Rothwell. The blending together of the various elements of society under the vicar and the curate for preparation for so solemn an event as confirmation, would tend to refine the vulgar, and ought to render sympathetic, and chasten, the more refined. I dont like to interfere in church matters, but I am rather violently opposed to caste, especially in religion.

The Salvation Army.—This new phrase of religious revival continues to make some noise in Rothwell. A few of the 'unco guid' by implication would deny that the 'salvation lassies' are religious. But it may be pointed out that in the early days of Methodism, the religious services of that body were much more lively and irregular than at present. Our friends, the Primitives, within the recollection of even middle aged men, stopped a style of service both in and out of doors which is now considered out of date in the nature of these movements to tone down and become more formal as time ripens them, and they became established institutions. There is certainly plenty of work for the army in Rothwell, but I fear they are not going the right way about it. The antics of the leaders of the movement so far as our investigation is concerned, render them in the eyes of the indifferent, somewhat ridiculous. This is unfortunate, your ordinary lethal without religious principle, or principles of philosophy, is not stirred by absurd gymnastic street parade. There are scores of men within a stone's throw of the new barracks who are open to be appealed to, and who would respond to properly directed appeals, but this cannot be altogether apart from the immediate business, and the 'backward step' of the leader. Enthusiasm is all right, earnest appeals to men's better sentiments are necessary; but all must be conducted with decorium, or the good effect is lost.

I read Mr Lawton's letter in your last issue, it bristles with inaccuracies and wrong ideas. I owe some one will set him right, and give the public a better light on the subject. If no such correction appears in your correspondence column to-day, I shall be inclined to take up the cudgels myself next week. At whom does he point his innendo! There is some specire of the Hercules in the baby's wields in his arms. Ah! dear Mr. Lawton, I fear the spectre is in your own brain, the very colouge of your fancy. And what is a dynamitard? Is it a person? Is it anything like a jackass!' Oh no, the Jackal is the brave Lion's keen provider. Is it in that sense you consider, which you level at somebody's head, friend Lawton?

Honesty Rewarded.—A tale has just come to my notice which is quite authenticated, and is, I think, worthy of being immortalised. On Monday last, a Rothwell young woman found a purse containing a sum of money in which was included several pieces of gold. Shortly after, the young woman already mentioned, observed a man intently searching for something not very far away, and when she heard from him the nature of the loss he had sustained with a description of the purse's contents, she at once handed the purse over to its rightful owner. Some of the best works in this country have been done in the past, and are to the present, in some districts were and are the chief characteristics of Eastertide and Whitsuntide.

'May Day' is to be celebrated in Leeds this year with something of the rest of former times, thanks to a committee. All Cooke and a little of other lesser magnates that are co-operating with him. MR. LAWTON AS AN OVERSEER.

To the Editor of the Rothwell Times.

Sir,

Will you allow me a corner in your paper to say a few words in reply to a letter which appeared in your columns last week signed 'William Lawton,' I am not concerned to go into his grievances as detailed in the first two paragraphs of his letter, but as to the third, dealing with the raising of our rateable and taxable value. I have a word or two to say.

He says the charges brought against him of having, while overseer, put up our rateable and taxable value at the present time is capable of being proved false. He may as well deny his nose is above his chin. He goes on to say when he 'first became overseer the rate was 1/4 in the £, it was reduced to 1s., and if the overseers liked, it might be reduced to 9d., for they have £350 in the bank.' Now Mr. Lawton's statement; let us examine it, and see what it means.

Mr. Lawton first became overseer in 1879; the poor rate in the second part of that year was 1/4 in the £, 1/4. He omits to say what it was in the first half; I will tell you,—it was 1/1. But what was it the year before Mr. Lawton came into office? It was 1/4, that was in September, 1878. Shall we go back a little further? Take March, 1878, the rate was then 10d.; and March, 1877, the rate was 8d. Our rateable value, it should be understood, was then £7289. Mr. Lawton got the rateable and taxable value up to £31,728 in March, 1883, or an increase of £2,439, and to prove that his increased valuation does not lessen the Rothwell rate, I need only point to the fact that in September, 1883, the Rothwell overseers were compelled to lay a 1/2 rate to meet the Hunslet Union call. To prove the fallacy of Mr. Lawton's words as to the rate i the last Hunslet call on the Rothwell overseers was for £1,023, the School Board precept £420; putting these together, we have a sum of £1,443. Can we pay this out of a 9d. rate? It must be borne in mind that although our valuation was put up by Mr. Lawton to £31,728 in 1883, and £31,823 in the December of the same year, yet on appeal it has been reduced to £31,661, and the last rate of 1s. in the £ was based on that amount, namely £1,015. Any schoolboy will be able to say what a 9d. rate on the same basis would produce. Question: What is three-quarters of £1,015? Answer: £1,134, to meet a total demand of £1,443.

Critical reader, please don't reckon on 31,661 shillings: if the rate was 1s. in the £, as in such things as owners' allowance, empties, appeals, etc., and when these are deducted the actual amount is as stated above.

Mr. Lawton says the overseers have in the bank £350. Where does he get his information from? Has he got a balance sheet? A person of sense might think he had evolved the figures out of his inner consciousness. Mr. Lawton knows very well the overseers have not £350 in the bank. For the information of the public I may state the amount is under £200, and the auditor points out that unless £100 standing to the credit of the overseers at the bank, in order that the interest may cover commission, because, don't you see, if the interest does not cover the bank commission, the overseers have to pay the difference out of their private purse.

I censured Mr. Lawton's policy as overseer tended to make heavier our burden of rates and taxes, and I say less power to such men.

If the Hunslet rateable value were raised, and several other of his 'ifs' were turned into 'buts,' and these 'buts' filled with sour fruit, it would not make the case very much, and the interest of Mr. Lawton as overseer would not, I am of opinion, be forgiven by such of the Rothwell ratepayers as can see through the spokes of a ladder.

AN ALARMING DISEASE AFFLICTING A NUMEROUS CLASS.

The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, in a short time involves the whole frame, embracing the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and, in fact, the entire glandular system, and the sufferer drags out a miserable existence until death gives relief from suffering. The disease is often mistaken for other complaints; but if the reader will ask himself the following questions, he will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted:—Have I distress, pain, or difficulty in breathing after eating? Is there a dull, heavy feeling, attended by drowsiness? Have the eyes a yellow tinge? Does a thick, sticky mucus gather about the gums and teeth in the mornings, accompanied by a disagreeable taste? Is the tongue coated? Is there pain in the side and back? Is there a fulness about the right side as if the liver were enlarging? Is there costiveness? Is there vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from a horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidneys scanty and highly coloured, with a deposit after standing? Do food and medicine sour after eating, accompanied by flatulence or a belching of gas from the stomach? Is there frequent palpitation of the heart? These various symptoms are not present at one time, but they torment the sufferer in turn as the dreadful disease progresses. If this be the case of long standing, there will be a dry, barking cough, attended after a time by expectoration. In very advanced stages the skin assumes a dirty brownish appearance, and the hands and feet are covered by a cold, sticky perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become more and more deranged, effusion takes place into the chest, and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailing against this latter agonising disorder. The origin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsia; a single dose of Seigel's Curative Syrup will be sufficient to prove to any one

My heart hath its home in the past, love,
It lives in the past with thee;
The days when your love was my haven,
The first to greet my soul back again.
I feel you once more to my heart, love,
To bath all its passionate pain,
For my love still brings you near.
You dwell for ever here,
Till time shall join our faithful hearts again;
Sooner or later, sooner or later.
Life for evermore!
As we're or here below,
Sooner or later love shall live again,
Live for evermore!

Oh love, my love, come to my heart,
Mine, only mine, while life is given,
The last to bless when death shall part,
The first to greet my soul back again.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

[We deem it right to state that we do not identify ourselves with our Correspondent's opinions.]

The letter which Ruskin has just written upon the running of a railway through the High Peak of Derbyshire is a striking specimen of a great man's nonsense. When he screams about smoke and steam, and talks about commercialism having "filched the earth," and science having "shut the sky," there is nothing for it but to smile. Very true it is for Mr. Ruskin, who can run away to Venice when he chooses, and live in lettered ease amidst the lake scenery, to preach this. We are not all, unhappily, men of independent means. Some of us have to live by our hands and heads, and it is commerce that has put a golden girdle round the globe, and science that makes bread-winning easier to us all. A bad look-out in truth it would be for some millions of Englishmen and women if there were no factories and railways. Besides, there is something almost sublime in the selfishness of a man who would keep such scenery as the Peak closed to the thousands who would have no chance of seeing it but for railway communication. The railway may, as he says, drag "its close-clinging damnation" into those Derbyshire wilds, but it will also take to those hosts of people who were never able before to penetrate that very inaccessible region. Ruskin is a good and a great man; but he never had a poor friend. Has the person who recommended the publication of "Beauties of Ruskin"—choice extracts divested of the pedantry and crotchets which he never has had, and that now seem to be running astonishingly to seed.

In Charles Reade, the novelist and playwright, we have lost another great man. He too had his eccentricities, and he also wrote a considerable amount of nonsense. Some indiscreet individual collected a volume of specimens of "Readiana," as if to place the fact on perpetual record. But his very extravagancies were what may be called error on the right side. The denunciations were, it must be confessed, vehement, but they were generally honest, if indiscreet, denunciations of wrong. The forensis of the assemblage of mourners round his grave has been in one or two journals instanced as proof that he was popular. Of course this was not so. It was his wish, and the desire of his friends, that the funeral should be strictly a quiet one. At the same time it cannot be denied that he was not popular in the sense that Byron, the dramatist, around whose grave some days later than the Reade funeral, numbers of actors and authors gathered. Charles Reade was something like Carlyle in the rough outside of his disposition. He seldom saw him in club-land, and if you did, the chances were that you would hear a growl from the rugged old lion instead of a cheery compliment. But he did many kind things for young men in the literary profession, and was in every fibre of his strong nature thoroughly unselfish and genuine.

Lord Rosebery has just returned from a tour in Australia, and has made something of an impression by pointing out to a home audience how ignorant we in England are of our Colonial possessions. Lord Rosebery has apparently just made this discovery, or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that on his travels he has had the fact brought home to his mind by personal experience. His lordship's speech, however, furnishes not the one for one or two comments upon passing Colonial topics. It is announced that Mr. Booth, of the Salvation Army, is going to Australia. If so, he will find in some of the Colonies that the authorities make short work of his street following. No street procession with bands and flags is allowed without municipal permission, and several of the brethren electing to defy the law have been simply sent to prison without any fuss. In Tasmania the authorities declined to let Mr. Varley have the use of a hall, on the ground that his religious lectures were likely to corrupt the morals of the young. "Meeting of Unemployed" was a heading I recently read in a Colonial newspaper. There also you will observe, that there are men out of work in the Colonies as well as at home. Intending emigrants should therefore make certain that the labour market of the country which they have selected for a new home is not overstocked. One thing colonial Lords differ to an action brought by the Queensland Government against a newspaper for libel. In this country we hold that a Corporation cannot be stripped of the powers of grip like a private individual. What a singular thing it would be if an English Government prosecuted one of the Opposition papers for libel! That is what the Colonial Government in question proposes to do.

The Mr. Collins who has been knighted was the private secretary to the late Duke of Albany. He did not accompany his Royal master to the Continent. The gentleman who went with him there, instead of being knighted, has fallen into something of disfavour for not preventing the duke from going into society to the extent he did. This is felt to be somewhat hard measure. The poor young Prince seemed so thoroughly to enjoy himself that no one dreamt of protesting, and the gentlemen in question would scarcely like to treat him as if he were a boy in pupilage. There is a statement in print that Mr. Bancroft, the husband of Marie Wilton, is getting a public address of condolence, to be signed by "every actor and actress," and presented to the Prince of Wales. That would be hitting society with vengeance. The Duke of Albany was no patron of the stage—of the modern stage—whatever his elder brother may be. I have some reason for hoping that if this ill-begotten scheme is prosecuted it will fail, as it ought to do.

Another new theatre! This time it is not a small drawing-room house that has been opened, but one of the finest theatres in the country. The Prince is its name, and Leicester-square its location. It was opened with a flourish of trumpets, though, when you read the glowing descriptions of the first night, it would be well to remember that the public were not present on that occasion. The audience, from gallery to stalls, were admitted by tickets of invitation only. Naturally it was, as it was meant to be, a friendly audience. Genuine audiences have however, since then, and of their own free will, given the house, the players, and the piece pronounced the ball many of their warm approval. Lawrence Barrett, the young American actor, who succeeded Mary Anderson at the Lyceum, is not doing what is theatrical people call "good business." He is a very fair actor, but he is suffering from the reaction which was bound to take place sooner or later at the Lyceum. After the Londoners in essence established, he will probably recover lost ground. The public is very capricious, and it would not be surprising if Irving's second visit to the United States does not seriously stand in the way of the magnificent success he has until now enjoyed. A broken spell is often a vanished spell. Despite the most astonishing pecuniary success, next to Miss Anderson, has been "Claudian," at the Princess's. The run of prosperity has not never received even a temporary check. The best piece of theatrical news is that the opening of Her Majesty's Theatre at reasonable prices has answered admirably. We have waited long to find that the paying public were to have some share in the golden rainfall that has so recently managers and actors and authors, and the first attempt has been made with excellent financial results so far. W. S.

COMMON SENSE is best applied by those who buy food and drink for the family at home; taxed articles such as tea cost more than articles not so taxed. In Tea a saving is made by buying the best, yielding double the strength of common tea. Consumers may thus save half the tax, by procuring their supply from Horniman's Agents.

THE Earl and Countess of Dartmouth recently attended at Bilston and took part in the opening of a bazaar in St. Leonard's Schoolroom for the purpose of raising funds to clear off the balance of debt incurred in the recent restoration of the parish church.

NEWS NOTES.

[We deem it right to state that we do not identify ourselves with our Correspondent's opinions.]

THE Royal marriage at Hesse-Darmstadt, which takes place on the last day of the month, will be celebrated, it is said, "unmixed rites," at least with curtailed festivities. On account of the recent death of the Duke of Albany, which caused the postponement of the marriage, the concert and ball which were to form part of the re ocings, have been countermanded, much to the regret, no doubt, of those who think it unlucky that any shadow of gloom should be associated with a marriage ceremony.

On account of the difficulty of communicating with the Government, caused by the cutting of the telegraph wires, General Gordon is designed of being allowed to act on his own discretion and responsibility in emergencies. There cannot surely be much difficulty in coming to an arrangement of this kind, since General Gordon, in the situation in which he is placed at Khartoum, must necessarily exercise a good deal of discretion on his own authority, without waiting for counsel or guidance which might come to him too late. Indeed, Ministers have stated, over and over again, in answer to questions in the House of Commons, that General Gordon was sent out with full power to act on his own discretion in the measures he took to relieve the threatened garrisons and to tranquillise the Soudan.

CONTRADICTORY statements have been made with reference to the objects of the Crown Prince of Austria's present visit to Constantinople, where he has been received by the Sultan with great distinction. One statement is that his mission is political, and another that it is about the Austrian railway which is to have its terminus at Salonica. If the Archduke represented Germany as well as Austria, and was commissioned to deliver a message from Prince Bismarck, greater importance would attach to his visit to the Turkish capital.

IT is rather singular that Mr. Parnell, who was the leading spirit of the Irish National Land League, which set on foot the no-rent agitation, should have come forward as the actor in a case in which he claimed three years' arrears of rent from the widow of a gentleman-farmer Mr. West, who died in 1881, his estate at Mount Eden in county Wicklow at a rental of £90 a year. The statement of the widow was that, after her husband's death, Mr. Parnell said to her that when she called on him at Kilmainham Gaol, that he would not now look to her for rent, but that it would be paid by a gentleman who had made an arrangement to that effect with Mr. Mr. Parnell denied, and as Mrs. West's statement was unsupported, the Court decided in his favour. Another singular thing is that the terms of the lease debarred all claim for compensation on account of improvements or disturbance.

THE movement in favour of paid members of Parliament, sanctioned and encouraged by Mr. Parnell, appears to be making progress in Ireland. A resolution in support of the scheme was recently carried unanimously at a large meeting in Kildare. If it were carried out, it would be very agreeable to Mr. Parnell, as it would have the effect of increasing the number of his henchmen followers in the House of Commons. It has been well remarked that paid members of Parliament are more likely to be the mere delegates than the representatives of their constituents.

THE four days' celebration in Edinburgh, in connection with the tercentenary of the University, will take place commencing on the 22nd. At a reception given in the largest hall of the Scottish capital to the distinguished visitors who had come to the Empire City, Sir Alexander Northcote, who is at present Lord Rector of the University, stated that the gathering was quite unique, and he seldom had been more pleased in that or any other country. Addresses, appropriate to the occasion, were delivered by some of the illustrious visitors, but the most interesting being those of the American Minister, Mr. J. Russell Lowell, and M. de Lesseps, who spoke hopefully of the success of the Panama Canal, which is the latest of the great undertakings he has in hand.

THE Liverpool Chamber of Commerce have petitioned the Government against the ratification of the foreign office convention, the complaint against which is that it virtually gives the Portuguese control over the navigation of the Lower Congo, by requiring their consent in the position of the most highly favoured nation, yet it is averred that the Portuguese authorities on the African coast will override that treaty at their pleasure, as has been notified in a recent case in a very critical condition, and scarcely any hopes are entertained that he will recover. It has been ascertained that the most interesting feature, the meeting in apartments at 16, College-street, York-road, Lambeth. He is about 26 years of age, and is said to be secretary to a society.

A FRENCH DRAMA.

A domestic drama of a very painful nature is stated to have recently occurred in Paris. Although the names are not given, the event affects a miserable and well-known family. The facts, briefly stated, point to the marital infidelity of a husband of very good position and his young and charming wife, who had been brought up by the Archbishop of Seauvais. The husband, who was at the head of a large scientific establishment, had frequently to make lengthened journeys and on his return home from one of these business rounds, the unhappy husband found both his home deserted and cashbox empty. The wife had also left behind her two young children, established at the top of the house, and was made acquainted with the fact at once drove to the Lyons railway station, where he took the train to Geneva. As he had but very few available funds, he travelled third-class and arrived at his destination the next day, where he supposed his wife and her accomplice had sought refuge. The object of the pursuit was, however, ensured the hapless husband that the runaways were not in Swit-zerland, and on the contrary, according to all probabilities, the guilty pair had quitted Paris. Retaking the third-class carriage, the pursuer halted at the Etienne, made a purchase of a revolver, and was soon back in Paris. But heres brawler and more distressing grief awaited him. The little boy he had taken with him on his journey had died from the effects of fever, and to her maternal duty had suffered so much from the exposure and cold that it was attacked with the croup, and died in the arms of its father. The latter has vowed death to his betrayer and his truant spouse, spite of the remonstrances of his friends, and the police are on the watch for him, sooner or later, another vengeance will overtake the miserable pair.

An analyst from Somerset House stated that he had analysed a brewing of ale and found it contained 9lb. of sugar. Defendant and two witnesses swore not a grain of sugar was put into the beer, but it was genuine malt and hops.

IT ought to be generally known that Rose's Lime Juice Cordial supplies a delicious and refreshing drink in all the mineral waters. It is non-alcoholic, stimulating, and assisting digestion. No table should be without it. Rose's Lime Juice Cordial is super-excellent.

How to Avoid the Insidious Effects of Stimulants.—Experience shows that mild ales, port wine, dark clarets, sweet champagne, liqueurs and brandy are all very apt to disagree, while light wines, and gin or whisky largely diluted with soda water, will be one the least objectionable. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the stomach. It possesses the power of reparation when digestion has been disturbed or lost, and places the invalid on the right track to health. CAUTION.—Examine each bottle and see that the capsule is marked "ENO'S FRUIT SALT." Without it you have been imposed on by a worthless imitation. Sold by all chemists. Prepared only at "ENO'S Fruit Salt Works," Hatcham, London, S.E., by J. C. Eno's Patent.

NEWS has reached Liverpool of the death at Sydney, New South Wales, of Mr. Joseph Eldred, the eminent comedian. Mr. Eldred, when last in Liverpool, was in very ill health, and was advised to try a sea voyage. He did so, and when last heard from was much worse, and intended to return home. This intention, however, he was unable to fulfil, as he died on Feb. 20 at Sydney, and was buried there.

IN an action for damages for non-fulfilment of a contract at the Carmarthen Assizes, Judge Bere Beresford said the issue had been made to involve a dilemma, imputing gross and deliberate perjury to the plaintiff or the defendant. He did not accept the dilemma, because his experience at the courts in that district did not give any reason for thinking there was less respect for an oath there than elsewhere. In a court over which he had presided in another part of the country he had witnessed more perjury in a case than in twenty of milk consigned to two Manchester dealers. It appeared from the evidence that the defendant had for the past three months daily and systematically defrauded the company in this manner, and sent by rail no less than 280 gallons for which he had not accounted to the gentlemen at Cromford. He was fined £5 and £1 19s. costs.

AN influential and well-attended meeting of townspeople and agriculturists has been held at the Town Hall, Bridgwater, and addressed amongst others by Mr. E. J. Stanley, M.P., at which it was agreed almost unanimously to establish a West Somerset Agricultural Association, and a deputation was appointed to meet committees formed in other towns in the western division of the county, including Taunton and Wellington.

LECTURING A BISHOP.

EXTRAORDINARY CORRESPONDENCE.—Correspondence has taken place between the Bishop of St. Asaph and the Rev. W. Venables Williams, J.P., rector of Llanefydd, near Denbigh, Clwyd, North Wales, in reference to the refusal of the curate, the Rev. H. Jennings, to discuss the Sunday school teachers because he had attended the Primitive Methodist Chapel. The Venables Williams appealed to the Bishop of St. Asaph to request Mr. Jennings to send in his resignation, or to "call him to order." The following letter, dated April 5, from which he threatened he would immediately lock up the Sunday schools up, and they still remain closed after six months. The bishop remonstrated with Mr. Williams, telling him that he could not inflict upon the parish by closing the schools; the rector retorted, "You are a ungoing a scrate to set up his opinion against that of his vicar, thereby creating an imperium in imperio. I am simply astonished." In a subsequent letter Mr. Williams adds—"I will submit to no dictation on the part of any curate, backed though he may be by a bishop." The bishop still declined to be a party to Mr. Jennings's dismissal, and the vicar then appealed to the Archbishop of Canterbury. In his reply to the archbishop, the Bishop of St. Asaph (Archdeacon Edwards) says that the churchwardens had complained to him more than once that the vicar declined to give them an account of the collections made at the only two churches. Thereupon the vicar wrote to the bishop demanding the names of the churchwardens, and the Bishop of St. Asaph, in reply, said the late Mr. Henry Sams had called twice at the palace to complain that the rector would not furnish accounts. To this the rector sent the following curt reply: "My lord,—I beg to inform you that you informed the Archbishop of Canterbury that the churchwardens had complained to you more than once that I had declined to give them an account of the collections. It is not apparent that only one churchwarden, and that, too, within a month after his admission to office, made such a complaint. Your statement, therefore, that the churchwardens have made it is actually untrue. I can only express my amazement that you as a bishop should, in order to cover an untruth of a position, ask me which you are now obliged to confess you cannot substantiate, and which is in fact nothing short of a falsehood." He appeared excited, and evidently had been drinking. His behaviour was gentlemanly, and there was nothing in his demeanour to lead the officer to apprehend that he contemplated taking his life. At the time above-mentioned the tide was very high, and as the steamer were proceeding up the river the remains of the vessels were nearly level with the Embankment wall. Suddenly the man rose from one of the seats, and, mounting the parapet, gave a loud shout and leaped into the river. Fortunately, the screw tug Ariel, Captain Beacon, was passing beneath Blackfriars-bridge, and the crew on board, seeing an unusual number of persons on the Embankment, the captain ordered the engines of the tug to be reversed and, steering towards the spot, they saw the man rise to the surface. He again sank, and as he rose a second time one of the men on board managed to catch hold of the would-be suicide with a hitcher, and he was dragged on board apparently dead. Singular to state, Mr. Molyneux, of the police-station, was passing along the Embankment at the time. The tug came alongside the Embankment, and Mr. Molyneux and Police-constable 170 A jumped on board, and rendered every assistance. The man was subsequently removed in a cab to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, where he was put in a very critical condition, and scarcely any hopes are entertained that he will recover. It has been ascertained that the name of the unfortunate man is Redding, is apartments at 16, College-street, York-road, Lambeth. He is about 26 years of age, and is said to be secretary to a society.

EXCITING SCENE ON THE BANKS OF THE THAMES.

Shortly after five o'clock in the evening an exciting scene was recently witnessed by a large number of persons from Blackfriars-bridge, London. During the afternoon Policeman X 423, who was on duty on the Victoria Embankment, noticed a young man walking up and down in front of the Savoy's hotel. He appeared excited, and evidently had been drinking. His behaviour was gentlemanly, and there was nothing in his demeanour to lead the officer to apprehend that he contemplated taking his life. At the time above-mentioned the tide was very high, and as the steamers were proceeding up the river the remains of the vessels were nearly level with the Embankment wall. MR. GLADSTONE ON THE INCOME TAX.

Mr. John Musgrave, Wasdale Hall, one of the Conservative candidates for West Cumberland, having stated at a recent public meeting at Keswick that when Mr. Gladstone appealed to the country in 1880 he promised to repeal the income-tax, and to "wipe it from the statute book," a correspondent inquired Mr. Gladstone if the fact, with an in ury as to the truth of the statement. The following reply has now been received from the right hon. gentleman:—

"10, Downing-street, Whitehall.

"Sir,—I am directed by Mr. Gladstone to acknowledge the receipt of your letter and of the newspaper which accompanied it, and to say that Mr. Musgrave seems to have taken no pains to inform himself with reference to the pledge to abolish the income-tax. It was at the general election of 1874 that Mr. Gladstone made the proposal, the state of the finances at that time permitting of this very large operation of relief to the taxpayer.—I am, sir, your obedient servant,

HOBART SEYMOUR."

A PAINFUL CASE.

At Devonport the district coroner has investigated the circumstances attending the death of a child four months old, which had been found in a terribly emaciated condition by a local doctor who had been called in prior to its death. The child was the son of a lance-corporal's wife who realled out of barracks, having to maintain herself on £s a week. Out of this she paid 2s. 6d. for rent, yet in spite of the smallness of the balance it was declared that she was only a few shillings in debt. She was not allowed to apply to the parish, the result teing that her child was reduced to such a state of weakness that the doctor was unable to administer to it either food or medicine. The coroner observed that it looked more like a doll than a human being, and said that the case was a disgrace to the British nation. The jury returned a verdict that the child died of starvation, adding a rider that the mother had not the means of providing sufficient nourishment.

THE PRIMROSE PATH.—A CONSERVATIVE INVOCATION.

Star of our Spring-time, messenger of hope,
Speak for us, Primrose, in this time of strife,
Unfold for us, and for our champion dead,
The potent spells with which our cause is rife.

Witness for us, dear flowers of purity,
Lifting your pale lids steadfastly to Heaven,
That our first combat is for God and Faith,
Beneath the Red Cross Banner floating high and high given.

Witness for us, tender protecting leaves,
Close clustered round your golden crown of flowers
That we, with loyal care, will firmly stand
To shield our Crown from every power that lowers!

Witness for us, your deeply-rooted plants,
Of genial growth, 'neath varied climes and skies,
That we Great Britain's Empire will uphold
Wherever her victorious standard flies,

Witness for us, free children of the air,
Blooming for rich and poor impartially,
That we seek freedom in the will of Heaven,
Not the rude license—mis allod "liberty."

So when "the winter of our discontent"
Grows darker, sadder by our children's grave,
Blos-om, loved flowers, in English hearts and hands,
And breathe your hopeful summons to the brave.

For God—for Queen—England and Liberty."

Your petals waft our watchwords to the sky;
Thus "Peace" shall bless our "Primrose Path" in life,
And "Honour" seal it nobly when we die.

MR. C. S. READ, M.P., ON THE FRANCHISE.

Mr. C. S. Read, M.P., has presided at the annual dining of the Wymondham Conservative Association, and in responding to the toast of his health, said there had always been a distinction between the franchise in boroughs and the franchise in counties; the former was supposed to represent the residence, and the latter was supposed to represent property. When the 40s. freeholder was invested in old times with the franchise, no doubt he was a man of considerable importance. Later on the class of tenant farmers sprang up, and he was was given to everyone occupying a hereditament of the annual value of £50. Later still the qualification was reduced to £12, which meant a £15 rental. This reduced qualification still represented, however, property, because the man who had to pay a rent of £15 per annum must necessarily have some money in his pocket. With regard to giving agricultural labourers the franchise, he admitted that there was much poverty among virtues, and that the great majority of them were sober, industrious, and honest, but notwithstanding all this he contended that they were not capable citizens ready to exercise the right of voting judiciously as they ought. Mr. Pamenter's speech in the House of Lords, he believed also that a great many agricultural labourers were indifferent to the franchise, that many of them did not even know what the franchise was, and that they would not lose half a day's work in order to exercise the right of voting. The agitation for an extension of the county franchise came, in fact, from the Birmingham caucus and from Liberal clubs in town.

AN influential committee representing the parishioners of Esher, has been appointed for the purpose of erecting a permanent memorial to the late Duke of Albany. There is a very general feeling in favour of a tablet in the parish church, and it is believed that the late Prince would have approved of this course. As the treasurer of the National Hospital for Diseases of the Heart and Paralysis, the Earl of Glasgow has received a large number of communications from persons desirous of expression of sympathy sent by the Institution to the Duchess of Albany.

AN inquiry under the Church Discipline Act, which recently commenced before five commissioners and Dr. Phillimore, into the charge of immorality against the Rev. W. J. Jenkins, rector of Pillington, near Lincoln, has been concluded. The inquiry was held with closed doors, but at the conclusion Dr. Phillimore announced that sufficient evidence had been taken to warrant further proceedings.

MR. O'CONNOR POWER, M.P., speaking at a recent Liberal meeting at East Grinstead, said with the passage of the Franchise Bill, and the enfranchisement of two millions of households, it was important that Liberal associations should be established all over the country to enlighten their constituents. He remarked that throughout the debate on the Franchise Bill he had not heard one tenable argument against the measure. He hoped the meeting would petition in favour of the Merchant Shipping Bill in order to protect the lives of our seamen.

THE Nottingham Corporation have resolved to withdraw their opposition to the Trent Navigation Bill, and to buy the undertaking, representing a paid up capital of £20,000 for £21,000.

AT the Court of Record, Scarborough, the case of Plummer v. Plummer was resumed. The plaintiff was brought to recover £36, alleged to be the property of the plaintiff's deceased mother. In 1859 the latter married one Charles Plummer, and died intestate in 18—1, leaving issue Wm. Benjamin Plummer, the present plaintiff. In 1870 Mrs. Plummer, the widow, married her deceased husband's brother, the present defendant. She died in 1881 possessed of considerable personal estate. Letters of administration were taken out, but last year they were revoked, on the ground that the marriage was illegal, and that therefore the defendant had no right to the effects of the deceased. The entered a verilict for the plaintiff for £50, by consent.

A SAD fatality has occurred at Middletonby-Wirksworth. Some boys engaged in a quarrel were throwing stones, when a girl, named Sarah Slack, was struck, and died instantaneously.

FOREIGN Inspector Ashley, of Greenwich, recently gave lessons to fifty officers and constables of the R division of the Metropolitan Police in the use of the new patent revolvers, in a field at Chislehurst. The practice was at a bull-eye, and the men, some of whom had never handled a revolver before, got through their drill in a satisfactory manner. This is the first revolver drill given to the men of the R division.

EPITOME OF NEWS.

THE Duchess of Rocelcuch has received a telegram of condolence from the King of the Belgians.

THE Hon. J. F. Garrick has been appointed Agent-General for Queensland in London. According to a hinter's telegram, he will not resign his seat as Member of the Cabinet and of the Legislative Council of Queensland.

SIR HY. BROUGHAM LOCH, Governor-Designate of Victoria, who, with Lady Loch, is paying a farewell visit to the Isle of Man, has visited Ramsey, accompanied by his Excellency Mr. Spargo Wrigley, Lieutenant-Governor. He leaves England for Victoria early in May.

A FEMALE recently died in St. Thomas's Hospital, London, from the effects of injuries sustained by being run over by a Hansom cab in the Waterloo-road. No particulars of her name or residence could be learnt. She was respectably dressed, and aged about 60. No information as to the cab or driver has yet been obtained by the police.

MR. AUGUSTUS FREDERICK BLAKE, a member of a well-known family at Bury St. Edmunds, and a noted Suffolk cricketer, has shot himself in his father's house, death being instantaneous. The unfortunate gentleman's eyesight was failing, and he had told his doctor life would not be worth living if sight could not be preserved.

AN inquest was recently held at Cambridge on the body of Dan Bitter, the once well-known and affluent light-weight jockey, who has died in utter poverty. A swollen of "Bright from natural causes" was returned. A sum of money had been collected amongst the jockeys at Newmarket the day before the occasion of burial.

AT the first of the spring stock fairs in Hants, held at Romsey, the supply of cattle was of a limited character, and the general condition of the animals on offer was poorish. Heifers and calves sold at £11 to £18 each; barren, £10 to £16; yearling steers and heifers, £8 to £11. Very few sheep were on offer.

CHARLES SULLIVAN has been committed for trial at the Assizes, Cardiff, on a charge of stealing, with violence, a silver watch from the person of Timothy Flynn, private in the Welsh Regiment, whom the prisoner met in Caroline-street, at six o'clock in the evening. Prisoner asked him what time it was, and on proceeding to take out his watch prisoner snatched it and as he could not easily obtain it, knocked Flynn down, and then snapped the chain. He was afterwards caught by Inspector Harris.

SIR HENRY DARNWOOD, BART., Lieutenant of Oxfordshire, has joined the United Kingdom Alliance.

MRS. ASHTON DILKE recently lectured at the Junior Liberal Club, Malmstone, on "Women Householders and the Reform Bill." The lecture was given in connection with the local Radical Association.

BILLS issued in Northampton and displayed on hoardings announce that a lost necklace, containing a diamond star, sapphire brooch, pearl necklaces, turquoises, and other valuable jewellery has been lost on the railway between Northampton and Aliberp. The jewellery is reported to be worth upwards of £500, and to be the property of Lord Charles Hervey, who has recently been visiting Lady Clifton at Holdenby House.

MR. JOSEPH ARCH recently addressed a large gathering of agricultural labourers at Revely, in the southern division of Northamptonshire. He said when they had the vote they did not intend to support "a lick-dish" politician, their intention being to introduce sweeping measures, including the abolition of the law of settlement, and the introduction of a law compelling men who proposed to own the land to either cultivate it or sell it to Government if it were capable of producing food. If this were done there would not be quarter enough labourers to till the land, and if it were not done the country would demand a trial of Henry George's scheme. Resolutions supporting the Franchise Bill, and condemning the obstructive tactics of the Opposition, were passed with acclamation.

AT a recent meeting of the Berwick Liberal Association the Chairman read a letter received by him from Mr. Jermingham, M.P., in which he expressed approval of the association which has been newly formed. He also expressed regret that the vote which he gave purely from motives of conscience motives should have had the result of giving so much umbrage to the Liberals of Berwick. He was especially grieved to find that his subsequent actions, erroneously regarded as he considered they were gave, annoyance to so many valued friends.

THE report of the Archæological Society of Athens says that the excavations in Olympia, commenced by the German Government, are now being continued under the direction of Mr. Dörpfeld. The excavations at Rhenia and Epidauros at present interrupted on account of the season, will later be resumed, and the examination also made of the bottom of the sea between Salamis and the continent of Attica. In autumn the remains of the temple were at the foot of the Theseion which is also be entirely uncovered. It is reported besides that a splendid edition of all the sculptures found east of the Parthenon will be published with special care in representing the remains of colour.

THE Manchester Committee of the Liberation Society, recently passed a resolution urging the Education Department, or the Government, to adopt measures to "prevent such scandalous abuse of authority in schools supported by grants of public money" as the case mentioned in Parliament of flogging scholars for attending a Dissenting chapel, and other instances of "petty persecution on religious grounds." The resolution was sent to Mr. Mundella, and the following reply has been received:—"Mr. Mundella desires me to acknowledge the receipt of your communication on behalf of the Manchester and District Committee of the Liberation Society. He wishes me to say, in reply, that he will not fail to take effectual steps to repress any such base of authority as that to which the committee refer whenever it is brought to his notice."

THE Central News understands that the British Government is about to commission Colonel Young, the Military Attaché, British Embassy, St. Petersburg, to the Caucasus and parts of the Caspian Sea, with a view of obtaining such information as he can regarding the strength of the Russian forces in that country, and the capabilities of transport in the Trans-Caspian territory. Colonel Trench has also been directed to ascertain whether any steps are being taken to enrol the Turkoman tribes in the Russian service.

THE illness of Mr. Commissioner Kerr, which has lately confined him to bed at his residence, has assumed a serious form. It began with a severe cold, but symptoms of blood poisoning have now set in. The learned judge is attended by Sir William Gull.

THE vicarage of Thornley, near Faversham, vacant by the death of the Rev. Dr. Kearney, has been offered by the Archbishop of Canterbury to Canon Scott Robertson, rector of Elmley, by whom it will be accepted. Canon Scott Robertson is widely known by his labours in archæology.

TWO hundred and fifty claims for payment of three weeks' wages, averaging £2 10s. per man, against the owner of the Thornley and Wingate collieries, were recently heard by the Castle Eden magistrates. Mr. William Ford London, the manager, admitted the claims, and expressed confidence that on consideration it being shown they would be paid in full, and the collieries resumed on successfully again. The bench ordered payment of the claims, and also of taxes amounting to £100, and granted summonses to 800 additional claimants of wages.

THE annual dinner of the Middlesbrough Conservative Association was lately held, Mr. Hayton Dixon presiding. In responding for the House of Parliament, the Hon. Guy Dawnay, M.P., said that the Government had shown symptoms of lunacy. They would soon have to walk the verdict of the country on their acts, and he had little doubt of the result. Sir W. Wortley, the second Conservative candidate for the North Riding, responded for "The Conservative Cause."

A CASE that seems likely to occasion some complication between the civil and the naval authorities has come before the Dundee magistrates. A lad, named Abraham, an apprentice, ran away and joined the army. He was summoned by his master, but failed to appear, being kept on board his ship pending an order from the Admiralty. A communication from the Admiralty was now read directing the non-surrender of the boy, who was, however, sentenced by the magistrates to three days' imprisonment.

CAPTAIN GRANT ELLIOTT, the newly-appointed Governor of the Kwilw-Niahi Provinces belonging to the International African Association, and staff, has left Plymouth by the Clan Macready Company's Royal mail steamer Almeran for Madeira, en route to the South West Coast of Africa. The young Princes of Belgium, who was brought by Captain Grant Elliott to visit the King of the Belgians, has also left by the Almeran in charge of Monsieur Mikin, of the Austrian army. By the same steamer Dr. Leonard, Roman Catholic Bishop of Capetown, and party proceed to the Cape of Good Hope, and thirty pioneer Dutch emigrants proceed to Natal on their way to the Transvaal.

A LETTER lately received in Edinburgh intimates the arrival at Cape Mynas of Captain Foot, her Majesty's Consul. The same letter reports that Captain Berry, who had entered a shallow stream to bathe, had been devoured by a crocodile.

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

(From "Truth.")

THE Royal Family and Queen's medical advisers are anxious that her Majesty should remain in Germany for five weeks, but it was with difficulty that she was induced to go direct to Aix-les-Bains, and in probability she will return to Windsor Castle by the first week in next month. According to present arrangements, the Queen is to arrive at Balmoral on Saturday, May 24, and will stay there till the end of June.

After consultation with the Prince of Wales, the Queen has cancelled her orders as to State functions. I hear that there are to be two levées after Ascot, and two drawing-rooms (which will be held at Buckingham Palace by the Princess of Wales) about the same time. Balls are prohibited, but it is probable that there will be two State concerts, one during the last week in June and the other early in July.

The omission of the Comte de Paris from the list of Royal invitations to the Duke of Albany's funeral has given great offence to the Orleans family. As the duke was on very intimate terms with the Comte and Comtesse de Paris, and especially as he had been constantly in their company and at their house during his stay on the Riviera, the oversight was certainly unfortunate.
